

Dominican Superior Dies in Providence

The Very Reverend Bernard P. Shaffer, O.P., Religious Superior of the Dominican community at Providence College, died last Friday at Our Lady of Fatima Hospital in North Providence.

His body lay in state in Aquinas Hall on Sunday and Monday. The funeral was held on Tuesday.

Fr. Shaffer was born in Akron, Ohio, in 1909. He graduated from Aquinas High School in Columbus, Ohio.

He graduated from Providence College in 1932 and was ordained to the priesthood in 1937 at St. Dominic's Church in Washington, D. C., and served as pastor of the church for several years.

For three years he served as pastor of St. Dominic's Priory in Youngstown, Ohio. He left Priory in 1964 when he was appointed superior at Providence. Earlier this year Fr. Shaffer was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree by the College.

FATHER SHAFFER

Fr. Heath Named New PC Chaplain

The Rev. Walter J. Heath, O.P., has been appointed Chaplain of Providence College. With Fr. Heath's appointment several changes have taken place in the chaplain's office. Two new assistant chaplains have been appointed. They are: Rev. Lawrence Concordia, O.P., and Rev. Anthony Vanderbar, O.P. Fr. Heath will also receive assistance from Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, Rev. William C. Detting, Brother Mario, and Peter Sullivan "66."

Presently the chaplain's office is located in room 101, Harkins Hall. In the near future Fr. Heath plans to move his office two parlors south of room 101. This new, two-chambered parlor will have an entrance room for the pamphlet racks, periodicals, and, hopefully soon, a secretary. Fr. Heath's office will occupy the second room.

The new location of the chaplain's office was decided on after four proposed sites were investigated. The new location was selected because of its proximity to the Oratory and facilities for Confession.

The chaplain's job is to advise students on spiritual matters and those of purely personal interest. It is Fr. Heath's hope to arouse a general awareness in the students of the chaplain's job so that they will inform him when a student is in need of a priest's service.

As usual each student will be requested to make a weekend retreat. On the weekends of October 15, 16, and 17; Oct. 22, 23, and 24, and Nov. 5, 6, and 7, retreats will be held at Dominic Savio Retreat House in Peace Dale. As of the moment, the retreat masters have not been finalized, but there is adequate time to fill out the neces-

Pres. Haas Announces New Faculty Position

Three major faculty and staff appointments at Providence College have been announced by the Very Rev. William P. Haas, O.P., president.

Robert L. Deasy, former associate professor of history, is chairman of the Humanities Department; the Rev. Walter J. Heath, O.P., former professor of philosophy, is chaplain of the college; and Arthur J. Newton, former assistant dean of men, is Director of Student Affairs.

Mr. Deasy, of 145 Ferris Ave., Rumford, a PC faculty member since 1956, succeeds the Rev. John F. Cunningham, O.P., who has been named director of the arts honors program.

He graduated from PC (Summa Cum Laude) in 1953 and received a Master of Arts degree from Fordham University in 1954. He is a doctoral candidate at Boston College.

Father Heath succeeds the Rev. Matthew V. Reilly, O.P., who has been reassigned to the Dominican Mission Band at St. Pius Priory, Providence.

A native of Revere, Mass., Father Heath received a B.S. degree in physics from Boston College in 1942 and was then commissioned an officer in the U. S. Submarine Service. After discharge he attended LeHigh University where he received a B.S. degree in Metallurgy in 1947.

He entered the Dominican Order in 1948, received his A.B. in Philosophy in 1952 and was ordained to the priesthood in 1955 in Washington, D. C. He received his Licentiate and Lecturate in Sacred Theology in June, 1956, and joined the Providence College faculty in the fall of the same year.

Mr. Newton, of 537 Putnam Ave., Greenville, retired as a Captain and Chief of Detectives of the Rhode Island State Police in 1962. He has been a member of the PC staff since March, 1963.

A graduate of Hope High School, Mr. Newton is a member of the Class of 1942 at PC. He will be responsible for the coordination and general supervision of non-academic student activities in the newly-created post.

Freshmen Reception Given in Manhattan

On August 25, 1965, a reception was held by the College for the members of the Class of 1969 at Longchamps Restaurant in midtown Manhattan. Invitations were sent to the members of the Class of 1969 and their parents to attend this affair.

Approximately two hundred were present at the reception, the first of its kind to be held for an incoming class. The Rev. Royal J. Gardner, O.P., Director of Admissions, acted as host for the evening with Fathers Taylor and Ilya assisting him. About ten students from the Student Congress as well as some students from the New York area were present at the reception. Mr. Alfred Blake and Mr. John McLoughlin were on hand as representatives of the New York Alumni Association.

The purpose of the reception was to give the incoming freshmen and their parents an opportunity to meet the Providence College family—the Alumni, the faculty, and the students. John Nissen "66," Student Congress president, stated that the event was a tremendous success for it gave the new frosh an opportunity to meet their classmates as well as a chance to ask the priests and students many questions.

New Appointment Announced by V.P.

Twenty-eight new faculty appointments at Providence College were announced by Dr. Paul van K. Thomson, vice-president for academic affairs.

The new faculty members include eight Dominican priests, nineteen laymen and two Army officers for the Department of Military Science.

