Student Congress Will Hold First Meeting Tomorrow

The Student Congress of Providence College will hold its first meeting of the year tomorrow at 3:20 p. m. All students are invited to attend. A roll-call of both passive and active members will also be taken.

Plans for an intercollegiate dance with the NFCCS and Student Congress as dual sponsors are still in the tentative stage. Also in the planning stage is a new system of selecting students for the collegiate "Who's Who." It is expected that a committee will be appointed to submit to the faculty a list of students who are even remotely connected with activities. The list, which will be in alphabetical order, will then be narrowed down by the faculty.

President William McMahon said that the ring committee will be appointed as provided by last year's congress. As yet, however, its exact duties and positions are undetermined.

Under old business are resolutions on class dance committees and discussion on possibilities of "steering committee" to facilitate the congress's work.

Friars Club Elects New Members Tues.

Election of new members to the Friars Club, the campus hospitality group, will take place next Tuesday evening, October 23, at 7:00 p. m., in Room 300, Harkins Hall, it was announced yesterday by Robert E. Burke, '52, Providence, president. New members to the club are selected by the present members of the club, and must be approved by the Dean, and are elected on a percentage basis for equal class representation.

Nominations have already been made at a previous meeting and students who have been nominated will be notified by mail, Burke said. All those whose names have been submitted for election must be present at the meeting, he added.

The principal function of the Friars Club is to act as student hosts to visiting athletic teams, scholastic groups and representatives of other colleges, and to serve as ushers at various activities of the college during the school year. The group also sponsors the Friars Formal each year during December. This dance is the only all-school-on-campus formal during the entire year.

ROTC To Show "The True Glory" Tonight

Colonel Roy P. Moss, P.M.S. & T., announced yesterday that the first in a series of weekly movies will be shown at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the auditorium of Albertus Magnus Hall. The movie tonight is entitled "THE TRUE GLORY." It depicts the invasion of Europe and eventual victory. General Eisenhower opens the picture by testifying to the authenticity of this film. Made jointly by the British and American Governments, and told in words of the common soldier, it covers virtually every phase of the preinvasion, actual landings, furious battles including the siege of Bastogne, and the meeting with the Russians.

Attention Seniors

Seniors were reminded today to obtain a photo sitting at the official yearbook photographer, Loring's Studios, before the end of the week. Appointments can be arranged at the ticket booth on the rotunda of Harkins Hall. All men who have had their pictures taken are urged to return the proofs as soon as possible so that progress can be made on the yearbook.

Fr. McKenna Named Barrister Advisor

The Rev. Charles H. McKenna, O.P., chaplain, has been appointed advisor of the Barristers, it was announced Monday by the office of the president. He will succeed the Rev. Irving A. Georges, O.P., present advisor of the ROTC band.

Fr. McKenna announced that he would continue the present policies of the Barristers. This will include the reception and training of new members and the participation in several early non decision debates and tournaments.

First event on this year's program for the debaters will be a New England practice tournament to be held at the University of Connecticut on that campus in Storrs. Two teams, one for the affirmative, and one for the negative will represent Providence. Also on the trip will be a member of the faculty to act as a judge.

Taking the negative side of the national debate question in this contest will be two of the experienced members of the club, Richard Buckley and Joseph Mulhall. The team for the affirmative has yet to be selected.

Mulhall, who is president of the organization, announces that meetings are held every Tuesday afternoon in room 300 of Harkins Hall at 1:00 P. M. Practice sessions and tryouts for new members are currently scheduled. As the men obtain more experience it is planned to hold practice intramural

4 Concerts Already Planned By Glee Club

It was announced last week by the executive board of the Glee Club that four concerts have already been placed on the club's schedule for the '51-'52 season.

The executive board consists of: Rev. Leo S. Cannon, O.P., advisor and director; Lou Murphy, president; Jack Triggs, vice president; Dick Lederer, secretary; Lucien Olivier, treasurer; Julius Peolino and George Lawrence, librarians; and Robert Elston, business manager.

The following make up the schedule thus far: St. Rocco's Church, Thornton, R. I., November 14; College of the Sacred Heart, Newton, Mass., December 2; Pembroke College, Harkins Hall, December 14; and Emanuel College, Boston, Mass., March 16. Other concerts are in the process of being scheduled on future dates.

The club was told that they were credited with 23 official appearances last year and had performed before an estimated audience of 10,000, not including the Monsanto program.

It is evident from rehearsals that another fine musical year is in store for the club with many new selections being added to the club repertoire.

Campaign Antics

Sex, sound, and signs were some of the methods used by enterprising students in gathering their votes.

Banners, Placards, And Noise Feature Election Campaign

Rival Senior Parties Wage Spirited Contests

By Don Gibeault

Banners are flying, placards are pasted all over the campus, and sound trucks (or cars) are blaring forth the messages of prospective candidates. Once again it's election time, and the political enthusiasm is permeating the atmosphere. Today, October 17, is polling day for the Seniors. The rear of Harkins Hall Auditorium will be open from 9:30 a. m., to 2:30 p. m., for the purpose of voting. For the past several days candidates have actively been waging their campaigns in order to acquaint their fellow classmen with their political capabilities. Especially vigorous are the campaigns being waged by the presidential candidates. Eye-catching cliches, and flashy posters are being used to good advantage.

Among those parties waging active campaigns is the "New Deck Party" claiming to present not a new deal, but a complete new deck. Heading the party is Vincent Callahan, of West Hartford, Connecticut, as president; Genald Hanrahan, as vice president; Edgar Kelly, secretary; and Francis Holbrook, treasurer.

