Final Plans Are Completed For Senior And Military Ball

Saturday Is The Final Day To Purchase Senior Bids

Bids for the Senior Ball are now numbered so that those who have completed their payments can pick up their tickets at the ticket booth, Harkins Hall, from 9:30 to 12:30 from now until Saturday. George Meehan, dance committee chairman, announced that payments on bids absolutely must be completed by Saturday, as exams will prevent the booths being open after that time. If any senior finds himself unable to pay by Saturday, he must make arrangements at the booth as to when he will pay.

The favor for the last social event of the Class of '52 has been selected. It is a miniature mug with the seal of the College on the front and "Commencement Ball, 1952" on the back. The favor is on display on the Harkins Hall Bulletin Board.

A few table preferences are still available, and seniors who wish to reserve a table may still do so at the booth. There are tables for three, five, or six couples.

Stressing the fact that this will be the seniors' last thing as P.C. men, he urged all to attend the Commencement Ball, to be held May 29 from 9:00 to 1:00 at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel. Music will be supplied by Sam Karl's orchestra.

Military Dance Bids Are Opened For Everyone Tomorrow

Richard C. Fontaine, chairman of the Military Ball, has disclosed that exclusive priority to tickets for ROTC cadets will terminate Thursday afternoon, May 15. Any student desirous of attending may make his purchase at that time.

Sam Vallancourt and his orchestra have been engaged to furnish the music for the occasion. Dancing will begin at 9 p.m. and continue until 1 a.m.

The committee has announced that Friday afternoon, May 16, has been set as the deadline for entry of photos in the Queen of the Ball competition. It is hoped that each company will have at least one representative.

Dress, for the affair to be held at the Sheraton-Biltmore, May 21, will consist of the regulation cadet dress uniform. Non-ROTC students in attendance will come in dress attire. Corsages for the ladies are out.

Providence Club To Hold Dinner Thursday Night

The Providence Club of Providence College will hold a dinner Thursday night at 7:00 p. m. at the Narragansett Hotel. Reservations can be obtained by contacting Matthew Matas, J. Robert Farrelly, or Larry Waldman or by calling ELmhurst 1-2468 by Wednesday. The price is $1.00. Election ballots can be handed in that time but it is preferred to have them in beforehand if possible.

FREE TICKETS

Free student tickets are available for "Foiled Again." A table is set up on the second floor and the tickets may be picked up either Wednesday, Thursday or Friday. In addition extra tickets may be purchased at 50c.

Friars Club Elects Nani New President

David Nani was elected president of the Friars Club at a meeting held last Monday evening in Harkins Hall. Also elected were Charles Cronan, vice-president; Lou Gomez, secretary and Richard Cobb, treasurer.

New members were elected into the club and plans for the picnic to be held Saturday were discussed.

Nani, a junior, is a member of the Albert Magnus Club, the Providence Club, and the Delta Epsilon Sigma honor society. He was also a member of the junior prom committee and is a resident of Providence.

Cronan, also a junior, is a resident student and makes his home in Waterbury, Conn. He is a member of the N.E.C.C.S., the Waterbury Club and the St. Antoninus Club.

Gomez is a sophomore and he too is a resident student coming from Newport. He is a member of the Newport Club, the Carolan Club and is treasurer of the Student Congress.

Cobb comes from Hartford, Conn., and is a junior. He is a member of the Albertus Magnus Club, the Delta Epsilon Sigma honor society and the Carolan Club.

New members elected to the club at this meeting were: Alexander Montgomery, John Martika, James (Continued on Page 3)

Annual Photo Salon Conducted Tonight

The Camera Club of Providence College will conduct its fourth annual photo salon in the Student Lodge of Harkins Hall, tonight at 7:30 p.m.

There will be four classifications: scenery, personality, news and action, and architecture. It is estimated that approximately fifty prints will enter the competitions for the blue ribbons. Winners of each category will receive an award, with a grand prize to the entry judged to be the best of the show.

Rev. William R. Clark, O.P., will be one of the judges, assisted by Arthur Orabone '48, and Mr. Reynolds, instructor of photography in the P.C. (Continued on Page 3)

Pyramid Players Delight Audience In "Foiled Again"

By Leonard I. Levin

The Pyramid Players of Providence College rolled back the theatrical years last night as they presented "Foiled Again," their annual musical extravaganza. The Players gave their all and the production, a satire on the old-fashioned melodrama, complete with hissing and booing, pleased the first-night audience. It will be staged again tonight, tomorrow night, and Saturday night, with a special matinee Saturday, especially for nuns and priests.

