The mortar-scarred Roman Catholic Church in Tan Hiep, South Vietnam, which the John Birch Society has provided with a hundred, or more, books, is on the planning committee of the proposed library.

Conduct on Campus

The students of Providence College were recently asked by a member of VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America, the "domestic Peace Corps") to donate children's books for a library to be constructed in an under-privileged area of Virginia.

Miss Barbara Boudreau, a native of Slaterville, R. I., in a letter addressed to the COWL office at any time. Any books collected will be shipped to Miss Boudreau at her expense.

Miss Boudreau is a student at Trinity College in Burlington, Vermont. She is on leave for one year's service in VISTA. She is on the planning committee of the proposed library.

Members Enter Pershing Rifles At Cord Dance

Company K-12, PERSHING RIFLES, announces the initiation of 29 new members for 1966. An intense 13-week pledge period covering military training in all fields of drill and leadership produced a top-notch unit expected to carry on the tradition of excellence of the past years.

Cord Dance went off with a bang as well as on a high note with a colorful display of the new members. A University of Rhode Island Band played for the Cord Dancers. Miss Carole Ann Sylvia, under the crossed swords. She was the date of Cadet Norman E. Toes.
Editorially Speaking

The End Of A Privilege

Late Monday afternoon the following notice was posted on the dean’s bulletin board in Harkness Hall. “In past years a senior with a B average had the privilege of not taking a final exam in that course. This privilege is no longer in effect. In the future all students will be required to take final exams.”

As of today the announcement has been posted for only one semester. Doubly it has stirred a tremendous amount of protest. Discontent has risen from day-hoops and dorms alike, from freshmen as well as seniors. Everyone is excited about the proposed change and their vigor is not without reason.

Probably the main argument against the notice resides in the fact that second semester finals serve no purpose either for the grad school bound individual or for the one about to enter the world at large. By May of one’s senior year standing in class is complete, graduate schools have made their appointments, and jobs have been secured. Student achievement has been measured over seven and three quarter semesters and it is highly doubtful that on exam will change the record of an entire college career.

An added reason against the movement centers around the all important “moral” factor. Not only did the exemption rule motivate students to try just that little bit harder to attain a B average, but it also gave them something to which they could look forward in their final days at Providence College. It rewarded the students who had put the most into their college career and gave them the feeling of being a person again and not just a number locked in a heat infested room for two hours. All of a sudden this has been shattered.

For these and other obvious reasons we urge the administration to think twice about the current measure concerning final exams. Not only was the notice issued at a most inappropriate time (just before first semester exams), but the contents of it has definitely hurt the student morale here at the College. They cannot understand why a so-called “privilege” has been, for seemingly no reason, taken away. And neither can we.

The 55-Minute Class

It has come to our attention that some of the professors here at the college are laboring under the misconception that they are teaching 55 or 57 minute classes. Thank-fessors here at the college are laboring under the mis-

The present situation at St. John’s University in New York brings into focus one of the most controversial questions on the academic scene, the question of academic freedom of speech. Does a college professor have the right to speak his mind on a subject even though the administra-

The function of a college professor, quite obviously, is to teach. But does this mean that he should go into a classroom and discourse a lot of information to his students for fifty minutes and then rewind himself like a tape re-

As of today the announcement has been posted for only one semester. Doubly it has stirred a tremendous amount of protest. Discontent has risen from day-hoops and dorms alike, from freshmen as well as seniors. Everyone is excited about the proposed change and their vigor is not without reason.

Probably the main argument against the notice resides in the fact that second semester finals serve no purpose either for the grad school bound individual or for the one about to enter the world at large. By May of one’s senior year standing in class is complete, graduate schools have made their appointments, and jobs have been secured. Student achievement has been measured over seven and three quarter semesters and it is highly doubtful that on exam will change the record of an entire college career.

An added reason against the movement centers around the all important “moral” factor. Not only did the exemption rule motivate students to try just that little bit harder to attain a B average, but it also gave them something to which they could look forward in their final days at Providence College. It rewarded the students who had put the most into their college career and gave them the feeling of being a person again and not just a number locked in a heat infested room for two hours. All of a sudden this has been shattered.

