Chorus, Ensemble Salute Bicentennial

By Mary Dodge

The Providence College Chorus and Wind Ensemble joined forces to produce the Bicentennial Concert on Sunday, May 2 in '64 Hall.

The concert, sponsored by the Music Program of PC, began with the chorus, directed by Lucien L. Olivier. Assisted by Annette L. Olivier on piano, the chorus began with their rendition of "The Hymn of the Republic." The tempo then "Summertime," the theme from Porgy and Bess. It was soft and mellow.

Smith Opposing Shaw In Athletic Bd. Race

The presidency and vice-presidency of the Athletic Board will both have contested races tomorrow when elections will be held on the lower level of Slavin Center.

Running for president are Biff Conlan and Donna Shaw, two juniors. Smith, a history major from Dedham, Massachusetts, has been a participant in many intramural sports, and has been a referee.

Smith said, "The umpires should take their jobs seriously. That would make it better for everyone." He also would like to see a street hockey league instituted in the fall, as an alternative for those not wishing to play football.

Donna Shaw is the other candidate for president, and the only candidate who has previously been on the Athletic Board. She was see SPORTSTERS page 2.

Marousis Retains Presidency

All posts for the Board of Governors were uncontested last week, and as a result, Cindy Marousis, Steve Walsh, Biff Conlan, and Al Jacobs will be the president, vice president, treasurer, and programmer of the BOG.

Marousis, a junior sociology major from Brockton, New Jersey, has been president of the BOG since January, when Bill Campion resigned that post due to academic difficulties. She is an off-campus resident, and was on the Board as vice-president while Campion was still president.

By Holly Green

The women residents of Providence College are protesting the living conditions for the 1976-77 school year. All rooms in all women's dorms, with the exception of McVinney (which will remain doubled) and Meagher Hall (where a few rooms will be quadrupled) will be tripled.

Father Walter Heath, O.P., director of residence, and Donna McCaffrey, assistant director, said the reasons were "purely economical." Factors leading to the decision include the increase in the number of resident students and the decrease in commuter population. PC was originally a nearly exclusively commuter college, but in the last four years, the freshman commuter enrollment has decreased by approximately 100 students.

In addition, the total enrollment has increased, making the College a largely residential institution. The Admissions Office has accepted 227 resident women, including transfers, but cannot accommodate all of them. It was reported that 63 room deposit checks were returned, due to the fact that there were no beds for them.

Such alternatives considered would be relinquishing one of the rooms in the dorms to the women. The administration felt that ideally, McDermott Hall was the best idea.

Hawkins Is running for the office of U.S. senator, seeking to succeed Marousis to that post in January after serving as treasurer. He is a junior business management major from Raymond, R.I.

March 3, at which time they were short 100 women to fill the dorms.

State Establishes College Intern Office

The Rhode Island Division of Youth has established an office of their R.I. Intern and Volunteer Program. The office lists 1000 placements suitable to all areas of academic pursuit.

Intern-volunteer experience provides a unique opportunity for students to realistically appraise potential and career choices and gain competency training to supplement concurrent academic studies. In addition, the award:

1. An opportunity to gain first hand knowledge of the profession for which the student is academically preparing.
2. An opportunity to gain practical skills and professional training in the student's area of future employment.
3. An opportunity for the student to aid R.I. public and private agencies and businesses, thereby becoming a viable part of the work community.

All students are eligible to participate in the program. The campus recruiter, Paul Farley, extends all the services of the Division of Youth Development and the R.I. Intern and Volunteer Program to the campus.

The field office is open 1-4 p.m. Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. No appointment is necessary, please feel free to drop by 206 Slavin Center.
Winkler Comes to Providence:

"Cool is a Dying Art"

By Lon S. Corel

The reality of the situation is Henry Winkler, but it is Henry's fantasy that is seen coast to coast, from week to week, in the form of "you'll" permeated — the Fonzie. Henry shares star billing with Ron Howard on this season's number one show, Happy Days. Henry told The Cowl what it is like "living his dream" playing Fonzie — while reinforcing to everyone that he is not Arthur Fonazzari, but rather Henry Winkler: "I don't profess to being that cool."

Question: Are you running for president?

Winkler: No. I was put in a poll in a Long Island newspaper, with Ford, Reagan, Udall, and Carter. Ford got 4, Reagan got 2, and I got 42. If I did run, my slogan would be: "The country needs a new lube job."

Q: Were you a Fonzie before there was a Fonzie? Is Fonzie real?

W: Fonzie is real, he is as real as you looking at? I'd say: "Excuse me, I'm blind, I was just looking for the door."

Maturity is just taking responsibility for yourself.

Q: What do you think of the commercialization of the Fonzi, such as Fonzi records, t-shirts, etc.

W: I don't think much about that because they're going to do it anyway. I wish they would do it with a bit more taste.

Q: But how do you react when you're walking down the street and you see someone in a Fonzi T-shirt?

W: I don't; I just think there's another human being that shows good taste for liking the character.

Q: Were you called in to be tested for the Fonzi?