The "Do Something Party" not the "New Something Party" is headed by

Announce 2 New Classifications

Two new draft classifications have been created by the Department of Selective Service, it was announced yesterday by the Rev. Vincent C. Dore, O.P., Dean of Studies. They are I-S and II-S.

Classifications of I-S will be given to students who have not yet been deferred. The classification is mandatory if the student has started the school year.

II-S classifications will be given to students who have already been granted one deferment and formerly were not entitled to another one. This classification may be given at the discretion of the students' local draft boards, and can be renewed at the end of each school year until the student

"Cowl" Gets First Class Rating Again

Notification was received Monday by the Rev. Paul M. James, O.P., Cowl advisor, that the Cowl was awarded a First Class Honor Rating for the third consecutive time by the Associated Collegiate Press All-American Critical Service.

The Cowl received a score of 890 points out of a possible 1055 in the forty-fifth survey. Last year the Cowl received only 855.

Over six hundred college newspapers throughout the country are members of ACP which provides a thorough criticism by competent newspaper critics. All-American, First, Second, Third, or Fourth Class ratings are made on the basis of this criticism.

The honor rating, according to ACP, was determined after all the papers in the Cowl group (categorized according to frequency of publication

Drury Again Choice Of Class Of '54; Only 65% Vote

Peter Drury, dorm student from Jamestown, R. I., last year's Freshman Class president, duplicated his victory of a year ago by winning a rather easy decision over his two opponents, Clarence Lamb and Jerome Lacobelle in Monday's Sophomore presidential election. Other officers elected were: Thomas Toscano, Jr., vice-president; Richard Havens, secretary; and Henry F. McQueeney, treasurer.

Drury polled 91 votes to Lamb's 62 and Lacobelle's 42, registering a plurality of 29.

Toscano, a Westerly day student and class secretary last year, nearly doubled the vote of his sole opponent, Joseph Pangborn, Jr., to gain victory in the race for the vice-presidency. The voting was 127 for Toscano, and 67 for Pangborn, a plurality of 60.

The fight for class secretary also

Deadline For SSCQ Test Is November 5

Applications for the December 13, 1951 and the April 24, 1952 administrations of the College Qualification Test are now available at Selective Service System local boards throughout the country.

Eligible students who intend to offer this test on either date should apply at once to the nearest Selective Service local board for an application and a bulletin of information.

Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application and mail it immediately in the envelope provided. Applications for the December 13 test must be postmarked no later than midnight, November 5, 1951.

According to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the College Qualification Test for the Selective Service System, it will be greatly to the student's advantage to file his application at once, regardless of the testing date he selects. The results will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction for use in considering his deferment as a student.

Cloverleaf Slate Sweeps Election

The entire Cloverleaf slate of officers was elected in the Junior class elections yesterday. Over 83% of the class voted.

The slate, consisting of William J. Conway, president; Charles Schlegel, vice president; Edward Coleman, treasurer; and Alfred Lamy, secretary, was elected with large pluralities.

Conway, a business student from Newburgh, New York, had a 36 vote majority over the other two candidates combined, Francis Brown and John Martiska.

Schlegel, campus OSP chairman, had a 32-vote plurality over his opponents, Thomas F. Kelley and Robert O. Tiernan.

William McMahon, President of the Student Congress, stated that the number of Juniors who voted was as

Election Promises

Congratulations are in order to all the candidates and their campaign managers for the fine manner in which the election campaigns were conducted during the past week.

The spirit exemplified by these men is a long needed antidote to the indifference which has characterized many previous campus elections. The particular praiseworthy point of the campaigns has been the manner in which their has been spirited but yet not riotous contests for all posts. The campaigns have truly been conducted as was fitting Providence College gentlemen.

But those who are elected most not forget that they have a responsibility to fulfill to the best of their ability the promises they made in their platform.

Newly elected upperclass officers should not be swayed by the habit of many Americans to forget their election promises as soon as the ballots are counted. They must remember that they were elected by their fellow classmates under the impression that they would do their best to carry out the promises made at election time.

If the newly elected officers expend half as much time and energy in fulfilling the duties of their office as they did in campaigning for them and if they make a sincere effort to carry out their campaign promises within the limits of their ability, we feel sure that all the upperclasses will have a successful year.

Ordering Our Life

Every Tuesday and Thursday, we see a large mass of men standing behind Donnelly Hall on a large level field. At first they were chaotic, stumbling and bumbling in one large horde. But when we look at them now all is order. Their patient instructors have lined up these men into a semblance of an army.

When we came to Providence College our souls resembled those gentlemen struggling behind Donnelly. We knew our duties but we knew not how or why we did them. We had to be lined up.

But our souls had their patient instructors. In the classroom, in the corridor, in the chapel we were lined up according to the beliefs of our faith. We were lined up at the prayer rail and at the communion rail. We were drilled into the dictates of our religion.

Now once the army is drilled they must be kept at their work. Otherwise they would become rusty, their hard won skill disappearing under disuse. The work of the patient instructors would be wasted.

It is just as easy to permit spiritual habits to lapse. Habits of the spirit are learned in the same manner as those material ones. They can be lost just as easily. To prevent their loss we must keep in the practices of the faith.

Here on the campus we have so many chances to use our religion that it would be criminal to waste them. The students know what these are. It is up to them to make use of them in the seeking of their eternal salvation.

Fall On The Campus

Of all the things Providence College is noted for, one outstanding feature is seldom mentioned. Its courses, its building, its faculty, and its students have been deservedly recognized, but hardly ever is anything mentioned about the college campus.

We honestly believe that the P.C. campus is the finest college campus in Rhode Island. Beneath its rolling lawns and stately trees lies a serenity and grandeur which one would associate with tradition-laden campuses of old universities. And those qualities are especially noticeable during the Autumn season.

