

DES Induction

Thomas Martin Is Chosen President Of Theta Chapter

Thomas Martin, senior pre-med, was elected president of Theta chapter of Delta Epsilon Sigma, the college chapter of the National Catholic Honor Society, following induction ceremonies held last Monday night in Aquinas chapel.

Other officers elected were: John Gray, vice president, and Francis Wertz, secretary-treasurer. William Sumner and Thomas Newman were sworn to the executive board.

Inducted at the meeting were forty-two seniors and two prominent alumni—the Rev. Monsignor John J. Hayes, 77, Chancellor of the Diocese of Hartford, and Francis Dwyer, 24, of Riverside, officer of the Providence College Alumni Bulletin.

The Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, C.P., president in a congratulatory address, told the inductees that they should continue their quest for knowledge. He also told them to avoid the errors. He also advised them to rise from a mere understanding to knowledge, and finally to wisdom. The Rev. Vincent C. Dore, O.P., chaplain of the Theta chapter, also delivered a short talk.

The ceremonies were conducted by William Plummer and Thomas Curtis, outgoing vice president and secretary, respectively.

Veridames To Celebrate 10th Anniversary Sunday

The tenth anniversary of the founding of the Veridames of Providence College will be celebrated by a musicale and tea at 3 o'clock on Sunday, Jan. 20 in Harkins Hall. The Veridames is a group of ladies organized in advance the name of P. C. and set at the college in a variety of ways.

Music will be provided by the Dorothy Parsons Place ensemble, and a resume of the group's achievements over the decade will be given by the first president, Miss Regina Mac Phillips.

Dorm Weekend Set For February 15-17; Shea Is Chairman

Plans for the dorm weekend, an annual fete for the resident students, are nearing completion. The weekend will commence on February 15 and continue through the 17th.

The first event of the week-end will be a dinner-dance in Aquinas Hall. Dinner will be served in the Aquinas Dining Hall after which the festivities will proceed to the Aquinas lounge where dancing will be by Perry Barrell's orchestra and Artie Rapone will play in the Penguin Room. A Valentine theme will prevail for the dance.

On Saturday afternoon a Blackfriar lecture will be given by the Rev. Hugh Halton, O.P., and on Sunday night the entertainment will continue when the week-enders will trek to Mount Pleasant gym to watch the Providence College hoopers oppose Clark University.

Sunday morning a Communion breakfast will be observed and the (Continued on Page 6)

To Give Medical School Test In May

Candidates for admission to medical school in the fall of 1953 are advised to take the Medical College Admission Test in May, it was announced today by Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the test for the Association of American Medical Colleges. These tests, required of applicants by a number of leading medical colleges throughout the country, will be given twice during the current calendar year. Candidates taking the May test, however, will be able to furnish scores to institutions in early fall, when many medical colleges begin the selection of their next entering class.

Candidates may take the MCAT on Saturday, May 10, 1952, or on Monday, November 3, 1952, at administrations to be held at more than 300 local centers in all parts of the country. The Association of American Medical Colleges recommends that candidates (Continued on Page 3)

Fifteen Fresh Run For Office; Vote Friday

Culminating a short political campaign by aspirants, freshmen will go to the polls Friday and vote for their prospective officers. Fifteen students are running for office.

Parking Violations To Be Handled By Bursar's Office

Beginning Monday, January 14, parking violations will be cleared through the office of the Bursar, the administration announced last Monday. The Rev. Charles V. Fennell, O.P., Bursar, will impose and collect the fines.

Fr. Fennell told a Cowl reporter that the fines would depend on the individual students and on the nature and number of his previous violations. He also said that he is looking for the cooperation of the student body in alleviating the parking problem.

"Restricted areas are established to provide ready access to all parts of the campus for those who have legitimate business at the college and in case of an emergency," Fr. Fennell also declared. Students may not park in these areas.

The following are the parking regulations:

- 1) No parking in the circular drive in front of Harkins Hall.
- 2) No parking at the Business Building, Guzman, Albertus Magnus Hall or Donnelly Hall.
- 3) Parking is permitted on the right side of the middle drive from Eaton Street to the rear of Harkins Hall as indicated by signs.
- 4) Parking is permitted against the retaining wall in the rear of Harkins Hall within the area permitted.
- 5) Daytime parking is permitted in the circle of Aquinas Hall.
- 6) When all available space is filled, the parking lot must be used.
- 7) If there is no space of any kind, drive out and park on the city streets.

Running for president are: Dave Reynolds, Dean Slocum, Dave Sutten and Dave Kelly.

Vice-presidential aspirants are Daniel Lynch, Thomas Callahan, James Tierney and Gerard Noel.

Running for secretary are the following: Charles Mackey, James Sheehan, Leonard Kiernan, and Anthony Maiorisi.

Running for treasurer are: Harold Higgins, Henry Paulino, and Gene Toro.