Among the high spots in this review of an old American theater tradition were the acting of Bill McMahon, Jim Marshall, Marlene Abbott, John Connolly, Lucy Bottone, and Norm Olson. McMahon, playing the tarted villain, to the accompaniment of boos and sneers of derision, gave a fine performance (the part will be played tonight by Tom Kelly, the alternate villain). Marshall was his usual self as he played Wary, the buffoon. Miss Abbott, portraying his girl friend, was delightful.

Connolly, who was Homer Home spun, the naive, honest, sort-of-stimpeled humor, took the audience by storm with his acting and singing and his loved one, Miss Bottone, was equally enchanting. Olson, the rather shady College president, played his part to the hilt and was a hit. Others who carried the show successfully were Bob Finerman and Jim Manix, as the rather Keystone-ish Cops, Lou Murphy as Mindless, the not-quite-complete idiot, and Barbara Brennan as Della Brown, the seductress who finally turns straight. Claire McGroarty will alternate with Miss Brennan in this role.

Briefly, the plot is concerned with the attempts of a villain, as portrayed by McMahon, to have Sedate U., a typical Ivy-covered college, manage to lose an important football game to Ale, and thus gain a pocketful of pelf. By his intrigues he manages to have Homer, the hero, framed and thrown in jail, thus seemingly assuring a victory over Sedate U. Of course, every-

President Addresses R. I. Chemistry Clubs

Stressing that the interpretation of facts, not just the facts themselves, is the criterion of knowledge, Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., President, opened the Fifth Annual Rhode Island Intercollegiate Science Conference of Chemistry Clubs in Albertus Magnus Hall last Wednesday evening.

Some sixty representatives heard lectures by Mr. Martin Gueley, Jr., President of the Research and Development Laboratory, Pawtucket, on "Chemistry and Industry"; Dr. William Stokes, Providence College, on "Chemistry and Research"; Dr. Harold Nace, Brown University, "Graduate School Opportunities in Chemistry"; and Dr. Margaret Parks, University of Rhode Island, "Opportunities in Chemistry Teaching."

Joseph P. O'Brien, '52, President of the Phi Chi Club, which sponsored the conference welcomed the group to Providence College.

Joseph Kelly, '52, was chairman of the committee which included Robert Burke, '52, Anthony Dulce, '52, and Alfred Lanny, '53.

COWL ISSUE

There will be a special edition of the COWL on Wednesday, May 28.

Zero Hour Nears

In lieu of our time-honored practice of highlighting only the good side of the news, we reluctantly report to you that final exams are only a week away. Perhaps it will not perturb some of you to discover that on Wednesday of next week the first wave of students will undergo one of the most debated question and answer sessions, but most of you are sure, feel slightly on the uneasy side.

The ones who are not worried about it are the incorrigible people who had the gall to embarrass the rest of us by studying all during the semester. Naturally, they are not concerned. Why should they be? There is nothing for them to do except to go into class, spout off the answers and leave.

But what about the ones that have not been so assiduous, the ones for whom each passing day, hour, second represents the vise-like grip of doom moving ever closer. From now on it is for these unfortunates it will be one insane scramble to stuff into their noggin all the material for the semester. And what, more importantly, has to be shoehorned into the empty cranium in a week's time.

Till We Meet Again

In three short weeks Providence College will merely be a memory to the seniors. What type of a memory it will be will depend on each student and the amount of effort he gave the school. But it might be recommended that each student remember that he gave this school four precious years of his life and that is the unpleasantness encountered here, but rather reminisce about the days of joy and felicity.

Everyone is a bit of a sentimentalist, otherwise he would not be human. It is only a matter of the degree of sentimentality. Therefore when you are thinking back on your days at Providence, remember the happy times, remember the friends that you had an opportunity to meet, remember your Catholic teachings and last of all remember your school. You are the future alumni and on you depends the growth of the school. Undoubtedly you have found many faults at this institution, you have also seen the need for expansion. Being an alumnus, you will have the chance to help rectify them.

If you become active in the alumni association, you can do more than merely help the school. You will help yourself by continuing to foster those friendships that first sprang up at Providence. It is sad but true, but many of us will never lay eyes on some of the people that we became intimate with unless it happens by at Providence.

For your own sake and for the sake of the school, join the alumni association. In that way you will continue friendships that might have become mere memories. And you will also be able to help your school.

Au Revoir

This is the last official edition of the Cowl for the current academic year. As you read through this issue we the editors wish to take this opportunity to thank all the people who have given us their utmost in cooperation and work during the year.

To all our staff members, we express our heartfelt thanks for a job well done. We were sometimes better rather than well but we were always extremely grateful when the stories came in whether early or late.

To the Cowl moderator, the Rev. Paul M. James, O.P., we extend our gratitude for his hard work and sincere cooperation in our behalf.

Our thanks to the Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., President of the College and the Administration whose sponsorship and support helped many in carrying the Cowl to another successful year.