W: I was the only one that didn't screen test. Donnie Most had to screen test; Anson Williams had already done the pilot three years before. I went in and had an audition. The next day I was called by the producers and asked, "Would you like to do this?" I said yes, if you let me create a human being. I started with six lines, and See LIVING: Page 5

Around the Campus

Play, Civ Bash Among Events Culminating School Year

Organization to Tag Campus

The Big Brothers and Sisters of Providence College will hold its annual Tag Day Thursday, May 6. Club members will be stationed at various locations around campus. Contributions will be used toward the purchase of a van, and for purchasing Christmas presents for needy children.

Spooked Play to be Held

The last Friar's Cell production of the school year, Laird Tales of the Supernatural, will be run from May 5 to May 9 in Friar's Cell. Admission is $1.50 for PC students with an ID, and $2.50 for general admission. Show time will be 8 p.m., and tickets will be available at the door.

College Triples Aquinas

Continued from Page 1

Athletic Bd. Posts

Continued from Page 1

secretary during her freshman and sophomore years, and was treasurer for the Board this year. She was also on the Athletic Council this past year. Shaw was not available for further comment at press time. She is a junior accounting major from Milford, Connecticut.

Bret Francke and Vin Freccia are the candidates for Athletic Board vice-president. The vice president is responsible for coordinating flag football, hockey and softball.

Francke, a sophomore management major from Pease AFB, New Hampshire, says that he ran because he wants to be involved in the workings of the Board after participating in most intramural sports over the last two years.

"I think there are a lot of things that could be done to make the program better," Francke said.

"There are a lot of problems scheduling. I've seen a lot of things that could be done to make it better."

He added, "I think the people on the Board now worked hard, but they really didn't know too much about sports." He felt that since he has a strong background in sports, that he would be better equipped to deal with the problems of the Athletic Board.

Vin Freccia, a junior accounting major from Stamford, Ct., is opposing Francke. Freccia has no previous Board experience, other than participation, but he lists his qualifications as being treasurer of his class last year, and the administrative experience that had accompanied that term.

He also has had experience scheduling sporting events in his hometown, which he did during the summer. If elected, he said he would place a stress on more explicit interpretation of rules. "In the past," he said, "there have been conflicts in the interpretation of rules. We'd spell out the rules a little more clearly."

All students are eligible to vote.

FROM

BY THE BYRDS

to

THE FLYING BURRITO BROS.

to

MANASAS

to

SOUTHER, HILLMAN, and FURAY

and now at last!

The Chris Hillman All Star Band

Alumni Hall Saturday, May 8 8 p.m.

Tickets on Sale at Slaving Information Desk

PC Students $2.50

Others $3.50

Father Heath realizes that three women living together in one room is not the ideal situation, but it does "pass an acceptable managerial level."

Changes are to be made in Aquinas Hall to accommodate the larger number of residents. New showers will be installed, a new pool will be built, a television space and the isolation of the washing machines from the main electrical current will be accomplished. The cost was estimated at $80,000.
10 Dorms Weather Battle:

Joseph’s Romps To Championship

Joseph Hall romped to the championship in the first annual Battle of the Dorms, held Saturday at Schneider Arena.

Residents of Joseph won, or shared the title, in six of the nine events. They tallied 50.5 points, and were followed by Raymond Hall with 38 points, and Stephen Hall with 23 points. The highest-scoring women’s dorm was Aquinas, with 10 points.

The contest was moved indoors from Raymond Field due to inclement weather.

Joseph Hall won the water relay, egg tossing contest, four-legged race, sack race, shopping cart race, and tied for first place in the scavenger hunt.

The only other winners were Raymond Hall in the pie-eating contest and tug of war, and Stephen Hall in the pyramid-building contest.

Four dorms tied for first in the scavenger hunt. They were Aquinas, Joseph, Raymond, and McDermott.

At Final Meeting:

Congress Work Finished

By Beth Vollano

The final and probably the longest Student Congress meeting in a year, held on May 2, 1976, produced a number of bills and proposals which were discussed over the course of the three hour meeting.

A proposal will be sent to Fr. Thomas Peterson, president of the college, for the addition of a second voting senior member of the Providence College Corporation, to ensure wider student representation.

A letter will also be sent to the administration of the College "to remind them of the goals and objectives that the school was founded on."

It stated, "PC should remain a Catholic, primarily undergraduate, relatively small liberal arts college concerned with providing quality education, marketable skills, and ethical values to its students."

This letter also states that these objectives are being endangered by the enrollment of approximately 3,200 students.

Commencing next semester, a one-year student property insurance plan in coordination with the U.S. National Student Association will be offered, but not required, for all on and off-campus resident students. The 10-dollar policy will provide $1,000 coverage with the first $100 deductible per claim on all thefts and damage in transit to and from school.

Stating the importance of the mass media in our society, a proposal was made for the development of WDOM-FM and the creation of a communications program at PC, since so many students are interested in pursuing a communications career. WDOM would like the administration to take a stand on the future of the radio station and also consider hiring a full time person to teach a communications program and to provide WDOM with help.