The crisp, cool mornings, the warm, hazy afternoons, the falling leaves, and the quiet atmosphere lend to the campus a charm which can serve as a tonic for anybody who is in need of one. If you are nearing the time for an exam, we suggest you do the following: about an hour before the exam step out of the cafeteria bull session and take a walk through the campus. In this way, instead of building up tension as is the normal procedure before exams, you will be overcome by a soothing tranquility and will be better prepared for what is to follow.

Arizona has its Grand Canyon, California has its giant redwoods and sequoias, western Massachusetts has its beautiful Berkshires, but we don't think any of them can match the Providence College campus for beauty in the Autumn.

Sharps and Flats

By Jim Willie

About the second week in September, I had the good fortune to find an album in New York called Hot Jazz. The title is self explanatory, but for the artists in the album, thousands of words could be written in explanation and praise. Five men from France take American Jazz and give it such unusual treatment that the sounds produced are interesting, entertaining, and refreshing. Of the eight sides, Solitude by Ellington, and Mystery Pacific, an original, are the most outstanding. These two numbers are entirely different in style and mood. In Solitude, the solo style of Stephane Grappelly is more lyrical, for he presumably has caught the mood more intimately than in the other numbers. The theme of nostalgia is voiced throughout the entire song, and the variations of Django Reinhardt are intriguing, as they seem to play behind the melody.

Mystery Pacific opens in an unusual manner, and from the first listening one might conceive the idea that it is a variation on a theme from the Tennessee hill country. Actually it is strictly Jazz, and both Reinhardt and Grappelly are effective in the way that they back each other on solo leads. The climax sustains the mood and at the final note the excitement lingers. Grappelly and Reinhardt are the main attractions of the group, but without the fine backing of the others some of their ideas would be lost in the string chords. The quintet is composed of Grappelly and Reinhardt, who play violin and guitar, and Pierre Ferret, Marcel Bianchi, guitars, and Louis Vola, bass. There you have the most unusual Jazz combo I have ever heard, and probably the best heard in France in a long while.

Release Ratings: There hasn't been too much released in the past month or two, that is of exceptional quality. A lot of oldies have been re-issued, and are going quite strong at this writing. Benny Goodman of old, has four fine discs on the Columbia label. Maybe the shift back to swing is going into high. Hope so.

Keep your eye on Tamara Hayes, a gal that sings like a honey throated thrust. Expressions of emotion and warmth stand out in her side, Tonight You Belong to Me. Dick Haymes gives a pleasant sensation with Who'll Take My Place? and Tell Me. It's good to hear his rich voice again. Maybe his brother Bob who works around New York, has given Dick the competition he needed to get him out of the doldrums. Bob, a DJ on WNEW, sings like his brother and carries on like Crosby. Throughout the summer he did some TV work on Sing it Again, and a few weeks ago displayed a fine talent for informality on the Roberta Quinlan show.

A new one on Capitol, Julia Lee sings The Birth of the Blues, backed by Billy May and Co. Miss Lee renders a heart warming, lyrical explanation of the Why and How on Blues. I don't think the disc would be too impressive, though, if it wasn't for the really fine orchestra behind her. May, who has a great wealth of musical know how, takes a fair tune and turns it into a possible hit. Billy also has come out with three singles. A new approach to dance rhythm, he swings well and jumps just enough. Billy May is a welcome breath to the dance band business, that hasn't much life left. You'll be hearing more about him in the future, but for now let's listen to him.

A Thought In Passing: Neither you nor music can live too well without each other.

Letters to the Editor

My Dear Editors:

On Tuesday, October 9th, at 10:30 a. m., I had the pleasure (?) and good fortune (?) to be present at the side-splitting comedy hour presented by our collegiate catalytic combination called the Student Congress. The vaudeville show was a complete surprise to me as I expected the assembly to consist merely of the introduction of candidates for senior class officers.

The gaiety and laughter provided by the spontaneous humor of the comedians had our seniors rolling in the aisles. Scouts for the Pyramid Players were duly impressed by the jocular and the buffoonery of the occasion.

My heartiest congratulations are extended to the Student Congress in their presentation of this scintillating sneak preview.

Felicitations are in order for those who worked so hard to make the program a success, namely, the candidates themselves, especially "The New Deck" party. This pack of cards definitely established themselves as true wits (or am I only half right).

I am tremendously sure that the class of 1952, witnessing such an assembly, will fight their way through wind and rain to get to the polls on voting day.

Most sincerely yours,
FRED A. BARBIERI.

P.S. Any connections between actual characters and those mentioned here are purely intentional.

Urbis Et Orbis

By Joseph Quinton

In a recent issue of Newsweek Raymond Moley, former Roosevelt "braintruster", in an article on the "New Conservatism" states that the Republican party should propose a "revival of spirit". In this way he implies that they will win the coming election.

His main thesis follows. "Our political leaders have put the cart before the horse too long. Economic progress follows a revival of the spirit. The body is badly fed and the spirit dies when statesmanship merely divides what we have. Creation, not division, is the need."

All this is true. The spiritual should be put before the material every time. The question is whether we can get this spirit from the republican party. Their roots stretch back to the Hamiltonian doctrine of rule by the upper classes. Before the Civil War the present Republican party was formed from the remnants of the Whig, anti-Masonic, and Know-nothing parties. This amalgam fought the Civil War and then continued in power on the basis that it had won the war and preserved the union. Its candidates were war generals and party hacks. Towards the end of the Nineteenth century it became more and more aligned with the power of big business which was then dominating the country.