Finally, as we write our final "30" and meet our last deadline, we thank everyone who helped us in any way during the year and you our readers—we hope you have been pleased with our work.

Memorandum

The Cowl would like to make it known that it is not necessarily in agreement with the views expressed by our columnists. It is the privilege of these writers to take a stand on an issue and then try to find the material for their stand. Many of our columnists' views are merely based on opinion but he still has a right to do this. Therefore don't feel that the sentiments expressed by our writers are necessarily those of the Cowl.

Congress Accomplishes Much But Apathy Mars Complete Success

Joseph Quinton and James Marshall

An examination of the records of the Providence College Student Congress for the past scholastic year reveals two basic facts. First, the organization itself is still growing and has not yet realized its full potentialities; and second, that even among the members of the congress there is a lack of interest corresponding to the apathy existing in many student societies.

Many activities have been undertaken successfully, however, including an all-campus blood drive, the policing of campus elections, regulation of the parking lot, and the holding of the second annual intercollegiate Dance. A list of proposals made to the congress and defeated is equally imposing, numbering a motion to establish an honor code in extracurricular organizations, the setting up of a student loan fund, and the bill to set up a governing board for territorial clubs. Evidence of the fact that the Congress has not reached full maturity is seen in the discussions that revolved around the motion for an honor code. The full implications of the congress being of honor only, a question was left unresolved, although an effort was made to strictly define the powers of the congress in a constitutional amendment submitted in the second session.

One of the worst blots on the record of the congress, and often overshadowing the good work done by many representatives, was the number of men absent from more than a third of the meetings. Out of twenty-one members of the congress eight men have been absent at least three of the eight monthly meetings. One member, Peter Drury, has attended only two meetings for the year. William Benter, a co-chairman of the committee, Thomas Toscano, and James Shigume, have missed four. Those missing three meetings are Richard Buckley, secretary of the congress, Thomas Callahan, and Leonard Kiernan. Many of these men can claim, however, excuses from the president for their non-attendances.

Legislation, in the form of constitutional amendments has been submitted to correct this situation of missing members. Action on it will be taken at the next meeting. Expulsion from the congress will result from two consecutive, unexcused absences.

Over 300 pints of blood were collected by the congress sponsored campus blood drive. Cooperating with the ROTC unit and the Red Cross, a mobile bloodmobile was set up for two days in early April. A concerted drive by all members of the congress resulted in the large number of pints of blood collected.

Two police actions, one of long standing, handling elections, and the other arising from the congested condition of the parking lot, resulted in the lack of campus police during the early morning hours, were handled successfully. Elections for both the class officers, and the incoming representatives and officers of the congress were handled by the Ways and Means Committee headed by James Jackson. Members of the congress cooperated in policing the parking lot during the last few months. A program of education was started, showing the students where and how they should park, and then tickets were given out to the violators of the regulations.

A major proposal, introduced and supported by senior representative George Murphy advocated the establishment of a central governing board for the regional clubs. This central body, as proposed, would not have taken any of the prerogatives of the existing clubs, but would have merely coordinated their efforts, especially in arranging a social calendar. In effect the Congress was delegating for the first time a group composed of the clubs themselves, but the smaller clubs, fearing loss of their integrity, rejected the proposal, and it died at the end of the school year.

Results Of All-Star Poll Revealed; Billy May Called Sensational Of '52'

Jim Wille
This week we have the winners in the All-Star Poll that was taken by your reporter a few months ago. The results are somewhat surprising, because, as you will note, quite a few of the men chosen are outstanding in the field of Progressive music. And then again, there are those favored of the many who still hold top rating. For the most part the manpower in our own little group didn't change much. In fact when you looked over the year, what had you heard as far as music is concerned? Oh, there have been new stars breaking across the horizon, but not too many of them have stayed up there. It was a year of new big band names, new big band business, as well as some new combos breaking in. Well, we'll talk more about these things later on, but right now here are the results of the poll.

THE WINNERS
 Alto Sax Charlie Parker
 Clarinet Benny Goodman
 Tenor Sax Stan Getz
 Baritone Sax Serge Chaboff
 Trumpet Louis Armstrong
 Trombone Billy Harris
 Piano George Shearing
 Guitar Billy Bauer
 Bass Eddie Saffranks
 Drums Elmer Lomond
 Misc. Instru. Terry Gibbs (Vibes)
 Arranger Pete Rugolo
 Vocal Neal Hefti
 Male Voc. Billie Holiday
 Female Voc. Sarah Vaughn

Going back and looking at what has happened this year in the ever-changing world of music, we saw Nat Cole leave his trio and go out on his own. Now we can find him being backed by Billy May and Co., and putting out some fine sounds. Another break-out occurred when Eddie Howard disbanded his organization, and went out by himself. The change seemed to do some good too. The comeback of the year was staged by two young ladies, one, Miss Ella Mae Morse, and two, Miss Helen O'Connell. These two thrushes chirped their way back into the hearts of music lovers everywhere. This year we also saw Gene Krupa come back with his famous jazz trio, and featuring Charlie Ventura and Teddy Nelson. The boys opened at the State in Hartford, and from there are going on to bigger and better things.

