

To Give Law School Exam Here, Feb. 24

A sufficient number of students here have applied to take the law school examinations February 24 to warrant establishment of a testing center on campus, according to the Rev. Vincent C. Dore, O.P., dean of studies. Notice of the examination was posted last week by his office.

In making the announcement Friday, Father Dore said a minimum of ten applications had been required and that fifteen had already been received last week. He also volunteered several points of advice for the prospective law students.

He said a candidate should obtain a catalogue from the school of his choice to determine whether it requires the examination. Not all law schools require it.

Sophomores and juniors planning to apply for admission to law school in September, 1951, should also determine the amount of pre-legal education required by the school they have selected. Requirements vary, some institutions asking a bachelor's degree.

Referring to sophomores and juniors, Father Dore said: "Unless they are above average students it is better for them not to take the examinations in February." He said in law school the ordinary student with two years of college is frequently unable to withstand the competition of older men with four years.

Some schools admit huge classes, Father Dore pointed out, and thus make entrance easy, but they are known to cut these down by as much as one half at the mid-term. Those who fail often return to college for further preparation, but in the meantime they have lost a year.

WDOM NEEDS MEN

The Rev. Walter Murtaugh, O.P., WDOM moderator, announced yesterday that students interested in joining the station's staff should turn in their name and desired position to him at his office in Albertus Magnus Hall. He also stated that the station will begin broadcasting again in the very near future. Lack of parts for the transmitter are currently delaying operations.

Finalists Chosen In Queen Contest

Selection of the five finalists in the competition for queen of the Soph Hop, which is to be held Friday night in the auditorium of Harkins Hall, has been completed, Hervey Lupien, dance committee chairman, announced yesterday.

The finalists are: Misses Dorothy Horiagan of 65 Bridgman Street, Providence, R. I.; Peggy Engwalk of 208 Wellington Avenue, Cranston, R. I.; Ruth Rogala of 52 Olive Street, Pawtucket, R. I.; Joan Raftery of 33 North Street, Cranston, R. I., and Marguerite Johnson of Salve Regina College, Newport.

The five were chosen last Monday by the committee out of the many photographs submitted by the student body. The choice was a difficult one, the committee said.

The five beauties, according to the incomplete plans announced by the committee, will be presented to the gathering at the dance. Selection of a queen to lead the grand march will then be made. The exact method for choosing of the five to reign as queen has not been decided on, but it will probably be through popular applause, the committee also declared.

The dance chairman, Hervey Lupien, also stated that since a large gathering is anticipated, no bids will be sold on the night of the dance.

Bids for the semi-formal dance are $3.00, and may be procured at the ticket booth any day this week.

Music for the dance, which is open to all classmen, will be provided by Joseph Conte and his orchestra, an old P. C. favorite. Conte played at last year's freshman Mardi Gras dance and was well received by all.

The dance committee wishes also to thank all who submitted pictures for the queen contest. The pictures may be picked up at the ticket booth any day this week.

Name Committees For Friars Dance

Students were reminded to get their tuxedos ready for the only formal dance held on the campus during the entire year, as William J. Kerin, '51, president, announced committee members for the Friars Club Holiday Formal last week. The affair, with John D. Hickey '51 and Walter T. Kennedy '51 as co-chairmen, sponsored by the college hospitality group, is set for Friday evening, December 15, in Harkins Hall.

Named to committees are: Orchestra—Paul B. Plunkett '51, Stephen E. Marcucci '51, and Robert T. Lynch '51; Tickets—John J. Sullivan '51, John W. Shea '51, and Richard Cobb '53; Publicity—Edward R. Leonard '51, and Thomas V. Sullivan '52; Program—John F. Bresnahan '51, Robert

"Unique Surprises" At Farmers Dance

"Many unique surprises are in store for those who attend the Farmers' Festival, Saturday, Nov. 18, in Harkins Hall," it was announced yesterday by the senior class committee planning the annual informal affair. Prizes will be awarded for the best male and female costume.

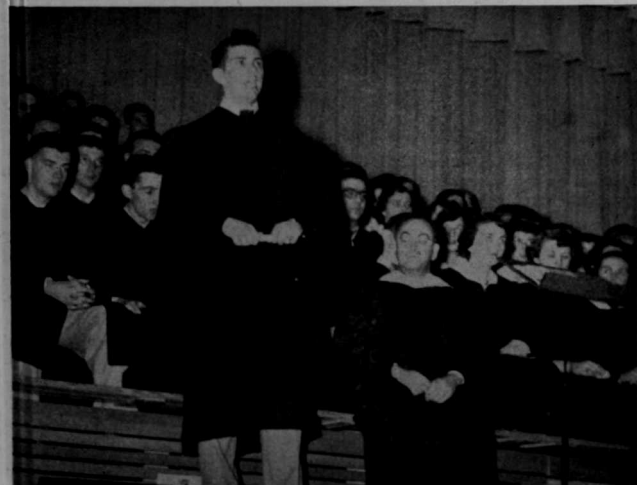

No indication was given as to just what the surprises would be, but, added a committee spokesman, "they will be good and a good time will be guaranteed for all."