Three of the candidates, Slocum, Lynch and Maiorisi, are running independently, while the remaining twelve are split into three slates: Reynolds, Callahan, Kiernan, and Higgins are running as the Triarcus; Kelly, Noel, Mackey and Toro are running as the Independent Party; and Sutten, Tierney, Sheehan and Paulino are campaigning as the Progressive Party.

The elections will be held Friday in Harkins Auditorium from 9:30 a. m. until 1:30 p. m. They will be conducted by James Jackson, chairman of the Congress Ways and Means Committee.

Dieges, Clust Ring Selected By Juniors

At the Junior class assembly held last Friday morning in Harkins Hall Auditorium to discuss the ring question for the class of 1953, the Juniors voted 215 to 95 to declare the ring made by Dieges and Clust as the official ring for the Junior class.

Junior Class President William Conway presided and after a few introductory remarks turned the meeting over to George Murphy, chairman of the ring committee. Murphy reported that after a thorough study by the ring committee, working over several rings, that they had narrowed it down to two rings with the final decision to be made by the Junior class.

Mr. Murphy, in his report, gave the Juniors a very thorough description (Continued on Page 3)

26 Wives Get P. H. T. Degrees

Father Clark reads the citation on the PH.T. degrees which he has just presented to the wives of students, at the fifth annual Family Hour held last Sunday. Standing with Father Clark is John G. Marasciolo, student chairman of the Family Hour. Twenty-six wives received the degrees, which were presented for the second straight year.

Ceremonies Held At Fifth Annual Family Hour

For "pushing, pulling or putting" their husbands through four years of college the wives of 26 Providence College seniors were awarded P.H.T. degrees at the fifth Family Hour held last Sunday in Aquinas Hall.

Nearly fifty couples took part in the program which included a discussion by the Rev. William R. Clark, O.P., faculty adviser of Pope Plus XII's "Moral Questions Affecting Married Life," a film on human reproduction; and a round table discussion of practical problems of married college students led by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lund of Pawtucket. Lund is a graduate of P. C. class of '47.

We Approve

The Student Congress has recently promulgated an announcement informing the student body that henceforth all scheduled events of any organization, whether meetings, dances, or anything else, must be brought to the attention of that body and cleared before being posted on the bulletin board.

Presidents of all organizations will be held responsible, and if circumstances are sufficiently compelling, the Congress may withhold the club's charter.

The Cowl is in complete agreement with this action. To omit a club, terrace, or organization, schedules a dance or some other relatively important event to coincide with an event of importance planned by the College. The resulting confusion and discomfort benefits nobody.

In line with this new policy the Cowl announces that we will no longer publish events which have been cleared in the prescribed manner. We trust the judgment of the Student Congress and will co-operate with them on this matter in any way possible.

To The Freshmen

The Cowl has learned from very reliable sources that the freshman dorm students held a caucus last Thursday night to decide upon the single slate of candidates to be entered in the coming Fresh elections.

There is, of course, nothing illegal with the practice of having pre-election caucuses; but it is a practice, we believe, unbecoming a college student and definitely detrimental to School Spirit.

We hasten to add that we are not opposed to any legitimate organization of dorm freshmen; and, in fact, it has always been the policy of the Cowl to encourage all extra-curricular activities whether they be for social or intellectual purposes.

Pre-election caucuses, however, are unbecoming college students because they place the elections on a level in which the candidates are judged not on their ability but rather on their caste in a particular society. College students, even freshmen, should know that selection by such a system is illogical and not commensurate with the standards and values they have been taught in the classrooms.

Pre-election caucuses are detrimental to school spirit because they cause unnecessary animosity between the day boys and the dorm students; the elections, instead of uniting the college under its chosen leaders, may lead to the forging of a certain unfriendliness between the two groups. The ultimate result is Providence College and associate only with his in immediate caste.

The freshmen, perhaps, can be excused on this occasion for they might plead ignorance; but the upperclassmen who organized and ran the meeting have no such excuse. Their act reflects a lack of intelligence and a distorted School Spirit.

To all the freshmen the Cowl advises: first, that you vote in the elections; second, that you vote for whom you think is the most qualified candidate. Our advice, we know from past experience, will insure a successful year for the freshmen class.

We Are Mystified

For the life of us, we can't figure out why Providence College students, who seem to refer to us as the future average citizen, devout, decent, and law-abiding, should continually violate rules which are set up at the college for the benefit of all of them.

Our years here have inured us to the fact that we must look the other way when we see students smoking in the corridors.

We raise our voices in protest time and again as students continue to affect the same "After repeated warnings by the Dean of Discipline that they must wear clothing befitting the gentlemen which they are supposed to be.

And now, the parking situation has gotten so bad that control of violations has had to be transferred to the bursar, who promises to mete out heavy fines.

Aren't P. C. students aware of these rules, which in reality are practically drilled into their heads? Or don't they care to obey them? It is a mystery to us.