Two natives of foreign countries are included in the appointments. Rev. Francisco J. Ayala, O.P., a member of the Spanish Province of Dominicans, will teach biology and genetics, and Nikhil Bhattacharya, a citizen of India, will be an instructor of physics.

Father Ayala, who holds Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy degrees from Columbia University, was formerly a research associate in the Department of Population Genetics at the Rockefeller Institute, New York. Mr. Bhattacharya received a B.S. degree in physics from Presidency College, and an M.S. degree in physics from University College of Science and Technology, both in Calcutta, India. He has been a research assistant in physics at the University of Maryland.

Other Dominican priests added to the faculty are Rev. George L. Consordia, O.P., from the University of St. Thomas, Rome, to the Department of Philosophy; Rev. Thomas K. Connolly, O.P., from the Dominican House of Studies, Washington, D. C., to the Department of Theology; Rev. William L. Duprey, O.P., from Ursuline College, Louisville, Ky., to the Department of Philosophy and Theology; Rev. Harold A. Wade, O.P., from Aquinas College High School, Columbus, Ohio, to the Department of History; Rev. Gerhard A. Vanderhaar, O.P., from Molloy Catholic College for Women, Rockville Center, New York, to the Department of Theology; and Rev. Donald M. Werner, O.P., from the Dominican House of Studies, Washington, to the Department of Mathematics and Education.

Other laymen added to the faculty are:

Paul A. Bartolomeo, special lecturer in data processing. A 1961 graduate of Providence College with a B.A. degree in Mathematics, he formerly was Station WDOM On the Air!

WDOM, the phantom radio station of Providence College, is finally a working reality. After many months of hard work on the part of Adrien Laboissonniere "66" and Michael Mendillo "66," station engineers, and Mr. Adrien Laboissonniere, Sr., an electronics technician; WDOM is broadcasting every day from 1-11 p.m. over closed-circuit AM radio—600 on your radio dial.

The station, under the guidance of Fr. Murtaugh, O.P., hopes to offer a complete variety of programs to the student body. The programs, primarily of a musical nature, will include classical and folk music as well as jazz in keeping with the middle of the road policy set down by the station. In addition to music, WDOM also intends to offer complete coverage of campus news. Several public interest programs have been scheduled for future broadcasts. Each week the program repertoire will be published in the Cowl for the following week.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of the WDOM staff should submit an application to Dave Langlois "67," the future station manager. The WDOM office is located in Alumni Hall on the second floor.

Rev. H. Halton Appointed Political Science Chairman

Rev. Hugh Halton, O.P., has been named chairman of the political science department at Providence College, the Very Rev. William Paul Haas, O.P., President, announced today.

A native of Rhode Island, Father Halton has been a professor of political science since coming to the College in 1964 from the faculty of the Dominican House of Studies at Dover, Mass.

Father Halton is a 1935 graduate of Providence College. He holds a Master of Arts degree from Catholic University and an M.A. and Ph.D. from Oxford University, England.

Father Halton has also studied law and government at Harvard University under Charles Howard McIlwain and has lectured at Oxford and Lincoln's Inn, London. He has written two books, "The Natural Law Concept in 19th Century England" and "The Legal Philosophy of Sir Frederick Pollock." He is a member of the Oxford Historical Society and a fellow of the American Institute of Management.

Son of Mrs. Margaret L. Halton of Ocean Road, Narragansett, and the late Edward J. Halton; Father Halton was ordained to the priesthood in Washington, D. C., in 1940. His brother, Rev. Edward B. Halton, O.P., is Dean of Freshmen at Providence College.

Around the Campi

New York, N. Y. (I.P.) The Graduate Faculties of Columbia University have adopted a new method of charging tuition which will encourage students who are seeking higher degrees not to dawdle.

Starting this September, graduate students seeking master's or doctor's degrees in Political Science, Philosophy or Pure Science will pay a flat rate per term (semester) instead of the previous per course credit. The new tuition system will encourage full-time, as against part-time, study.

Columbia officials hope the new system will help solve the "Ph.D. stretchout" problem which is a subject of considerable concern in graduate schools throughout the country. The "stretchout" problem creates burdens on the faculty, said Dr. Kevin Sullivan, associate dean of the Graduate Faculties, because backlogs of oral examinations and dissertations often accumulate, causing unpredictable and overwhelming work loads.

Under the new system if the student has not completed all his requirements within the six prescribed resident units, he remains for "extended residence" at rates of $360 per term for full-time and $240 per term for part-time study.

The distinction between full-time and part-time students is made at this point only to establish a student's eligibility for financial aid of various kinds. One effect of the tuition system change is to spread out the total cost of the degree more evenly in time.

Albion, Mich. (I.P.) — A new grading procedure incorporating intermediate achievement levels will be introduced at Albion College beginning with the 1965 fall semester. The institution's faculty also voted to replace the three point grading system with a four-point index. The new grading procedure will include the marks of A, AB, B, BC, C, CD, D, DE and E.

"Grade points will be assigned to the intermediate marks, thus reflecting a truer account of the student's performance," said Dr. Robert P. Lisensky, academic dean. "Pluses and minuses, awarded by some faculty, do not affect the student's grade point average in any way, nor do they appear on his final transcript," he added.