Throughout this period it showed few considerations for the things of the spirit. It was so busy passing tariffs and allowing the tycoons to proceed unmolested that they had little chance to listen to the dictates of conscience. After the turn of the century these policies continued. The party gradually increased the tariffs and combined to keep the country out of the League of Nations. Then came the Depression and hard on its heels isolationism.

Now the Republicans are expected to show "spirit". Where are they going to get it? Their background shows no tendencies to open vast crusades for anything. Their present support of the slanderous policies of Senator McCarthy indicates no spirit except the attempt to achieve office. That is not a "creation" it is a division of spirit. Their economic creed has not been revised except to cry out against the attempt to supply Europe and its "rathole". Their foreign policy would still have us stay out of the community of the world. Their domestic policy sees no need to alleviate the conditions of the lower classes.

Next year an election is planned. The leading Republican candidate at present is one of the "old guard" of the Party. The second candidate is a successful general. Nowhere do we see any manifestoes that the party wants to do anything to lead this country ahead in the matters of the spirit.

ROTC Staff, Six Cadet Officers Visit West Point

Two ROTC staff officers, six cadet officers, and a faculty member have resumed their duties and studies at the college after a weekend trip to West Point, the home of the United States Military Academy.

Lieut. Col. Gilbert J. Stark, Lieut. John G. Kamaras, and their wives were the staff officers. The Rev. Charles V. Reichart, O.P., was the faculty member. The cadet officers were Edward Nolan, Richard Fontaine, Herman Disler, Francis Morreti, Paul Burke, and Harry Bohlin.

The party left Friday morning and returned Sunday at noon. Three cars were required to carry the entourage. Accommodations were provided at the Cornwall Inn at Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, seven miles from West Point.

The highlight of the trip was a tour of the Military Academy Saturday, guided by Lieut. Kamaras. The group was shown the various buildings, monuments, and other institutions on the grounds. After lunch at the mess hall the group witnessed Army's defeat by Dartmouth in the afternoon.

ROTC . . .

The entire student body is invited to attend these movies. It should be of special interest to the campus reservists, Col. Moss said. Film runs 83 minutes.

Sergeant Sloan has recruited the services of two dorm juniors to operate the projector. They are Herman Disler and Richard Fontaine.

Next week's movie will be "America the Beautiful" in color and the "Late Company B."

Ready Soon

Uniforms for the Providence College Unit of the R.O.T.C. should be received by November 15th due to the National Inventory now being taken by the U. S. Army Quartermaster Corps. The entire lot of uniforms are scheduled to be forwarded on November 10th.

John Hastings To Head Western Mass. Students

At their first meeting of the year, the Western Mass. Club of Providence College completed the work of reorganization and electing of new officers for the current year.

Three seniors and one junior were given the task of inaugurating the activities which the club is planning.

John Hastings, '52, was elected president. Dan Higgins, '52, vice president; Harry Leonard, '52, treasurer; and Bill Quinn, '53, secretary, completes the list of officers. Rev. Adrian T. English, O.P., club advisor, was present at last week's meeting. In addition to the club officers, William Roy, '54, was elected Sophomore representative; and William Farrington, '55, was elected Freshman representative.

The main topic of discussion was a forthcoming dance to be held during the Christmas season. Because of travel difficulties it was decided to hold two dances. One will take place in Springfield and the other will be held in Pittsfield. President Hastings appointed two separate dance committees to make the arrangements for the dance. The committee will make the arrangements for the dance. The committee will make their reports at the next meeting. Also discussed was a tentative Smoker scheduled for the Thanksgiving vacation and the advisability of semi-weekly meetings.

Jerry Prior To Speak

The October meeting of the Ship and Scales Club will be held Thursday evening, October 18, in St. Antoninus Hall at 8:15 o'clock.

Jerry Prior, a graduate of Providence College, class of '27, and a sports columnist for the Providence Journal, will be the speaker for the evening. His topic will be the World Series.

The reception of new senior members will take place at this meeting.

Joseph F. O'Brien Named President Of Phi Chi Club

Joseph F. O'Brien, Providence, a senior Physics major, was elected president of the Phi Chi Club, composed of students majoring in Chemistry, Physics, and Mathematics, at the first meeting of the club Wednesday evening, in the auditorium of Albertus Magnus Hall. Alfred Lamy, '53, a Chemistry major, was chosen vice-president and Robert Secor, '54, also a Chemistry major, was installed as secretary-treasurer.

Following the elections, the Rev. James W. Hackett, O.P., chairman of the Chemistry section and moderator of the group, outlined the operation of the club and its duties when the group and the college play host to science clubs from other universities and colleges in the state at their annual Spring conference.

Following the meeting refreshments were served and an informal discussion was held.

The club hopes to sponsor a series of lectures and films during the year which although they will be primarily for the science majors they will nonetheless be of general interest for the student body.

President O'Brien invited all eligible students especially freshmen who were not present at the meeting to submit their names to the officers for membership as soon as possible.

Pyramid Players Elect Tom Kelly

The following students were elected officers of the Pyramid Players at the October 10 meeting: Tom Kelly, '52, of New Haven, Conn., president; William McMahon, '52, of Pawtucket, R. I., vice president; James Marshall, '53, of Fall River, Mass., secretary; and Robert Deasy, '53, of Rumford, R. I., treasurer.

Rev. John B. Larnen, O.P., called for volunteers from the entire P. C. student body to act as casualties during the mock atom attack to be staged here in Rhode Island on Sunday, November 4. Volunteers should report to Tom Kelly.

