Barristers Initiate Move

Providence College is now the seat of a new New England Regional Commission on Forensics, following a vote of the Regional Congress Sunday afternoon, at Emmanuel College, Boston. Creation of the new Commission, according to the P.C. proposal, will develop a three-fold program including "parliamentary law, a speaker's bureau, and debating." and selection of P.C. as the chair of the Commission followed proposals made Saturday in a Forensics workshop and panel discussion, held at Boston College, in which both Emmanuel and the P.C. Barristers sought the Commission.

- Representing P.C. among hundreds of delegates from 13 Catholic Colleges in New England at the Congress workshops, and other functions were: Edward Coogan, 30, Senior Delegate and campus NFCCS Committee chairman, Robert Flaherty, 31, Junior Delegate, Edward T. Kennedy, 31, campus O. S. P. chairman, Harold E. Yves, 31, campus NFCCS Literary Committee chairman, Thomas Sullivan, 32, campus NFCCS Publicity Director and Guy Gregory, 32, Barristers.

The Barristers, debating society which initiated the move to make P.C. the New England center for the Commission, followed propositions made Saturday in a Forensics workshop and panel discussion, held at Boston College, in which both Emmanuel and the P.C. Barristers sought the Commission.

Student Congress Notes

The following changes to the Student Congress Constitution have received the approval of the Executive Board, as it was announced by George Forcier, 50, chairman of the legislative committee.

The Constitution provides that amendments must be adopted by at least three-fourths of the entire membership, provided however that the proposed amendments shall be submitted in writing and read at a scheduled meeting at least one month before the vote is taken, said vote to be taken at three successive meetings.

The first proposal would amend Article 3, Section 2 (Active Members). Pursuant to the Constitution concerning Freshman representation as follows:

"The president of the Freshman class in the second semester, and the three other officers of that class, until the Annual May induction.

The clause presently reads: "The president of the Freshman class in the second semester, and the three other officers of that class in the second semester of the scholastic year in voice only without addition of any member."" The original clause says: "The vice-president shall perform all duties of the president in the latter's absence and shall succeed to the presidency if it be vacant." He shall also act as the president of the Freshman class in both semesters during the first semester of the scholastic year in voice only without addition of any member."

The proposed amendment to the Freshman representation would affect Article 4, Section 2, reads:

"The vice-president shall perform all duties of the president in the latter's absence and shall succeed to the presidency if it be vacant. He shall also act as the president of the Freshman class in both semesters during the first semester of the scholastic year in voice only without addition of any member."

Final adoption of the amendment will eliminate the possibility of one or more Freshman class representatives of that class in the second semester of the scholastic year in voice only without addition of any member."

The clause presently reads: "The president of the Freshman class in the second semester, and the three other officers of that class, until the Annual May induction."

If You Have a Vocation
Maryknoll Can Use You

Maryknoll missionaries realize that there are "nearly a billion people in the world who have never heard of Christ and need help in body and soul. They are the answer to God's command: Go forth into the world. They are the answer to God's priests there used to be missions." the Rev. Edwin R. McDevitt, M.M., told an audience of Tertiaries and their friends Friday evening in Aquinas Hall lounge.

Speaking on the marvelous work of these missionaries abroad. Father McDevitt told an audience of Tertiaries and preach the Gospel to all nations," the Rev. Edwin R. McDevitt.

father Walsh, realizing the need for America to take its place in the missionary world, was released by Cardinal O'Connell of Boston to begin a national foundation for foreign mission work, the speaker said. Starting with six missionaries, the Order has swelled to 500, with 60 young men in training to build a new Christian world.

Illustrating his talk with two movies about the life of a Maryknoll priest, Father McDevitt showed how the Maryknoll men are trained to meet the religious life, emphasizing the fact that when they become missionaries they must be ready to work in foreign countries alone, persevering and to make the world understand Christ.

The speaker listed three qualifications for a potential Maryknoll priest or brother: good health, average mental ability and a sincere desire to serve God. Lack of training in Latin is not a hindrance, he pointed out, if the candidate need not desire a young man from joining the Order. Those in the major category, he said, would be given special courses, and those in the latter would have their expenses absorbed by the Order.

Students interested in learning more about the noble work of these men are asked to write to the Rev. Edwin R. McDevitt, M.M., Maryknoll Fathers, 20 Newton Street, Newton Mt. Massachusetts. If you have a vocation, Maryknoll can use you.

CHRISTOPHER MOVIE

R "Rochester" Anderson, Paul
Douglas, Irene Dunne, William Holden, and Bob Hope, is the first Christopher picture depicting the wonderful work of their organization.