Maybe even stronger disciplinary action will have to be taken as violations become repeated. We sincerely hope the situation doesn't reach that point.

Literary Column:

Thos. Mann's "The Holy Sinner" Called Great Disappointment

By Henry Griffin

In the estimation of this reader, Thomas Mann's latest novel, The Holy Sinner, is a distinct disappointment. One of the standards of subject-matter and artistic treatment. It certainly does not follow in the rich literary vein established by this author in "The Magic Mountain" and "Death in Venice."

The plot, which is based on a medieval epic poem, runs essentially along these lines. The twin children of the Duke of Austria, having fallen in love with each other, commit the crime of incest, and from this union a child is conceived. Then, in a fit of remorse, the father orders the execution of his child to a Sieur Eisenregir, who advises them to leave each other forever, which they do. The girl, Sibylla, goes with Eisenregir to his castle and there she bears her child. After its birth they decide that the boy should be left to the mercy of God, whereupon they place him in a cradle and send it adrift on the sea. Eventually he lands on a distant island, where he is brought up.

Then, one day, seventeen years later, Gregorius (for that is his name) discovers his incestuous origin, and determines to search for his parents. He arrives, unknowingly, in his native land, where he is recognized and besieged by a neighboring duke, who covets the princess of this country (none other than Sibylla, Gregorius' mother) for his wife. Gregorius overcomes the duke in battle and eventually marries the princess.

Their happiness is short-lived, though, for they discover their true relationship, and in despair resolve to atone for their sin, he by living on a desolate rock, and she by instituting a poor-house for beggars. But after the passage of some time, the Duke's wife is chosen pope, because of the holiness which she has attained.

The Cowl Mailbox

To the Editors: In his re-utterance of the third proposal of the American Council of Educational Research and Development, in the Cowl for January 9, Mr. Sealeases has set down some easily challengeable and, from almost any viewpoint, invalid arguments.

The abolition by liberal arts colleges of scholarship funds on the basis of athletic ability is far from undemocratic, as asserted, but, quite the opposite, would mean the abolition of a distinct privilege, the granting of which to the student on the basis of a privately owned school. But it is not undemocratic; it is being strictly academic.

Mr. Sealeases asks, "Why should one who has athletic ability, desires to improve his intellect with study and also to improve his economic and social status, but lacking the means and the high school "honor" marks be denied the advanced training for life that he needs while another, concentrating on the intellectual side with all manners of honors, is given the best of all worlds? The acquisition of a regular academic scholarship on academic grounds, other things being equal, but the restriction of scholarships, whose benefit is essentially academic, to students academically qualified and promising (and these are to most logical qualifications) that come to college is entirely normal. The awarding of such academic opportunities and privileges, since only a small minority of students has displayed in carrying out his self-inflicted penance.

Now in taking this legend and transferring it into the form of a modern novel, the author is confronted by two closely allied problems: how to adapt an intelligible plot from the cumbersome original poem, and how to create convincing characters to fit into this plot. In both instances I think that Mr. Mann has failed to achieve the objective.

As you doubtless can see from the preceding synopsis, he has a plethora of material to cover in a book of only about three hundred pages, and yet he does not seem concerned with editing it, which it badly needed, or with presenting it with any unity of treatment. His scenes, thanks to too much cramming, are fragmentary. He inserts bits of humor into the middle of the graphic scenes so often that one wonders whether he really takes the whole thing seriously or not.

Then, at times, he attempts a complete abou-jaab, and attempts to wrench sympathy for his hero and heroine, by telling us, point-blank, in the words of the narrator, Friar Clemens, that which it badly needed, but pity the luckless pair. In consequence of all this, the theme of sin and redemption, with which the story attempts to deal, is entirely lost.

To my mind, the concluding scene of The Holy Sinner is the most unsatisfactory one in the whole book. If Mr. Mann had Gregorius and Sibylla confessing that they both knew the other's true identity before their marriage took place. I think he must have realized that the structure of the novel would disintegrate completely unless they actually were aware of their relationship beforehand, but his manner of tacking it onto the end, as if it were a mere after-thought detail, is a poor excuse for story-telling.

dents receive scholarships, to students whose outstanding qualifications are athletic, and strictly athletic, is a deviation from the rule and, consequently, quite debatable, even considering a school's prerogative. Athletic ability logically qualifies a man for admission to the advanced opportunities. These should follow upon academic qualifications. Only in the case of a curriculum wherein athletic prowess and especially knowledge are highly important, as in physical education, does a scholarship on the basis of such athletic ability logically follow.

The weakness of an argument in favor of athletic scholarships is of the comparative moral excellence of the athlete in later life is apparent. The development of good moral habits is a life-long thing, merely influenced by

Solitude
The air is filled with Autumn tang,
After a rainy fall, all by myself,
While shouts of glee come by my ears,
And I'm alone upon the shelf.