As mentioned many times before in this space, Billy May is the greatest thing to come along since the invention of the flatted fifth. I don't like to sound too eager, but man, this boy is it. He has, in such a short time, given you ears the finest treatment with the new fresh sound of the flatted fifth, that even the Kaye and Lombardo fans appreciate him, and that's a project. It has even gone so far that imitators are springing up all over you. You listen to this, you'll find a bit odd, but listen to Anthony's Singing in the Rain, and Tommy Dorsey's newest, with Fran Reiff on the vocal, and see if you can't detect the May style.

Senator McCarthy Backed By Sinister China Lobby

John Martiska

In the issues of April 15th and 29th, The Reporter magazine ran a spread of eleven articles, the contents of which should change some doubts to suspicions, strengthen some suspicions, and change opinions in regard to past events in the Far East and Senator McCarthy's position on the subjects. The was "The China Lobby" and they give what might be called the story behind McCarthy and his charges.

The story of the Lobby is traced from its beginnings in 1940 up to the present, and is an interesting story to read. It brings to the surface the machinations, skulduggery, and deceit that have been practiced on the American people for a good many years. Millions of dollars, most of it American to start with, have been used to finance propaganda and to buy influence which has and is being used to discredit the men of the State Department and the China Lobby might be exceeded, for it is no worse than other pressure groups and lobbies, but because it has culminated in McCarthyism it deserves condemnation. For over two years the Senator has wrestled with the subversive monster he has created, and after a great deal of panting and deep-breathing he has stepped back to gaze upon the ruins he thinks should be there, but so, no such sight greets his eyes. Fungin Joo has claimed that he is "rooting out the skunks" but in two years his score card bears mute testimony to his success—zero. This miserable showing might discourage some men, but not so McCarthy. He stops only long enough to catch his breath.

Father Levesque, O.P., of Laval University, has given what might be called the most telling criticism against a crusade such as McCarthy's when he said, "The sincere man does not see Communism under the aspect of a set of people who have different ideas from his, or who obstruct his path, or of whom he should be afraid. He sees it as the enemy of man, as the enemy of the human person, which it crushes and kills all the more for its totalitarianism. It is because we believe in man and love humanity that we reject Communism." Here are words that the Senator should ponder.

Band members will be excepted, since they will have a few engagements after termination of classes. thing jells in the end, to the delight of all but the villain.

Worthy of mention is the accompaniment provided by George Meehan. From the overture to the final curtain Meehan provides a melodious and excellent selection of piano artistry, the music, incidentally, written by himself.

Some of the songs are excellent, while others are downright captivating. "You Should Never Be Too Eager and You Can Never Be Too Willing," a duet sung by Miss Bottonne and Miss Abbott, topped all in this reviewer's opinion. "I Lost My Chance," another duet presented by Connally and Miss Bottonne, was also excellent.

Some of the special effects sparked, notably an artificial blud induced by a red spotlight. The settings, designed and executed by George Hyland, Kelly, the Rev. Edward L. Hunt, O.P., the Rev. John B. Larnen, O.P., moderator of the Pyramid Players, and Joseph Boyd, stage manager, were excellent.

Last they be forgot, the chorus, composed of Earl Kelly, Walter Zlat, John Bobab, Bob Elliott, George Lawrence, John Balkun, Mary McCauley, Pat McCabe, Olga Aceto, Constance Houlton, Mary Capelli, Maureen Murphy, Mary Geoghan, and Harriet Holt, was excellent.

If you have not yet seen "Folled Again," by all means do so. If you don't, in this reviewer's opinion, you'll be sorry.

Fr. Slavin Shows Enemies of Truth

"Never perhaps in history have men known so much and been sure of so little," the Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., declared in the fourth of his addresses in the Catholic Hour series.

Talking on "Education and Society" Father Slavin said "Freedom or religion means freedom in the church to learn and to teach. . . . The command of Christ, 'Go forth and teach all nations' cannot be shunted off to the government or to some other agency which is neutral in religion and which approaches human problems from a secular point of view."

"Because she (the Church) received the commission from her Divine Founder to go forth and teach and because she possesses in her sacraments and in her organization the divine means to make her teaching effective," Father Slavin said, the Church must be equal to the task, make use of her powers, and forge ahead teaching the peoples of the world. "The teacher who tells where we came, whither we go, the why of life and who speaks with conviction and authority is badly needed by men. . . ."