Plans are being made to bring forth "The Browning Version" by Terrence Rattigan. Should casting be possible in the near future, the play will be held at the Arena Stage, student lounge, Harkins Hall, sometime during November.

produced a walkaway as Havens, dorm student from Belmont, Mass., member of the Student Congress, overpowered his only opponent, Joseph O. Coggiullo, Jr., by a vote of 127 to 67.

The only interesting battle occurred in the contest for treasurer, where McQueeney, dorm student from Newton, Mass., won over Frederick A. Crothers by the very narrow margin of 103 to 91. This contest was so close that a shift of only six votes would have caused a stalemate.

Of the 298 eligible voters, only 195 or 65% cast their ballots. Comparing these figures with last year's Freshman elections, it is seen that 5% fewer of the class voted.

Three PC Students Are Named To NFCCS Regional Posts

Appointments to three regional posts in the National Federation of Catholic College Students were accepted by Providence College students this weekend at the first New England Council of the current school year. Named at the meeting, held at St. Joseph's College, West Hartford, were Robert Elston, '52, entertainment program for the 6th annual New England Congress to be held in Boston; Guy Geffroy, '52, regional constitutional committee; and Joseph Quinton, '52, regional parliamentarian.

More than 120 students attended the three day sessions, which opened Friday night with reports on campus NFCCS activity delivered by senior delegates from 19 New England Catholic colleges. Present from P. C. were Geffroy, campus NFCCS chairman, who represented the college, and Quinton, who is chairman of the Federation's New England forensics commission.

Co-ordinate Commissions

The National Federation of Catholic College Students, which P. C. joined two years ago, is an organization uniting American students in 80% of Catholic colleges in the country. The Federation is now divided into 21 regions, New England having been organized five years ago.

Saturday the delegates accepted a plan to integrate regional commissions under four interest group leaders, who will co-operate with regional vice-president Catherine Cahill, of St. Joseph's College. Commissions, numbering 14 in New England, are established with seats at specific colleges to perform a service of centralization for the activity of clubs and other organizations on different campuses.

P. C. Program for Forensics

The religious affairs grouping, to be headed by Philip Canty, of St. Anselm's College, will include the Catholic Action Study, Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, liturgy, Mariology, and mission commissions. Maura O'Brien, of the College of Our Lady of the Elms, will have charge of the social action commissions; family life, social service, industrial relations, and interracial justice.

The forensics, press, and radio commissions will comprise the communications interest group, under Ronald Proulx of Assumption College. A fourth combination, including the student government, international relations, and inter-American action commissions, will be headed by Joseph Corry, of Holy Cross College.

Quinton's report Saturday announced a program of forensic commission activity at two levels for the current academic year. Student speaking on campus would be confined to debating, he said, while speeches by college students off campus would be fostered at Catholic high schools, non-Catholic high schools (where the true nature of a liberal education would be explained), and before adult groups under the theme, "Classroom Learning for Parish Living."

Hear Speakers

The council applauded mention by Regional President Neil Doherty, of Merrimack College, former Assumption College senior delegate Claude Dufault's election as a national vice president. The first national officer to come from New England, he was voted into office at the national congress held in St. Paul, Minn., last August.

Saturday the council was addressed by the Rt. Rev. Cornelius T. H. Sherlock, regional moderator, who stressed attention to the Federation's ultimate end of advancing the kingdom of God; Louis Manderino, 1950-51, national president, who called the New England region "the first in leadership"; Francis Merrigan, past New England president, back from service in Korea, who urged the region to include in its Overseas Service Program aid for the victimized people of Korea; and Oliver Doucette, chairman of the New England Province of the Newman Club Federation.

European and North American Tours

Elston will be in charge of entertainment to be presented at the symposium conducted on the first night of the annual regional congress. This year's will be held May 2, 3 and 4, with headquarters at the Hotel Statler, in Boston.

Regional President Doherty announced that the NFCCS Overseas Service Program would again conduct travel tours at student prices. He said a minimum of two itineraries would be offered in Canada and the eastern United States, and that investigation was under way regarding European itineraries possibly to include study at the University of Fribourg and an audience with Pope Pius.

Announcement also was made of a joint workshop to be held by the commissions of the religious affairs interest-group at the College of Our Lady of the Elms, Chicopee, Mass., November 10-11.

The council voted to establish a family life committee and granted its seat to Fairfield University.

George Murphy, Rumford, R. I., for President; Thomas Whitehead, vice president; John Triggs, secretary; and Louis Murphy, treasurer; rounding out the slate.

The individual candidates running for office did not, on the whole, wage as strong a campaign as those affiliated with a party, but surely it must have been as forceful. Among these independent candidates are: for the office of president, John Cassedy of Jersey City; vice president, Joseph Harte and James Penler; treasurer, Robert Belanger and Robert Murray.

RI, PC Clash In Cross Country Meet Friday

Receives ECC Harrier Trophy

The Most Reverend Russell J. McVinney, D.D., Bishop of Providence, presents the Bishop McVinney Trophy to the Very Reverend Robert J. Slavin, O.P., President of Providence College. The Trophy, placed in competition this year, is emblematic of the Varsity Cross-Country Championship of the Eastern Catholic Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. The 1951 E. C. I. A. C. meet will be held at Franklin Park in Boston on November 1st with Providence College the host team.

Friar Sportsman

By JOHN SALESES

Many great athletic achievements have been made on Hendricken Field during its many years. Football, baseball and lately, cross-country and track. It is about the rugged hill and dale sport of which I shall treat.

This sport, contrary to popular opinion, has as many hazards or more than other more popular team games. Anything can happen in an event that stretches from three to five miles and sometimes more. The name itself, cross-country, signifies just the environment upon which it is run. It is run on pavement, on grass, on soft ground, on sand, gravel, clay, and all mixtures of ground too numerous to mention here, whether it rains, snows, or the sun shines brightly.

