

32 Seniors Will Be Inducted Into D.E.S. Tonight In Aquinas

Induction ceremonies for thirty-five seniors and two prominent alumni into the Providence College chapter of Delta Epsilon Sigma, National Catholic Scholastic Honor Society, will be held on Wednesday, November 5, 1952, at 7:30 in the Aquinas Hall Lounge.

The alumni to be honored are the Very Rev. Monsignor Arthur T. Goghegan, rector of SS. Peter and Paul Cathedral, and a member of the class of '35; and Attorney James A. Higgins, Chairman of the R. I. Bar Association, fifth president of the Providence College Alumni Association and a member of the class of '31.

The principal speaker on this occasion will be R. I. Supreme Court Justice Francis B. Condon. Preceding the induction itself, refreshments will be served to the inductees.

The complete list of seniors to be honored by the society reads:

Raymond A. Ajami, Anthony R. Amicarelli, Arthur O. Ancil, Andrew J. Barrone, Gilbert G. Bleau, Joseph M. Campbell, Anthony R. Cataudo, Charles D. Charon, Jr., Richard J. Cobb, Guerin A. Coccoli, John R. Dalton, Rodney K. Delasanta, Robert L. Deasy, Thomas P. Farrell, Richard C. Fontaine, Walter J. Friel, Jr., Francis A. Guay, Edward A. Healy, Henry A. James, Peter J. Lapella, Edward J. Lynch, John E. McCarthy, Robert M. McLaughlin, Bernard G. Masterson, Alfred C. Moon, Robert D. Nani, Roger W. Nani, Roger A. Nault, Michael N. Orlando, Henry P. Paris, Jr., Raymond S. Riley, Frank Ruggieri, Leo W. Spaight, Richard L. Vigeant.

Bill Conway Named Pyramid Players President

At the annual Pyramid Players election held last week, William Conway, Senior Economic student from Newburgh, New York, was chosen president of the dramatic society. Conway is the business manager of the Cowl, served as last year's junior class president, is a member of the Friars, Carlians, and New York Metropolitan Clubs, and has participated actively in the Pyramid Players' Productions for the past three years.

Governor Dennis Roberts Tells Of Job Openings For College Graduates In Special Cowl Interview

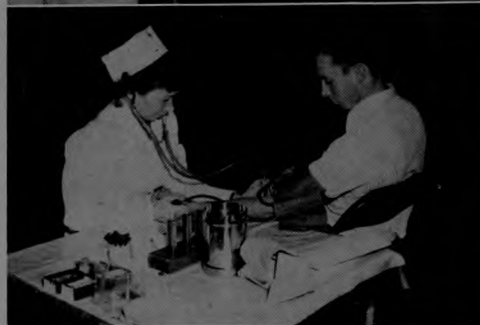

By ROBERT E. FINNERAN
"There are many government jobs available to college graduates especially in technical positions," declared the Honorable Dennis J. Roberts, Governor of the State of Rhode Island, in a special Cowl interview. Governor Roberts, who was re-elected as the Chief Executive of the State for another two years yesterday, stated that jobs in government present good careers for graduates at the present time, more than in the past.

Outlines Program
As for industry in Rhode Island, the Governor outlined the program which is in effect now and what he plans for the future. As for the present, the Governor explained the Industrial Development Council, which is in operation at the present time. The council is divided into three parts, the first being the Economic Research. This section studies pertinent facts about the State, which industries coming to Rhode Island would be interested in, such as studying the labor pool, a background of flourishing industries in this area and determining facts concerning water travel, land transportation and all the assets which the State possesses.

Industrial expansion and inducing new industries to come to Rhode Island is the responsibility of the sec-

Blood Drive Continues Thurs.

Only 109 Students Give Blood Monday

Because of the poor turnout at the Red Cross Bloodmobile last Monday, the "walk-in anytime" system is being inaugurated for tomorrow. Students who have not as yet registered, may still give blood. They need only report to the auditorium and sign up on the scene.

The Red Cross Blood Mobile visited Providence College last Monday to receive blood donations from students and faculty. At the close of the day's operation, one hundred and sixteen students appeared at their scheduled time, but ten were rejected for eating within the prescribed time limit. Forty-seven others who had signified their intention of donating, failed to appear.

On Thursday, tomorrow, the same Bloodmobile will once again be on campus. Harkins Hall will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. to accommodate additional donors. It is requested that every student adhere to his appointment time to obviate confusion and delay. Those who have previously donated will please bring their blood-donor cards with them. In addition, those students who were scheduled to donate today, but failed, are requested to report on Thursday. A schedule has been posted on the bulletin board in order to advise the students at which time they should appear.

Last year, on the second day, a record one hundred and eighty pints were donated. Harold Higgins, chairman of the Congress committee arranging the Red Cross visit, stated that "unless more students roll up their sleeves and come down to Harkins Auditorium to donate blood, our record of past performance will be jeopardized. Furthermore, we will be failing our boys on the Korean war front who will profit from our donations."

Roger Aubin, president of the Student Congress, issues a plea to all students who have neglected to take action on this program to take immediate action. There are still registration cards available. They may be obtained at the Student Congress Office, the Cowl office, and the Military Science Department.

To prevent disqualification, prospective donors are asked to adhere to the limitations set by the Red Cross. A complete list of these regulations is available at the above-listed places.