"Under the new system, a student doing B plus work will receive an AB grade and a grade point of 3.5." The overall grade point average required for graduation will be 2.0. A 2.25 average will be required in the major field.

New Haven, Conn. (I.P.) — Philosophers today have little status and less influence in contemporary American life. One reason, according to Paul Weiss, Sterling Professor of Philosophy at Yale, is that there is a "new breed of non-philosophical philosophers."

"These philosophers consider themselves 'Professionals' who speak only with one another and try to solve puzzles

Editorially Speaking

Welcome Back

Now that the school year has started and classes are in full session, we would like to welcome back to the College those faculty members who have returned for another year. It is naturally hoped that they will continue their present level of teaching and even strive to increase standards to higher levels. This will benefit not only the students here now, but those who have graduated, since the reputation of the College benefits all of us—now and in the future.

To those of the faculty who have just joined the staff, we wish the best of luck. You have come to an institution that is young and growing. We hope that it is progressing to greater heights in the academic world and that it is your job to maintain this growth and, indeed, to stimulate it and add to it. It is our sincere hope that all this may be accomplished.

Political Union

Surfboards have been put away, summer jobs are a thing of the past, and once again it's back to Providence College. Yet, somehow, it's not quite the same Providence College. Not only have there been many changes in the school's campus and faculty, but there have also been many welcome additions in the realm of student affairs.

One of the most important of these new organizations is the Political Union. Under the guidance of Jerry Lord, this organization stresses the "stimulating" of action on campus in the realm of political affairs. With its main strength lying in the caucus, the Union plans to provide a forum for PC students in the discussing and debating of world politics.

Though having experienced much trouble with its constitution last spring, the Union looks like it is finally going to get off the ground. Similar organizations have been started at other colleges and with great success. If present student and faculty enthusiasm is an indication of things to come, the Political Union should be one of the strongest and most worthwhile organizations on campus.

Mr. Newton Takes Over

We note with interest the demise of the Dean of Discipline's Office. In its place is the newly formed Office of Student Affairs, under the direction of Mr. Arthur J. Newton. We hope that the change is not merely one of terms—negative to positive—but a real advance in student administration relations, for Mr. Newton will have general supervision over the non-academic pursuits of the student body. This places him in a liaison position between the student body and administration, a position that should prove valuable to both the student body and the administration. Mr. Newton, in his three years of service to Providence College, has exhibited an understanding of student problems and administrative needs.

His new position is unique since he is the first "civilian" to hold such a comparable position. Mr. Newton's experience certainly makes him suitable for the job and his civilian status will perhaps replace the aloofness between layman and priest enabling the student to communicate better with him and through him to the administration.

instead of dealing with the full problem. They are playing games of academic charades!"

This failure to communicate has boomeranged, in the opinion of Professor Weiss, to the point where philosophers have little status and less influence in contemporary American life. We are asked to give answers to questions asked by a worried and tense American public? The politicians, the psychiatrist, and even the clergy, but rarely the philosophers, Professor Weiss points out.

The "new breed" of philosophers is also cheating college students, in his opinion. "More than ever before, students are asking questions about life and society, but they don't get answers from philosophers who won't discuss seriously any subject outside their specialty," he says.

Religious leaders are also failing these students in a different way, Professor Weiss says. He feels that college chaplains across the country are prescribing "crusading activity" as the answer to all questions. "When a student has a serious question or doubt about life, the clergy tells him to rush off and do civil rights work down South or join the Peace Corps. Too much activity and too little thinking can be disastrous."

MEMO—

FROM THE EDITOR

Last week Thomas Kuchel, Republican senator from California, called for the ouster of the extremist elements which he feels have infiltrated the GOP in California. He labeled these elements as "neo-fascist cults" and said that they would destroy the party if they were allowed to control it.

Senator Kuchel was referring to those groups generally considered to be on the far right of the political spectrum. Whether such groups have indeed infiltrated the California GOP is irrelevant here.

What is important is that Senator Kuchel's words should be heeded by everyone in the United States. These political groups, whether they are associated with a particular political party or no party at all, represent as much of a danger, if not more, to our governmental system and way of life as any foreign power.

These people proclaim themselves to be the only true American patriots, but in fact, they represent strange, corrosive theories of bigotry, hatred and fear.

These groups are ruthless in gaining their ends. Politicians have faced intimidation and character assassination at the hands of these so-called patriots. The entire nation was able to witness them in action during the 1964 Republican National Convention at which Governor Rockefeller and Governor Romney were loudly booed when they attempted to speak out against such groups as the John Birch Society and the Ku Klux Klan. Several teachers and school boards in the Midwest faced such intimidation from the Birch Society. This group labeled Communists because the teachers supported the teaching of Communist theory in the public schools. The motive of the teachers was not subversion, but education. It was the feeling of the teachers that a well-informed public would be better able to resist Communism. Many newspaper editors have faced the same intimidation and loss of advertising revenue.