Jimmy Barone and his orchestra have been engaged to supply the music for the bucolic event. Barone is currently appearing at Bryant College weekly dances where he has been drawing crowds of from 500 to 600 people every Saturday night. For the Festival he will have eight pieces and is adding at least two square dance numbers to his repertoire. Dancing will be from 8:30 to 12.

Tickets will go on sale Monday, Nov. 13, in the rotunda ticket booth, and will cost $1.50 a couple. Bids will

Barristers Hold First Home Debate Monday

Boston University will be the first home intercollegiate opponent of the Barristers, Providence College debating group, in a debate at Albertus Magnus Auditorium, November 13. The debate will start at 8:15 p.m.

Mr. Paul van K. Thomson, professor of English at the College, will be the judge and will also give a short critique on the topic: Resolved that the non-communist nations of the world should form a new international union.

Rev. Irving A. Georges, O.P., moderator, has announced that all students and friends of the College are invited to attend this debate, which is on one of the most controversial topics of the times.

Rehearsals Underway For First "Players" Attempt

The first arena theater experimental production at Providence College will be given November 17. On the program will be excerpts from O'Casey's Juno and the Paycock and Galworthy's Escape.

An unusual feature of the plays will be the all-student direction and staging. William Plummer and Matthew DiChirco will be the student directors and Harvey Lister will be production manager.

Rehearsals started this Monday for the plays, which are character sketches of various types of English and Irish country people. Juno and the Paycock is a comedy of impoverished Dubliners, while Escape is concerned with

Six Delegates To Attend NFCCS Meet

Providence will have six representatives at the NFCCS New England Regional Council Meeting this weekend, at the College of Our Lady of the Elms, Chicopee, Mass. The council is the administrative body of the local region of the National Federation of Catholic College Students.

Robert Flaherty, '51, senior delegate, and Guy Geffroy, '52, junior delegate, will attend as voting members. The others will be Edward T. Kennedy, '51, campus NFCCS Overseas Service Program chairman, and representatives of the NFCCS New England forensics commission.

The Barristers, campus debating society, acquired the seat of the commission for P. C. at the NFCCS regional congress held in Boston in April. John O'Donnell, '52, and William McMahon, '52, commission co-chairmen, will present plans for the first year's activity.

Joseph Quinton, '52, recently appointed by the co-chairmen as parliamentary for the New England region, also will attend.

The council is composed of the regional officers and two representatives from each member college. Nearly all Catholic colleges in New England belong, Fairfield University and Merrimack College having been admitted as of this year.

The body will act upon matters of policy, further plans for the fifth regional congress, and receive reports from commissions and committees. Another new commission reporting will be that on labor, acquired in April by St. Michael's College.

Regional council meetings are held in conjunction with the regional congress yearly, as well as separately three times a year. The last one was held at the close of the 1949-50 school year at Assumption College.

John E. McCloskey, of Boston College, is the president of the New England region of NFCCS.

The National Federation of Catholic College Students was founded in 1937 when student delegates from the Catholic colleges and universities in metropolitan New York met at Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart at the invitation of Winifred Byles, who had conceived the idea while attending the Sixteenth World Congress of Pax Romana in Paris.

Pax Romana is the Catholic Action group joining the Catholic college and university students of the world through their national federations.

Today most Catholic colleges in the United States are members of NFCCS, St. John College, Cleveland, being the newest affiliate. The organization is divided into twenty regions. The New England group is five years old.

Can We Make It

Saturday the world will celebrate Armistice Day while another war is in progress. The day commemorating the ceasing of hostilities after the first World War will be kept, as it has been kept many times, within the shadow of fear. The assurance of statesmen and the confidence of generals do not affect the desired peace.

We who have grown up in this era of war do not find it terrible. Annoying it is, even frightening, but not abnormal. This was not so in our fathers' case. Those happier people who were born in the years between 1870 and 1914 came into a world enjoying such an unprecedented period of peace that war was considered an obsolete, comic opera sort of thing, restricted to the more colorful and backward parts of the world. When war finally came it found them as unprepared for carnage as the civilized Italians were when the barbarous armies of Charles VIII descended on them. They were so unsettled by it that, with almost universal assent, the day of armistice was made a day of rejoicing and thanksgiving, which is still observed. For us it has become a symbol of hope that someday men will find a way to live in peace.

But how can we have peace while men are greedy, and proud, and blasphemous? How can we have peace while nations put their own aggrandizement above the commonweal? How can we have peace while oil and gold mean more than flesh and blood? How can we have peace while God and the brotherhood of man are denied? "All men want peace, but no man wants the things which make for peace." Everyone is willing to pray for Russia, or to fight an enemy, or to be taxed for armaments. Everyone is willing to mind everybody's business but his own. And while we are so busy with the world, our little worlds crumble before an insidious enemy. For we forget that our chief battle is with principalities and powers. It is easier to defend God than serve Him. It is easier to seek peace for the world than tranquility of soul.