Gutenberg Bible Stamp Is Issued; Member Of Hierarchy Is Honored

By John J. Gagnon
The commemoration of the 500th anniversary of the Gutenberg Bible by the Post Office Department was done by issuing a stamp which carries a vignette showing Johann Gutenberg and an assistant giving a page proof of the new Bible to Adolph II, Archbishop of Mainz and patron of Gutenberg.

This is the first time in the history of the Post Office Department that a member of the Roman Catholic hierarchy is pictured on a United States postage stamp.

Although there are gaps in the historical record, it is still made clear that the Roman Catholic Church took

Soph Dance, Nov. 14 To Feature Special Decorative Effects

This year's Sophomore Hop, which will be held on Friday, November 14th, will feature among many innovation, an especially designed decorative motif, according to Leonard J. Riley, Sophomore Class President. Mr. Maurice Brule from New York City, noted decorator, has been employed for this occasion.

After a special conference with Mr. Brule, the adaptation of a theme suitable to the structure of Harkins Hall auditorium was decided upon. A palace ballroom theme proved most effective. The decorations which are en route from New York will arrive at the college next week.

Permanent Decorations to Be Used

In addition, the complete permanent decorations of the Student Congress will be used for the first time at this affair. The decorations have been selected to fit the class budget, and the technicolor ballroom effect will be created by student help, labor free. "The use of a new material, owned solely by Mr. Brule, will make crepe paper a thing of the past", John Bowab, co-chairman of the Hop Committee, announced.

A committee of faculty members has been selected to choose the Queen of the Soph Hop. Long live the queen! Any sophomore who wishes to enter his date in this contest, may do so by placing her photograph accompanied by entrance blank in the ballot box located in Harkins Hall Rotunda. All nominations must be in by Friday, Nov. 7th.

Bob Prairie, ticket chairman, has asked committee members to finish making their returns; all money must (Continued on Page 6)

Grad Record Exams Set For Nov. 21-22

Providence College seniors must take the Graduate Record Exams Friday and Saturday, November 21 and 22, it was announced Monday by the Rev. Vincent C. Dore, O.P., Dean of Studies.

Graduate Record Exams are used in determining eligibility for post-graduate work. They are also used by the college to find out what knowledge the student has retained from his studies.

The Exams will be given Friday, Nov. 21 from 1:30 to 5:30 and Saturday, Nov. 22 from 8:30 to 12:30.

The tests to be given Friday and Saturday will be General Aptitude (Continued on Page 6) a spirited interest in the project from the very beginning. In 1441, the parish of St. Thomas of Alsace-Lorraine loaned Gutenberg a considerable sum of money to undertake his work on the printing of the Bible. Adolph II of Nassau was at this time Canon in charge of the Cathedral of Mainz and it was then that he took an interest in Gutenberg's work.

In 1452, the first of a number of Bibles which Gutenberg was to print was delivered to the Cathedral of Mainz and with the financial backing of Father Adolf and Johann Faust, a wealthy goldsmith, the printed Bible was a success. However, because of a (Continued on Page 6)

Student Congress

The Student Congress is the leading student organization on the Providence College campus. The purposes of this organization, according to its own constitution, are: "1—To promote the best interest of the student body in conjunction with the Administration and Faculty of Providence College; 2—To act as the official representative of the student body; 3—To regulate the activities extra curricular of the general student body and of the student organizations." The Student Congress furthermore, is the most powerful organization on the campus. To illustrate this, we cite Article V, Section I: "The Student Congress shall act as a co-ordination agency between the Administration and the faculty and the Student Body as a whole, concerning itself with all the activities of the general Student Body and the student organizations." Because of the scope of its interests, the Congress, in order to insure a maximum of efficiency, not only needs able leadership, but also the opportunity to exercise its powers and to fulfill its responsibilities. We do not think that the present monthly meeting system affords this opportunity. We therefore suggest that they convene twice monthly.

There are many reasons for our stand on this issue. First, it has been a common experience in the past for major issues, once brought up, to have been forgotten entirely by the time the next meeting convened. Meetings twice a month would preclude such recurrences. Second, semi-monthly meetings would reduce the amount of work required of each Student Congress member at each meeting, by reason of the fact that the quantity of legislation to be considered at each meeting would be much less.

In the third place, this system will expedite legislation, not only because the Congress will be in session more often, but also because it will speed up committee work. In the past years, committees have been lackadaisical in submitting their reports and this has resulted in a serious impairment of vital legislation. In the span of a month's time, the members have a tendency to procrastinate in their duties. The shorter time element would necessitate more diligence. The old wheeze "not enough time" does not hold true as far as these committees are concerned since the work assigned to them can normally be accomplished within two weeks.

By adoption of this program, the Student Congress of Providence College would not be setting a radical precedent. Many Catholic colleges here in New England have realized this situation long ago and have taken adequate measures to alleviate it. We should profit by their experience.

Fifth, and most important in our estimation, the new system of bi-weekly meetings would insure a higher quality representative, and would frighten off the buffoons among us who perennially run for these offices with the sole purpose in mind of getting their names in the paper and displaying their molars on the pages of the Veritas. As it now stands, these individuals can judiciously escape all forms of work by simply not attending meetings. Under the proposed new system, their lack of attendance would be much more noticeable.

We sincerely hope that the Student Congress will intelligently consider this suggestion and take appropriate action. Failure to at least discuss its possibilities will mean only one thing—that the Student Congress delegates are not fully interested in the welfare of the student body, and that they are preserving the status quo purely for its own sake.