Nature Offers Handicaps

Harriers, in the course of a season, will run over rolling hills, up seemingly perpendicular hills, through woods, down ledges and sometimes, through small brooks and streams. And since these men are primarily runners, personal care of feet and legs is a prime requisite for each man's individual success. A team's success naturally depends upon its individual members.

Now the x-country runner has to look out for loose pebbles, rocks, low-hanging branches and the designated route, as a miscalculated step upon an unseen rock can mean anything from a slight strain to a broken ankle. Needless to say if anything of this sort occurs, the runner's career may be finished for the day, season, or for life. An unfamiliar course with poor route markings may mean the loss of a meet to a visiting team.

R.I.-P.C. Rivalry Renewed

Besides all this the harrier must pace himself correctly to maintain enough wind to finish the race. He has to be wary of his opponents' running ability.

On Friday afternoon of this week, P.C. students will be able to see for themselves the Friars' hill and dalers in action against the Rams of Rhode Island University at Hendricken Field.

In a meeting of this type, the runner faces another difficulty in turning back a team whose members are looking for an upset. Much is at stake. Either team can go on to become the mythical collegiate champion of Rhode Island. Possibly one might go on to a New England IC4A title. A victory to either team can be just enough of a psychological push for the winner to accomplish even greater things. To the Rams a win against the favored Friars would be just what the doctor ordered.

Rams See Power Ebb

The Blue and White's coach Fred Tootell has had better teams under his direction. With the great Bob Black leading the way, the Rams were a powerhouse for several years. But the cross-country coach's dream come true in the person of the 6 foot, 120 pound stringbean Blackie ended in the June 1950 graduation from R.I. It meant the end or practically the finish of a fine team—one that steamrolled through all-comers in this section of the country.

Despite this, R.I. defeated Providence at Kingston in the Friars' first official cross-country season last year. They were later edged by a Brown team which in turn was upset by P.C.

ECIAC X-Country Championship Run Set For November 1

The Second Annual Cross Country Championship Meet of the Eastern Catholic Intercollegiate Athletic Conference will be held at Franklin Field, Boston, on November 1, 1951. Providence College has been designated as the host team for this year's meet.

Since most member colleges are availing themselves of the permission to use Freshmen on Varsity teams this year, there will be only a Varsity run starting at 2:00 P. M. Franklin Field has been selected as a neutral course. Last year's Varsity meet held at Van Cortlandt Park, New York, was won by the Seton Hall University harriers.

The 1950 Freshman championship was won by Providence College. The individual varsity winner in the five mile New York course was Donald Shanks of Seton Hall who edged out Dick Johnson of Providence College by a mere four seconds. This year the teams will be competing for the first leg on the Bishop McVinney Trophy, presented to the Conference by the Most Reverend Russell J. McVinney, D.D., Bishop of Providence.

Members of the Conference are LeMoyne College of Syracuse, New York, Loyola College of Baltimore, Maryland, Iona College of New Rochelle, New York, Kings College of Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, Providence College of Providence, Rhode Island, Seton Hall University of South Orange, New Jersey, Siena College of Loudonville, New York, St. Francis College of Loretto, Pennsylvania, St. Francis College of Brooklyn, New York, St. Michael's College of Jersey City, New Jersey and St. Michael's College of Winooski Park, Vermont.

Returning Veterans Will Make Up Nucleus Of PC Hoop Squad

By Phil Griffin

Varsity basketball was inaugurated last week when approximately twenty-five upper classmen reported to Vin Cuddy for a brief talk and a little early conditioning. The early part of this week will be devoted to more of the same. Freshman will be called next week.

Scrimmages with Yale, Tufts, and Harvard are tentative, while two have been definitely scheduled with Connecticut. These last two with the talented UConn outfit should really give us a line on our club.

Coach Cuddy will welcome six veterans from last year's squad. Jim Schlimm, Ray Korbusieski, Bob Prendergast, Ronnie Gagnon, Jerry Lembo, and Tom Bauer, provide the nucleus around which the squad will be built.

Schlimm, of course, needs no introduction. He's the boy that's been

Providence Hill And Dalers Seek To Even Series Against Rams

By Jim Marshall

This Friday afternoon, at Hendricken Field, the Friars' cross-country team will try to repulse the invading Rams of the University of Rhode Island. R. I. will bring an undefeated squad that boasts of wins over Fordham, Springfield and victory in a four corner meet over Harvard, B. C. and Holy Cross.

Sports Staff Meeting

There will be a meeting of the Sports staff this morning at 11:30 in the Cowl office.

Tetrault's Catch Gives Jr. Arts 6-2 Win Over Amoebas

In the first intramural touch football clash of the current collegiate year, Joe Tetrault caught a 30-yard game winning touchdown pass as the Junior Arts club turned back the stubborn Amoebas, 6-2, last Monday afternoon on Hendricken Field.

After a scoreless first half, the Amoebas scored two points when a Junior Arts pass receiver, deep in his own territory, caught a pass in the end zone and slipped to the turf in attempting to run the ball out. The lone touchdown of the game came five minutes later.

Davis and Rossi played well for the Junior Arts club while Crowley and Antonelli stood out for the Amoebas.

Schedule for the week:

Wednesday, 12:30, Senior Arts-Gunnou's Mighty 7; 1:30, Soph. Arts-Frosch. Thursday, 12:30, Greater Boston-Cranston; 1:30, Providence-Gunnou's Mighty 7. Friday, 12:30, Mulcahey's Marauders-Senior Chemistry.

breaking every school scoring record in sight. If Jim continues his terrific pace this year, if he keeps sinking that sensational left-handed pivot shot, he'll be a cinch to break the school's all-time scoring record.