I wish it were a rainy day,
For then, outdoors, I could not go.
Even, had I sought to do,
But listen to the breezes blow.
Outside, I see the other guys
Each out there having so much fun,
And how I envy all of them,
And also wish that I were one.
If I were dead, as well could be,
At least they would be glad to see
I'd be in no worse state of mind,
For here I'm stuck in Business Lab.

Capt. Carlson's Trials— Weeks Top Story?

By Joseph Quinton

Within the last two weeks the following has happened: President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill have re-centred Anglo-American relations. General Eisenhower announced that this year of decision has been decided, the true stakes at Panmunjon have taken a turn for the worse; in fact, the future of the country for the next four years may have been decided. General Eisenhower has announced that he was available for the Republican caucus. Meanwhile the press of the nation has decided that the most important news that the American people want to hear is the fact that a captian has been killed by his men.

It is nice of the press to help the people forget some of the ominous events that face them in 1952. But, is this actually not the work of the fictionists, and not that of our free press. When they attempt to obtain a reputation as fearless informers of the people it is up to them to obtain it by doing just that. Fruitless stringing-up of religious prejudice, or the heralding of fearless exploits of a master mariner are not doing this.

On a few sidelights on that story were noticed by the laymen and the general public. The use of a United States destroyer as a guard for the life of Carlson. It is nice of the United States to spend money to defend the lives of its citizens, but when once this principle is applied, why not apply it universally? American citizens are immured behind the Iron Curtain without too much effort on the part of the government to protect them.

The second sidelight on the news is the fact that the freighter in question is owned by the Labrador Line. This is the company that a few years back got into serious trouble in their efforts to crash the Chinese blockade, and bring supplies to the Chinese Reds.

Of the above-noted stories the one that should cheer most of our citizens is the fact that Eisenher has run. If he obtains office, and is President for the next four years, the policies that President Truman has discussed both with Churchill and in his message to the state of the Union have followed out. Eisenhower, of all our statesmen, knows the realities of life in Europe today. It is true that this experience has been on the military level, but modern strategy deals not solely with arms and men, but also with the entire apparatus of democratic government. For this reason it is best that those really interested in the United States ignore as best as possible the publicity being made by the present administration and instead work for the election of a man who can eliminate them.

Congratulations

Having in advance commended our campus unit of the National Federation of Catholic College Students and the Student Congress on last week's second annual intercollege dance, we are now able to congratulate them on a successful accomplishment.

Before The Broadcast

Shown above is the P. C. Glee Club as it practiced last Sunday morning for its appearance on "Songs From New England College" which was heard over the New England network of NBC Sunday afternoon. In the foreground are the Rev. Leo S. Cannon, O.P., director, and Michael Healy, accompanist.

Glee Club Concert Is Big Success

By Ray Kehew

Last Sunday afternoon the Providence College Glee Club made its second annual appearance on the "Songs from New England College" program, which was aired over the entire New England division of the NBC Radio Network, including its Providence outlet, Station WJAR.

Under the direction of Rev. Leo S. Cannon, O.P. the group performed such selections as Veni Jesu, Sylvia, De Gospel Train, Song of Man, Oh Suzanna. They were in exceptionally fine singing form for this broadcast concert, especially in their rendition of the Richard Rodgers melody from Carousel, the beautiful I'll Never Walk Alone. All of the moving quality in this song was elicited with a delicacy of feeling very rare among college glee clubs.

Lucien Olivier sang the baritone solo Deep In My Heart, with his customarily extraordinary aptitude for getting the most out of a song without in any way over-doing it. Mr. Michael Healy provided the piano accompaniment for the singers.

This program was sponsored by the Merrimac Division of the Monsanto Chemical Company of Boston, and the announcer, producer, and broadcast technicians were provided by the NBC Network.

Adrift On The Ice; Cowlman Triumphs

By Leonard I. Levin

"Fireman" Finneran, intrepid Cowl reporter has done it again. This dauntless soul Sunday played a large part in the rescue of an unfortunate swimmer (unfortunate or cramp?). Bob, here, more known as "Sparky" because of the part he played in the Great St. Antoninus Hall Fire, was meandering through his parents' baronial estate in North Andover, Mass. Sunday, when suddenly he heard a cry for help. An unfortunate resident of the feudal estate, who momentarily forgot his serfdom and tried to imitate a polar bear, had broken through the icy surface of a pond on the outskirts of the estate.

With complete disregard for his own safety, Bob stood on the bank and directed other vassals in rescue operations. When the poor fellow was fished out of the pond, a volunteer was needed to drive him to the hospital. Bob immediately wheeled out his eight-passenger Cadillac and contacted the police department in his two-way wrist radio-telephone (Dick Tracy model). Admonishing them to "get the traffic off the road, because I'm coming through," he sped the three miles to the local hospital in a record two minutes.

With the soaking safe safely ensconced in a warm hospital bed, Bob shrugged off all words of praise. "Shucks," said he, "It was nothing. Besides, he was my brother, and he was wearing my swimming trunks."