But the truth is that these extremists are as alien to what we would consider the "American way of life" as Peking Communism. These "patriots" are precisely the people who would destroy this country if given the chance. We can label them the "lunatic fringe" or crackpots if we want, but remember that many Germans called Hitler a crackpot. We cannot ignore them and expect that they will just go away. We must realize that they exist as an ever-present danger to our freedom and only by exposing them for what they are, can we hope to see the end of them.

Last weekend, several PC students were arrested for possession of liquor. These students were attending a school function, a picnic, at the time. These arrests are inexcusable and they certainly do not enhance the public image of the College.

It is obvious from this and similar occurrences in the past that something less than an adult attitude prevails among some students in regard to social functions. If a childish attitude exists then, perhaps, these students should be "treated" as children.

PC Political Union Starts Initial Year

The Political Union of Providence College will hold its first meeting in A-100 of Albertus Magnus Hall this Tuesday at 8 o'clock.

The Union, finally settled after a bombastic beginning last spring, is modeled after similar organizations at other campuses. Its purpose is to open to the student body various speeches and debates on current political events.

Upon joining the organization a student may join either the democratic, republican, or independent factions of the society. In this manner the Union will be able to organize all the factions on campus into one whole while at the same time allowing each of these factions to retain its individuality.

Plans for this year include a social hour in October at a nearby club for members to meet and get acquainted with other members of their caucus. Anyone interested in joining the Union is urged to attend the Tuesday meeting.

Officers for the first semester include: Jerry Lord, president; Jim McKenna, vice-president; Chris Dodd, secretary, and Bob Calabro, treasurer.

derson P/R, '67, of North Attleboro, Mass., is the Supply and Finance Officer; Cadet W/O Thomas C. DePalma P/R, '67, of Providence is the Drill Team Advisor; and Cadet W/O John L. Cosentino P/R, '67, of Providence is the assistant Operations Officer.

NCO School progressed from September 9 to September 14 with seventeen sophomores taking an active part in the rigorous program. The NCO's were trained in drill proficiency, but special emphasis was placed on leadership positions' training and military teaching. During the school, the NCO's also manned the ROTC display which was viewed by the freshmen and prospective pledges. During the display, the P/R NCO's were an invaluable aid to different campus organizations. They aided in finding their way to and from the various campus facilities. The NCO's also helped the yearbook staff move from Martin Hall to Aquinas Hall. During the NCO School, preparations were made for the annual smoker.

The smoker was held on September 15 to introduce all interested individuals to the National Society and Company K. Cadet Captain Miggins spoke of the advantages of being associated with the Company. Then the Professor of Military Science, Lt. Col. Andrew A. DelCorso, and Capt. Paul Fitzpatrick, P/R Advisor, spoke on behalf of PERSHING RIFLES. An interesting movie of Ranger training was shown after which coffee and donuts were served. The P/R's then made themselves available for any questions in an informal manner.

The Pledge Period officially began Saturday, September 18, with a large number of freshmen and sophomores attending. The Pledge Period will culminate with the annual P/R Cord Dance on December 10. All interested in joining PERSHING RIFLES may do so on Saturday, October 2.

Extension Division Begins New Year, Director Reports

Providence College's Extension Division began its 1965-66 academic year Monday, the Rev. Richard D. Danilowicz, O.P., director, announced.

Fifty-nine courses in 15 concentrations, including 15 in education and five in electronic data processing and computing, are offered.

All grant credit leading to the Bachelor of Philosophy Degree (Ph.B.) which requires 120 credit hours in approved courses. Graduate credit can be earned in education only.

The Extension Division will replace the Ph.B. program by one conferring the Bachelor of Arts degree in liberal studies. Students working for their bachelor's degree may apply credits thus far accumulated to the new degree program.

Courses in the division are held once a week on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 7. Computer courses meet twice a week.

Senior Physics Major Attended U. of Miami

Michael Mendillo, a senior in the Providence College Physics Department, participated in a Summer Institute in Environmental and Planetary Sciences, held at the University of Miami from June 20 to August 1, 1965. The fellowship, sponsored by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), included round-trip travelling expenses, full tuition and fees, and a weekly subsistence allowance of $60.00.

The School of Environmental and Planetary Sciences at the University of Miami is under the direction of Dean S. F. Singer, formerly Director of the National Weather Satellite Center of the United States Weather Bureau and a noted contributor to upper atmosphere and space research. The purpose of the Summer Institute was to expand upon the traditional undergraduate physics curriculum and to demonstrate the development of topics in physics and their application to the various areas of the environmental sciences, as represented by the Institute comprising the school: Geophysics, Marine Science, Atmospheric Science, Space Physics, and Molecular Evolution.

Mr. Mendillo pointed out that approximately 50 persons took part in the course: 30 college juniors, 15 foreign students, and 5 professional physicists. "We had representatives from throughout the U. S.," Mr. Mendillo noted, "together with foreign students and teachers from Greece, Germany, the West Indies, and several South American countries."

Mr. Mendillo was quite enthusiastic in his feelings that undergraduates should apply for participation in such programs: "Taking part in the Summer Institute not only gave me the chance to study intensively in an advanced area, but it also afforded me the opportunity to better orient my thinking in respect to graduate work."