Let us begin, this Armistice Day, to strengthen ourselves. Let us, while we pray for peace, pray also for that peace which the world cannot give. Because until each man is at peace within himself there can be no hope of lasting peace among men.

— "Political Panaceas" —

By Gerald G. Gregory, '51

The presence of Chinese troops alongside the remnants of the North Korean Army constitutes a threat to the United Nations forces in Korea and could easily start the conflagration that will plunge the world into the abyss of World War III. The Chinese Communists are telling their people through their radio network at Peiping that the present situation in Korea threatens the security of Communist China, and Chinese democratic parties and groups must support the North Koreans against the imperialistic designs of the United States.

Thus the West is confronted with the possibility of fighting a war against a resurgent and nationalistic China which would be leading an Asiatic crusade to free the Orient from the abuses of Western Imperialism. At last China, under Communist auspices, has awakened to its manifest destiny in the Orient, which brings to mind a remark made by Napoleon Bonaparte a century ago in reference to China: "There lies a sleeping giant. Let him sleep for when he wakes he will move the world."

Europe and America woke the giant. Yes, thanks to German, French, Russian, Japanese, and American imperialism, Communist China has adhered to Russia's overtures to establish a socialistic state based on Marxian principles, and to expel the remaining European powers from the mainland, and to embark upon an era of Chinese imperialism.

When one stops to analyze the present international situation he cannot help but take notice of the words of a discerning American Secretary of State, John Hay, who made the following commentary: "The storm center of the world has shifted to China." He added, "Whoever understands that mighty empire has a key to world politics for the next five centuries." The collapse of Nationalist China and the hegemony of the Communist regime of Mao-Tse-Tung as a protege of Russia in the field of international politics could easily be the deciding factor in upsetting the Balance of Power in favor of the Communistic East in the event of another world conflict.

We cannot ignore the significance of the words of the late John Hay any longer, since Russia has already realized that China is the key to world domination and has cultivated the friendship of the Chinese Communists in order to obtain political and economic concessions which are to be the forerunners of an Asiatic partnership which intends to conquer the world of the Occidental. We must not forget that the Russians are collaterally related to the Asiatics and are in a better position to understand the Chinese mind. Perhaps we have awakened too late to prevent the consolidation of China under Russian tutelage and to prevent Communist China and Russia from engulfing the world in the web of Communist imperialism operating under the guise of nationalism.

The facts are before us—our destiny, and the world's, depends upon the course of action that will be followed by the western powers under the leadership of the United States, which represents the last bulwark of Christian civilization. The question that confronts the West today is whether or not it would be able to resist a rejuvenated Orient which has converted its abundant natural resources into industrial improvements and other economic uses for the further propagation of Communism in China. When we compare the population of China (408,000,000), Russia (210,000,000), and India (646,000,000) in contrast to that of Europe (310,000,000 excluding European Russia) and North America (180,000,000) we can well visualize the great potentialities that such an agglomeration of people, territory, and natural resources offers to the Oriental rulers in the Kremlin and in Communist China.

— Literary Column —

By William Plummer, '51

In Men Without Faces, Louis Francis Budenz has given an account of his ten years with the Communist party. Warning us that the Communists are in reality a fifth column for Stalin and that their allegiance is not to the United States but to Soviet Russia, he exposes the machinations of the Daily Worker and what goes on on the fifth floor of the house on Thirteenth Street. He warns us that the Communist party is not a political party, in the American sense of the word, but an undemocratic group, alien to this country and unfriendly toward it. He describes the Communists' methods of infiltrating labor organizations, of their contacts with Wall Street. He shows how they have hoodwinked the intellectuals of this country into supporting their programs and of how rank-and-file Communists are used by their bosses and then discarded when their usefulness is at an end. The account he gives is not pleasant reading.

Mr. Budenz, having been a high ranking member of the Communist party in the United States, is well qualified to give us this description and warning. He was led to join the Communist party because of his interest in oppressed minority groups in this country and in the efforts of Labor to better its condition. Like so many others he became impatient of the more cautious methods of the Church in dealing with these matters. Having broken with the Church in 1914 because of an irregular marriage, he found no difficulty in accepting Marxist tenets. After ten years with the Communist party, he was forced to admit the wisdom of the Church in foreseeing the evils inherent in Communism and made the extreme effort necessary to abandon his former stand. It was not Mr. Budenz's intention but in several instances the unwary reader might be led to forget the just basis for so many of the activities which are used as weapons by the Communists. However misled people like Paul Robeson and Claudia Jones may be, anyone cognizant of their backgrounds will have to admit they have good reason for their attitude. The preponderance of Eastern European names among the conspirators is very evident and it might be well to consider whether they have brought their hatred of existing institutions with them or have developed such hatred here. Whether they are Communists because of wrongs inflicted in Europe, and never forgotten, or do they have reason to complain because of their treatment in the United States, Communism is an evil, but it would seem that the best weapon against it is not the maintenance of the status quo but a rooting out of those evils in the present system which have inspired such an overwhelming hatred that millions of people prefer any tyranny to the existing order.