Day School Tertiaries To Meet Thursday

A new group of Tertiaries comprised of students of the day school will hold its first meeting this Thursday in Aquinas Chapel at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is open to any and all students, especially those residing in Aquinas Hall, who desire to attend, whether or not they wish to be enrolled.

For the convenience of all students of the college, it was found necessary to establish various groups of Tertiaries because of varying curricular programs. There is an evening session every Friday at 7:30 for the students of the Extension School; an afternoon session once every two weeks on Tuesdays or Thursdays from 1 to 2 p. m., primarily for off-campus students; and finally another evening group, beginning this Thursday, for students residing in or near Aquinas Hall.

Since the meetings last only one hour, it has been found impossible to select an hour, or even a day, adjustable to the academic program of all students simultaneously. Consequently, if another group would prefer meeting on Monday, Wednesday or Friday, because of inability to assist at the sessions already scheduled, a word of suggestion from them would be deeply appreciated by the Director.

The Third Order is a religious organization comprised exclusively of laypeople, without social or academic ramifications. Its claim is to form Christian gentlemen according to the pattern laid down by St. Dominic who founded the Dominican Order. There are no dues, nor obligations, which bind under pain of sin. All students are invited to attend a meeting at any time to observe things for themselves and to enjoy an hour of edification and inspiration.

At The Dance

Pictured dancing above is part of the large gathering that attended the second intercollegiate dance held last Friday night in Harkins Hall.

Who'd he say?

By Stretch Ponton, '53

Well, here we are right in the midst of all the social activities of the winter season. Yes, the dances and festivals and just plain dates are in full swing. I got into the spirit of things the other nite on a blind date. I say spirit because this one looked like she's been dead for quite some time. You've heard of Lana Turner. This was her sister, "Stomach." She wasn't pretty and she wasn't ugly. She was pretty ugly. At least, I didn't have a very far to meet her. She lived in a place called "Petitcoat" . . . just on the outskirts of town. She came from a talented family, and the stories she heard were really interesting. She said her father was a big wheel in television. He's the guy who teaches all the beer cans to march. Her uncle was a fighter and at the height of his career was known as the "Rembrandt of the Ring" . . . always on the canvas.

Maybe it wasn't the best date in the world but I can't complain. With studies and all, we're lucky to have any time at all for social life. The other day in English was a good example. The prof walked in and said, "You in the back of the room, what's a poetic stanza?" The guy said, "Well, that's a rhyme scheme?" The guy in the back still didn't know so his desperation, the prof asked, "O.K., who wrote the Spenserian Stanzas?" When the poor guy didn't know this either the prof stood and said, "What were you doing last nite?" "I was out drinking beer with my friends," the guy said. The prof hit the ceiling and said, "See here, what are you here for, a good time or an education?" The guy in the back stood up and said, "Look mac, I ain't here for neither one. I'm a plumber and I just came in to fix the radiator."

Well, that's the way it goes. Maybe next time the prof won't get so steamed up. Hmmmmmm????

300 Attend Second Intercollegiate Dance

More than three hundred P. C. men and students from many New England colleges danced to the music of Vito Capone, '56, and his orchestra at the Second Annual Intercollegiate dance, held in Harkins Hall, Friday evening under the joint sponsorship of the Student Congress and the campus National Federation of Catholic College Students committee.

The register of guests listed the following institutions: Mount St. Mary (N. H.), Annhurst, Boston, Newton Saive Regina, Beigis, Our Lady of the Elms, Wellesley, Bryant, and Pembroke Colleges; the University of Rhode Island; Rhode Island College of Education; Charles V. Chapin, Rhode Island; St. Joseph's, and St. Luke's Hospital; Boston College School of Nursing; and Katherine Gibbs Secretarial School.

Robert Elston, '52, and John C. Cronan, '53, co-chairmen of the dance, stated today that many of the guests congratulated the committee and student body.

Junior Veridames To Hold Stag Dance Fri. In Lounge

Friars Tip Gymnasts; Lay-off Till Wednesday

There's nothing on tap for our varsity for the next six days or so, but last week the boys acquitted themselves nobly, trouncing a not-to-important Fort Devens outfit, 84-62, last Wednesday and hurdling tough Springfield on Saturday night, 67-64, after being down eleven points at the half time.

Nothing much to say about the Devens game. With their star guy, Moe Mahoney, sitting on the bench, the soldier's couldn't master anything resembling a sustained attack. Mahoney, evidently is the one big gun in a light weapons company. The former Brown ace, forced to the sidelines by an infected leg, tried to coach his club to victory from the bench, but it was nothing doing. It was no contest after the first few minutes.

Moran Face-maker Against Devens
Coach Vin Cuddy cleared his bench, so all the boys saw action with Bobby Moran coming out on top in the scoring with 21 points. Robert, the boy who seems to locate the hoop with radar, poured in fifteen points in the first half, and compiled his final total while playing only a little more than half the game.