A bill was offered and tabled for the finance committee to appropriate $250 yearly to all four classes from the Student Congress budget, because the classes need so much money for junior ring and commencement.

Further consideration will be given to this bill if the Referendum is passed for the BOG to increase the Student Activity fee $5, providing the BOG with approximately $15,906 more and the Student Congress with approximately $1,000 more.

This Friday, May 7th, the Dillon Club will be sponsoring in conjunction with the Veteran’s Administration Hospital of Providence, a “Disaster Drill” to test the hospital’s ability to handle a disaster.

Thirty people will be needed for the simulated bus accident on Pleasant Valley Parkway. The “victims” made up with broken arms and legs will be transported from the scene of the accident in ambulances to the hospital.

Correction

It was incorrectly reported in last week’s Cowl that all four classes at PC will not be eligible for BDOG grants. For the first time, all four classes are eligible for such financial aid. The Cowl regrets the error.

NOTICIAS DE CUERVO

THINGS TO DO WHEN YOU VISIT MEXICO.

Look at the sky.
Go into an elevator and press 3.
Have breakfast.

Ask a person for directions to the nearest post office.
Have breakfast.
Walk on the sidewalk.
Chuckie.

Have a shot of Jose Cuervo.
Deliver a lecture to the Mexican National Assembly on the historical significance and potential peace-time uses of the nectarine, as seen through the eyes of Keats.

EN, EAN

The degree is NC

Unless... your education has prepared you for the skills that are available.

You are eligible Greatly increase your earning capacity by tempering your education with the skill of an electronics technician, your options will become vastly expanded to include the best jobs available in fields such as computer technology, industrial electronics, medical electronics, communications and broadcasting.

You consider how far electronics has come in a few short years, you will get a glimpse of its potential and yours.

861-9664

Approved Member NACTE

Approved by Veterans Benefits

Enrolled 1919

Rhode Island School of Electronics

Rise

Rhode Island School of Electronics

14 Third Street, Providence, Rhode Island 02906

TURN BOOKS INTO CASH

AT THE BOOKSTORE

THURS+FRI, MON+TUES

9am-4pm May 15-18

Correction

You asked a friend about college. He said that he was an electronics technician, and he had just finished a four-year program.

You said, "How did you become an electronics technician?"

He said, "I took all the right courses in college."

"But where did you go to college?" you asked.

"I didn't," he replied, "I went to the school of hard knocks and learned everything I know on my own."
Editor's Memo:

Cowl Continues to Move Forward

As we move closer to the end of the school year we slowly become aware that we have passed through another phase of social and academic development. In many ways, the year moving to Providence College to complete another year of studies, parties, and our growing maturity. However, for others, they are your last few weeks at PC as students.

It is to you then, the graduating class of '76 that I direct my thanks for all past year and for making this year a meaningful and remarkable time in the lives of many of us. It has been the last year in the history of the Class of '76. I thought that it would be appropriate to thank all of those seniors who have helped Providence College to continue in its growth toward '77-'78, and that Providence College may continue to grow.

I do think that it is necessary to mention some people who in various occasions have not seen eye to eye on subjects related to The Cowl. First, my thanks to Jim McCarthy. I know that in the past, The Cowl and he never could reach the same plane of understanding. You deserve a lot of credit for maintaining an organization when apathy prevailed at every turn.

The next, Pat Mudden, a special thanks. As president of the Friars Club you assured PC of the continuing help of that organization. Pat, through your position on the Faculty Senate Council, your constant concern for the students at PC we will never be able to thank you enough.

I regret for lack of space I must end this list but I thank all of you who have worked in the roles of student leadership.

You have come a long way.

In a sadder note this year we saw five classmates and two faculty members die. I know we will not forget the courage of Sue Ann Russell of the Finance Office and the way that she handled her illness. There were also Dennis Mahoney, David Sprague, and David Novello, who each had touched this community in their own special way.

We will also remember our two faculty members, Father Connell and Father Asselin. Their dedication to their profession was an example to all.

If I may be personal for a few lines, I could not let this memo end without thanking my family and many friends who have helped and supported my efforts in this new beginning for The Cowl. Hopefully, The Cowl will measure up to the hard work and expectations of all who follow this publication.

May all of you who will be returning next year have a safe and pleasant summer. Take care everyone.

We have found a situation, though, what looked good was good from the dust and moved on.

Thank you, George D. Lennon

If PC Gives Academic Scholarships, Will the Needier Students be Hurt?

By Carol Grubovski

Dribbling by Registration

When the Senate passed a resolution urging that 20 per cent of the College's financial aid be earmarked for academic scholarships, Herbert D'Arcy, director of financial aid, was caught completely unprepared. This change came as a great surprise to me. No one ever thought that without the addition of intelligent students "a preferential package of aid." Such a package would include a large portion of grant aid, instead of PC loans, and work-study aid would be reduced by 25 per cent of the school's financial aid to PC students. The effect of this reduction could exclude a larger percentage of loan and work-study aid.