Veterans' Notes

Veterans receiving benefit payments from the Veterans Administration are urged by John L. Reavey, Manager of the Providence Regional Office of the VA, to send notification to his office or to their nearest VA office if they are recalled to active military duty.

Mr. Reavey stated that the law does not permit a veteran to receive such payments as disability compensation or training subsistence allowance, once he goes back into uniform.

"If a veteran receives such payment covering any period after he has entered active duty, he should return it to the VA office which has his records. Otherwise, it will remain as an overpayment against him until disposed of," Mr. Reavey said. He added, "Notification to the VA of recall to active duty should include the veterans' 'C' (claim) number, his complete name and address, the amount of the VA payment, what it's for, and the date he is to go back into service."

A warning to veterans and dependents of veterans who are receiving monetary benefits from the Veterans Administration, that failure to notify the VA of any change of mailing address will cause delay in delivery of their checks, was also issued today by John L. Reavey.

Mr. Reavey stated that the postoffice department is not permitted by law to send government checks to a forwarding address. Thus, when checks cannot be delivered at the place to which they are addressed, they must be returned to the United States Treasury Department, where they are held until correct addresses are furnished.

The way for veterans and veterans dependents to prevent delay in delivery of checks when a move is made to another residence is to notify the VA promptly concerning the change of address," Mr. Reavey said.

"Notification may be made by filling out a 'change-of-address' form which can be obtained from the nearest VA office, or by sending the necessary information in a letter.

110 Couples At Autumn Festival

Although the weather outside was quite wet, spirits inside were not dampened as the Carolyn Club held its Autumn Festival last Saturday evening, in the Penguin Room and the lounge of Aquinas Hall. About 110 couples were present.

Those present danced to the rhythmic music of Perry Borrelli and his orchestra. For those who preferred the more "hep" variety of music, there was a four piece combo in the Penguin Room.

The lounge was resplendent amid a colorful setting of cornfields at harvest time.

James Morris, chairman of the dance committee, stated, "I wish to thank all the fellows who helped make the dance the great success that it was."

Rev. Charles H. McKenna, O.P., Chaplain of the College, represented the faculty in place of Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., president, who is in Rome. Rev. Thomas J. Shea, O.P., Aquinas Hall Dean of Men, greeted all on their arrival at the dance.

Study Committee Reaffirms No Two Exams A Day Ruling

Last year's ruling that "no more than two examinations may be scheduled for the same day" for the same group of students was reaffirmed by the committee on studies at its October 31 meeting. Degrees to be awarded incoming classes and related programs of concentration were also acted upon, the Rev. Vincent C. Dore, O.P., chairman, said Friday.

The announcement of the examination regulation, issued by him and posted November 1, reads further:

"When a group of students constituting 25 per cent or more of a class inform a professor that they already have two examinations scheduled for the same day, the professor must choose some other day for his examination."

The other decisions imply a major change and Father Dore said they will require the approval of the committee of administration before coming into effect.

Regarding examinations he said, in order that a single student with different classes might not disrupt entire schedules, the ruling has provided that requests for a change of date must reflect the viewpoint of several students.

On Father Dore's committee are the Revs. Daniel M. Galliher, O.P., registrar, Joseph U. Bergkamp, O.P., head of the history and government department and chairman of the history section, James L. Kenney, O.P., head of the mathematics department, Edwin I. Masterson, O.P., head of the business administration department, David A. O'Connell, O.P., head of the college theology department, and Charles V. Reichart, O.P., head of the natural sciences department.

The committee on studies is a standing faculty committee of which the Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., college president, is a member ex-officio.

Pilgrim Cherishes Memory Of Audience With Pius XII

Amid the shouts of "Vive Il Papa," Pope Pius XII enters for a Papal audience.

(The following article is last of a series by Andrew Gelfuso, junior arts student from Johnston, R. I., who was the only P. C. student taking the NFCCS European pilgrimage last summer.)

By Andrew W. Gelfuso, '52

Of all the wonders involved in a tour of Europe, the most impressive, at least to a Catholic, is an audience with the Holy Father. This was the highlight of the tour sponsored by the NFCCS and the Newman Club Federation. Our audience was scheduled for a Saturday afternoon.

We went down to Saint Peter's Square six-hundred and fifty strong, the women wearing black dresses and veiled hats, and the men in dark suits. As it was to be a general audience with about 40,000 people in attendance, we had a space reserved near the front, right by the famous statue of Saint Peter. The top of the statue had been worn smooth by kisses of the faithful.

Shortly after our unit had filed in to the allotted section, the public address system was turned on and each group was asked to recite prayers in its own respective language. Next came a request for hymn singing. After an hour had elapsed a flurry of excitement passed through the throng, followed by a melee of applause and shouts of "Vive Il Papa!"

The Holy Father was borne in on a throne surrounded by Vatican dignitaries and Swiss Guards in brightly colored uniforms. All the way down to the altar he turned from side to side, nodding and waving his hand in blessing. The procession halted and the Holy Father climbed the stairs to the throne set before the altar. The wild cheering stopped almost instantaneously and he began to address the pilgrims.