Blood Drive

It is a policy of a newspaper not to write an editorial if the paper does not possess facts to substantiate that editorial. WE HAVE THE FACTS!

It is a fact right down in black and white a matter of record so to speak. Last Monday there was a poor representation when the bloodmobile was in Harkins Hall Auditorium. A poor turn out was recorded. This establishes a poor record for Providence College. It shows a lack of spirit and patriotic duty.

A college student today is the most fortunate young man in the world. He has been spared temporarily from serving in the armed forces until his college education is completed. Those less fortunate are now fighting to preserve the freedoms we cherish.

Search Your Heart, what did you as a Providence College student do in turn to help our fighting forces in Korea? Nothing! Absolutely nothing.

There is still a chance for those of you who are physically able to donate your urgently needed blood. The bloodmobile will pay another visit to the College tomorrow. Let's have a better turn out this time. Let's establish a record for the amount of blood donated in one day, not a reluctance on the part of Providence College students to aid our fighting forces.

"The Thurber Album" Is Praised By Critic For Its Brilliant Wit

There are only about a half dozen good humorists in the United States today," lamented James Thurber in a recent New York Times article. He might have added, although he didn't, that one James Thurber of Columbus, Ohio, stands foremost among these six. In fact, many people believe him to be our greatest wit since old Sam Clemens himself, which takes in a lot of territory. His new book, "The Thurber Album," will not cause these people to change their minds.

"The Thurber Album" is a collection of stories, most of which have previously appeared in The New Yorker magazine, which concerns the author's remote ancestors; his relatives; and the people with whom he came into contact before, during, and after his undergraduate days at Ohio State University. Perhaps this book isn't as funny as "The Beast in Me and Other Animals," but the characters in it are much more alive than those in the former work. The real disappointing aspect about "Album" is that it doesn't contain any of those outlandish cartoons with which Thurber's name has been associated for the past twenty years. The reason for this is that he is now almost blind, and can draw only with the greatest difficulty. No doubt this will not cause any gnashing of teeth in the art world (even Thurber himself admits he is no artist, nor, for that matter a good cartoonist in the ordinary sense of the word), those who have enjoyed his "Touche" and "Home" will regret his failing eyesight.

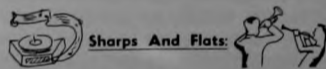

In "The Thurber Album" you will come across such fantastic figures as Jake Fisher, the author's great grandfather, who "was the strongest man for many miles," and who was apt to pick a fight with anybody who didn't happen to agree with his (Jake's) political beliefs or who attacked the divine inspiration of Scripture. When the Chillicothe (Ohio) Tollpike was cut, Jake permitted the contractor to take all the gravel he wanted from a gravel pit which he owned, with the understanding that Jake would not have to pay toll. After the road had been constructed, however, the company conveniently forgot this arrangement. The first time that Jake came to the tollgate, he was ordered to pay. Instead, he climbed out of his rig, beat up the tollgate keeper, and went on his way.

When the company heard of this, they put a bigger man on the job, but he shared the same fate as the first; and, all told, eight hushies fell before the righteous fists of Jake Fisher before the company finally conceded defeat. From then on, the gatekeeper would raise the gate when Jake's rig was still a quarter mile away.

Also in this book you will meet: Norman (Gus) Kuehner, editor of the Columbus Dispatch, who ironically called Thurber "Author" after he found out that the latter had once written the libretto for a college musical; Billy Graves, professor of English at Ohio State, and a Beta Theta Pi man to the death; Grandma Fisher, whose main delight in life was chewing on a big hunk of tobacco; and that great baseball team, the Miracle Men of Parsons Avenue. "All these and many more," (as the circus barker would say) are to be found within the "Album's" covers. Some are skinny, some fat, some cranky, some good natured; but all of them have been stamped with the indelible Thurber touch.

No Square He, Claims Columnist; Believes Liberace Is Stupendous

Writing this on the eve of the Presidential Election brings to mind the two songs that have been blasting out over radio, TV and public address systems since the conventions during the summer. I don't know how much aid "Sunshine of My Smiles" has given the GOP hopeful, but the man from Illinois has left himself open for many a jokesters barbed tongue with his ditty, "Don't Let Them Take It Away." Oh well, it just goes to prove that music is everywhere . . .

Frank Sinatra is back in the headlines again with his fairly impressive cutting of "The Birth of the Blues". There is a slight similarity in this tune to some of the old 'Frankie Boy' discs. Maynard Ferguson, who broke up with Stan Kenton a while back and went on tour with his wife, Kay Brown, is back with the Kenton group again. The Billy Williams Quartet moved into Providence Monday and gave the fans their money's worth of entertainment at the Celebrity Club. There's talk that Louis Armstrong is coming this way soon. Speaking of Satchmo, the fine sides he has been turning out with Gordon Jenkins on Decca are a credit to both men. The two masters of music speak highly of each other and the relationship has turned into a fast friendship. That's the way it should be.

There has been a recent fad in newspapers and magazines to ad lib to the general story trend with the addition of what is called in the trade, "Bop Jokes". These morsels of English compositions are delivered with serious overtones. Let's face it, the American people have gone to the end of the line for their humor. It isn't bad enough that we have to listen to some of these distorted musical inuendos that are occasionally played on the radio, but when you pick up the paper and some of the leading magazines and find full page spreads devoted to the jargon of the trend, that is too much. This reporter is not a so called, "square", but let's not let the thing get out of hand.