Sigma Pi Sigma, National Physics Honor Society, is holding its first meeting of the new school year Wednesday evening, September 29, at 7:30 p.m., in the main lecture room in Albertus Magnus Hall (A-100). At that time, Mr. Mendillo will present a talk on the "Summer Institute" and will show color slides of the University of Miami campus, several field trips, Cape Kennedy, and Nassau in the Bahamas. The meeting is open to the public.

Righteous Brothers Here on October 2.

The Righteous Brothers will appear Saturday, October 2, at the Rhode Island Auditorium in Providence. The two hour concert of music and comedy will begin at 8:30 p.m. and will be an exclusive Rhode Island appearance.

The music presented by The Righteous Brothers is primarily rhythm and blues although they have helped themselves liberally to other types of music. Critics and music reviewers have labeled The Righteous Brothers as "the new sound of 1965."

The Righteous Brothers will be presented by Collegiate Sound Productions, a personnel management and promotion organization owned by Dyke Spear, a Connecticut attorney. Some of his past productions include The New Christy Minstrels, The Highwaymen, and The Phoenix Singers.

Tickets for The Righteous Brothers' concert may be purchased at the Rhode Island Auditorium Box Office, Avery Piano, Providence; Carl Dignin's Records, Providence; Tom Beedem Clothing, Fall River; William Cotter Co., New Bedford; Sports Dugout, Woonsocket, and Thompson and Forbes Clothing, Newport. All seats reserved. Prices: $3.00, $2.75 and $2.50. Mail orders: Enclose a check payable to the Rhode Island Auditorium and a stamped self-addressed envelope and mail to the Rhode Island Auditorium box office, 1111 North Main St., Providence, Rhode Island 02904.

Computer Club Plans Date Night for Dec.; Poll to Be Taken

In an attempt to introduce something really new into the social life on campus, the Computer Club and Student Congress have tentatively scheduled the first PC Computer Date Night for Friday, December 3.

Using the IBM 1620 computer, couples will be paired off for the evening based on their "compatibility Index." The results of questionnaires to be filled out by all who plan to attend will be fed into the computer and each male will be matched with the girl who has the highest "compatibility index" when compared with him.

Because of the time and effort involved with the questionnaires and the computer, it must be known now if the student body will support this event. On Thursday a poll will be taken at 10:20 in Alumni Hall and from 5-6 in Raymond Hall to determine whether or not the dance will be held. Please indicate by a simple "yes" or "no" if you would attend the Computer Date Night. This is no way entails any obligation and names should not be signed, for this merely serves as an indication as to whether enough support is present to make the effort worthwhile. A similar poll is also underway at Salve Regina.

Results of the polls will be announced in a future edition of The Cowl and if approved, questionnaires will be distributed early in November.

Quinn Is Selected ROTC Commander

PC's 550-man ROTC brigade will be commanded this year by Cadet Dennis J. Quinn, a political science major from Lincoln, R. I., Lt. Col. Andrew A. Del Corso, PMS, announced recently. Cadet Colonel Quinn has maintained a Dean's List average during his college career and was selected last spring to intern in Senator Claiborne Pell's office in Washington, in recognition of his achievements in his field of concentration.

Cadet Quinn distinguished himself and the College this summer at the ROTC Encampment at Fort Devens, Mass., where he was selected Outstanding Cadet of the 2,000-man brigade the first week and commanded it during the first dress parade.

Other appointments include Cadet Lt. Col. Peter J. Ulisse, who will serve as Brigade Executive Officer, and Cadet Lt. Cols. Michael D. Miggins and Leo A. Lennon, Battalion Commanders. In addition, the Brigade staff will consist of Cadets David F. Devenish, S-1; John A. Thompson, S-2; W. Roman Campion, S-3; and Raymond J. Theriault, S-4, all of whom will assume the rank of Major. The ROTC Band this year will be under the supervision of Cadet Captain Robert K. DeMaria.

Albertus Magnus Club Lists Future Program

The Albertus Magnus Club of Providence College, prominent social, athletic, and intellectual outlet for junior and senior Biology majors, held its initial meeting of the year on Monday night in the laboratory of its moderator, Dr. Eugene Donaghue, professor of Biology.

Committees were set up and plans for the year were brought to the floor. Under the capable direction of its four officers—Larry Kane, Tom Collins, Tom Liesegang, and Al Matook—a progressive program has been drawn up for the school year. Events include Bladder busters, Beach parties, tours of hospitals, lectures by medical students and interns, and other events pertinent to the Biology majors' interests.

Capable of speeds better than 2,000 mph, the YF-12A is the hottest aircraft around. Now Maj. Walter F. Daniel, test pilot for the YF-12A, answers your questions about the world's fastest manned airplane and America's Aerospace Team.

(Maj. Daniel, a test pilot since 1954, is a member of the Society of Experimental Test Pilots. He received a B.S. degree in Aeronautical Engineering from the University of Oklahoma. In February 1962, he set world class time-to-climb records in a T-38 jet trainer.)

Air Force officer. The new two-year Air Force ROTC program makes this method available to men who have already completed a year or two of their college education. For college graduates, if you did not take advantage of ROTC, you can still get started through Air Force Officer Training School (OTS), a three-month course open to both men and women.

Can I keep up my studies while I'm in the Air Force?