Hear Lecture By RICE Professor

"Our faith commands us to be completely intolerant of error, but it conpels us to be tolerant of the person in error," Professor Frederick J. Donovan, vice-president of Rhode Island College of Education, told members of the Blackstone Valley Club at their annual Communion breakfast held last Sunday morning at Butler's Diner, Pawtucket. "That it means to be a Catholic" was the title of Prof. Donovan's talk.

Along with Prof. Donovan, guest speakers at the breakfast included the Rev. John O'Connell, cure of St. Mary's Parish, Pawtucket, and the Rev. John P. Kennedy, O.P., moderator of the Valley club. President John Egan presented Father Kennedy with a gift to thank him for the wonderful cooperation he gave the club throughout the year.

The members received Holy Communion at the 8 o'clock Mass in St. Mary's Church with Father Kennedy as celebrant.

Proceeds To Scholarship

The Newport County Club of Providence College held its annual dance

Thursday evening, April 13, at the Hotel Viking in Newport. The affair was largely attended by members of the club and their guests.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of a check by Thoma s J. Ryder, club president, to Rev. Peter McGuire, chaplain of the Newport alumni. The check was for the scholarship fund, which enables Newport boys to attend Providence Col-ge age.

Joseph Lauli, chairman of the dance, reported that it was a great success, and not a few were asking those who worked at the dance to help him in making it a success for the rest of the year.

The club has tented plans for a Communion Breakfast to take place during the month of May in Newport. Rev. Paul James, O.P., club moderator, is now making preparations.

SOCIAL HELD

Over forty members of the senior educational group attended the club's first annual banquet-practial held last Monday evening at Oates Tavern, North Providence.

Honor guests were the Rev. Roberto Quin, O.P., and the Rev. Colman R. Morrison, O.P.

In the annals of institutions of higher learning, there stands out above all, others a figure, or character, who, through-out the years, has honored or helped him in any way connected with the college. He may be an All-American football star, he may be the student body president, he may be an influential faculty member, he may be an organ- izer of some kind, he may be an athletic trainer, or he may be a pioneer of the sport of Track at Providence College.

The short history of Providence College has been a colorful one. And it is fitting that we should pay our respects to him for his friendship and support of the college. He may be an All-American football star, he may be a member of the Class of 1933, and after graduating, he became an important figure in the life of Providence College.

Mal Brown was born in Amherst, Mass., in 1905. He was the greatest athlete to come from the college and undoubtedly one of the most hard-working. He paid his school expenses with part-time work. He was a member of the Class of 1933, and after graduating, he became an important figure in the college. He was the East's first important athletic trainer. Among them were Paul J. Redmond, recent director-treasurer of the alumni asso- ciation-treasurer of the alumni association, and Paul J. Redmond, recent director-treasurer of the alumni association. During the beginning of the short history of Providence College, the college was accepted to serve as the East's first important athletic trainer.

The V. A. interpretation is as follows:

a) The general effect of this regulation will prohibit the resumption of a course of training after July 25, 1951 from resuming that or any other course of training subsequent to July 25, 1951.

b) Permit a resumption of training after July 25, 1951 by those veterans who have already voluntarily withdrawn from a course of training prior to July 25, 1951 by reason of the normal summer vacation period.

The annual Alumni Mass will be held in the Students' Chapel, Aquinas Hall, on Sunday, May 7 at 9 a.m.

Commission breakfast will be served in the dining room with the Very Rev. Robert J. Scavini, O.F. Presidium and alumni chaplain, as the principal speaker. Father Scavini will speak on Spain. Approximately 300 are expected to attend.

After the breakfast Frank J. Lowrey, '28, alumni president, and Charles B. Shee, '32, 1930 Alumni Loyalty Fund chairman, will meet the various class agents for a review of the drive activities.

An outstanding Cadet, 2nd Lt. Paul Buskey was held over as an instructor after graduation. Then he was assigned as a pilot in the Air Transport Command.

An excellent student at Middlebury College, Vermont, Paul found time to win the coveted All Sports Trophy in his senior year. He graduated in June, 1938.

He then joined a coasted paper mill firm as research and control man. Pearl Harbor dropped all that. Paul went to Maxwell Field to begin Aviation Cadet training.

Capt. Paul Buskey, Middlebury, '38
Air Intelligence, U.S. Air Force

His big plans education was topped with 23 months over the far-famed "Hogy," flying C-54 transports. After that, Paul dropped out of school and joined the Air Force in March of 1948—specializing in Air Intelligence.

An outstanding Cadet, 2nd Lt. Paul Buskey was held over as an instructor after graduation. Then he was assigned as a pilot in the Air Transport Command.

Back home, after accepting a Regular Air Force Commission, Captain Buskey went through the same schooling as his former outstanding student, and won assignment to Command and Staff school.

Today, Captain Buskey is an Air Intelligence Officer on M.A.T.S. Headquarters Air Force Base near Washington, D. C. He looks forward to a rewarding future in the U. S. Air Force.