Last night we caught the All Star review on TV. Joan Davis was the headliner, but the array of talent behind her sort of detracted from her starring position. Zsa Zsa Gabor was one of the feminine attractions and did a magnificent job in her first TV performance. In the second half of the show one of the finest piano players on the West Coast did a two number stint. The gentleman in question, Liberace, played "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue" in his solo capacity and was ably assisted by Miss Davis on the second number, "Dark Eyes." I was rather surprised by Miss Davis's dexterity at the keyboard, but completely awed by the performance given by Liberace. A few months ago NBC was running a half hour show featuring pianists, and I was fortunate enough to hear one of which Liberace performed. Words short of stupendous, and sensational are not enough to praise this brilliant young musician. He has a technique comparable to that of Victor Borge, but I think that his musical technique is of a greater caliber than that of Borge's. All in all, it was a very interesting show, and refreshed the tired viewer who is sick of the slapstick.

Orchids of the month: An extra large bouquet to NBC for their fine production on Saturday night, The Jazz Arts Concert. This show can be heard on any NBC station at 10:30 on Saturday Stan Kenton has been on.

Times Conceals Stories Behind Pocketbook Ads

Emanating out of New York City three hundred and sixty-five days a year is that august and sedate newspaper, The New York Times. It is reputed to be read in all of the world's capitals, by diplomats interested in world affairs, and by all those who are desirous of knowing "All The News That's Fit To Print." One would think that this distinguished news organ has its greatest appeal to intellectuals, politicians, statesmen, and journalists, in short to the male segment. However, after glancing through a recent Sunday edition, it would seem to me that the Times people believe there is a large number of women here in America who read their paper. This conclusion was brought about by the large amount of advertisements which were directed at women.

In the Times Magazine, out of sixteen full page ads, fifty per cent were aimed directly at women readers. There were also seven large ads which put forth the virtues of certain foundation garments in rather sagacious fashion. Samples: "Everybody loves a chubby baby . . . but you're a big girl now you need a . . ."; Another had obviously caught the fever of the campaign with the observation "I dreamed I won the election in my . . .". In the same Magazine there were two pages devoted to preparing "decorative and delicious" food, two pages told how to live with "the open floor plan", and four pages, replete with pictures, of the latest fashions in women's clothes.

In the news section, which was comprised of ninety-three pages, the number of ads devoted to the feminine angle ran to well over one hundred. These occurred in all sizes, from two columns to full pages. In some cases it was rather hard to find the news items because the size of hats, coats, or purses dazzled the eye. One got his news about Spain, Germany, or Iran with strong doses of Gimbels, Macys, Saks et al. However, there is one joyous note. No ads appeared on the front page except one of three lines extolling a certain health center.

What does this catering to the women prove? Certainly not that the Times is becoming effeminate, or that it believes that women are taking over the country from all fronts. It depends a great deal on advertising revenue to meet operating costs so it has to print what its clients wish to advertise. It is not the Times' fault that most of the ads are for the women. However, I pass the following observation on for what it is worth.

The next time you see a woman engrossed in the Times, do not be fooled as to her objectives in reading it. She is not an Aristotelian interested in dialectical arguments, nor an internationalist interested in events in the Middle East. Her interest in financial operations is nil and political activity to her is nothing but chicanery and skulduggery. She is looking for a new hat, dress, or handbag and cloaking her bargain hunting with the dignity of the Times.

Prom Committee Is Named; Over 100 Juniors Appointed

Jim Wille and Tom Haxton have been appointed the co-chairman of this year's Junior Prom Committee, Richard V. Horne Junior Class President, announced today. "Although the committee is large, it is well organized, and represents a cross-section of the whole Junior class. Contracts are already being made, and negotiations begun, for the selection of the Prom orchestra," Horne disclosed.

"The Prom committees made public in this issue of the Cowl should not be construed as being final or obligatory. Members to the various committees can be added or subtracted with equal facility. Nor should it be construed that the members of the various committees were chosen by any member of special preference, or by any manner of special preference, or by any esoteric formula of infallible judgment. I asked for volunteers, and I am happy to say that most of the members are volunteers. I now ask again for volunteers, so that any student in the Class of 1954, who might have been overlooked, might still be placed in a position which he can help his class. If you think you can help, and if your name is not on a committee, please contact me at your earliest convenience," Horne stated.

Friday, April 24, has been tentatively selected as the date of the Prom. This year's committee has eight sub-committees. They are:

Budget: E. Hanley, (chairman); C. Lohner, J. O'Neill, P. Doherty and M. Filippelli (accountant); Ballroom: D. Kehoe, (chairman); Shea, Serles; Music: J. Paolino, (vice chairman); T. Spargo, R. Petteruti, P. Griffin, J. McNamara, A. Petrocelli, R. Berquist,

Tertiaries Begin Prayer Program And Adoration During First Fridays

Beginning this Friday after the usual First Friday Mass in the students' lounge, the candidates of the Third Order will begin a special program of prayer and adoration. One or more Tertiaries will keep vigil for 15 minutes while reciting the rosary before the Blessed Sacrament exposed.

Father Rubba will place on the bulletin board the list of names of the students who have volunteered to say the rosary on every First Friday. There will be 15 minute shifts from 8:00 until 11:30 a.m. More volunteers are being sought and any student, Tertiary or not, may volunteer.