D'Arcy, who heads the Committee on Administration, had no objections to academic scholarships. However, he feels that the real issue behind the Senate's resolution is the question of academic aid as opposed to economic need. The school's financial aid director is presenting the concept of an "adequate" or not assurance of financial aid influences the way a student will ultimately attend.

Although his research is not yet complete, D'Arcy points toward the fact that financial aid influences the "significant influence of the choice of a college when a student can attend college without assistance. But D'Arcy feels that "aid influences a needy student's choice of college." D'Arcy cited a trend among small private colleges and large public universities, which awards an increasing amount of academic aid in order to attract more qualified students.

D'Arcy feels that this trend might result in a bidding war for intelligent students—a situation not unlike the "advance warning" time, when a student can attend college without assistance. But D'Arcy feels that "aid influences a needy student's choice of college." D'Arcy cited a trend among small private colleges and large public universities, which awards an increasing amount of academic aid in order to attract more qualified students.

D'Arcy feels that this trend might result in a bidding war for intelligent students—a situation not unlike the "advance warning" time, when a student can attend college without assistance. But D'Arcy feels that "aid influences a needy student's choice of college." D'Arcy cited a trend among small private colleges and large public universities, which awards an increasing amount of academic aid in order to attract more qualified students.

D'Arcy feels that this trend might result in a bidding war for intelligent students—a situation not unlike the "advance warning" time, when a student can attend college without assistance. But D'Arcy feels that "aid influences a needy student's choice of college." D'Arcy cited a trend among small private colleges and large public universities, which awards an increasing amount of academic aid in order to attract more qualified students.

D'Arcy feels that this trend might result in a bidding war for intelligent students—a situation not unlike the "advance warning" time, when a student can attend college without assistance. But D'Arcy feels that "aid influences a needy student's choice of college." D'Arcy cited a trend among small private colleges and large public universities, which awards an increasing amount of academic aid in order to attract more qualified students.

This school emphasizes the freedom of the editor and often leads to apparently random areas characterized by emancipated sentences and uncontrollable paragraphs. There will be a special mailing for editors during which the term "dribbling" and 'sentence' will be discussed.

Dribbling by Registration

By Frank Cowl

Cowl's ACP Rating Falls to 2nd Class

For the first time since it "crawled" began to have its work cut out for it and the four major sections: First, Second, and Third Class ratings, which are capped by an Editorial Board rating for each.

To attain All-American Rating, a newspaper must, in addition to a First Class point total, have Marks of Excellence in at least two of the five categories. They are in coverage and appearance, editorial leadership, professional appearance, and photography.

If the student so desires, this course may be taken more than once for credit. Permission of the Director of Athletics required. Physics 249: Seminar in the Application of the Power Sources. This course, aimed primarily at majors who have demonstrated performance in both theoretical and practical uses of modern nuclear technology. The main topics of discussion will include the development of advanced silicon sources, medical applications of fusion, and the construction of entire experimental systems. Social Work 478: Advanced Field Work. Open only to seniors. Students enrolling in this course will be required to submit a final portfolio with a minority family. The student, through this experience, will gain a deeper understanding of the viewpoint of underprivileged citizens. The student will then realize the seriousness of the social problems such as alcoholism and the desire to beat and rob white people.

Students in this course will be required to submit a final portfolio with a minority family. The student, through this experience, will gain a deeper understanding of the viewpoint of underprivileged citizens. The student will then realize the seriousness of the social problems such as alcoholism and the desire to beat and rob white people.

Students in this course will be required to submit a final portfolio with a minority family. The student, through this experience, will gain a deeper understanding of the viewpoint of underprivileged citizens. The student will then realize the seriousness of the social problems such as alcoholism and the desire to beat and rob white people.

Students in this course will be required to submit a final portfolio with a minority family. The student, through this experience, will gain a deeper understanding of the viewpoint of underprivileged citizens. The student will then realize the seriousness of the social problems such as alcoholism and the desire to beat and rob white people.
Hillman Band to Play Country Rock Saturday

By Mike Garland

As part of the Providence College Alternative Music Festival, the concert committee of the B.O.G. will present the Chris Hillman/All-Star Band and Head of the Meadow at Alumni Hall this Saturday, May 5, at 8 p.m. The PC community is being presented with an opportunity to see one of the great innovators of today's music. Chris Hillman is an important exponent of "country rock."

Indeed, Chris Hillman has been involved in this form of music from its very beginning, along with the late Gram Parsons, Hillman played on the breakthrough Byrds albums of the late sixties, which was the first successful merging of country and bluegrass music with rock.

Later, with Parsons, former Eagle Bruce Lindsey, producer-server-actress-fanatic school wizard "Sneaky Pete" Kistner, and Stevie Storrs, he played in the critically acclaimed Flying Burrito Brothers. He remained in that band through all sorts of personal changes.