The Air Force encourages its men and women to continue their educations. For instance, you may qualify to study for a graduate degree during off-duty hours, with the Air Force paying a substantial part of the tuition.

What kind of future do I have in the Air Force?
A bright one. As we move further into the Aerospace Age, the Air Force is going to grow even more important. And you can grow with it!

Army Awards Grants

Three PC students have been awarded two-year scholarships by the Department of the Army. Recipients of the ROTC scholarships are Kenneth A. Gonzales, Paul A. Peltier, and T. Richard Cuffe, Lt. Col. Andrew A. DelCorso, Professor of Military Science, announced recently.

All tuition fees, lab fees, textbooks, and other required expenses will be paid under the terms of the scholarships, which were authorized by the ROTC Revitalization Act of 1964. In addition, the three will receive $50 a month for the duration of the scholarship. The only exception is during summer camp following the junior year when the rate of pay is $120.00 per month.

To qualify for a scholarship, a student must take the four-year ROTC program of instruction, display a strong desire for a career as a Regular Army officer, be a U. S. citizen, and be at least 17 years old on June 30 of the year in which he applies for the scholarship. A potential recipient must intend to complete a course leading to a baccalaureate degree and be under 25 on June 30 of the year in which he is eligible for commissioning. He must also pass the Regular Army officer physical examination, agree to accept a commission, and serve four years on active duty.

Gonzales, a junior philosophy major from Villamar, Puerto Rico, has been a Dean's List student while participating in the Drill Team, Pershing Rifles, and Special Forces. Peltier is a French major from Nashua, New Hampshire, and his activities have included Pershing Rifles, which he serves as adjutant this year, the Drill Team, and the Tri-State Club. He is also a Dean's List student. Cuffe's activities include Pershing Rifles, the Boston Club, which he serves as secretary, and the Student Congress, in which he is a Junior representative. He is a Political Science major from Lynn, Mass.

Senior Class Plans Gifts

The senior class of Providence College will launch class gift activities during the month of October, class agent Bill Smith announced today.

A committee of about 30 will be selected from the class at large next week. The purpose of the committee will be to contact each member of the class in order to find out if the class is willing to present a gift. It will also determine what type of plan each member of the class desires. The types are cash, mutual, and insurance.

Tentative plans now call for the poll to be taken during the week of October 17-23.

The idea of a class gift on a large scale at Providence College originated two years ago when the Class of '64 announced plans for the "50 for 50" fund. The plan calls for a gift of $50,000. Approximately $10,000 has been received so far.

In September of 1963, a poll revealed that 90% of the class favored the gift. Another poll later in the year showed that 98% favored giving $100 per man over a period of five years.

Last year, the Class of '65 pledged $60,000 over a five year plan.

The Class of '65 at Boston College pledged $203,000. Since 1960 five classes at BC have pledged a total of $848,000.

'69 to Sponsor Dance, Oct. 1

A dance sponsored by the sophomores will be open to all classmen this Friday night, October 1, at the K. of C. Hall in Cranston. The mixer is from 8:30-12:00 p.m. Admission is $1.00, and features "The Travelers, a noted rock 'n roll group from Connecticut. Twelve girl's schools from the surrounding area have been invited and a night of fun and frolic is guaranteed for all. Buses are being supplied and those interested may sign up in Raymond Hall from 4:30-6 p.m.

Dillion Club Lists Aims

The purpose of the Dillon Club, as explained by William J. Struck '66, is "to provide a basis for some cultural and social activities for the commuter students at Providence College."

Dillon Club officers are: Mr. Struck, president; Kenneth J. Shea, '67, vice-president; Joseph M. Pilla, '68, secretary, and Valentino D. Lombardi, '66, treasurer. Sophomore representatives to the club are Frank G. Esposito and Philip A. Sheridan. The junior representative is Robert T. Baker. Representing the senior class are Walter A. Lough and James J. Cooney, Jr.

On December 17, a Christmas semi-formal will be held. The Dillon Club is also trying to arrange to have movies shown on campus for the day-hops and their dates; this may possibly be in conjunction with the Carolan Club. One of the long range objectives of the Dillon Club is to establish a student union building on the campus.

All events are open for members only. The fee for membership is $3.00 and the membership drive closes on November 1.

A Thanksgiving Day Dance is scheduled for November 24. This dance will be couples only.

"Boat Ride A-Go-Go" will be held Saturday, October 2, from 7:30 p.m. to midnight. Music will be by the Jumping Jacks and refreshments will be provided. Tickets for the boat ride will be on sale in the cafeteria from 10:20 to 1:40. Membership tickets may also be obtained at this time.

Placement Office Lists Job Offers

Students who are interested in part-time, off-campus jobs should check the Placement Office bulletin board. There are still many jobs available.

The 1966 College Placement Annual is available in the Placement Office to seniors who are interested in obtaining a copy. There are not enough copies for every senior, but those who expect to need placement aid during the coming year should obtain this latest edition.

SPORTSDESK

By Vincent Marottoli

Hoping not to incur the wrath of my friends on the track team for whom I have the utmost respect, I would like to make a definite stand at the beginning of the year for another Fall sport on campus.