At 11:30 the 15 minute shifts will end, and the regular monthly meeting of the Tertiary Chapter will begin, with rosary, conference, and singing of Compline. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will bring the program to a close at about 12:15 p.m.

Both the adoration and meeting are open to anyone and everyone in the college without exception. All are cordially invited to attend and to bring friends. There are only about six First Fridays during the academic year, hence the program should prove convenient and attractive.

ROTC NOTES:

Sgt. Marcotte has announced that all uniforms are here and will be distributed by Armistice Day to all 717 members of the R.O.T.C. . . . Master Sgt. Lawson's wife had a baby girl at Quonset Naval Hospital on Nov. 27 . . . Lt. Col. Ambrose C. Arthur reported today for duty with R.O.T.C. after two years on Okinawa . . . Cop. Leonard has reported for duty in the administrative dept., after serving in Korea. He hails from Taunton, Mass.

ROTC Unit To March In Armistice Parade

Approximately 125 cadets from ROTC will march in the Armistice Day parade in Providence. Marching with the cadets, who are all volunteers, will be the ROTC band. The members of the forty piece band, under the direction of Father Georges, will be dressed in the new outfits purchased recently.

These outfits of white helmet liners, white leggins, white shoulder cords, and yellow scarfs. The band will be led by the Drum Major, Thomas Coyne.

The parade will form at Hoyle Square at 8:45 and will start at 9:30. All plans for the R.O.T.C. participation in the parade are under the direction of Capt. Gould and Master Sgt. Allen. Colonel Moss expresses the hope that the parents of the cadets, who are marching and any students, who are not marching, will come to the parade.

Teacher Exams Are Set For February 14

PRINCETON, N. J.—The National Teacher Examinations, prepared and administered annually by Educational Testing Service, will be given at 200 testing centers throughout the United States on Saturday, February 14, 1953.

At the one-day testing session a candidate may take the Common Examinations, which include tests in Professional Information, General Culture, English Expression, and Non-verbal Reasoning; and one or two of eight Optional Examinations designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter to be taught. The college which a candidate is attending, or the school system in which he is seeking employment, will advise him whether he should take the National Teacher Examinations and which of the Optional Examinations to select.

Application forms and a Bulletin of Information describing registration procedure and containing sample test questions may be obtained from college officials, school superintendents, or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey. Complete applications, accompanied by proper examination fees, will be accepted by the ETS office during November, December, and in January so long as they are received before January 16, 1953.

Jr. Veridames Hold First Session Nov. 9

The Junior Veridames will hold their monthly meeting Sunday, November 9 in Harkins Hall.

Plans for the coming semi-formal dance to be given at the Sheraton-Biltmore in mid-December will be discussed. Miss Helen Duggan is chairman of the dance.

The club will also assist the Senior Veridames when the latter association presents the Boys' Town Chorus at the Hope High School Auditorium, November 13. The Junior Veridames will act as usherettes and will also assist the ticket committee.

Officers elected for the coming year are: Mary Nolan, pres.; Barbara Sullivan, vice-president; Mary Cappelli, recording secretary; Barbara Broderick, recording secretary, and Mary Miller, treasurer.

CAPTAIN F. V. CIOLINO, newly appointed assistant PMS&T, merrily explains some point on military science to three of his students.

Capt. Francis Ciolino Appointed Fourth Assistant PMS&T For College ROTC Unit

Capt. Ciolino is the latest commissioned officer to be assigned to Providence College as an Assistant P.M.S.&T. He attended Spring Hill Prep in Mobile, Alabama, and also went to Holy Cross High in New Orleans.

He completed his college education at Notre Dame University, and was employed at that institution as an assistant to orient freshmen who intended to study for their masters degree at the school. He continued in this position until the draft interfered. The captain enlisted in the Quartermaster Corps in March, 1941. He was sent to Barksdale Field in Shreveport, Louisiana, where he was attached to the Air Corps. After having earned the rank of sergeant, he went to O.C.S. at Camp Lee, Virginia where he received his commission as a second lieutenant in July, 1942. His first assignment after O.C.S. was as "Intransit Storage Officer" at the Brooklyn Army Base, New York Port of Embarkation. He remained at the Army Base from July, 1942 to December, 1946, serving with various assignments within the Port Transportation Division.

His last assignment at the port was Officer in charge of Receiving, Shipping and Storage. He was separated from service in December, 1946, and returned to his home in Greenville, Miss., where he was employed by the Commercial National Bank. He later entered the restaurant and candy business with his father. He also had a radio program and was a teacher at the local high school.

Captain Ciolino remained in Greenville until April of this year when he was recalled to active duty and sent to Fort Eustis, Va. He was a course director at the Transportation School at that post where he was what he calls an "Unofficial Chaplain" to the newly commissioned second lieutenants. His lifesaving transfer to Providence College came in August.

Spiked Shoe Festival Scheduled For Saturday

It was announced today by co-chairman Dave Kehoe and Dean Slocum, that tickets are now on sale for the Harvest Dance, sponsored by the Spiked Shoe Club. The affair is to be held on Saturday evening, November 15, at the Oak Hill Tennis Club in Pawtucket with dancing from 8 to 12.

Tickets are $1.50 per couple. Assisting the co-chairman are Dick Tierman, Bob Prairie, and Bob Nelson in charge of decoration and refreshments and John Bagdon and Jim Malley in charge of publicity. The dance is to be on a very informal basis and couples are asked to wear old clothes.