Next week, the title of Father Slavin's talk will be, "Government, Religion, and Education." The program may be heard locally over WJAR each Sunday from 2 to 2:30 p.m.

Friars Meet Brown, H. C., B. C., This Week

Martin Sandler

The Providence College varsity baseball squad, victorious in five of its first seven games, opens the toughest week of this season's campaign when it meets arch-rival Brown University at Hendrickson Field this afternoon.

The Bruins, current Ivy League leaders, should prove to be the strongest club that the Friars have faced this season. Led by their hard-hitting second baseman, Bob MacConnell, and boasting a strong pitching staff headed by capable Ken Moffat, Brown has been rolling along in great style this season.

However, the Friars have been moving in equally brilliant fashion. Should Howie McGuinness, Buzz Barry, Ed Ryder, and company continue to belt the ball at their present pace, the Friars should have their biggest victory of the season. Coach Hal Martin will start either Carl Buniva or Freddy O'Neill. Both have pitched excellent baseball this season, Buniva holding a shut out victory over St. Anselm's and O'Neill picking up a second win in relief over Connecticut.

The Friars will continue their tough schedule on Saturday when they travel to Worcester to face the always-tough Holy Cross Crusaders. This game should be a real pitcher's battle with Bill Mullins going for the Friars and curve-balling Ronnie Perry scheduled to hurl for the Crusaders.

Taking no breather, the Friars return to Hendrickson Field on Sunday when they play host to the Boston College Eagles. Hal Martin's boys will be out to average a heart-breaking 6-4 loss at the hands of the Eagles earlier this year.

All in all, it should be quite a week. However, if the Friars continue to play the brand of ball they have displayed thus far this season, they could conceivably come up with three big victories.

Buniva, O'Neill Gain Victories

Martin Sandler

Displaying the same brand of excellent baseball that they have shown all season long, the Providence College varsity baseball squad picked up two more victories last week.

Last Wednesday at Hendrickson Field the Friars pulled a big upset by knocking off Connecticut University 8-7 in a real thriller. The Huskies, Yankee Conference leaders, jumped on starter Bill Mullins for a big 4-0 lead in the first four innings. However, in the bottom of the fourth, the Friars got to Lou Conforti for three markers, utilizing two walks and timely hits by Howie McGuinness and Ed Ryder.

Connecticut made it 6-3 in the fifth picking up two more runs, off relief pitcher Pete Drury. At this point, coach Hal Martin brought in Fred O'Neill and the strong right-hander choked off a really serious rally. Fred finished up brilliantly to gain his second win.

The score remained 6-3 until the seventh when the Friars tied it up with three big runs. Feature of the rally was a tremendous 380 foot home run by Don MacDonald.

The score remained at 6-6 until the ninth. Then Connecticut went ahead when they coupled a three base Friar error and a long fly out for what was apparently the winning run.

It looked bad in the Friar half of the ninth when the first two batters went out via a strikeout and a ground-out. However, Dick Duignan walked and the stage was set. Bob Grenier came up and the left-hander hit relief pitcher Joe Dunne's first offering on a line over the right field fence for the ball game and the Friars' 4th win of the season.

Last Saturday, Hal Martin's boys picked up their fifth win of the season by walloping St. Anselm's College, 14-0.

The Friars built up a five run lead before they lost the game away with a big nine run seventh inning. The big Team (Continued on Page 8)

Statistically minded soul that I am, I'll pick up where I left off last week and continue to write on the records. The leaders in this numbers racket right now are Howie McGuinness and Fred O'Neill.

Oh, that Howie! Believe it or not, the boy is still batting .500, with fourteen hits in twenty-eight trips. (This was written prior to the Brown game.) The Friar captain, nearly flawless in the field, has been getting on base with astounding regularity. Howie's "daily double" performance is the deciding factor in the Friars' success to date. Long may he reign.

Fred has produced in equally spectacular fashion. In two relief appearances he has given only eight hits in 11 and 2-3 innings and has picked up two victories. His latest outing involved a brilliant performance against potent Connecticut. In six innings against the Huskies, the Whitesville sophomore was very stingy with his singles, allowing the visitors only three. If anyone ever deserved a "duke", Fred did last Wednesday afternoon. On the basis of his two performances, it appears that John Hendrick O'Neill has a fine future under the Black and White banner.

After that top handler-of-pitches, Bill Quinn, found out that his thumb wasn't nearly as tough as a baseball, (Continued on Page 5)

Coatesmen Lose To Jumbos To Run In Intercollegiates

During the past week, P.C.'s track squad has competed in two dual meets and another open competition.