Korbusieski is Cuddy's defensive specialist and "holler guy." Ray makes it tough on opponents with his close guarding, hustle, and endless stream of talk. He's no slouch on offense either.

Big Prendergast is the long drink of water with the smooth hook shot. Bob, being one of the tallest boys on the squad, may be the rebounder that the coach has been looking for to replace Frank Pelligrino.

Gagnon and Lembo are cast from the same mould. Both lack height, but make up for it with an abundance of speed and endurance. Fine floormen.

Leading the Rams will be Ray Lister, top runner for the R. I. aggregation and one of the best in New England. Lister's running mate is Rocco Negris, who is usually found only a few seconds behind Lister. Next in line behind Negris are two freshmen, Anton and Trembley, who have shown to good advantage in recent meets.

Beside these four the Rams have others, such as, the Conde brothers, Smith, Hoss and Croasdale who on any given day can make it pretty rough for the opposition.

Rams To Meet Improved Friars

Although the Rams this year have a stronger team than last year's, which defeated P. C. by the score of 32 to 23, the Friars, through the addition of last years crack yearlings and Dick Lee (who was ineligible last season), should prove a match for the Rams.

While scanning over last years tussle between State and the Friars, the fact we can't overlook is that "Pop" Johnson ran first. In fact "Pop" ran first in every dual meet last year.

The Friars will go into the Friday battle with one big advantage. They will be racing on their home grounds. This is important in two respects: first, the home team always has a better knowledge of the course; second, it is a distinct psychological advantage.

Big Meet For P.C.

This is a big one for the Friar harriers, since the R. I. hill and dalers are one of the tops in this section and the winner of this one should be a strong contender for the New England title.

Coach Harry Coates's starting lineup for this meet will probably include: Dick Lee, who finished first against the Eagles last week, "Pop" Johnson, Chris Lohner, Bill Newman, Bill Horridge, Herb Waters, and Bill Hennigan with the possible inclusion of the foremost freshmen runners.

Same Course As Last Year

For those of you who maybe unfamiliar with the route the harriers will cover this Friday, we will give a thumb-nail sketch of the course. They start out of the main gate of Hendricken Field and skirt the ROTC drill field, proceed behind the house of the Good Shepherd and up Eaton Street and crossing into River Avenue. They continue up Eaton, turn into the street on the side of Hendricken Field. They continue on this course for three turns and then return into Hendricken Field for the finish.

Frosch Basketball Call

All freshman basketball players are requested to fill out schedule cards at the A. A. Office, Room 106, Harkins Hall. First practice will be held next week. Notices will designate the time.

Methia Paces PC JV's Shutout Against Nichols

Providence's J.V. cross-country squad opened its season last Friday by whitewashing Nichols Junior College, at Webster, Mass., 15 to 48. Paul Methia came in first with the winning time of 17:22 minutes over a 2.8 mile course.

Closely following Methia over the finish line was Dave Lavallette (17:58) who was second, and Dick Tiernan (18:03) who came in third. Completing the shutout for P.C. was Joe Higgins running fourth and Jim Slocum finishing fifth.

This was an auspicious inaugural for the J.V.

In a five-man race for the office of Treasurer, Edward Coleman, a native of Providence, received a 21-vote plurality against the other men running, Louis Ferretti, Jack Falvey, John McCarthy, and James McLaughlin.

In the closest race of all four, Alfred Lamy defeated Lawrence Brady for the office of Secretary with a plurality of 21 votes.

Two hundred and ninety members of the class of 348 voted.

Conway, who campaigned with the other three winners under a program of fair representation for all and a class-elected Junior Prom Committee, polled 163 votes to Brown's 92 and Martiska's 35.

Schlegel received 134 votes, Tiernan 102, and Kelley 53.

In the contest for Treasurer, Coleman obtained 89 votes to McCarthy's 68, Falvey's 58, Ferretti's 42, and McLaughlin's 31.

The race for Secretary saw Lamy obtain 153 votes, while Brady achieved 132.

Ellison Elected Kent Club Prexy

Victor Ellison, '52, senior economics major from East Greenwich, was elected president of the Kent County Club at the group's first meeting of the current school year, held last week in that town.

Others voted into office by the twenty-nine members present were Edward Wilcox, '52, of Hoxsie, vice president; William Flynn, '54, of West Warwick, treasurer; and James McGrath, '55, also of West Warwick, secretary.

Elected co-chairmen of the social committee were Louis Legris, '53, and John Wyne, '52. Robert Poncin, '55, was voted public relations director.

The club welcomed back veteran Army reservist Henry Quinn, '53, of West Warwick, who returned after a year's service at Fort Kobbe, Panama Canal Zone.

Freshmen received as members were Homer Gelineau, Robert Ricard, Poncin, and McGrath, all of West Warwick. Others welcomed into the club were George Bristol, '52, of East Greenwich, James Flynn, of Conimicut, and Leonard Gilheany, '53, of Hoxsie.

The group voted to send a letter of gratitude and good wishes to the Rev. Joseph M. Sherer, O.P., formerly of the college faculty, for his years of service as club adviser.

Third Order Group Hears Talk On St. Bertrand By Fr. Rubba

The Providence College Chapter of the Third Order of St. Dominic held its first meeting of the academic year last Sunday, October 14, in Aquinas Chapel. The meeting, beginning at 3 o'clock, consisted of the Rosary, a brief welcoming address and discussion by Rev. John C. Rubba, O.P., advisor of the Third Order group, on the life of St. Louis Bertrand, the chanting of the Third office and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

In his talk on the life of St. Louis Bertrand, Fr. Rubba typified him as a typical Dominican, a leader, and a zealous prelate who heeded God's call to preach His word throughout the world.

