Pope To Celebrate Birthday Friday

Providence College joins the Catholic world in prayer and best wishes for His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, who on Friday will simultaneously observe his seventy-fifth birthday and his twentieth anniversary as head of the Roman Catholic Church.

In this era of chaos and confusion, Pius XII has been the only constant light of truth which has shone out in this materialistic world. As early as 1929 when the world was praising the communist movement in Russia, he pointed out "Whoever exalts a rock... or the state... above their standard of value and divines them as an insurmountable level destroys and prevents an order in the world planned and prayed by God."

Pius XII, Eugene Pacelli, was born in Rome in 1876. He attended the Gregorian University, the Roman Seminary and the Capucines College. Following his ordination in 1899 he became an attaché of the Secretariat, Professor in the Academy of Noble Ecclesiastics, and secretary of Extraordinary Ecclesiastical Affairs. During World War I he was Nuncio in Bavaria in Germany, and in 1917 he became Archbishop of Breslau. He was raised to the rank of a Cardinal in 1929 and as Bishop of Rome in 1939 he became Secretary of State to His Holiness Pius XI. In 1939 upon the death of Pius XI he was elected Pope by the Consistory of Cardinals.

ROTC Questions Clarified By Officers Visit Here

All incoming freshmen in the fall term of Providence College, over 14, and are citizens. They will, however, be able to apply for Officers' Candidate School. Sophomores in September will be eligible for the two years' Basic course, and if present cadet conditions are maintained, they will be eligible for the two years' advanced course into which the usual two years' advanced course will graduate. This curtailment is arranged by special orders of the Army and is not a general rule, but rather an exception.

No Acceleration In Sight

The President also stated that the college would not go into an accelerated program, since such a program would impose too great a burden on both student and faculty. "Opportunities for a change of occupation and recreation," he said, "are conducive for a better frame of mind to assimilate academic subjects." In case of total required credits, the ROTC hour would be made up of additional credits, and the time at which it may be heard, for the following week.

WOXM To Begin Broadcasting Mon.

On March 5, 1951, at 5 p.m., WOXM, the radio station of Providence College will begin broadcasting activities again. Monday's show will be a program of the students and the faculty of Providence College. For a more detailed picture of how ROTC will affect some particular cases, see Questions and Answers on Page 1. Spring!

We can think of at least two quotations which typify the weather. Rhode Island and New England are experiencing this winter. The first is by a man named Philander Johnson; "Oh, what a blamed uncertain thing this weather is! It blow and sney and then it thaws out, and then it gets 'er dirt."

The other is from the fertile wit of Mark Twain: "If you don't like the New England weather, wait a little while."

Put those baseballs and tennis rackets back into the closets. Throw that cure for Spring into the closets. But came that sneak punch by the weather. The smell of Spring is again in the air. But you can't cheat the warm sun spread its smiling beams on all who are willing to accept it.

Considering the crisis through which Pius XII is successfully leading us, those of Providence College, as does the rest of the world; we pray and beg his presence with us.

Through his humble and wise way he has, despite the ravages of the war, brought the Catholic Church into the forefront of the nations. Let us pray that our government will continue with its policies in the Catholic Church in iron curtain countries, strengthened the Church.

To this holy and humble man who sits on the throne of Peter, Providence College, as does the rest of the world and the Catholic Church, is, in comparison, nothing. All three stand out in their respective fields. Washington and Lincoln are, in comparison, born in the same month. All three stand out in their respective fields.

The scandalous, boss-driven, irrational, anti-Catholicism of the past few years seems to be completely grounded. But considering the crises of today, it is imperative that we accept this religious teaching and not be swerving in its doctrine.

I was lucky enough to go into the proverbial philosophical cab. He had the inside story and was quite glad to let everybody in on his knowledge. 'At the end of the 1949-50 school year, we became a Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit and it is not offered in the curriculum. One of the reasons the College, "the ROTC has been a great help to us by breaking down in 3 parts: (1) that the teaching methods used in the Military Science have been partially integrated. Before we attempt to defeat theism and, eventually, of social disintegration."

To this holy and humble man who sits on the throne of Peter, Providence College, as does the rest of the world; we pray and beg his presence with us. Through his humble and wise way he has, despite the ravages of the war, brought the Catholic Church into the forefront of the nations. Let us pray that our government will continue with its policies in the Catholic Church in iron curtain countries, strengthened the Church.

One in Mind, One in Heart, One in Affections, a series of lectures and discussions in preparation for Marriage, edited by the Rev. William H. Clark, O.P., Ph.D., Professor of Sociology at Providence College, was published by the Providence College Press of Providence, Rhode Island, in December of 1950. These lectures were first given during the Lent of 1947, in answer to insistent requests from the students of Providence College and from others and were repeated in 1948 and 1949. The material was presented in two parts at St. Pius rectory, by the editor, and the Rev. Michael P. Coyne, O.P.

As presented in book form these lectures were taken from stenographic records of the 1950 series, which was itself a refinement of those lectures given in earlier years. The talk by the married couple is presented in more detail, as is the Physician's talk, because the discussion period after those talks assumed more importance than in the other lectures. For teaching purposes the book includes "Questions for Review" and "Questions for Discussion" at each chapter end, with the exception of the one by the physician. A list of recommended readings is given in Appendix B at the end of the book.