The usual refreshments will be served at the same reasonable price. A new innovation this year will be that of door prizes, which, it is promised, will surprise everyone.

Coatesmen To Participate In Eastern Inter-Collegiates

Harriers Will Journey To Boston's Franklin Park For Track Meeting

By John Salesses

The Friar cross-country team will journey to Franklin Park in Boston next Monday to compete in the New England Inter-Collegiate A.A. meet. Last year Providence College placed third behind Boston University and M.I.T.

Pop Johnson led the Friars when he took third place. He was followed by Chris Lohner, who came in eleventh.

The prospects for the Coatesmen do not look as bright this year as they did last, however, if the team is in shape, and Pop Johnson comes up to his old form, the team should do well.

Coach Coates will probably bring with him Johnson, Chris Lohner, Bill Hennigan, Paul Methia, Herb Waters, Dick Tiernan, and Connie Sullivan. Bob Prarie, who has improved steadily during the past few weeks, will also be eligible for the New Englands.

Harriers Split In Two Meets

On Monday afternoon the Providence College harriers ended their dual meet season with an overwhelming victory over the Brown team by the score of 21-39. The cross-country team's record, while not great, is impressive, considering their opposition and experience.

Brown's ace runner, Walt Molineaux, won the race last Monday. Chris Lohner was again top man for the Friars. The depth the Providence harriers exhibited was the outstanding factor in their victory. Dick Lee, Bill Hennigan and Herb Waters, who placed third, fourth, and fifth, were the scorers along with Lohner and Dick Tiernan, who finished seventh while running one of the best races. The other men finishing for Providence were Paul Methia (8), Connie Sullivan (10), and Bob Prarie (12). Brown's Bill Reid, who came in sixth, was their second finisher.

Yanks Drub Providence

By Bill Flanagan

On windswept Hendricken Field last Thursday, Oct. 30, the Connecticut Yankees continued to roll on in the Intramural League as they demonstrated the power which has placed them on top by soundly whipping a previously undefeated Providence Club 19-2. The Yanks, making good use of a strong defense and a great set of offensive plays, completely stole the show from a game Providence team in as wild and as exciting a game as you would want to see.

"Red" Knowles and Joe Riccio tallied for the Nutmeg State boys both on great pass plays but the conversions failed and the Connecticut team walked off at half time leading 12-0.

In the second half the Yanks struck again with Al Vaghi making a spectacular end zone catch following a great series of pass plays. Joe Riccio converted and the score became 19-0 Yanks. After that the game settled into a defensive duel with pass interceptions and penalties marring both teams' chances. Providence's lone score came on a safety to make the final score stand Yanks 19, Providence 2.

Mr. Drew deserves a great deal of praise for the excellent job of officiating he did. Otherwise this high spirited contest might have gotten out of hand. With two games left to play this week, the Yanks can come close to clinching the championship; however, second place Worcester, third place Providence and fourth place Sr. Business are still in contention.

Mr. Drew announces that the following may pick up their Intramural Cross Country medals from the Athletic Office, Room 106, Harkins Hall: Bandy, Prairie, Lorean, Lankowicz, Dubois.

Cuddy Calls Basketeers

By Martin Sandler

Approximately twenty-five candidates were on hand last Saturday as Varsity basketball practice began for the 1952-53 season. Leading the aspirants are such veterans as Bob Moran, Hank McQueeney, Bob Prendergast, Phil Lynch, Jack Reynolds, Tom Mullins, Jack Durkin, and Ken Kerr. Attempting to move up from the Junior Varsity are such men as Charlie Aquavia, Ed Ryder, Ray Cordon, Bob O'Connell, and Jack Keating. Also out for the squad is John "Beaver" Power, a member of the varsity two years ago.

In Bob Moran and Hank McQueeney, coach Vin Cuddy has two performers that would be vital cogs in any ball club. It certainly can be said in truth that the fortunes of the Friars this season hang on the performances of these two.

Moran will be starting his second year of varsity competition. To say that Bob had an excellent first season would be the understatement of the year. All the young man did in his first season of varsity competition was to break the school scoring record, held previously by Jim Schlimm. While doing this Bob amassed the amazing total of three hundred and eighty points. Possessor of the deadliest shooting eye seen in these parts in many a moon, Bob (Continued on Page 6)

Two Prominent Sports Figures, Tebbetts & Reardon, Close Series

At the fifth Sports Forum, held last Monday night in Albertus Magnus Auditorium, a double session was run because of the coming holiday eve next week. On the first panel, whose subject was hockey, Mr. Daniel Norton of the class of 1927, acted as chairman. Mr. Richard Rondeau, coach of Providence College's hockey team, Mr. John Aborn, the Journal-Bulletin representative, and last but not least, Mr. Terry Reardon, coach of the Rhode Island Reds, were the other members of the panel along with Fr. Begley, O.P., Athletic director of Providence College.

Mr. Reardon led off with a brief history of hockey. Seems that Captain James Sutherland invented the game in 1870. It was played with a rubber ball and field hockey sticks until 1878 when the rules were changed and the teams cut to nine men. It wasn't until 1918 when Agras, Smyth, and the Patrick brothers brought the game out of Canada for the world to see that it took its present form.