For these and other obvious reasons we urge the administration to think twice about the current measure concerning final exams. Not only was the notice issued at a most inappropriate time (just before first semester exams), but the contents of it has definitely hurt the student morale here at the College. They cannot understand why a so-called “privilege” has been, for seemingly no reason, taken away. And neither can we.

The 55-Minute Class

It has come to our attention that some of the professors here at the college are laboring under the misconception that they are teaching 55 or 57 minute classes. Thank-fessors here at the college are laboring under the mis-

The present situation at St. John’s University in New York brings into focus one of the most controversial questions on the academic scene, the question of academic freedom of speech. Does a college professor have the right to speak his mind on a subject even though the administra-

The function of a college professor, quite obviously, is to teach. But does this mean that he should go into a classroom and discourse a lot of information to his students for fifty minutes and then rewind himself like a tape re-

As of today the announcement has been posted for only one semester. Doubly it has stirred a tremendous amount of protest. Discontent has risen from day-hoops and dorms alike, from freshmen as well as seniors. Everyone is excited about the proposed change and their vigor is not without reason.

Probably the main argument against the notice resides in the fact that second semester finals serve no purpose either for the grad school bound individual or for the one about to enter the world at large. By May of one’s senior year standing in class is complete, graduate schools have made their appointments, and jobs have been secured. Student achievement has been measured over seven and three quarter semesters and it is highly doubtful that on exam will change the record of an entire college career.

An added reason against the movement centers around the all important “moral” factor. Not only did the exemption rule motivate students to try just that little bit harder to attain a B average, but it also gave them something to which they could look forward in their final days at Providence College. It rewarded the students who had put the most into their college career and gave them the feeling of being a person again and not just a number locked in a heat infested room for two hours. All of a sudden this has been shuttered.

For these and other obvious reasons we urge the administration to think twice about the current measure concerning final exams. Not only was the notice issued at a most inappropriate time (just before first semester exams), but the contents of it has definitely hurt the student morale here at the College. They cannot understand why a so-called “privilege” has been, for seemingly no reason, taken away. And neither can we.
ROMAN IN THE GLOAMIN'

Now as the end of the first semester draws near, one fact emerges clearly: you are all going to flunk out of school.

There are two things you can do about it. First, you can marry money. (I don’t mean you marry the money itself; I mean you marry a person who has money. Weddings between people and currency have not been legal anywhere in the United States since the Smoot-Hawley Act. Personna® Stainless Steel Blades, on the other hand, are legal everywhere and are, indeed, used with great pleasure and satisfaction in all fifty states of the Union and Duluth. I bring up Personna Stainless Steel Blades because this column is sponsored by the makers of Personna Stainless Steel Blades, and you are inclined to get edgy if I omit to mention their product. Some of them get edgy and some get double-edgy because Personna Blades come both in Injector style and Double Edge style.)

But I digress. I was saying you can marry money but, of course, you will not because you are a high-minded, cleaning-up-the-country, freckle-faced American kid. Then I dare, to keep from flunking, you must try the second method: you must learn how to take lecture notes.

The fact is, ten out of ten American undergraduates do not know the proper way to take lecture notes. To illustrate this appalling statistic, let us suppose you are taking a course in history. Let us further suppose the lecturer is lecturing on the ruling houses of England. You might tentatively write a few of the words he writes on the blackboard, making a topic outline as you have been taught. Like this:

I. House of Plantagenet.
II. House of Lancaster.
III. House of York.

Then you stop. You put aside your pen. You blink back a tear, for you cannot go on. Oh, yes, you know very well that this is the new and other ruling house. The trouble is you don’t know the Roman numeral that comes after III.

It may, incidentally, be of some comfort to learn that you are not the only people who don’t know Roman numerals. I suppose you could tell why much v or v were like that, but that was before you would realize that Roman numerals are used for dates. We would like to buy the Arabic numerals from Suleiman The Magnificent, but Suleiman wouldn’t do business—not even when Vespucci paid him 100,000 gold pieces, plus he offered to throw in the Colosseum, the Appian Way, and Techni-color, for the whole lot. So Rome stuck with Roman numerals—to its sorrow, as you will have occasion to see in a moment.