When Stephen Stills formed his own band, Manassas, Hillman continued with them for several tours and two albums, Manassas and Manassas II. Apparently, recently, President, David Geffen introduced Hillman to singer-producer-director-co-scripter Roger D. Souterrain, ("The Love" and "Nice Try"") and former Star Band member Poo. A predictable success, the Souther-Hillman-Farr Band recorded two albums which quickly went gold. When Souther-Hillman-Farr broke up, it was obvious that natural Hillman should embark on a solo career and put together his own band, The All Star Band is the fruit of his efforts.

Hillman's band includes John "Strummer" Seber on guitar and bass; ex-Loggins and Messina Drummer Don "Doc" West; and Al Garth on violin and sax; and former Nitty-Gritty Dirt Band bassist on keyboards. One of rock's finer songwriters, Hillman has written a number of popular songs, including "Manassas," "Maiden Voyage," and "Dirtwater Fox," which manifests his talent as a composer and storyteller.

Admission to the concert is $2.50 for PC students and $3.00 for the general public. Refreshments of all sorts of country, bluegrass, and rock music, this concert should not be missed.

Cessario Leaving

For Grad School

By Betsy Schachura

Father M. Romanus Cessario, O.P., of the religious studies department at Providence, has announced that he is leaving in September to continue his graduate studies in Europe.

Though as yet undecided whether to work for his doctorate University of Fribourg, Switzerland, and a study in Louvain, Belgium, Father Cessario has accepted no offers of his eventual return to PC to teach religious studies. He states in his letter to the college that he "loved every minute of it." Father Cessario to date has an M.A. degree in philosophy from St. Louis University, a doctorate in theology, and a Doctorate in philosophy from St. Thomas University.

McCartney Returns to Roots

With 'Speed of Sound'

By Frank Furino

I was beginning to wonder whether Paul McCartney could do it anymore. His last effort, Venus and Mars, was a poor effort, and reviews reflected that viewpoint. I thought at the time that McCartney was trying to

Segal and Hawn Star:

‘Dirtwater Fox’ Reduces

Laughs to Tastelessness

By John Marrien

Western dress and goods are generally a great deal of fun to Segal and Hawn. "Dirtwater Fox" (1974) has returned with all its hilarity, zaniness and irreverence, and even now viewing yields delicious delicate delights. The good-often-times comes with the bad — and the new film, The Duchess and the Dirtwater Fox stands as a case in point.

George Segal and Goldie Hawn are the stars. Segal is Charlie Malloy, a cigar-smoking card sharp who is as good at his profession as he is at training his horse, Blackjack, to rescue him from a fix. Things simply never seem to go right: Black Jack responds to Segal's whistle from a second story hotel room, but, upon jumping, Segal finds that the horse has not positioned itself under the window and he falls loudly to the ground.

Forced into participating in a bank robbery by the villain Bloodworth (Roy Jenson) and his gang, Segal escapes with the stolen money and heads to San Francisco to book passage to Australia. He never makes it.

In a rather seedy Barbary Coast dance hall, he catches a fancy for Amanda Quaid (Goldie Hawn), a hooker and singer of such suggestive songs as "Please Don't Touch My Plums." Of course, she wants nothing to do with him.

However, when she spits a can of black pepper into her palm, she realizes herself as a governess to a family of Mormon children, she steals Segal's money, dresses as a duchess and heads toward Salt Lake City. While attempting at times to be attractive to Hawn, barely, and heads on his trail, rather than grow with my life.

My responsibility is to do the best I can, to do the job, I just can't, it's my life. I do not imitate my art, my art imitates my life. It dries for about half an hour, then, comb it out, and spray it again. At which time I become another human being. That is the key. I would no longer be viable as an actor, a father, a husband, or a nice guy, if I can't be myself.

From when I rehearse to when I go on stage, I am always living with the fear that I will no longer have it. That I will no longer be able to create anything, that what I am able to create is no longer viable, that it's not interesting to anybody.

From when I rehearse to when I perform it, I don't know what's going to be, I have to have a great deal of trust, that I have the taste, and I have picked the right one. The first one of the first event that I ever wanted to do was "my choice, is your talent."

Q: Does it ever bother you that to most people you're only television personality? Yes, it bothers me a lot... That's why I work so hard. If I thought about being immortalized, I would no longer be viable as an actor, a general? Q: Was it your input along with Ron Howard, which is now, all of a sudden, I share star trained for nine years to be an actor but I force it on them. I want it, I force it on them. I was hired to use my words immortalized, like your words immortalized, like a man wearing a top hat in a snowstorm — he is prey to the snowball crush.

W: I don't bother me at all. I never assume anybody knows who I am. People want to watch that, it's cool. If they don't want to watch, that's cool. People say, what do I owe, what is my responsibility to the public? My responsibility is to do the best I can, to do what I am. If I live an image, I will live one day, and the other I will live my life, rather than grow with my life. Now that's a drag, isn't it? My life does not imitate my art, my art imitates my life.

Q: Are you growing the beard for some part? W: Not growing the looking because I caaasaa... because I cannot. Q: Prospects, with characters such as Fonzie, and Vinnie Bar­­ tino (Welcome Back, Kotter), one of the biggest TV hits of the year, is on the back. However, remember the story of much more fun in the creation than in the execution.