Without becoming too vituperative, it is my intention to substantiate the need for such a sport and the solutions available to the College body.

Granted, most students won't spend all their spare time studying. Yet I have suspicions that most students also do not spend much time cultivating their physical qualities. One of the best releases for scholastic tension and pressure is physical exercise. It offers a psychological massage to the tired mind by substituting a concrete means to ease an intangible source of exhaustion.

Athletics complement one's mental progress and a laxity with the former will affect the latter. What I would like to see is the establishment of a sport which will directly involve many students, not only as spectators, but as players. This sport, or another one, would be continued throughout the year.

Enough praise cannot be given to our track team who have accumulated many chevrons and medals for their efforts. But unfortunately track is not a sport designed for most students. The number of players who can compete and the physical endurance required restrict this sport to a minority.

The possibility of football is a moot proposition. I'm afraid that unless some munificent alumni contribute a small fortune, we shall have to be content with relishing the old football relics in Alumni Hall.

To my mind, two avenues of approach are available: the first is a soccer team. Much of the path is already paved for us: 1) adequate facilities for soccer and 2) enough students with the cranial endurance needed for it. Besides, it is an inexpensive sport to underwrite, and it offers more of an opportunity for increased student participation.

Secondly, and this will appeal to a financially-minded Administration, is an expanded intramural program. In fact, I am in favor of adopting a similar program to that offered at West Point where all cadets are required to participate in some organized sport.

The tension generated so far this year is indicative of a healthier climate. More students are forgetting their hollow excuses and heading for the dressing rooms. Yet the problem will only be solved when every student realizes that sports are not a luxury, but a necessity.

FRIAR FINDINGS: It seems to me that our track team is getting a raw deal from the Providence papers, and unjustifiably so. There's a long story behind why no mention at all was made this weekend in the local papers about the Harrier win over top rated Harvard, but someone is going to have to change his attitude if he plans to receive info from Coach Hanlon. . . WDOM is planning to broadcast the frosh basketball home games this season. We could have used it two seasons ago. . . Here's an interesting tidbit from the NCAA Council: A new ruling, effective this January, requires a college to withhold financial aid from a player if his average falls below 1.6.

Many Classroom Changes Made Annual Run Has Many Entrants

In past years the feeling of confusion as to where the classrooms and offices are located has prevailed, and this year is no exception.

Many students received some indication of this situation when they received their schedules, which listed such classrooms as "Stephen-4" or (Aquinas)-2. Former "residents" of the pool room in Stephen discovered upon arrival on campus that their "home" had been converted into two classrooms, with the ping-pong room suffering the same fate. Naturally, the classrooms in Meagher and McDermott are being fully utilized, with the language lab in readiness in the latter.

Changes in Harkins are the most extensive as offices now fill the entire first floor. Room 107 has been converted into a suite of offices, which the President of the College, Vice-President for Community Affairs, and the Vice-President for Academic affairs, will occupy. What was formerly the English Department's office will now belong to the Extension Division, while Room 111 across the hall will provide an office for the Dean of the Graduate School.

The Chancellor's office will be on the second floor, in what once was 208B, another classroom. The old Arts Honors office temporarily houses the Vice-President for Academic Affairs, and the Dean of Discipline's office now belongs to the Director of Student Affairs.

New offices have appeared in Aquinas, where the Arts Honors program occupies the offices formerly used by the Alembic and the Carolan Club. These student organizations, as well as the Student Congress, Veritas, and Dillon Club, have been relocated in the basement of Aquinas.

(Somehow the Cowl managed to remain where it was at the end of last year.)

The Fourth Annual Harry Coates Memorial Race for high school cross country runners in the East will be held on the Providence College campus, Sunday, Oct. 3 at 1 P.M. The 2.4 mile Catholic Championship race is held in honor of a former Providence mentor and Hall of Fame coach.

The Christian Brother Academy from Lincroft, New Jersey, heads the list of sixteen school entries in the parochial race. Last year the CBA dominated the race, placing five men in the first ten positions. Christian Brothers' Tim Sheehan and John Eagen, who finished 1-2 last year, will be back in an attempt to break the course record set by Bill Leahy, Catholic Memorial, Roxbury, Mass., 1963 in the time of 11:47.9. Those contestants from last year vying for the individual titles include Gene Bowden, St. Joseph's, New Jersey; Eamon Downey, Seton Hall, Patchogue, New York; and John Quinlan, Catholic Memorial, Roxbury, Mass.

Pressing the Christian Brothers for the team championship will be such outstanding teams as St. Joseph's, New Jersey, who placed second last year (coached by former PC Harrier Harry Brett); Catholic Memorial, Roxbury, Mass., and West Catholic, Philadelphia, Pa.

SPORTS SEASON INAUGURATED

Harriers Topple Crimson Tide as Brown Takes 1st

Spearheaded by the first place finish of All-American Barry Brown, the PC Friars opened their 1965 intercollegiate cross-country schedule on a winning note by downing Harvard to the tune of 27 to 28. Brown evened a personal dual with Harvard's Walter Hewlett by covering the 4.8 mile course at Franklin Park in Boston in 23 minutes and 35 seconds. However, it took a tremendous overall team effort to down the highly regarded Crimson harriers. Along with Brown, Jerry Riordon, Paul Harris, Bob Powers, and Bob Donnelly rose to the occasion by finishing 3rd, 6th, 7th, and 10th respectively.