You may wonder why Rome stuck with these ridiculous numerals when the Arabs had such a nice, simple system. Well, the Romans liked the Roman system. They just thought the Arabic one was too weird. But they were wrong, for the Romans have never been known to do anything right. I suppose you had heard the story that the Romans learned to use the alphabet from the Greeks, and that the Romans learned the alphabet from the Phoenicians. I don’t know which is true, but I know it is false. It is no wonder the Romans never learned to use Roman numerals correctly, when they had never learned to use the alphabet correctly. I have always been interested in the way the Romans learned their alphabet, but I can never find any reference to it. The Romans had a great deal of trouble in learning their alphabet, and I have never been able to find out why. The Romans had a great deal of trouble in learning their alphabet, and I have never been able to find out why. The Romans had a great deal of trouble in learning their alphabet, and I have never been able to find out why. The Romans had a great deal of trouble in learning their alphabet, and I have never been able to find out why. The Romans had a great deal of trouble in learning their alphabet, and I have never been able to find out why. The Romans had a great deal of trouble in learning their alphabet, and I have never been able to find out why.

“Okay, boys,” said “I think the main value to the students’ teachers, which are education majors. The program, started November 10, has already produced concrete results. One student who previously received C grades in arithmetic now is achieving B’s. Others who previously failed in subjects now are passing. “It gives me the extra help I need,” said a tooth-wanting pupil.

Although there is no marking of students by teachers, the Friars learn of their charges’ progress and difficulties from index cards of the students’ teachers, which are posted on a special tray in the teachers’ room at Vineyard.

Those wishing or who are interested in volunteering for the tutorial program are urged to speak to any of the volunteers. Robert Baker, in person or by the Dillon Club bulletin board beside the Barksins rotunda. Transportation to the schools, if needed, will be provided.

John Volpigno, Clifford Wall, Charles Cintolo and Joseph D’Antonio, also volunteers at Vineyard, began their practice teaching on January 30. Only a minority of the volunteers are from the Dillon Club.

The Lexington program is in its second year of operation. The remainder of volunteer tutors teach there.

Joseph McMahon is reminded of his early school as he reviews a history assignment with Patricia Silva.

---

_Dillon Members Tutor_

Forty PC Friars know the feeling of appreciation.

They are volunteer members of the Dillon Club's Tutorial Program who spend one hour each week helping fifth and sixth graders in need of academic assistance. The children, numbering about 100, are students at Vineyard Street and Lexington Avenue Schools in an underprivileged area of southern Providence.

Joseph McMahon is reminded of his early school as he reviews a history assignment with Patricia Silva.

"Our membership is increasing at a fast rate," said William J. Struck, president of the Dillon Club, concerning the volunteer program. "I soon get word going around about how much good can be done with so little sacrifice—just an hour a week. And the kids are finding it interesting and beneficial experience."

Peter Nikitaidis, a volunteer, said, "I think the main value to the students' teachers, which are education majors. The program, started November 10, has already produced concrete results. One student who previously received C grades in arithmetic now is achieving B's. Others who previously failed in subjects now are passing. "It gives me the extra help I need," said a tooth-wanting pupil.

John Volpigno, Clifford Wall, Charles Cintolo and Joseph D'Antonio, also volunteers at Vineyard, began their practice teaching on January 30. Only a minority of the volunteers are from the Dillon Club.

The Lexington program is in its second year of operation. The remainder of volunteer tutors teach there.
On The Aisle