Father Cessario to date has an M.A. degree in philosophy from St. Louis University, a Doctorate in theology, and a Doctorate in philosophy from St. Thomas University.

From that point on, the first side of "El Cezar," has a catchy song, "Donny Laine," McCartney's right-hand man, sings the second track, "The Note You Never Wrote." This song begins to get things back to reality. The third side of "El Cezar," is rather madfling, since McCartney vibrates the vibes in the background from one speaker to the other.

But, keep your interest, because McCartney does match a vocal, and he is helped by good background vocals, and an ex­ceptional guitar, and an excellent background guitar. This, you begin to say, is McCartney playing his guitar.

The next song, "She's My Baby," is a potential A.M. single, but rockers may not like it. McCartney's lead vocal, which McCartney has a right to his own music, is changed, and his voice changes a little, and works its versatility around a song that could have been written 10 years ago. It's a youth song.

In spite of his multi-talented voice, though, you wonder whether Paul can let all hang out, he used to. Any doubts about this selling out are destroyed by his voice on "Beware My Love," which is the very best he's done in two years.
The BOG urges everyone to get out this week and have a great time before exams.

BEER

- $15 each
- 7/$1.00 all week

This is it!! School is over so come out and celebrate.

---

WEDNESDAY, MAY 5

“Ladies and Gentlemen, the Rolling Stones”

An outdoor movie in front of Slavin Center at 8 p.m.

Beer will be served!!!

---

THURSDAY, MAY 6

LITTLE FEAT

LIVE IN ALUMNI HALL

8 p.m.

PC Student tickets
- $4.50 in advance
- $6.50 at the door

(Hurry! Tickets are going fast)

---

FRIDAY, MAY 7

OUTDOOR CONCERT

IN FRONT OF FENNELL

1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Food, Band and Beer

WOOD RIVER JUNCTION

LAWRENCE TALBOT

DON CARTER

---

SATURDAY, MAY 8

Fun in Front of Slavin

OUTDOOR CARNIVAL

Bands, Beer, Hamburgers, Hot Dogs, Chicken, and Games, add up to a great Saturday in front of Slavin.

---

SATURDAY NIGHT

The Chris Hillman Band

LIVE IN ALUMNI HALL

8 p.m.

PC Student tickets on sale this week

---

SUNDAY, MAY 9

Mellow Afternoon of Music in Front of Slavin

Band will be playing from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

FOOD AND BEER SERVED

NO EXIT BAND
PC Shocks Speeding Drivers, But Later Shaves Bumps

By Frank Fortis
Providence College's effort to shut down speeding autos on campus resulted in the conviction of several, but frustration of costly, speed bumps on most campus roadways. Due to complaints from motorists over the engineering of the bumps, they were lowered by about two inches last Friday.

Everett Burnets, director of maintenance at PC, said the bumps were installed during the April vacation to "cut down on chains put up during the daytime. We had had chains put up during the daytime and make it a pedestrian campus."

Unfortunately, the fire department would not let us lock the chains. As a result, it didn't take long for people to realize that all you had to do was drop the chains and drive through them.

He said that the only time the College can in fact close the inner campus to traffic is during the evening, when the student security patrol is on duty to watch the chains.

"There are other means to control traffic," said Byron, "but if you have to drive in, then you watch for the safety of the people."
They also remember four years does head coach, Dean Smith. Committee (New England and member of the Olympic Selection approaching. Dave Gavitt, a knows it and so every the Russians. The team has to look players together. We have a real first time since Dr. Naismith international competition for the trials will last four hours a good as anyone," said Gavitt. invitees to the Olympic trials all they'll have to go in good shape. North Carolina State from May 3C Griffiths. Douglas, Bo Ellis and Ron Lee. Adrian Dantley, Scott May, Leon Davis, and one high school invitee, Willie basketball will be at the trials, like Hassett and Campbell are as "Personally, I think we'll win," assures Gavitt. "But coach Smith our countries. It's important to know about your life, and you have to learn about ours." One of the biggest curiosities of the Russian's basketball exhibition with PC was the U.S.S.R.'s center, Ulana Semenova. While she was at Providence, Semenova remarked (through an interpreter), "This is the fourth time I have been in the United States. Every trip to the United States is very pleasant. Sports acts as an emissary between our countries. It's important to know about your life, and you have to learn about ours."

BIG BROTHERS AND BIG SISTERS ANNUAL TAG DAY Thursday, May 6

Your contributions will be used for Christmas presents, the picnic, and toward the purchasing of a van. Please give... it is for a very worthy cause.

APARTMENT WANTED To Sublet for the Summer Call Karen 941-6955 between 10:00 - 2:30

Singer KATHLEEN NELSON and Harp Recital by CAITRIONA YEATS Sunday, May 9 8 p.m.

'64 Hall

---

No, these are not two invitees to the Olympic trials. Coach Gavitt is obviously explaining the dunking rule to a couple of his most handsome players.

SPORT PuzzE

By Al Palladino

Answers can be forward, backward or diagonally.