Tuft's track squad overcame the Providence College team last Saturday at Medford. The Jumbos employed a few double winners and their advantage in the weights to build up a score of 81-54. The P.C. men did well, but they did not have the depth to win enough points for a team victory.

On Saturday a large group from the team travelled to Webster, Mass., and competed in the Order of the Arrow meet. This annual event, sponsored by the Greek national society, proved to be a real field day for the Coatesmen. Members of our team won eighteen trophies, a remarkable feat indeed.

Among the winners were Chris Lohner, our top miler, and Jack McMullen and Frank Lussier, who came in first and second respectively in the 160-yard low hurdles. Lussier placed first in the quarter-mile and was followed by Jim Gannon and Captain Jack Casady. Mike Baccari won the javelin and placed third in the discus. Ralph Petricutti, who suffered a sore arm Saturday against Tufts, was unable to compete.

Schlimm's 1000 Points Top Sports Highlight Of Season

Phil Griffin

This, I'm afraid, will be a rather futile attempt to review the 1951-52 season. In a span of eight months, so many events have occurred; too many men have sparkled; too many Providence College teams have gone to the post to give adequate coverage, to mention them all in a narrative such as this. But, here we go anyway.

Way back in October Friar boy football's first full season was in Frisco, and our cross country team opened its second season in fine style by trouncing Boston College at Franklin Park, 17-46. It was a forecast of things to come. The hill-and-dales proved well nigh invincible in dual meets, winning eight of them. They garnered an envious assortment of other titles, too, before the woodlath lanes saw the last of these hardy athletes who perform with little crowd acclaim.

Harry Coates' lads won the ECAC meet, then finished third in the Eastern Championships. They were favorites going into that one. Highlights were Providence's first victory over Rhode Island and the 20-40 shelling of Brown. Hats off to Harry's boys. They were a real power in their field.

We were already looking forward to the Thanksgiving vacation when the athletic department announced that freshmen would be eligible for varsity sports. Harry Coates, Vin Cuddy, and Hal Martin all announced they would use any capable frosh on their varsity squads, and all were true to their word.

The first basketball call was issued in the Cowl way back on Oct. 10th, and in the same issue it was announced that P. C. was to have a rifle team. It was soon after that we were greeted with the pleasant news that the banner of the Black and White would be flown in the world of O'Connell. P. C. entered the newly formed R. I. Amateur Hockey Association. The pucksters acquitted themselves nobly, leading the league throughout most of the regular season. As they subsequently lost in the playoffs, they also performed in style when they journeyed into the big time against Brown and Army. Not long ago Dick Rondeau, former Dartmouth brilliant, was signed as coach of this up-and-coming aggregation. Howie McGuinness, who knocks them down at short during the baseball season, did the same in the Providence cage. The McAleer brothers, Pettit, Army, and Ducharme were among the standout on the Auditorium ice.

Then the basketball slate was published. Twenty-one games long it was, and before the shooting was over the Friars had won fourteen of them. Jack Frost forced cancellation of the Colby game.

There were too many highlights to mention all of them, but a few merit notice. Bad news wasn't long in ar-iving. Bobby Moran, who subsequently scored a record total of 380 points, injured his eye and missed the first two games. Tommy Baurer, illing in for the incapacitated sophomore, lead P. C. to a victory over tough Danvers. Brown stunned the locals 74-62. Would that jinx never be broken? Holy Cross was going away, and we were unfortunate enough to catch the Crusaders on a "hot" night. Probably would have been any team on the schedule, but Holy Cross, with such a performance.

Clark University married Don Weekend and festivities with an amazing 50-49 victory. Bobby Moran had the eyes of the nation on his sensational early season foot shooting. He sank 35 out of his first 40. Rhody swept the series, running the Friars off the floor down at Kingston. P. C. upset Springfield on the latter's court, with Bob Prendergast and Ray Kobuski contributing greatly to the victory.

Then came the sweetest revenge of all. Led by the senior members of the squad, the Friars walloped Brown over at the Marvel Gym. It was a very pleasant evening indeed for all concerned. Almost as pleasant as watching Jimmy Schlimm garner his one-thousandth point down at Kingston. That was the season's most memorable moment. But that was the end of good fortune. The local boys took to the tournament trail with no success, and the basketball season was history.

The track team performed with accustomed brilliance. In fact, they were good enough to merit an invitation to the New York Knights of Columbus Meet. The boys were "big time" all the way, winning victories in the Washington Star, Boston K. of C. BAA and NYAC meets. The mile relay team of Tiernan, Methia, Penler, and Casady gave the local entry something to brag about throughout the cold winter. So, to the indoor track and cross country teams go the honor of being the outstanding representatives of Providence College in the athletic world over the past year. They were a credit to the school and Harry Coates.