Springfield was a different story altogether. The Gymnasts were fresh from beating RIU at Rodman Hall the night before, and they came to Mount Pleasant boasting. In Alan Schmitt, one of the top scorers in the country, and a good all around team, strong under the boards, fast, and sharp from the outside.

Gymnast Schmitt Impressive
Schmitt wasn't a figment of some press agent's imagination. Despite the fact that every time he got the ball he was surrounded, "Automatic All-American" accounted for 25 points, helped no end by some superb foul shooting that found him cashing in on nine out of eleven free tries.

Schmitt might have hit fifty if Jim Schlimm and Hank McQueeny hadn't turned in spectacular defensive performances, especially in the second half. Jim, rarely cut in a defensive role, was kibitzing over Schmitt's shoulder for three full quarters, and every time the lanky redhead reached for the ball he found he had three hands, one of which kept slapping the ball away from the other two. The Friar captain also tossed in several timely hoops, regaining his old form somewhat, and was credited with twelve hard earned points when the shooting was over.

So, it's to Schlimm and McQueeny, two offensive stars who stepped out of character for one game, that most of the credit goes, but they don't get all of it.

Riflemen Compete In Hearst Tourney

By Martin Sander
Practice for the Providence College R. O. T. C. rifle team resumed Tuesday after two weeks of inactivity due to the Christmas vacation.

This week the squad will fire in the Randolph Rifle Tournament. On the week of January 18, the team will participate in the Armed Forces Rifle Tournament, competing with R. O. T. C. units from colleges all over the country.

Meets with R. O. T. C. units from many other schools have been arranged and included is one with Dartmouth on February 2.
Other matches still in the pending stages are with Brown, Temple, Rhode Island and Penn State.

Fr. Arts Lead 11:30 Division Jacome, Reilly Pace Scorers

With Grenier (17), Ways (17) and Clegg (15) leading the way, the Warwick Club scored another easy victory in downsing Senior Chemistry, 69 to 29. Eaton and Desair were tops for the losers with 8 points apiece.

Freshman Physics nudged the Woonsocket quietest, 37 to 35, in a hard-fought game. Blais (16) and Ferzon (12) paced the yearlings' attack while Morley (12), McCarthy (10),

Coatesmen Entered In K. C. One-Mile, Two-Mile Relays; Renew Yale Rivalry Sat.

The pinnacle of the indoor track season will be reached this Saturday for New England fans when they are offered the chance to see the greatest names in the track game at the Knights of Columbus Meet in Boston Garden. Not only will P.C.'s enthusiasts be offered an opportunity to see the likes of Fred Will, Parson Bob Richards, etc., but they will also be given a chance to see Providence's esteemed relaymen in action.

Burrillville Takes Over Top Position; Friars' Six Upset

	W	L	T	Pts
Burrillville	6	2	0	12

By Bob Morrison
The next two weeks will find the Providence College sextet taking leave from competition in the R. I. Amateur Hockey League. The ice at the Auditorium on North Main Street will change from plain white to varied patterns of many colors. The slapping of sticks and the crunching of bones and boards will vanish and their place taken by the coordinated and flashing blades of Donna Atwood, Bobby Skept and the Ice Capades troupe. But, after the two week lay-off we hope to see P. C. return to their winning ways.

Tuesday night's action, P. C. started fast by scoring in the first three minutes but then choked up for the remainder of the encounter with the exception of the last two minutes of the period. Dunne's East Siders upset the favored Friars, 5 to 3.

The entire contest saw the unlucky number of thirteen penalties dealt out with seven of them coming in the last period. Another novelty was Ben-Jamins "hat trick", the first of the season in the league.

Providence's one mile relay team will square off against B. U., Brown and Maine at 9:45 while the two-milers take on Harvard, Yale and M. I. T. earlier in the evening (8:30). The Friars will probably be using the same lineup as they did in Washington (Lousier, D. Tierman, B. Tierman, Methia, Lohner, and Johnson) along with two others to complete the squad.

Since the indoor season is still young little is known of the opposition. However, B. U. covers, in their only race to date, were beaten quite badly in both the one and two mile by Harvard.

Our intra-city rivals, Brown, have come up with a fine combination in the mile (Whitlock, Kelleher, Holland and Reid) and should offer the Friars their stiffest trouble in that grouping. In the two mile, the baton-passers will be in for a rough time when they face Yale's crack two-milers. Last year in this same Knights of Columbus meet the Friars were edged out by the Bulldogs who then went on to receive national recognition as one of the top two-mile relay teams in the country.

Dorm Tap-Ins

By Bill Davis
In games played this week, the Hartford Hilltoppers and the Friarhouse Five each won their third victory of the season to close in on the Donnelly Hall Alumni for the league leadership. Hartford had a comparatively easy time with the Inept Brewers who have yet to gain their first victory of the season. Charlie Shea, Dan Lynch and Ronnie LaMarre were outstanding in the Hilltopper cause.