When Mr. Rondeau was asked the question of the difference between professional and collegiate hockey he said that pro hockey uses a five man forward type of game with less passing and more power plays. College hockey uses the three man type with more passing and more set plays. Also pro hockey is rougher because checking is permitted in the center zone, thus making power plays necessary, whereas in college hockey checking is permitted only over the attacking blue line, making passing going up the ice possible.

PHIL-INS

Turkeys And Tired Coaches Tremble As Gleaming Axes Prepare To Fall

PHIL GRIFFIN

Along about this time every year big fat turkeys and wan football coaches begin casting apprehensive glances over their shoulders at the gleaming axes the powers-that-be will wield when the day set aside for such practices dawns on that last Thursday in November. Also, along about this time basketball coaches cast apprehensive glances at the lean youths, who have high hopes of carrying the institution's banner on the hardwood. The personable mentor of the Providence College Friars, Mr. Vincent Cuddy, is no exception to the last rule.

We have no fat turkeys or weary football coaches stepping gingerly around our fair campus, so necessity demands that I deal with Mr. Cuddy's plight.

Eight Veteran Courtmen

The casual observer might paint a magnificently optimistic portrait when he views the Friars' prospects for the coming season. First of all, Vin welcomed eight returning veterans to Harkins Hall last Monday while the ex-haust from the blood mobile still hovered about the scene. Bob Prendergast, Bob Moran, Hank McQueeney, Tom Mullins, Phil Lynch, Jack Durkin, Kenny Kerr, and Joe King are a formidable crew when one views their previous experience. It would seem that Santa Claus visited Mr. Cuddy some two months before he got around to the rest of us. Moran alone is enough to cause much jumping and heel clicking in the athletic office. Robert, of the illustrious Brooklyn Morans, returns to the fold sporting an even greater knowledge of the lore of court magic than he did last year when he was the greatest of the warriors that marched under the banner of the Black and White.

Freshmen Ineligible This Year

Alas, a pessimist might paint a portrait as bleak as the first one was bright. True, we have eight veterans among us, but there you have it. Freshmen are ineligible for varsity competition this year, so there won't be any first year hot shots burning up Mount Pleasant on the night of December 3. Thus, if the team is to improve on last year's "so-so" showing the improvement will have to be found in the boys themselves. And therein lies the question. Will certain members of the squad improve on last year's performances, or, in other words, will the Providence College Friars be a tough opponent or a "breather" on the slates of various New England colleges?

Improvement Necessary

Improvement will have to be forthcoming on last year's performance if P.C. is to show respectably against Holy Cross and Manhattan. Improvement will have to be forthcoming if Rhode Island University is to be listed among the local's victims when March rolls around. That big "IF" will be a reality before long, and the Smith Hill faithful will be blowing a very loud horn or burying their heads in a collective crying towel when the outcome is certain.

It's too early for anything but speculation, but we can at least beseech Santa Claus to fill Mr. Cuddy's stocking with good things instead of lumps of coal when he makes his early visit. The potentiality is definitely there. Will it become actuality on that third night in December?

Tebbetts, Reardon Talk At Panel . . .

 great hockey players as being due to the weather. Along these same lines Mr. Aborn came up with such names as Lane, Jeremiah and Owen from College hockey and Brimseck and Crackas from amateur ranks as being great Americans that played the game.

Mr. Reardon thought that the game of today is rougher than in the days of Shore or Joliet but that they could play today's game. The average player has changed from a star to a team man since the teams are playing all offensive hockey. Skills in hockey are becoming obsolete just as in every other sport today. On the question of players age, Mr. Reardon said that a player could go as long as any other athlete. It is the legs that give out first. Though there are many injuries they don't cut down on the player's longevity.

On the question of Providence as a Hockey town, Mr. Norton, who is with the R. I. Auditorium, said the games had outsold everything but major fights in spite of the fact that there is less seating capacity at hockey games. It is because of this that most players like Providence.

Mr. Rondeau stated that all players in collegiate hockey must wear a helmet and Mr. Reardon chipped in with the idea that he would like to see all hockey players wear them. On the subject of the greatest players he has seen Mr. Reardon came up with Brimseck as goalie, Schmidt as puck handler, and about Richard, only "Ter-rific."

Mr. Rondeau in closing was asked what he thought of P.C.'s chances this year. He said that the boys here have shown more enthusiasm and learning ability than at Holy Cross or Dartmouth, but he would only predict a sound future for hockey at Providence College.

After a short intermission another panel convened with Dr. Francis Holland, captain of the 1924 club here at P.C. which went twenty innings to beat Brown 1-0 in the longest game on college record books, as chairman, Mr. Joseph McHenry of the Journal-Bulletin sports staff, Mr. Hal Martin, head coach of baseball here at P.C., and George "Birdie" Tebbetts, former Friar ball player, who has spent sixteen and a half years in the majors.

Mr. Tebbetts started the panel off by answering a question on the balk rule which he thought ought to be enforced or gotten rid of. On the question of bonus players Mr. Martin thought that they were out of proportion sometimes but Mr. Tebbetts explained this somewhat by saying that there just aren't enough good ball players to go around. Mr. Martin thought that this was in some measure due to the loss of high school coaches during the last war. Also the loss of interest in college ball has hurt the game. On the question of what is necessary for a good college team Mr. Martin picked the battery as most necessary then strength through the middle, short, second and center. Players must have good knowledge of fundamentals, desire to win and natural ability.