By JOHN MCDONALD

Take a penniless drunk with a beautiful niece who loves him self, a brainless knight with lots of money and no redeeming qualities, a conceiving maid who realizes her intellectual superiority and provokes him through well planned practical jokes, a sassy clown who poetic syllogisms would baffles St. Thomas Aquinas, an egotistical, puritanical steward who thinks "his lady" is in love with him; put them under one roof, add some exterior complications like mistaken identity and a brooding problem who wants to marry the beautiful niece and there you have the situation that Shakespeare resolves in the comedy Twelfth Night. Those receiving their cords were: Normand Picard, Donald Rehm, John McDonald, William Murray, George Ferte, Raymond Madison, Lawrence McDonald, Dennis Morgan, William Murray, George Picard, Donald Rehm, John Rigunski, Emile St. Andre, John Scanlon, Francis Striplen, Norman Toyes, Paul Torti, William Tyman, Lee Vick, and John Casalaro. Among those in attendance at the Cord Dance were the Very Reverend Vincent C. Doren, O.P.; Major Gen. Leonard Holland, State Adjutant General, and his wife, the Reverend Raymond St. George, O.P.; the Reverend Walter Heath, O.P.; and Lt. Col. Andrew A. DelCorso and his ROTC staff. In other ceremonies, Lt. Col. DelCorso received an honorary Captaincy in P/R's; Capt. John M. Faulhaber received an engraved saber from Company K for his work as past Advisor; Capt. Paul F. Fitzpatrick received an engraved membership plaque from his PERSHING RIFLE Company at Seton Hall University; Staff Sergeant Donald C. Fahey received an honorary membership in P/R's, and Cadet 2/Lt. Thomas L. Pasquale, Jr., received the Drill Team Saber. The first major test of the new members' training will come on Wednesday, January 12, when an inspection team from 12th Regimental Headquarters at Northeastern University will pay a visit to Company K. The Company hopes to better last year's score, a record 91. I found this play to be well cast, each character operable (both physically and intellectually) to rise to the demands of his role and the result is a polished, comic production. To begin with, Richard Kennedy and Robert VanHulst, the Toby Belch and Andrew Aguecheek respectively, start off their drinking antics and don't let up until the end. Both men are pros at the motions and timing of comedy. Richard Kneeland is excellent as Malvolio. His diction and pompous strutting add a brilliant contrast to Feste the clown, Toby and Sir Andrew. The injected scenes of "sorrow" by Orsino as played by William Cain, add to the sanny quality of the play. Catherine Helmond as Viola beautifully portrays the comic innocence of a young girl disguised as a boy who immediately begins to see the complications of disguise. I think such an excellent production deserves the support of every student. The student tickets are only $1.50. I also think John McDonald is colossal as "a sea captain." We offer two Turbo-Jet 396 V8s for '66. You can order 325 or 360 hp In a Chevrolet and its automatic transmission, power steering, air conditioning, power windows, AM/FM Multiplex Stereo radio. And more. Without even breathing hard. Reason is, a Turbo-Jet V8 breathes deeper. Breaths freer. Delivers more usable power whenever you need it—like for safer passing. Works more efficiently. Where the smaller engine hurries, a Turbo-Jet V8 just loafs along. You try it, at your Chevrolet dealer's. And nowhere else. Pershing Rifles... (Continued from Page 1) The new members were received into Company K at the 6th Annual Cord Dance held at the Alpine Country Club this past December. Those receiving their cords were: Normand Bernache, Michael Boden, Frank Bromant, Ronald Brouillette, Edward Carroll, Joseph Carter, John Demarco, Peter Desler, Joseph Faraone, Andrew Gordon, Kevin Hayes, Robert Helm, Dennis Kennedy, Richard LaPorte, Raymond Madison, Lawrence McDonald, Dennis Morgan, William Murray, George Picard, Donald Rehm, John Rigunski, Emile St. Andre, John Scanlon, Francis Striplen, Norman Toyes, Paul Torti, William Tyman, Lee Vick, and John Casalaro. The Dudette Dance was sponsored by the Cadet Officer Cadre and cadre staff. The Dudette Dance is the social highlight of every student. The student tickets are only $1.50. I also think John McDonald is colossal as "a sea captain." "They starched my shirt again!" Bert Brady won a bet by wearing Dan Casalaro's cavalier outfit to class. Joe College all the way. —COWL photo by Norb McLoughlin

THE CHEVROLET WAY

PERFORMANCE

We offer two Turbo-Jet 396 V8s for '66. You can order 325 or 360 hp in a Chevrolet SS 396. There's also a 427-cu-in. Turbo-Jet (up to 425 hp) available in Chevelolets and Corvettes. We offer two Turbo-Jet 396 V8s for '66. You can order 325 or 360 hp in a Chevrolet SS 396. There's also a 427-cu-in. Turbo-Jet (up to 425 hp) available in Chevelolets and Corvettes.

Loafer.