The Friarhouse Five, composed entirely of Freshmen, showed Dorm League followers some of the best basketball of the season by defeating the L. A. Boy, another all-Freshman team, by a 60-32 score. The Friarhouse victory was entirely a team effort and their passing, hand-offs and shooting were of the highest caliber. Tartaglino and Curran with twenty-one and sixteen points respectively were outstanding for the winners.

The top six teams thus far are:

Team	W	L
Donnelly Hall Alumni	4	0
Dormhouse Five	3	0
Hartford Hilltoppers	3	0
Aquinas Friars	3	1
Biltmore A. C.	3	1
Western Mass. Club	2	1

Classical Review:

Traubel's Album Of Italian Operatic Arias Are Discussed

By A. H. Lister

Well, Brunella has forsaken her horrid spear for the plaintive lute. I refer, of course, to the new RCA Victor release of Italian operatic arias, sung by Helen Traubel. From the technical standpoint, this record carries the tradition of flawless reproduction which has characterized all of Victor's work in the LP field, and which has been a constant joy to all record collectors. The selections, among which one finds the "Pace Mio Dio" from Verdi's Forza del Destino and the "Willow Song" from Otello, are all equally done. Miss Traubel has complete mastery of accord, lending a certain warmth to the arias, while still avoiding any excessively sloppy emotionalism by what one might term her acquired "eudemonic restraint." Yet, with all her technical excellence, one is not satisfied. Why? Well, perhaps it is a matter of stylistic or even vocal training and development. Let us put it this way. As pleasing as Traubel's rendition is, Mrs. McGee, Miss Gora, one still cannot help wishing that Marian Anderson, for example, were singing it. Probably a certain prejudice is present in the conjecture that Miss Traubel's ready performance of Italian arias both in concert and on records, whenever opportunity presents itself, stems from a desire to demonstrate that she can sing something better than the usual "soprano" repertoire.

During the holidays, I had the good fortune to hear Dame's Galantes des Indes broadcast over the BBC. Taking into account the imperfections of transmission, I think one may safely recommend this work to those interested in early French music. It is performed by the Hewitt Chamber Group on Vox records. The strings are well integrated and achieve, on the one hand, that powerful effect and flow so distinctive of the Baroque composers, and on the other hand, the tremendous mathematical austerity and asaurant rhythms of Rameau.

Letters . . .

Another new release by RCA Victor is the long anticipated Toscanini version of Debussy's La Mer. Descriptions of the Maestro's fastidiousness in the recording of this work over and over, as well as numerous encomiums on the finished product (the sixth, I believe) have filled many a column already. Let it suffice, therefore, merely to add our voice in the general acclamation and recommendation of this recording. Toscanini, who has always been most adept in the direction of music of the French impressionists, has succeeded wonderfully in capturing the spirit of Debussy in La Mer, the patient tranquility, the crescent agitation, the sinuous harmonies of the composer. Who was it that remarked about the Toscanini interpretation of La Mer, "Debussy's sea is finally and for the first time blue!"

a college education, certainly just as it will be by everything else to which the will responds. The goodness of the athlete (and is it really greater than the intellectual's? Or do the latter's deviations merely receive more attention?) and the evil of the intellectual are not necessarily the product of their college education; whereas the intellectual accomplishment stemming from academic stimulation and digestion is directly dependent upon academic success, whether or not revealed in marks.

So, the question boils down to the proper place of different abilities. The withdrawal is certainly not democratic, or unjust, or even unduly doing the fulfillment of the dual opportunity thus offered an athlete may prove an impossibility. It is the self-interest of the college not unillustrious for the athletes that has brought about the athletic scholastic.

Prov. Club Has Meeting

The Providence Club of Providence College held its first meeting of the year last Wednesday night at the Bouffard Council Knights of Columbus Hall. It was decided that the club go to the Holy Cross game of Worcester last night, a bus being contracted for the affair.

Plans were discussed for the first dance of the year, to take place Feb. 8, at the Roger Williams Park Casino. Co-Chairmen are Matthew Matera and J. Robert Farley.

Refreshments were served. The next meeting is scheduled for Feb. 7.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test.

NONE of the girls were wild about this Wildcat. His hair looked like something the cat dragged in! "I'm being mighty low," he told his hair. "Every Tomcat, Dick and Harry on campus has had hair like mine." Yes, Sam was ever of that sort. You need Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic. All the cars are using it because it's non-alkaline. Contains soothing Lanolin. Removes any dandruff. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Help you pass—I mean pass—the Finger-Nail Test. So Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil, and now he's the most popular Perkin at school. Put-her-ifs! What you need! Take some small change out of your kitty and passy-foe it to the nearest drug or toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. And ask for professional application—or your favorite barber shop. Hurry—none is the time!