There's really no need to review the baseball and track season. They're still in the infant stage and quite fresh in the memory of everyone. Just comment or two in passing should suffice.

The track team, which dropped decisions to Brown and RIU seems to lack depth. The baseball team packs plenty of power, despite a puny 246 batting average. They should go for the young members of the pitching staff continue to deliver and lighten the load on Billy Mullins' cape capable shoulder.

So, there is 1951-52 in review, with apologies to all the deserving souls who weren't mentioned and to the respective J. V. teams for failure to give them due credit. There just wasn't enough room. Your day is coming.

fourth. In the 220-yard dash Casadey came in second, and Dan Walsh came in third. Bob Tiernan won the 880 and was followed across the line by Chris Lohner. John McMullen also tied for second in the high jump. Ed McAlice, who was bothered by the wet weather, took third place in the pole vault.

Yesterday Providence College had its final dual meet for this season when the team faced Holy Cross at Fitton Field in Worcester. At the time this column went to press, the score was not yet determined.

On next Saturday the representatives from P. C. at the Eastern Intercollegiate Track Meet to be held in Springfield will include Chris Lohner in the mile run, Bob Tiernan in the quarter mile, Dick Lee in the two mile, Frank Lussner and Bill McMullen in the 220, and Mike Baccari in the javelin. If Peterstuf's arm is better, he'll compete.

Len Riey, Paul Methia, Ed McAllice, and Killy Martin will comprise the freshman medley relay squad.

Couch Harry Coates and his assistant Frank Sherman have worked hard with the men to get them in shape and to enable them to earn a few more trophies and medals for Providence College.

of Mr. Quinn's shadow stepped a lanky lad who forewent prodding in a most amazing fashion. The boy who stopped Hal Martin's heart from skipping beat was Eddie Ryder, fiddler and holder supreme.

Eddie has always been omnipresent behind the plate, but his hitting was a useful mark. To be better than Ryder is, at this writing, batting .500.

and his fielding would turn Jim Hogan's head. Ryder, by the way, is no "flake" hitter. Most of his clouts have been live drives, and he has been a "loud out" on many occasions. Unbelievable!

Incidentally—I once compared Carl Buniva's delivery to Warren Spahn's. Well, Carl set St. Anselm's down in true fashion last Saturday. He has the Hawks in the palm of his hand all the way. Except for a little trouble in locating the plate on occasion, the Bun regained supremacy.

Barry, McDonald, and Grenier have joined Dick Duigan in the Babe Ruth department. Barry's clout was the most productive, coming with the sacks jammed, but Grenier's was the most important. To refresh your memory, it came with two out, Dick Duigan on first via a walk, the Friars down one run, and the stands erupting rapidly. Shades of Frank Merrill!

Review Of 1951 - 1952

By Bob Finnegan

This being the last official issue of the Cowl for the current year and with the school year fast coming to a close let's reflect back and see what had happened here on the campus during the past few months. It might also be well to take a quick parting glance at a few world events which were history making during our academic year.

As we returned to the campus in September the truce talks in Korea were four months old and we were still fighting there. We welcomed a freshmen class of 351. The ROTC Transportation Corps had made its debut on the campus with 502 students enrolled in it.

Most Rev. Russell J. McVinney, Bishop of Providence, celebrated the Mass of the Holy Ghost at the Grotto on October 2nd and the school year was under way.

As usual the first week in October found the campus a seat of political activity with all the office seekers staging strenuous campaigns. The sophomore class elected Peter Drury as their president with Thomas Toscano, vice-president; Richard Havens, secretary, and Henry McQueney, treasurer.

The junior class elected the entire "Clover Leaf Party," consisting of William Conway, president; Charles Schlegel, vice-president; Alfred Lamy, secretary, and Edward Coleman, treasurer. The election of an entire party was somewhat of an innovation in school politics.

The senior class took the laurels for the most vigorous campaign of all also President Truman for the Presidency.

The first social function was the Carolan Club's annual Autumn Festival.

A meek atomic air raid characterized November's entrance. Several of the students took part in the drill acting as casualties for the various Civilian Defense units here in Rhode Island.

Major General Charles Helmick visited and reviewed the ROTC unit and commended its fine progress after such a short time in operation.

The College mourned the deaths of Rev. John Kennedy, O.P., a former professor, and Rev. Walter Farrell, O.P., author of the Companion to the Summa.

The Pyramid Players presented "The Man," in their initial "theatre in the round" production of the year.

The Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., President of the College, was the recipient of the highest Dominican Degree, Master and Doctor of Sacred Theology. It was conferred upon him on the morning of December 12th here at the College.

The annual Friars Formal was held in the Auditorium of Harkins Hall where Vin Capone supplied the music.