This year Coach Ray Hanlon has the unpleasant task of trying to improve upon last year's outstanding record which included victories in the E.I.C.A.A. Championships, and the New Englands, and a dual-meet competition record of nine wins and two losses. With seven lettermen returning from last year's squad, Hanlon seems to have the nucleus for another fine season. Heading the list of monogram winners are Tri-Captains Barry Brown of Albany, N. Y.; Bob Fusco, Islip Terrace, N. Y., and Jerry Riordan, Salem, Mass. The other lettermen are Al Campbell of Providence, Paul Harris of BOB POWERS and JERRY RIORDAN pace the Friar harriers to an opening meet win against Harvard. The Crimson were rated No. 1 in the East.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Bob Powers of Randolph, Mass.; and Ray Van Epps of Colonie, N. Y. Joining the varsity this year are four sophomores: Bob Donnelly of New York City, Dennis Fazekas, Hamden, Conn.; Daniel Gavin, Basking Ridge, N. J., and Chris Portelance, Norwich, Conn.

Commenting on the rugged schedule, Coach Hanlon stated, "There are no real breathers on this year's schedule. Central Connecticut, Brown, and Northeastern should be the top teams. We will have done a very fine job if we can win 50% of our meets before the E.I.C.A.A. Championships and the New Englands. The intense competition, however, will be of great benefit in preparation for these bigger meets." Hanlon also pointed out that he was very pleased in the Harvard triumph since The Track and Field Letters picked Harvard and Notre Dame as the top cross-country teams in the East.

PC's next outing will be Friday, Oct. 1, at West Point, in a quadrangular meet against Army, Central Connecticut, and Rutgers. The schedule both for varsity and freshmen is: Quantico Marines at Van Cortlandt Park, N. Y., Oct. 9th; Holy Cross and B.U. at Holy Cross, Oct. 12; Mass. and C. Conn., at C. Conn, Oct. 16; Brown, URI at PC, Oct. 25; E.I.C.A.A. Championships at Boston, Oct. 29; New Englands at Boston, Nov. 8; IC4A at New York City, Nov. 15; NCAA at University of Kansas, Nov. 22.

Frosh Trackmen Look Impressive In Opening Meet

Bob Croke sparked the freshman cross-country team to a second place finish in its triangular meet with Harvard and Central Connecticut, held at Cambridge last Saturday. While turning in the excellent time of 13:31, Croke led all of the other harriers to the wire in a strong individual performance.

Coach Hanlon was pleased with the results of the meet and stated that the Friar showing was better than anticipated. He felt that the score, 22-41, was not indicative of his team's true potential. "With the return of injured Brian Nolan and the addition of George Burke, the frosh could develop into a good team." Right now the burden is being carried by Croke (St. Agnes H. S.), Jim Schratz (Canisius H. S.), and John Grange (Archbishop Molloy H.S.).

The rest of the team rounds out as follows: Nolan (Molloy) and Pete Brown (Holy Cross) have shown a great deal of promise; while Paul Farrell (St. Mary's, Mass.), Jim Golden (E. Cathedral, Manchester), and George Burke (all-State R. I.), are regarded by Coach Hanlon as excellent prospects.

Those interested in following the progress of the young Friars are reminded that their schedule is the same as that of the varsity team.

(Editor's Note: Joe, Intramural Council Publicity Director and a Senior, will be the exclusive writer for Intramural News.)

Football is in full swing on campuses across the nation, but what about here at PC? Although we don't field a varsity team, a fall sport is provided here at the College thanks to the Intramural Athletic Association. Registration for the touch football league opens this week, with play commencing next week on Hendricken field.

The Boston Packers, last year's champs, and runners-up the year before, appear as the team to beat in pre-season polls. Led by quarterback Joe Twomey, the all-senior outfit possesses a finely balanced offense capable of grinding it out yard by yard or striking swiftly with the long bomb. The offense is backed up by a strong defense led by Ned Riley.

Boston lost to New Haven last season, and Kevin McDonough assures us that this year's squad can do it again. Weston Mass., plagued by dissension the past two seasons, may have everything straightened out now that Joe Simanski is at the helm.

Last year's sleeper, the New Bedford Club, is back and with a year of experience under its belt, could go all the way.

Larry Kane of Albertus Magnus spent the summer playing in a summer league, and he is sure to put this experience to good use. Waterbury lost a lot of its stars. Therefore Jack Cullinan may have to draft some of his basketball players for the gridiron. Jim Mulcahy, the president of the Met club, has promised stiff competition for the Boston club. With a good solid foundation of members returning, the club will not rest on its laurels having won the overall team trophy last year. In fact, the Mulcahy charges have been out practicing already, and cannot be regarded as pushovers. All in all, it looks like a good year with a really tight race.

Registration for the annual intramural tennis tournament is now underway. Anyone interested may register at the coaches' office. Play will begin the week of October 4.

Can any team knock the Boston Club, 1964 Intramural Football champs, off their pedestal? Competition starts next week.