He spoke briefly in Italian, German, Spanish, French, and English, acknowledging the presence of each group and bestowing his blessing upon it. As he gave his blessing the pilgrims held up rosaries and medals. Some had as many as thirty rosaries to be blessed. The Holy Father then descended from his throne and the procession slowly wended its way back out to the square. A few minutes later the crowd began to leave the basilica.

The audience had left a tremendous impression on the minds of the American pilgrims. In discussions on the way home the general consensus of opinion had it that although we might forget many of the things that we had seen and done we would always cherish the memory of our Papal Audience.

HOOPSTERS PREPPING . . .

There remains now a little less than one month before the Friar basketball takes off its wraps and opens the 1950-1951 season. Coach Vin Cuddy has had his charges practicing for about four weeks now, and with much actual scrimmage practice under their belts, the hoopsters are beginning to shape up as a unit.

The team has been recently cut down to the playing squad that will represent Providence College on the intercollegiate courts this season. Since the entire schedule is played in the confines of New England and the spacing of the games leaves nothing to be desired, Vin Cuddy has a dream team on his hands.

In the offensive department, Junior Jim Schlimm leads the parade. His hook shot is responding better than ever and his defense play has shown a very substantial improvement. One of the two sophomores on the squad, Jim Prendergast is also displaying that savvy around the bucket. Frank Pelligrino and Sam Nissel stand out as the forward attack is developing. Both have that all-important element of experience in college competition and this year should be their best, both from the offensive and defensive angle.

In the back court, Ray Garcia stands out as the top man. After playing forward last season, Gabby returns to his original guard post where he will be relied upon to carry the brunt of the play-making activities. As the situation shapes up, Ray Korbusieski deemed for the other guard post. A hustler and an excellent team man, he fits into Cuddy's plans nicely. However, he will be pressed for his job by a quartet of other capable performers. They include the Power brothers, Jerry Lembo, and Ronnie Gagnon.

From this point of view, the team should be a most successful one. A well rounded starting lineup supported by an outstanding reserve list is a combination tough to cope with. Since Clark University has been dropped from the schedule, the Cuddymen now have 21 instead of 22 games to play.

DREW RECEIVES DEGREE . . .

Word was recently received that Larry Drew, intramural director, has completed the requirements for his master of arts degree in the physical education field. Larry has been attending Columbia University during the summer months and will receive his degree with the next graduating class.

In his undergraduate days at Providence College, Larry Drew was a top-notch basketball player being ranked with the all-time P.C. greats. He graduated with a Ph.D. degree. After a stretch in the service of Uncle Sam, Larry was appointed varsity basketball coach and freshman baseball mentor. He was relieved of his basketball duties by present coach Vin Cuddy at the beginning of last year's basketball season.

Friars In NEIC4A Meet, First Win Over WPI

Cross country at Providence College will mark another milestone next Monday afternoon when Friar teams will compete in the 38th annual N.E.I.C. 4A varsity run and the 21st annual freshman race to be held at Franklin Park, Boston. This is the first time that P.C. will be represented in this outstanding sectional event.

The varsity team will probably consist of Dick Johnson, Bill Sherry, Jim Gannon, Herb Waters, John McMullen, Dick Tiernan, Frank Lussier and John Wetstine.

The Friars have been improving steadily as of late and came up with another first in a victory over Worcester Polytechnic Institute last Saturday at Worcester, 25 to 32.

On Monday afternoon they will meet the best in New England. Such men as Giordano (Univ. of Conn.), Molineaux (Brown), Lister (R. I. State), Dow (Maine), Fitzgerald (B. U.), Shea (Northeastern), Ahern (Holy Cross), Stephens (New Hampshire), Kelton (Williams), and Nicholson (M.I.T.) are probable entrants as they were the leaders in last year's meet and have been among the best hill and dalers this year.

The respective teams to which these men belong plus Springfield, Tufts and Massachusetts should be the leaders.

But the way the Friar varsity is improving, Providence College will probably find its own team coming in with the best in squads in New England.

Led by Pop Johnson, who has been great this year, Bill Sherry, who is doing exceptionally well despite an injury, and the steady improvement of Gannon, Waters, McMullen, Tiernan, Lussier and Wetstine, the team, as a whole, will do very well Monday.

At W. P. I. last Saturday, the varsity placed six men among the first ten finishers as Dick Johnson set a new record over the Worcester 3.7 mile course in winning his fourth straight meet. Johnson's winning time of 18 minutes and 19 seconds bettered the old mark of Richard Zeleny by five seconds.

Previously, the P.C. varsity was defeated by the Springfield Harriers at Springfield on All-Saints Day, 22 to 35, with Pop Johnson the first to finish.

The Providence College freshman team has racked up six victories in a row as six of its members tied for first in swamping the Springfield frosh, with its third perfect score of the season, 15 to 45.

Frosh Pace Varsity In Scrimmage

By Phil Griffin

Freshman basketball coach Hal Martin's dreams of late must be very pleasant indeed. Last Friday night his outstanding band of future Friars gave coach Vin Cuddy's Varsity squad a very hard time. The sharpshooting underclassmen matched their elders point for point throughout a lengthy scrimmage at the Mount Pleasant gym.