It's our Turbo-Jet 396: the V8 strong enough to run your Chevrolet and its automatic transmission, power steering, air conditioning, power windows, AM/FM Multiplex Stereo radio. And more. Without even breathing hard. Reason is, a Turbo-Jet V8 breathes deeper. Breaths freer. Delivers more usable power whenever you need it—like for safer passing. Works more efficiently. Where the smaller engine hurries, a Turbo-Jet V8 just loafs along. You try it at your Chevrolet dealer's. And nowhere else.
Reverend Joseph Connors Transferred to Mission

The Reverend Joseph M. Connors, a member of Providence College's faculty for the past three years, has been transferred from Saint Thomas Aquinas Seminary in Nairobi, Kenya. Father is spiritual Director of the seminary for diocesan priests and will also be teaching theology and sociology.

Father Connors applied for a missionary assignment in one of the three missions maintained by this Dominican Province of Saint Joseph in Pakistan, Peru and Kenya. He requested missionary work because he feels that, "the missionary aspects has always been an integral part of the apostolic of the Dominican order; right from the very beginning, the order concerned itself with those areas of the world where the Church was not yet planted."

Father expressed the wish that the order be given recognition in his decision to apply for a missionary post. He stated that Providence College has sacrificed its own self-interest in encouraging such missionary activity; "this is an expression of the college's interest and love in people and especially Africans in my case." Father Connors went on to say that "this (the college's encouragement) indicates Providence College's attempt to give something of itself to the world."

Saint Thomas Aquinas Seminary was founded in 1965 upon the request of Kenya's hierarchy. It is a six year seminary, two years of philosophy and four years of theology. The seminarians have had two years of a college education at a minor seminary before attending the Dominican institute. There are approximately 35 students attending the seminary and it is staffed by eight Dominican priests.

Father Connors, a graduate of Providence College in 1965, has been a faculty member of St. Joseph College, Cincinnati, Ohio. As a member of Providence College's faculty, he taught sociology and theology at the same time assuming the duties of Assistant Director of Gunnall Hall.

Father looks forward with anticipation to his new assignment at the Kenyan seminary. The length of his stay in Kenya depends upon the wishes of his Superior however. Father would enjoy a permanent assignment at the seminary. From his talks with others, who have been there, he received the impression that the Dominicans are warmly accepted by the people and government of Kenya. Father Connors sees as his main problem his identifying himself with the Africans and not to identify them with America; "for this is an African Church and not an American one." He stated that his stay at Providence College has been "wonderful;" due in no small measure to the cooperation of the student body.

Father pointed out that there are two priests from Providence College in Nairobi at the present time, Rev. Dennis Kane, O.P., and Joseph Desmond, O.P. He also stated that a graduate of the class of '65, Kenneth Dally, is teaching English in Kenya. Fr. Benjamin Fay, O.P., returned last year from Nairobi and is presently teaching philosophy here at ('he college.

High School & College Students Summer Job Opportunities

Would you like to work and play in the Rocky Mountains this Summer on your vacation? At a Mountain Resort, Dude Ranch, Hotels, etc. For 150 Exclusive Resort Listings, Write to: The Four Corners Resort Review, PO Box 9, Commerce City, Colorado.

Letters To The Editor

To Mr. Dawber, Jr., '66

I willingly accept and relish the challenge to support black independence in Rhodesia, not in the light of recent news from the Congo in the wake of Burundi, which you stipulated in your letter to the editor. I believe one should support the Rhodesian people in their crisis with narrow and shallow perspective if confined to recent news of other African nations and thus renders a very subjective analysis of the situation.

You say "you both deplore and fully understand the reasons why the Rhodesian government broke from the Crown. It seems, here, and as you continued in your letter, an explicit display of ambivalence. Your co-existing ideas of deploring the Rhodesian government's actions and defending the Rhodesian government's actions seem evidently incongruous at best.

Your statement is that the "policy is unfair, but the show run, but it will in the long run far outweigh the benefits of a black run minority," agree with the policy's being unfair and also believe that the existing evils of this "unfairness" will proliferate at such a speed that the control of a Rhodesian government will superimpose its every dictate upon the pointily unheared Blacks. By the mere existence of Africa, I strongly doubt if one can become politically attuned to the many diverse ramifications underlying the front page coverage of the Rhodesian situation.