Clues
1.) Former Houston Rocket Coach, 2.) Trio of hockey brothers, 3.) PC Irish track star, 4.) Athletic Director, 5.) Tennis brothers, 6.) Frosh on hoop team, 7.) PC rack coach, 8.) Frosh on hoop team, 9.) Hassett's first name, 10.) PC football star, 11.) Hoop coach before Mullaney, 12.) PC Irish track star, 13.) PC footballer, 14.) PC lacrosse star, 15.) PC footballer, 16.) Voice of PC Basketball, 17.) Bullet forward, 18.) PC Canadian-born hockey star, 19.) PC hockey goalie, 20.) PC basketball star, 21.) PC last hoop star to lead nation in scoring, 22.) Frosh in career rebounds, 23.) PC hockey goalie, 24.) B-Baller's first 75-76 loss, 25.) Hoop coach before Mullaney, 26.) PC hockey goalie, 27.) PC tennis coach and former hoop star with same last name, 28.) Frosh in career rebounds, 29.) PC hockey goalie.
Racketeers in Full Swing

By Tom Giordano

On many a sunny afternoon, numerous tennis hawks show up at the Raymond Field in full regalia (triple knit, high voltage, color-coordinated tennis togs) anxious to enjoy an invigorating round of tennis.

If they arrive between the hours of 2 p.m. and 6 p.m., they have to wait because the courts are reserved for varsity practice during those times.

In consolation, their patience has not gone for naught because this year's men's tennis team is enjoying an extremely successful season. Currently, their record is 6-2 with two remaining matches.

In recent matches, they defeated Assumption College, 5-4, last Thursday and their April 30 contest versus Holy Cross has been canceled. Against Assumption, PC won four of the six singles matches including Neil O'Hurley's devastation of his opponent in two consecutive 6-0 sets.

In doubles, the Greyhounds won two of the three matches, but the win by Jay Manthorne and Gary Malloy in the second match was all that was needed for the Friars to win. Manthorne, a senior who is captain of the team, is just returning from an ankle injury that has hampered him from the beginning of the season.

The team is coached by Jacques Faulise, a tennis pro who co-captained the PC tennis team in 1973 and is in his first year of coaching the Friars. Faulise believes he has some "really good players on the team."

Among them are freshmen Neil O'Hurley and Chris McNeil who Netters, 2-2

After completing two-thirds of their season the women's tennis team holds a record of two wins and two losses with two matches to play.

This week the Lady Friars defeated Dean Junior College, 4-3.

Winners were Lynda Byrne, third singles, 6-0, 6-2; Maribeth Kellhasa, fourth singles, 6-4, 6-1; Debbie Noviello, fifth singles, 6-1, 6-2; Maureen Bailey and Cindy Bekus, second doubles, 6-1, 6-2.

Defeated were Nancy O'Hara first singles, 6-4, 6-4, 57; Monique Hire, second singles, 2-6, 4-6, 4-6; and Sue Sarcione and Donna Parry, first doubles 3-6, 6-7.

attended the same high school and were the Connecticut State High School runners-up in doubles play. Faulise added that they are "both excellent singles players."

Coach Faulise also had praise for Gary Malloy, a sophomore, who was last year's number one player and this year's best single player with a record of 5-1. Faulise called the doubles team of sophomores Ken Smith and Al Jacobs "excellent."

He believes the team has been competitive because there are "so many good players" and points out that he has used many different players throughout the season.

This season PC has lost only to Boston College, in their first match, and to URI. Along with Brown, whom the Friars face on next Tuesday, these have been the toughest teams on PC's schedule. Faulise feels that the Friars can "cap the season off if we beat Brown." Until three years ago, PC had not even scored a point in competition against Brown.

According to Faulise, Brown, URI, and PC are "at an equal level." This is based on the fact the Friars are expanding their program. The expansion will enable the Friars to draw better players despite not being able to award any scholarships.

Beginning next fall, PC will maintain a fall season and begin competition in area tournaments. This will attract the good area players, who didn't come here before there was no chance of them getting better, will now come here.

Expanding on this, he said that "we might go 04," in the fall season but, "we're going to play the best teams because you don't get better by playing the junky teams."

Coach Faulise commented that because tennis is an individualized sport, "the big thing is the tournaments," where the player gets "one chance to play and that's it." The players will improve with the stronger schedule and the better exposure. And to Faulise, this means that they will "have a good shot in the tournaments."
Bert Picks Gilbride Coach
Will Head Women's Hoop Team

By Debbie Noviello and John O'Hare

Helen Bert, the women's athletic director, has announced that Tim Gilbride will be the new women's basketball coach for the 1976-1977 season. He replaces Ray MacDonald who left for personal reasons. Gilbride, Class of '74, was formerly coach of the North Smithfield High boy's squad, and has played varsity basketball for Providence for four years.

He was captain of the soccer team his senior year at PC, and was a two-sport athlete throughout his college career.

Gilbride's assistants will be Lisa Connolly, Class of '75 and Arthur Bert, Mrs. Bert's son and a Brown University basketball player. Bert is slated to help with the overall program as a general assistant. Connolly will assist the Athletic Office with scheduling for women's events and will continue as the women's tennis coach. She was last year's women's basketball captain. Gilbride and Connolly are also engaged to be married.