With big boys like Hank McQueeney and little boys like Joe Donofrio leading the attack, the Frosh matched every shot the Friars could throw in. Although the varsity showed more class on the court, the shooting of the yearlings was something to behold. This aggregation is going to be a tough outfit to cope with this season. They shoot like big leaguers.

The freshman basketball schedule is still a mystery. With everybody and his brother crying for a spot on the list, authorities have a tough job on their hands. But, with a little fancy juggling here and there, this task will be completed and the results will be published soon.

Intramurals

By GIL CIPRIANO

Intramural football is now in its final two weeks, and for all intents and purposes, a new champion appears ready for coronation.

The Senior Discards, champions in '48, should notch their third title within their two remaining games. Unless an unforeseen upset occurs, and it will be a major catastrophe, neither Junior Business nor Senior Science have shown the punch and precision necessary to cope with the Discards.

The Discards amply displayed their power and smoothness in defeating what was expected to be their toughest foe, LaSalle, by the convincing score of 37-6. LaSalle, the defending champions, started off on the wrong foot and continued in the opposite direction until the final minute of play when Capt. Jerry Alexander tossed the only Maroon touchdown to Ed Poirier.

In the interim, the Discards ably led by Capt. Larry DePalma and Skip McGurkin, drove repeatedly at the Maroon goal as DePalma tossed four touchdowns with McGurkin scoring three. Joe Beatrice, Ray Garcia and Frank Pelligrino also joined the scoring parade.

The two games remaining for the Discards consist of Senior Science on next Tuesday at 1:30 and Junior Business on Thursday at 12:30.

In other games, Sophomore Arts will be faced with the heaviest part of its schedule in these remaining two weeks. Soph Arts, a newly formed club this year, is still looking for sophomores to bolster its squad for the games with Junior Business and Senior Science today and tomorrow, respectively, and with LaSalle next Thursday.

Capt. Frank DeLeo has a group of former high school athletes on the team from Rhode Island, New York and Massachusetts. Most of Arts' defeats, with the exception of the Discards, have been by very small margins, and they are figured to give any of the remaining clubs an interesting tussle.

LaSalle and Guzman will face off next Tuesday in a game that should determine the runner-up for the championship.

Tickets Available At A. A. Office

It was announced by the Rev. Aloysius B. Begley, O.P., athletic director of the college, that the student ticket booklets for all athletic activities are ready to be distributed.

These books are required for entrance to all the Friar home games this season in basketball and baseball. If the following system is followed, there will be no confusion in the distribution process.

Seniors will pick up their booklets on Wednesday, Nov. 15, Juniors on Thursday, Nov. 16, Sophomores on Friday, Nov. 17, and Freshmen on Monday, Nov. 20. Students must present their bursar's card in order to be able to procure the booklet from the athletic office.

Dick Johnson Beats Brown's Molineaux

By John Salesses

Approximately 500 spectators were on hand at Hendricken Field last Monday afternoon to see the P.C. varsity dump the Brown varsity, 21 to 37, and the Providence yearlings flatten the Cub first year men, 15 to 49.

Richard "Pop" Johnson more than evened matters with Walt Molineaux as he set the pace for the entire 4.3 mile race and beat the Brown leader by nearly 70 yards. His exceptionally well run race was completed in the excellent time of 22 minutes and 55 seconds.

Yes, those people who stood in the stands and on the field on that cool, windy day saw another page written in the athletic history of Providence College. They saw their Providence varsity team score their first victory in their first try in a scheduled meet at home.

Such men as Bill Sherry, John McMullen, Jim Gannon, Herb Waters, Frank Lussier, Dick Tiernan, John Wetstine and Jean Gagne would not be and refused to be convinced that this Brown team, a team that had previously been beaten only by Yale, was as great as it was thought to be. And then they went out and proved just that.

And then there are those who believe that track is too much of an individual's sport; that its participants cannot have that school spirit as is had in other sports such as football, baseball, basketball, hockey and the like. But if they saw Johnson, Sherry, McMullen, Gannon, Waters, Lussier, Tiernan, Wetstine and Gagne run as they did with all they had and more, they would certainly have changed their minds.

The Freshmen too partook of the glory. Lohner, Newman, Hennigan, Thibodeau, Absi, Farrell, Tarsa and Coyle also showed great spirit. For the fourth time this year they ran up a perfect score, and in doing this they also made their best team showing of the year.

The major potential trouble that the Friar frosh could have, would be over-confidence. But the way they ran Monday, as if they were being pressed, they may on next Monday in the New England — Well, let us wait and see and hope.

Chris Lohner placed first as he covered the 2.9 mile course in 15 minutes and 47 seconds.

Coach Harry Coates has earned much praise as he has brought these two teams to the point where they are now to be seriously considered for New England x-country honors. His men have brought as outstanding an athletic accomplishment to Providence College as anything that has happened before or since World War II.

Yes, cross-country has truly arrived at P.C.