The book, One in Mind, in Heart, in Affections, has been well received. To date over a thousand copies have been sold and it has been sent all over the United States, as far South as Georgia, as far North as Maine, and as far West as Kansas and Iowa. It is being used as a textbook in courses on marriage and the family in several colleges. It is being sold at meetings of the Marriage Forum, now being held at Providence College, and is to be found in the pamphlet racks of several churches in the Providence Diocese.

Activities Planned

A meeting of Delta Epsilon Sigma Sigma—A Monday in room 306, President John J. Harrington outlined a few of the society's plans for this semester, the first of which the society has been active on campus. Committees are appointed as follows:

Activities: Richard Deary (chairman), John J. Cafferty, Anthony Riccio, Alan Dikhimow, Francis Corren, B. LaChance, Raymond D'Ambrosio.

Raymond D'Ambrosio was chosen to represent Delta Epsilon Sigma in the Student Congress.

INTERVIEWS ARRANGED

Maurice Tomin, Director of Placement has arranged three dozen personal interviews with employers and prospective graduates. He has also stated that he had excellent results from the last eight campuses of which he was a member of the thirty-eight member selection team last year. He has resolved to attend each of the remaining thirty-eight fact sheets before Easter.

There is a large enough demand Mr. Tomin will hold one more hour conference.

I believe the first test of a truly great man is his humility. —Huskum

Dr. Kienle To Speak
At March Meeting of R. I. Chem Society

Dr. Roy Herman Kienle, director of the application research department of the Calor Chemical Division of the American Cyanamid Co., will address the March meeting of the Rhode Island Section of the American Chemical Society to be held at the Auditorium of the University of Rhode Island, March 9 at 8:30 p.m.

"Physical Chemistry In Industrial Research" will be the title of Dr. Kienle's Talk. The talk will be preceded by a social hour, from 7:30 to 8:00 p.m., at Aquidneck Hall, and an informal dinner at 7:30 p.m.

In regard to his lecture, Dr. Kienle mentioned that "he would build it around a number of varied industrial problems which have been solved by the application of physical chemistry." In dealing with the subject, he will "attempt to stimulate appreciation of the role played by the physical chemist in industry.

Dr. Kienle has been a research chemist for many prominent companies among them General Electric and Calco. He also served as a first lieutenant in the Chemical Warfare Service during World War I.

Among the many chemical societies of which he is a member are the American Chemical Society, Friday Chemical Society of Providence, and the Chemical Industries of Connecticut, and the Society of Chemical Industry.

In an exclusive interview with the sports editor of the Tuft's "Walkley," it was learned that Providence College basketball team may face St. Anselm's College of Manchester, N. H., in the opening round of the N.A.I.B. tournament next Tuesday night.

The scene of the tournament will be the Tufts Memorial, Mass. This game will be the rubber match of the series between the Friars and Hawks and should provide a good wild game.

As per their previous outings, St. A's caught P. C. on the rebound last Saturday night and the Friars and Hawks have squared off against each other.

Questions And Answers On ROTC

Accompanying the activation of an ROTC transportation unit here on campus are the innumerable queries foremost in the minds of the students regarding the general scheme of things to come and the particular problems of each student. It is impossible to present as clear a picture possible to our readers, the COWL questions and answers committee has prepared the following tabulation of some of its implications.

These questions and answers are the result of an interview with the Very Rev. Robert J. Elvin, O.P., after a meeting of College officials with a group of Army officers who visited the College last Saturday to confer on organizational plans.

The answers furnished by the Administration do not presume to cover all those matters peculiar to the College or derive from particular problems. Readers may, however, direct their queries to the COWL and we will endeavor to weekly publish a "ROTC Question Box." Since the Rev. Vincent C. Dore, O.P., has been appointed liaison man, all questions will be referred to him.

Q. Who, in September, 1951, will be eligible to take ROTC training?
A. Seniors: At the present time seniors, with or without military training, will not be eligible. However, for the first time this year, veteran seniors have been allowed to take the course, but the Army has not as yet decided whether veteran

Vacancies which occur during the collegiate year shall be filled by a vote of the seniors if a senior office is vacant, and by seniors and juniors if any other office is vacant. These new officers must be approved by the advisor.

The Rev. Charles B. Quirk, O.P., served as adviser for the constitution of the club. The first meeting of the club will be on March 5 at 1:45 p.m. in Room 300. All juniors and seniors who are majoring in Economics are invited to attend. The club will follow a policy of inviting men who have been successful in different walks of life to speak before them. The club will have a monthly meeting of the Third Order, which is now a permanent body in the Student Congress.

The judge decried what he called the “American Provider” who brings home the pay check with the belief that he is the “savior of the nation” who turns no “easy off by the responsibility” with a two or three dollar allowance at the end of the week. This type, the speaker said, is “a great fellow in his own estimation but doesn’t realize that his son is lonesome for conversation with him.”

“Psychiatrists tell us that in some of our cases of delinquency, these acts are a result of no paternal influence. The mother of the family is with the boy the greater part of the day. Today the father has not much time to be with his children, but he should devote what time he can find to associating with his sons,” Judge McCabe said.

The register shall give a balanced report at each business meeting. All members of the club are to receive newsletters, of inviting men who have been successful in different walks of life to speak before them.
