Medical, Personal Factors of Marriage
Stressed at Lecture

"Either there is no God, man is just an animal, the making of the vultures is love, and the materialists are right, or God exists and has a spiritual as well as a physical nature and marriage is in the union of two mortal souls bound forever by a powerful, beautiful, spiritual force." said Dr. Thomas F. Fugarty, a prominent obstetrician, who delivered an address on the medical and personal side of marriage at the courtship and marriage series being held in Albertus Magnus Hall.

Tertiary to Hear
Talk on Holy Shroud

"The Holy Shroud of Turin" will be the topic of the Rev. Adam J. Osterbren, C.Ss.R., who will be guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Third Order of St. Dominic, Friday night in Aquinas Hall. The talk by the Redemptorist will follow regular devotions in the chapel at 7:30.

"Secularized, Godless marriage is a major disease of society, and the cure is not going to be found along spiritual lines," the priest asserted before an overflow audience, some of whom were forced to sit on the aisles.

"You can secularize biology and reproduce the living man and guinea pigs the same breath," he said, "but a doctor can't cure a man of a disease because...

Barriers Plan NewYorkDebates

The Barriers plan a New York City debate on which they hope to schedule Albertus Magnus, Fordham, Columbia, Manhattan, and John Marshall Law School.

A victory, a draw, and a cancelled debate marked Barrister activity over the last week. The R.C. debaters won a unanimous decision over St. Michael's from the lounge in the winning set.

The debate was scheduled with Northeastern Univer- sity for Monday, April 3. Barrister activity was cancelled when the northeastern team withdrew a special subject as the de- date topic, after having requested it.

Big Jim Schlimm Breaks School Scoring Record

By Dick Boulet

Jim Schlimm, sensational sophomore sharpshooter, set a new all-time Providence College individual scoring record during the first day of the National Catholic High School Basketball Tournament last night at Madison Square Garden. Schlimm toppled the former high of 305 set by Ted McConnell in the 1941-42 campaign. Schlimm's total in last night's game and an estimated 25 other contests which the Friars may play in the tournament, depend- ing on the outcome of the tilt with the Indians, will be added to his record.

Martin Has Trouble Practice Time Cut

With the start of the season's third week, Coach Hal Martin has already had enough tough breaks to last him for the course of the year. So far, nothing seems to be breaking in Hal's favor.

He was unable to hold outdoor sessions due to inclement weather and possession of the track board on the baseball field. The week and a half Easter vacation means that all outdoor practice is out. Martin has cut his practice weekdays out before embarking on an ambitious 17-game schedule against the toughest opposition in the East. The participation of the Friars' basketball team in a post-season tournament also poses a problem for Martin in the form of Barry, who may have been turned down for a tryout with the club. He could hit the floor which he displayed as a frosh. P. C.'s Barry, is the biggest of a family of four, and Martin hopes to keep him for the course of the year.

Schlimm is the biggest of a family of twelve children, evenly divided between boys and girls. His older brother, Greg, played two seasons of varsity ball last year, while his younger brother, Jim, started playing basketball in the Madison Square Garden, and has been playing ever since. Much credit for Schlimm's success must be given to Coach Vin Cuddy.

who has worked hard with Jim and helped him develop his variety of shots. The former St. Mary's ace feels that his left hand hook from the key-hole is his best shot. However, he scored consistently all season on both right and left hand hooks and two-hand push shots from in close.

Schlimm, a modest, unassuming lad despite his scoring efforts, is not a flashy, eye-catching player. He is a steady ball player who does a lot of good work, but whom you're inclined to overlook. In addition to playing a sound defensive game, when asked the best player he competed against all year, he unhesitatingly answered Moe Mahoney. Mahoney, the Brown University ace, held the P.C. star to nine points in the first contest against the Bruins. This was the pivot ace's lowest total after moving into a starting role. The talented soph feels that he turned in his top performance in the return match with the Rhody Rams at Kingston. In that tilt he racked up 25 points while being guarded throughout the game by reputed Leon Golembewski and often being double teamed.

Although he didn't start a game until midway through the campaign, the pivot flash managed to lead the team scoring, in twelve of the twenty-two games by rugged Leon Golembewski. His high total was his mark of 27 presented on the U. S. Steel Radio Theater which was Brian Donlevy, William Foran, Leo Donnelly. It was latter made into a movie and starred in the starring role and titled "Kid From Brooklyn." And while attendance at affairs held by the club are most noteworthy, nevertheless, there are many men, who either because they feel that they are not members of the club, or because they believe that the club has nothing to offer them. This has not tended any of the meetings or taken part in any activities.

were Brian Donlevy, William Foran, Gladys George, Hugh O'Connell and Lee J Cobb. It was later made into a movie with Danny Kaye in the starring role and titled "Kid From Brooklyn." Last Sunday it was presented on the U. S. Steel Radio Theater starring Danny Kaye.

Through the relief campaign conducted last year by the NYCCS, $400. 00 in money, food, clothing and books was collected for aid of foreign students.

Anthony said, "It is gratifying to see the amount of work being accomplished by the students, all of us have been wearied by the response and kindness of everyone."

Brother Marcellus stated, "I have never seen such a fine group of workers, we are certainly grateful to everyone."

Brother Luke also said he was grateful to everyone and that the spirit of the workers could never be equalled. Rev. M. Columban, O.C.S.O., who is transporting the mon nest and forth, had this to say, "How is it possible to thank people for all this? I have done a lot of work with many people before and I have never seen men more generous and more willing to work than I have here. We will certainly remember them in our prayers.

There were nothing but words of praise and thanks for the fine, hard working men of P. C. Their great tire less efforts will never be forgotten by those quiet, devoted men of God who work so that men's hearts and minds may be lifted to God.