You say that the White governments are the only thing keeping the Blacks from killing each other. I contend that the White governments have been responsible through "behind the scenes" plans of placing and nurturing the seeds of revolt and insurrection and have thus been responsible for the carnage of Black lives.

Other African nations have been aided by Britain in setting up rule: Ghana (1957) Nigeria (1960) Tanganyika (1961) Kenya (1963). Rhodesia, however, does not want the Blacks to have any voice or instrumental control over the political and economic running of the Rhodesia government.

I strongly believe this is not the first time that Her Majesty's government has fallen into a trap of politics, but it is one of the innumerable trials of her. Whether you think Her Majesty's government is best for her subjects or not, I am not politically a fan. For it is the Prime Minister and his cabinet that formulate and implement British domestic and foreign policy, not the people.

Maybe political and policy leanings should not fall for rush world opinion, but it must seriously contemplate and give its utmost attention, as it does, to the English public opinion, which has a deep concern about Rhodesia for many reasons, two of which are: kinsmen and interests in industry and business.

You say to crush the revolt is a "bloody" foolish idea. If the people of Rhodesia are not squashed, there still is the possibility of a "blood bath" which I am not sure about. One sees the militant states of Black Africa joining solidarity with the Rhodesians. One who has already pledged herself "in providing the utmost assistance to the people of Rhodesia. This joint commitment could lead to a serious problem - not only for the Rebel Regime were dissolved through domestic ties. Their choice is one between alienating his own electorate and deserting the White minority nations. With his choice lies his political future and at least the immediate future of Rhodesia.

To conclude my challenge to this letter I surmise Mr. Dawber, Jr. become interested in the Research into it.

Indians—Choctawbe John Cullen, '68

To the Editor:

Concerning your editorial, Dorn Rules: How Strict? I find nothing in personal accord with your statements. What I have experienced in the past 10 years on campus is that freedom, however, is that the student body has freedom from responsibility in a negative way. Freedom and responsibility are not seen as part of the lacks of duties. Freedom, in the psychologically mature sense, is freedom to do what one wants to do. As long as the mentality of freedom-from is operative we shall possess negative thinking and thus immature thinking.

Edward C. Brennan

Letters To The Editor

LONELY GENIUS is looking for an understanding friend. The curious may obtain a copy of "Are You My Friend?" for $1 by writing c/o Box 565, Portland, Ore., 97237.

HASKIN'S REXALL PHARMACY
859 SMITH STREET PROVIDENCE, R. I.
"YOUR PRESCRIPTION CENTER"
TWO REGISTERED PHARMACISTS ON DUTY
WE DELIVER
Manning 1-3668
OPEN SUNDAYS

Summer Job Opportunities

Would you like to work and play in the Rocky Mountains this Summer on your vacation? At a Mountain Resort, Dude Ranch, Hotels, etc. For 150 Exclusive Resort Listings, Write to: The Four Corners Resort Review, PO Box 9, Commerce City, Colorado.

Letters To The Editor

To Mr. Dawber, Jr., '66

I willingly accept and relish the challenge to support black independence in Rhodesia, not in the light of recent news from the Congo in the wake of Burundi, which you stipulated in your letter to the editor. I believe one should support the Rhodesian people in their crisis with narrow and shallow perspective if confined to recent news of other African nations and thus renders a very subjective analysis of the situation.

You say "you both deplore and fully understand the reasons why the Rhodesian government broke from the Crown. It seems, here, and as you continued in your letter, an explicit display of ambivalence. Your co-existing ideas of deploring the Rhodesian government's actions and defending the Rhodesian government's actions seem evidently incongruous at best.

Your statement is that the "policy is unfair, but the show run, but it will in the long run far outweigh the benefits of a black run minority," agree with the policy's being unfair and also believe that the existing evils of this "unfairness" will proliferate at such a speed that the control of a Rhodesian government will superimpose its every dictate upon the pointily unheared Blacks. By the mere existence of Africa, I strongly doubt if one can become politically attuned to the many diverse ramifications underlying the front page coverage of the Rhodesian situation.