"This was my decision," said Bert. "When we were told the Russians were going to play us, we didn't have a basketball coach. Tim was good enough to offer his services immediately. He had one week to get the team ready and did a great job."

Bert had "10 or 12" applicants for the position. "Some other men applied for the job, along with Tim, but we considered Tim being an alumnus and the excellent job he's done," she remarked.

At North Smithfield, Gilbride took the team from last place to a 5-0 record. He inherits a women's team that is coming off its best year in the school's history. The Lady Friars are a young team, with the median of talent being mostly freshmen and sophomores.

The Women's Athletic Office expects to attract some of the best high school talent in the area next year, so with a new coach, a winning team and some class recruits, this may put Providence up there with New England's best teams.

Tim Gilbride...

PC Honors Athletes

Providence College will salute the individuals that made the 1975-1976 season one of the school's most successful at the Annual PC Athletic Awards Banquet tomorrow.

Six major trophies will be distributed, under the auspices of a newly streamlined format. Most of the other awards for each sport have been eliminated. However, all varsity athletes will receive letters.

The awards are:

The Male Athlete of the Year

This award is given to the outstanding male performer who has distinguished himself athletically over the 1975-1976 season, will receive this award.

The Mal Brown Award

This trophy goes to the senior athlete who has best displayed qualities of leadership, integrity and sportsmanship.

The Sina Que Non Award

Annually, this award is given to the male or female athlete who has distinguished him or herself athletically over the 1975-1976 season, will receive this award.

The Female Athlete of the Year

Awards will be given to the outstanding female performer who has distinguished herself athletically over the 1975-1976 season, will receive this award.

The Sina Que Non Award

Annually, this award is given to the outstanding female performer who has distinguished herself athletically over the 1975-1976 season, will receive this award.

Two special awards will be given out also. The banquet will be held at Raymond Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Parks Wins

227, led his team to a decisive 123 pin win in this year's PC Bowling Championship.

Parks, along with Dania Iacovelli, Kevin Mullins, Chris Divine, Marc O'Malley, Mike McKenna and the ball well all day and had 234 total pins. Second place went to the team of Mike Bedford, Bob O'Leary, Kevin Gormley and Frank Walsh with a 241 total pinfall.

In third place was the fivesome of Mike Zopp, Steve Marrissan, Jim O'Brien, Lenny Walker and Joe Macdonald Jr. with a pin count of 2322.

John Curry and Dave Curley made similar efforts and scored a one under par 71 to win the Providence College Golf Open.

The tourney, which was played as a two man best-ball, had 140 competitors from the area and marks an increased participation since last year's tourney where only 38 were "putted around."

In second were Kevin O'Keefe and Bill Fay with a 72 and the teams of John Lane and Kerry Reilly and Bob Burke and Mark Ford tied for third with a 73.

Intramural footnotes: Softball

Dave Meyer and Linda Gamber of the women's softball team dominated their games...Helen Bert's choice

Golfers Win R.I. Title

By Brian Coody

The Providence College golf team led its record slip to 10-9, but they still were able to win the Rhode Island Division One golf championship. PC defeated Brown and the University of Rhode Island by the identical scores of 6-1 at Brown's home course.

The Friars were paced by Brendan Davis and Jim McMorrow who each shot the low score of the day, 75. Freshman Ken Cook, Bob Milich and Mike Armore each shot in the seventies and swept both matches. Colin Ahern and Brian Reilly both played well but came up against hot opponents. Ahern lost his match, 7 and 6, and Reilly dropped his match to 3 and 2.

Earlier in the week, the Friars played Holy Cross and Brown, winning both with identical scores of 4-3. Jim Dee of Holy Cross was low man for the day, shooting an even par 72.

Ken Cook was low man for the Friars with a fine 73. Ahern and Milich also won both of their matches. Rick Forlizzi and Reilly split their matches. Forlizzi beat Holy Cross, but lost to Brown and Reilly lost to the Crusaders. Both men hold on to beat Brown one-up. Paul Kilmartin played well but lost both of his matches.

Although the season has been disappointing, coach Bob Dore is optimistic about the New England championship tournament which starts next Tuesday and Friday at the Agawam Hunt Golf Course. They should be competing for the crown along with the top teams in New England.

Bruins Beat Lady Friars

"Our toughest games are coming up," Coach Tom Palamara couldn't have understated the situation any better. Against Brown, the PC women's softball team had their record lowered to 3-4, after being trounced by the Bruins.

However earlier in the week, PC was able to win 19-17 over RIC and 20-3 over cross-town rivals, Bryant. Against RIC, Beth Bagley entered the game in the second inning with the bases loaded. She put out the fire and pitched well the rest of the way. Ginger Ledgard and Kathy Connolly supplied the hitting with two hits each while Kathy Little contributed with a triple.

PC played one of their best games of the year. The fielding was sharp and Nancy St. Ives...