The second intercollegiate dance and the radio concert by the Glee end of the month while we prepared for the on-coming exams.

In March we took to television as we initiated a series of lectures on WJAR-TV. Rev. Joseph U. Bergkamp, O.P., was the first speaker.

The sixth annual marriage forum was presented to overflow audiences during the five meetings which were held.

Art Mooney was the reelection of the juniors for the Prom.

The New Hampshire primaries were conducted and "Joe" and Taft have been running neck and neck ever since.

March was an eventful month but it only paved the way for an even more active April. We started off right away by giving much needed Blood to the Red Cross for our servicemen in Korea.

The Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., was chosen to succeed the Right Reverend Fulton Sheen on the Catholic Hour program, broadcast from coast to coast.

We had our annual retreat and then departed for our Easter Vacation.

During April, President Harry S. Truman announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election. Later in the month he seized the steel industry preventing a strike and it also prompted court action.

After returning from our vacation the annual Junior Prom was held at the Sheraton-Biltmore. Among the many innovations instituted at this year's annual affair was the new favor, that being a stuffed replica of Friar Boy IV, the College Dalmatian mascot.

The College received a $10,000 Damon Runyan Cancer Fund Grant to continue research in this important field. Robert Deasy was elected president of the Student Congress for the coming year.

There are a few events left during the month of May. The year is just about over. One of the events is the first Military Ball to be held one week from tonight at the Sheraton-Biltmore. The 34th year of Providence College has seen plenty of action. Let's hope that next year will be even better.

with automobile garages, girls, radio announcers, and a professional boxer. Again, as was the case in the junior class, a complete party took office. George Murphy was elected president; Tom Whitehead, vice-president; Jack Triggs, secretary, and Louis Murphy, treasurer. All were members of the "Do Something Party."

The Cowl conducted a survey to find out who the students thought would be the candidates for President. General Eisenhower topped Senator Taft for the Republican nomination and Club on the "Songs from New England in January.

The world kept its eyes on Kurt (Stay Put) Carlsen as his ship was wrecked in a storm in the mid-Atlantic and he refused to leave the derelict vessel until it finally sank.

Archbishop Richard J. Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, invited "mea Collegers" program marked our return bers of the faculty to give a series of lectures in Boston.

A slight pause was observed at the

SENIOR ACTIVITIES

Picnic

This year's senior class picnic will be held on Tuesday, May 27, in Lincoln Woods from noon on. It was announced today by George Murphy, senior class president. The price will be $1.00. Refreshments will be served and recreation provided. Final preparations are being worked out by the committee, Jerry Ashworth, chairman.

Gifts

Seniors are urged to hurry and make their three dollar contribution to the class gift. Each senior has by now been contacted by a member of the gift committee and should make his contribution by this Saturday. If this is not possible, he is urged to stop by at the ticket booth, Harkins Hall, and inform the committee when he is going to contribute.

There will be a meeting of the entire gift committee at 1:00 tomorrow in Room 210. All members are asked to be present.

Letters

To the Editors:

In this column last week you printed an unsigned letter which assailed my interpretation of Graham Greene's writing. This week it is my turn.

To begin with, just who is this bouncer who has taken upon his shoulders the task of making such self-satisfied pronouncements? "While pursuing your paper for some semblance of literary endeavors," says he. Reveal yourself, pint-sized George Jean Nathan, to an expectant public, I say. Except for one or two c-ray thoughts which poke their way into the stratum of a morose mentality, this letter clearly shows that the writer is an imbecile who is possessed with megalomaniac notions.

He says, "Greene does not try to distinguish between human love and divine love... rather Greene attempts to clarify divine love in terms of human love. This is brought out lucidly when Greene resolves that the atheist main character of his novel, 'The End of the Affair,' can find love of the unknown by realizing that he is able to still love his adulterous companion who has died..."

In the first place, Bendryx is not the main character; Sara is. In the second place, Greene makes it quite clear that Sara's choice lies between Bendryx and God. In fact, he harps so insistently on this choice that I really cannot believe our Mr. Anonymity has even read the book.

Be Happy-Go Lucky!

When classmates "burn" a cigarette,
They always come to me.
Because they know I smoke the best—
That's L.S./M.F.T.

But everything is lucky
When I can lay my scalpel down
And light a tasty Lucky!

In a cigarette, taste makes the difference—
and Luckies taste better!

The difference between "just smoking" and really enjoying your smoke is the taste of a cigarette. You can taste the difference in the smoother, mellower, more enjoyable taste of a Lucky... for two important reasons. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco... fine, mild tobacco that tastes better. Second, Luckies are made to taste better... proved best-made of all five principal brands. So reach for a Lucky. Enjoy the cigarette that tastes better! Be Happy—Go Lucky! Buy a carton today!