Over 400 At P. C.-Salve Concert

The Providence College and Salve Regina joint concert, held Sunday at St. Mary's Academy, Riverside, was well received by a near capacity audience, in that school's auditorium. The Rev. Leo S. Cannon, O.P., directed the combined chorus of P. C.'s glee club and Salve's Queen's Choristers. Michael Healey was accompanist for the P. C. selections and Theresa K. Walsh was accompanist for the women's group.

The Queen's Choristers met with near disaster at the beginning of the program when their side of the elevated stands collapsed, causing several of the young ladies to fall. However, it was reported, the only damage done was a few ripped nylons.

The program:
Now Let Every Tongue, Bach; Salve Regina: (a) Cantate Domino, S. M. Florentine; (b) In a Monastery Garden, Ketelbey; (c) Teach Me to Pray, Jewett; solo, Miss Katherine Mahoney. Mezzo-Soprano Solo: Let My Song Fill Your Heart, Charles, Miss Barbara McAndrew. Providence College: (a) Emitte Spiritum, Schuetky; (b) Some Enchanted Evening, Rodgers; (c) Bali Hai, Rodgers. Tenor Solo: You Are Free, Jacobi, Mr. John Ryan. Piano Solo: Polonaise in E flat minor, Chopin, Mortimer Sullivan; Land Of Our Hearts, Chadwick. Intermission. Riff Song, Romberg; Providence College: (a) Deep in My Heart, Romberg; (b) Drinking Song, Romberg; (c) Shortnin' Bread, Wolfe. Baritone Solo: Vision Fugitive, Massenet, Mr. Lucien Olivier; Salve Regina: (a) Kentucky Babe, Giebel; (b) Serenade, Romberg; (c) My Heart Is a Silent Violin, Fox. Salve Soloist: The World Is Mine Tonight, Posford, Miss Barbara McAndrew; Road to Mandalay, Speaks.

Antonio Marks Chosen Albertus Club Prexy

Antonio Marks, biology major from Pawtucket, was elected president of the Albertus Magnus Club at a meeting of senior pre-meds held recently in the science building. He succeeds John C. Lonnergan, '50, of Providence.

At the club's first junior-senior meeting Thursday, Marks announced the appointment of a social committee and plans for a party to be held this month.

Seniors also elected Joseph Murray treasurer. Junior biology majors elected Thomas Martin, vice-president, and Edward Gould, secretary.

Marks stressed that the club's social success would depend largely on the members' regular financial support. Murray and Martin are currently receiving dues for October from their respective classes and will receive dues for November before the forthcoming social. Monthly dues have been set at fifty cents.

Appointed to the social committee were Joseph Andrews, '52; Gaetano Ferrante, '51; Francis Scholan, '51; and Stephen Sulavik, '52. Each of the four officers named one man from his own group.

Founded in 1937, the club's members are junior and senior biology majors. The group's aim lies largely in fostering an increasing bond of friendship between the future physicians and dentists in the two upper classes.

Ex P. C. Athletes At Kent Meeting

Six alumni prominent in sports circles in the Warwick-East Greenwich area will be guests of the Kent County Club tonight at the Knights of Columbus Hall in East Greenwich. A short business session starting promptly at 8 p.m. will precede the program, according to Victor Ellison, '52, co-chairman of the social committee.

The well-known sports figures present will be: Nicholas Caccieri, '42, football and basketball coach, East Greenwich High; William Dunn, '40, football coach, Aldrich High; Warwick; Dominic DiLugio, '42, football coach, Lockwood High, Warwick.

Also, Irving Mourningham, '30, director of the summer athletic program, City of Warwick; Joseph McKeon, '34, prominent golfer and former baseball coach, Aldrich; and Edward Crowley, '46, baseball coach, Gorton High, Warwick.

According to plans, after brief talks by the speakers, the meeting will be turned over to the members for questions and discussion.

Students living in Coventry, East Greenwich, Warwick, West Warwick, or West Greenwich who have not yet joined the club have been invited to attend.

Freshmen who became members at last month's meeting are Gaston Archambault, of West Warwick, Joseph Furtado, of West Warwick, Richard Langlais, of Hope, Leonard Pelletier, of West Warwick, and Louis Tarsa, of Pawtucket.

Other new members were Anthony Cambio, '52, of Norwood, Martin Donnally, '51, of Greenwood, Murray Horovitz, '52, of Spring Green, John Morrisette, '52, of West Warwick, Edward Wilcox, '52, of Hoxie, Raymond Wilcox, '53, of Oakland Beach, and John Wyne, '52, of East Greenwich.

Finn To Speak

The Ship and Scales Club, in keeping with its policy of conducting an educational as well as a social background for members, will present as its main speaker Mr. D. Francis Finn at a meeting Thursday night, November 9th, at 8:15 p.m. Mr. Finn is Purchasing Agent for Brown University and will speak on, "Purchasing and The Salesman". In his lecture he will explain the qualities a purchasing agent likes to find in a salesman.

Mr. Finn is widely known in the field of purchasing, and is an excellent speaker. His message will be of equal interest to seniors and alumni.