Lettermen Sponsor Friday Night Dance

The Monogram Club will hold an informal dance in Harkins Hall, Friday night at eight o'clock, it was announced by the newly elected president, Robert Prendergast, at last week's meeting.

Students from nearby hospitals and colleges—R.I.C.E., Chapin Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, R. I. Hospital, and Bryant College will be in attendance at this affair. It was further announced that dual prices will be in effect—fifty cents for the men and twenty-five cents for the ladies. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

Dancing will be from eight to twelve in the evening. A local orchestra has been engaged for this occasion. President Prendergast informs all those who plan to attend to wear strictly informal clothes—suntans, dungarees, slacks, etc.

The new officers of the club also include: John Power, vice-president; Jim Sughrue, secretary, and Richard Johnson, treasurer.

Dick Tanzi, P.C. Graduate, Receives Navy Commission

Among the 880 men receiving reserve commissions from the Navy's only Officer Candidate School at Newport, R. I., was Richard J. Tanzi of Providence, who received a General Line commission as an Ensign in the U. S. Navy.

Tanzi, a graduate of Providence College, received his B.S. in Biology in 1952.

The graduating class was composed of two groups. One group, totaling 690 men, completed an intensive four month training program and received general line officers' commissions. They received basic instruction in sea-going skills such as gunnery, seamanship, navigation, engineering, damage control and communications.

The other group was composed of 190 men who completed two months' indoctrination and received staff corps commissions in the Supply Corps, Civil Engineer Corps, and specialists' commissions in such varied fields as naval architecture, electronics, ordnance, intelligence, and marine engineering. These men will undergo at least two months' additional training elsewhere in their specialty before reporting to their first regular duty assignment.

Established in June, 1951, the school had an opening enrollment of 500. Since that time the enrollment has jumped to its present 1,900 students. All of the men are college graduates.

The primary purpose of the school is to provide qualified junior officers for the expanding fleets and to relieve reserve officers called to duty since the outbreak of the Korean war.

Gov. Roberts . . .

 and part of the council. This part acts as the salesman of the council, taking the facts established by the Economic Research Department and making known to industry what is here.

Develop Transportation

The third part is concerned with planning and developing. The duty of this section is to plan from a value point of view, so as to attract potential industries to this area. They would develop transportation facilities such as good highways leading into the industrial centers, and also develop the waterways more extensively.

"This organization has already shown definite accomplishments, by bringing six new plants into the State," Governor Roberts disclosed.

The Governor's plan for an Industrial Development Corporation was also explained to this reporter. The corporation will build a plant for an industry through public bonds and/or financial backing from banks. The Governor explained, "Industries would like to come to Rhode Island, but they do not wish to build the plants themselves. They would much rather lease the buildings." The Governor, speaking of this corporation, said that the State of Rhode Island would not be the owner of these buildings; it would be the bond holders. In other words, a secure company wishing to establish itself in Rhode Island would lease a modern plant built by the bond holders. He further disclosed that 44 new plants would have come in if this plan were in effect.

Hope to Diversify Industry

The State's Chief Executive went on to say that, "The new plants would be diversified from textiles, since the textile industry is almost 100% over-employed at the present time. By doing this it would lessen the unemployment in the State, and thus lessen the 2.7 unemployment tax."

He further stated, "Rhode Island possesses a very good labor pool, which is a valuable asset. It possesses one of the best harbors in the Northern Atlantic Seaboard, besides having adequate storage wharves at the pier."

"Government is justified in aiding and inducing industry when the need is great, which is in conformity with Providence College teaching," the Governor stated.

Improved Highway System

The Governor also told of the improving highway system in the State. He told of the continuance of the 12 year plan which has been adopted and the opening this year of the new freeway. This plan is necessary for the inducement to new industry, so as to open up and facilitate transportation into the State.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editors:

May I put in my five cents worth in regards to the proposed new ROTC Model Railroad Club?

As we are seeking recognition by the Student Congress, we must answer to the best of our ability some of the questions the "big boys" are asking the "little boys" who, they say, quote "Want to play with toy trains in a sand box. . . ."

The Providence College branch of the R.O.T.C. is concerned chiefly with transportation. Right? Isn't it possible that a scale model railroad would help to create more of an interest in the subject? Some of us might want to stay in that type of work when we get commissioned into the United States Army.

What possible harm could such a club do? And it probably would do some of you a lot of good. Let the ones who think that it is kid stuff stop in and look over any model railroad in the vicinity. (There are several in all the big cities, you know). The Professor of Military Science & Tactics will vouch for that anytime.

In closing, may I say that nobody laughs at architects for making detailed scale models, so rather than spreading childish rumors, give us a hand in getting started, "will ya, fellas"?

Boston U. overcame the harriers last Thursday by the close score of 24-32. The New England champs, featuring Johnny Kelly, who came in first, were the toughest team that P. C. faced this year, with the exception of Army. Kelly showed his prowess by chopping thirteen seconds off the old course record of 21:33. Lohner and Hennigan finished second and third.

The freshman team has developed into a top flight outfit. Joe Madden, who won both the Brown and B. U. meets, set a record Thursday for the freshman course when he covered it in 14:35. Bill Allen and Pete Wallack are also standouts on the frosh squad. Ralph Tedesco, Joe Steen and Bob Ledaux are the other outstanding members of this fine squad.

Along with being extremely fast, Hank is one of the best handlers of the squad. He should fit right into the new weave system being used by Mr. Cuddy this year.

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."