Trackmen Do Well in Wash. Star Meet

Providence's mile and two mile relay teams both scored first places in last Saturday's Washington Star Meet. Leading the one milers to victory over the University of Virginia, Richmond University and LaSalle were: Dick Tiernan, Paul Mehlis, Frank Lussier and Bob Tiernan. In the two mile, Chris Lohner, Frank Lussier, Bob Tiernan and Dick Johnson triumphed over LaSalle, Virginia Tech and St. John's (Pa.).

In the mile Dick Tiernan started for the Friars and stayed close to the leader, Paul Mehlis took over the top spot and from there on the Coastmen were never "headed". Lussier gained a few more yards and Bob Tiernan, running anchorman, kept the Friars in front, although he was pressed closely by John Manning of LaSalle. The time for the mile was 3:22.2 minutes.

The two mile proved almost as pleasing for the 5500 people who crowded into the arena. Chris Lohner started for P. C. and put them off on the "right foot" by gaining the lead. Frank Lussier and Bob Tiernan both retained the lead for the Friars but the rest of the field was never too far behind. "Pop" Johnson, running anchorman, kept the rest of the pack at his heels for the remainder of the race as he ran to victory.

Week-end will close with an open house on Sunday afternoon.

Charles Shea, chairman for the dance, announced that bids will be completed of a two dollar assessment plus the year's dues, paid in full.

NEXT COWL

The next issue of the COWL will appear on the Newsstands Wednesday, January 23.

ROTC Notes

Reminder

Notice has been posted that all MSI1 students must wear their uniforms this coming Friday, January 18th. Uniforms are worn on notice only that is, the order is but for this week. Regular wearing of uniforms will start with spring drill classes. As usual, uniforms are optional on other class days, unless so ordered.

Warning!

There will be a final semester exam in MSI101, covering all subjects since September, (Leadership, Drill and Command etc.) Rumors had it that the periodic tests were going to be the only exams in MSI101. A word to the wise—to review all ROTC subjects so far.

Changes in ROTC Personnel

Sergeant John P. Graham, sergeant major of the ROTC unit has been transferred to the Post Complement Command, Fort Dix, N. Jersey. Sergeant William C. Hasenpflug has been transferred to Fort Devens prior to discharge from the Army. Sergeant Cecil H. Flowers has been transferred to Headquarters, New England Sub-area, Boston.

New personnel are on the way, and will be announced at a future date.

Aquinas Chapel at which the Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., president, was the celebrant, the couples renewed their marriage vows. A buffet supper was then served in the dining hall.

The citation on the P.H.T. degrees states that each wife "has completed four years of conjugal and collegiate helpfulness in that she has borne with her spouse patiently and faithfully in the pursuit of his higher education, writing his term papers, typing his lecture notes, arranging his textbooks for a Dagwood departure in the early a. m., turning the radio low so that he can concentrate on his philosophy, changing diapers and catching her husband in preparation for exams, going out to work to supplement the G.I. check, providing many other wifely encouragements . . ."

For her extraordinary efforts in raising five children while putting her husband through college, Mrs. Ann Scanlon of Pawucket was awarded the degree, P.H.T. Summa cum laude. Those who received P.H.T.'s were: Mrs. Mary DeSofiano, Mrs. Matilda DiOrto, Mrs. Ann Marascio, Mrs. Beatrice Paulino, Mrs. Irene Berry, Mrs. Jane Bosworth, Mrs. Barbara Perland, Mrs. Mary Kelly, Mrs. Barbara Tripari, Mrs. Ann Wontowski.

Also, Mrs. Jeanne O'Donnell, Mrs. Ethel Stone, Mrs. Mary Bruns, Mrs. Georgia Crowley, Mrs. Roberta Donnelly, Mrs. Ethel Seminare, Mrs. Jean Gulino, Mrs. Simone Lafamme, Mrs. Alice Reis, Mrs. Mary Ventura, Mrs. Evelyn Doigan, Mrs. Marjorie Elias, Mrs. Kathleen McGuirk, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilcox and Mrs. Barbara Pilkanis.

Entertainment was provided by the Glee Club. Soloists were: Lucien Oliver and Lou Murphy; William McMahon, student congress president, was master of ceremonies. A community sign closed the evening's program.

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER!

It takes fine tobacco to give you a better-tasting cigarette. And Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. But it takes something else, too—superior workmanship. You get fine, light, mild, good-tasting tobacco in the better-made cigarette. That's why Luckies taste better. So, Be Happy—Go Lucky! Get a carton today!

It's good to smoke a Lucky Strike!
It's pleasure without flaw—
Cause Luckies always are so free
And easy on the draw!

L.S./M.F.T.-Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco

It's quite an athlete in school,
And many I have raced.
There's just one thing that can't be beat—
It's Luckies' better taste!
Harris Freedman

Always smoke those Lucky Strikes—
Their better taste is grand;
I buy 'em by the carton,
So they'll always be on hand.