"It had always been St. Louis' fond hope," stated Fr. Rubba, "to die a martyr for Christ who had given his life for man's salvation."

God granted St. Louis his wish but in a far different way than Louis had intended. For, while doing missionary work in the New World, St. Louis was poisoned by a tribal witch doctor, but miraculously the saint recovered only to linger in painful agony for years from the effects of the poisoning before dying.

Fr. Rubba pointed to the many lessons Christians may derive from this amazing saint. His humility, determined ambition to preach God's word, and his deep sincere love for Mary, were examples stressed by Fr. Rubba.

It has been announced that the next meeting of the Tertiaries will be a week from Sunday, October 28, in Aquinas Chapel. All students are invited by Fr. Rubba to attend and observe the meeting and meet afterward with the members and directors.

Friar . . .

Thus not one but all three colleges had a hand in this state's mythical championship.

Friars Favored on Paper
Now the Ram must leave his favorite domain to meet the Friar in Providence. This time, it is they who must play the role of the under-dog. That is the situation as it appears on paper. (The results of the P.C.-Springfield meet were not known at the time this article was written.)

But then, events such as there are not won on paper but rather are they accomplished on the athletic field. If teams can rise to the occasion, nothing is impossible. Seemingly great odds can go by the board in these collegiate versions of David and Goliath combat. Only last Saturday, a Ram football team nearly played the heavy Brown Bear (an 18 point favorite) off its feet.

P.C. Knows About Upsets
P.C. men know how true this is from their own college's athletic history. The Coatesmen, one year ago next month, battered a heavily favored Brown team (that later became New England champions) to defeat. The P.C.-R.I. basketball games at the Auditorium in the last two years also rate high in Friar annals of great upset victories. Baseball also has made many marks.

All this points to one of the better Rhode Island intercollegiate sports events of the year. The meet itself should be hard fought with the Friars having the edge when the final tabulations are made.

Engineering Examinations Are Announced By U.S. Civil Service

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced a new examination for filling positions in all branches of engineering. The salaries range from $3,100 to $10,000 a year. The positions are located in Washington, D. C., and vicinity. Sanitary engineer positions in the U. S. Public Health Service throughout the country will also be filled.

Applicants will not be required to take a written test. To qualify for the $3,100 jobs, they must have completed a professional engineering course leading to a bachelor's degree, or they must have had four years of technical engineering experience. Students who expect to complete the required courses within six months may apply. For the higher grades, additional professional experience is required. Graduate study in engineering may be substituted for part or all (depending on the grade for which application is made) of the professional experience. The maximum age limit for the $3,100 jobs is 35 years (waived for persons entitled to veteran preference). There is no maximum age limit for the higher grade positions.

Persons who have received eligible ratings since January 1, 1951 if any Engineer examination announced by the Commission's central office need not apply for this new examination as their names will be combined with those on the new registers.

Full information and application forms may be secured at most first- and second-class post offices, from Civil Service regional offices, or direct from the United States Civil Service Commission in Washington, D. C. Applications will be accepted in the Commission's central office in Washington, D. C., until further notice.

Classification . . .

graduates. Bases for these deferments will be either standing in class or grade acquired in the Selective Service College Qualifying Test, which was given early in the summer. Passing mark in the tests was 70%.

To be deferred on a basis of class standing, a student must be in the top half of his present class, if he is a Sophomore; in the top two-thirds of his present class, if he is a Junior; and in the top three-fourths of his present class, if he is a Senior.

Students who got a I-AP classification last year and were not called for induction are still eligible for their deferment, which is mandatory under the law.

Father Dore advises all students who failed to take the Selective Service College Qualifying Test last year, for any reason, to take it when it is given this year.

St. Antoninus Club Elects Three Officers

The first meeting of the St. Antoninus Club for the current year was held last Wednesday night in Albertus Magnus Hall. Election of officers took place and the following were elected: James Donnellan, '52, vice president; Robert Noonan, '52, secretary; and Maurice Yandow, '53, treasurer. The president, James Fisher, '52, was elected to that position last year.

The Rev. George Q. McSweeney, O.P., addressed the meeting and spoke on economic conditions in Germany after the war. Father McSweeney, a member of the faculty, spent the last few years as a representative of the National Welfare Conference in Europe. The next meeting of the club will be held on Wednesday, November 17. All junior and senior economic majors are invited to join the club.

The Barristers are working in cooperation with the NFCCS Forensics Commission which has its headquarters on campus. The commission is planning a joint workshop in cooperation with Boston College and Stonehill College at Boston on the weekend of December 8 and 9. At this meeting the various colleges will present programs that other campuses can use to spread the various forms of Catholic Action on campus.

Additional members are still sought by the Barristers to carry out these various programs. An invitation is also extended to members of the school to attend the meetings.

Dorm Club To Present J. Rank Film Thursday

Exclusive showing of the J. Arthur Rank production, "I Know Where I'm Going," which is sponsored by the Carolan Club will be presented on October 18, at 7:15 p.m., in the auditorium of Albertus Magnus. Featured on the same bill is W. C. Fields in "Hurry, Hurry," and the Zale-Cerdan fight.

The main feature comes to us after having completed a record-breaking 26-week run in New York. It is the tale of a materialistic young English woman who discovers new life and happiness in a Scottish-coast hamlet.

Members of the Carolan Club, with dues paid, will be admitted free; non-members will be assessed $35.