Students are invited by the Business Department to attend this informative lecture.

NEIC4A . . .

Abis, Tom Farrell and Lou Tarsa will probably represent the Black and White in the Freshman section of the New England's.

The afore-mentioned team has been considered in various circles to be one of the best freshman teams in New England, if not, the best.

Since there is a desire among these men to win the New England's, they must realize that they will have to go all out to win. In order to do so, they must realize that they will have to go back for team members so that they might cross the finish line together.

The latter fact indicates a fine team spirit but such a thing cannot be carried on into a meet of this status.

The Friar yearlings must also be ready for John Kelly and the Boston University team. B. U. has done very well this year and their leader, Kelly, (last year's N. E. schoolboy champ), has done outstanding work this season.

Another threat is posed by the University of Massachusetts under the leadership of Aldrich.

Last year, Bob Black led the R. I. State team to the championships over Brown, Connecticut, B. U. and Tufts, as he covered the 4.2 miles in the time of 21 minutes and 28 seconds.

In the Freshman section of the meet, Walt Molineaux led Brown to victory with a time of 17:18 minutes over the 3.2 mile course.

CYO Girls To Hold Dance At Harkins Hall

The Girls Catholic Action Group of the Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) today announced plans for a dance to be held in Harkins Hall on Friday evening, January 5, 1951. Matthew J. Serpa, Jr., CYO Cultural and Social Director, made the announcement at CYO Headquarters, 25 Fenner Street.

This will be the second major dance to be sponsored by the CYO in less than a year. Last spring Carmen Cavallaro and his Orchestra played for the CYO's 15th Anniversary Dance at Palladium Ballroom, Rocky Point Park.

Only members of the Catholic Action Group, Providence College students, and their friends are eligible to attend the dance. Tickets will be placed on sale within two weeks.

An orchestra will provide music for dancing. The hours of the dance and other details will be announced when the tickets are placed on sale.

New NFCCS Publication Aims To Consolidate Teamwork

Over one hundred copies of the first issue of The Federator, new official organ of the National Federation of Catholic College Students, reached the campus NFCCS committee and the Student Congress here last week. P. C. joined the Federation, to which belong over ¾ of Catholic colleges in the United States, in April of 1949.

The paper will be published monthly during the school year at the Marquette University College of Journalism, in Milwaukee. Its size is the same as The Cowl but it is not printed on glossy paper.

According to a first editorial, "... achievements have been accomplished through the harmony and teamwork of the various NFCCS units throughout the nation. It is to consolidate this teamwork that The Federator has been brought into existence.

"We hope," the editorial continues, "(1) to provide an information media for all NFCCS groups and, (2) to help form student opinion on problems affecting student life in America through our editorial columns, through publishing letters to the editor and through guest articles written by outstanding Catholic leaders."

The first such article, "Modern Youth—Our Most Precious Heritage," by the Rt. Rev. Joseph E. Schieder, Ph.D., appears in this October issue. Msgr. Schieder is Director of the Youth Department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference and National Director of NFCCS.

Copies of The Federator are available in the Student Congress office on the second floor of Harkins Hall. They are intended for distribution to all interested students and particularly to campus leaders and those interested in Catholic Action and inter-collegiate activity on a national level. Eventually copies should be channelled to group presidents, editors, committee chairmen, etc.

As an example of the paper's contents, lead stories in the first issue include coverage of plans for another NFCCS educational tour program this summer, announced recently by Federation President Louis L. Manderino, of St. Vincent College, Latrobe, Pa., and the forthcoming participation of NFCCS at the mid-century White House Conference on children and youth to be held in Washington, December 3-7.

The Federator is not NFCCS's first official press organ. It succeeds Forum, which was published by the NFCCS National Press Commission at St. Joseph's College, Collegeville, Ind., and until last year appeared in mimeographed form.

Federator student editor is William Kennedy of Marquette.

Other NFCCS affiliated publications include the Student News Service, begun last year by the Youth Department of NCWC and intended for both NFCCS and the Newman Club Federation, regional publications, and national and regional commission news letters.

A variety of these, old and recent, including the New England regional Compass, covering the activity of local Catholic institutions, are available in the Congress office to interested groups or individuals. Topics covered include Mariology, Family Life, Student Government, Liturgy, etc.

NFCCS men on campus include Robert Flaherty, '51, senior delegate, Guy Geffroy, '52, junior delegate, Edward T. Kennedy, '51, campus Overseas Service Program chairman, Harold E. Vayo, '51, Thomas Holleran, '51, and Edward FitzSimmons, '51.

also be sold by members of the ticket committee: Norb Crouchley, Paul Plunkett, Dick Deasy, Lou Gelso, John McIntyre, John O'Neill, Bill Higgins, Cleon Harvey, Dick Funke and Jim Brady.

The decorations committee, it was also reported, plan a decorative motif entirely in keeping with plaid shirts and gingham dresses and likewise in keeping with the tastes of Friar Farmers. Drink of distinction, free to all, will be "kick-a-poo-joy" juice, currently brewing in cast iron vats located in Rhode Island's isolated Great Swamp.