You say that the White governments are the only thing keeping the Blacks from killing each other. I contend that the White governments have been responsible through "behind the scenes" plans of placing and nurturing the seeds of revolt and insurrection and have thus been responsible for the carnage of Black lives.

Other African nations have been aided by Britain in setting up rule: Ghana (1957) Nigeria (1960) Tanganyika (1961) Kenya (1963). Rhodesia, however, does not want the Blacks to have any voice or instrumental control over the political and economic running of the Rhodesia government.

I strongly believe this is not the first time that Her Majesty's government has fallen into a trap of politics, but it is one of the innumerable trials of her. Whether you think Her Majesty's government is best for her subjects or not, I am not politically a fan. For it is the Prime Minister and his cabinet that formulate and implement British domestic and foreign policy, not the people.

Maybe political and policy leanings should not fall for rush world opinion, but it must seriously contemplate and give its utmost attention, as it does, to the English public opinion, which has a deep concern about Rhodesia for many reasons, two of which are: kinsmen and interests in industry and business.

You say to crush the revolt is a "bloody" foolish idea. If the people of Rhodesia are not squashed, there still is the possibility of a "blood bath" which I am not sure about. One sees the militant states of Black Africa joining solidarity with the Rhodesians. One who has already pledged herself "in providing the utmost assistance to the people of Rhodesia. This joint commitment could lead to a serious problem - not only for the Rebel Regime were dissolved through domestic ties. Their choice is one between alienating his own electorate and deserting the White minority nations. With his choice lies his political future and at least the immediate future of Rhodesia.

To conclude my challenge to this letter I surmise Mr. Dawber, Jr. become interested in the Research into it.

Indians—Choctawbe John Cullen, '68

To the Editor:

Concerning your editorial, Dorn Rules: How Strict? I find nothing in personal accord with your statements. What I have experienced in the past 10 years on campus is that freedom, however, is that the student body has freedom from responsibility in a negative way. Freedom and responsibility are not seen as part of the lacks of duties. Freedom, in the psychologically mature sense, is freedom to do what one wants to do. As long as the mentality of freedom-from is operative we shall possess negative thinking and thus immature thinking.

Edward C. Brennan

Letters To The Editor

LONELY GENIUS is looking for an understanding friend. The curious may obtain a copy of "Are You My Friend?" for $1 by writing c/o Box 565, Portland, Ore., 97237.

HASKIN'S REXALL PHARMACY
859 SMITH STREET PROVIDENCE, R. I.
"YOUR PRESCRIPTION CENTER"
TWO REGISTERED PHARMACISTS ON DUTY
WE DELIVER
Manning 1-3668
OPEN SUNDAYS

Letters To The Editor

LONELY GENIUS is looking for an understanding friend. The curious may obtain a copy of "Are You My Friend?" for $1 by writing c/o Box 565, Portland, Ore., 97237.
Blood . . .
(Continued from Page 1)

mate of the number of students who plan to donate their blood. Anyone who would be interested is asked to fill out the pledge blank and deposit it in a designated box in Harkins Hall Rotunda, Alumni Hall or Raymond Hall by Friday. Pledge blanks will also be available at these locations for anyone without the Cowl blank. Students under 21 can also give blood and are encouraged to do so.

The sponsors hope that the blood drive will prove to be as successful as the Capital march conducted in support of the Viet Nam war.

Rev. A. Winter Scheduled for Slavin Lecture

The Rev. Robert A. Winter, rector of St. Mark's Church, Warren, will speak on "Witness of the Episcopal Church in the Modern Ecumenical Movement" Tuesday, January 18, 8 p.m. in the Harkins Hall Auditorium.

Father Winter’s talk, the third in the 1965-66 Robert J. Slavin Lecture Series, will be open to the public. It was originally scheduled for Nov. 9 but was postponed because of the northeastern power failure.

Father Winter is a member of the board of directors, Rhode Island Chapter of the Episcopal Society for Cultural and Racial Unity; a member of the Ecumenical Relations Commission of the Episcopal Diocese of Rhode Island; and is secretary-treasurer of the Clericus of the Episcopal Diocese of Rhode Island.

The ecumenical series, named in honor of the Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., sixth president of Providence College, consists of six lectures on the general theme of "Search for Understanding" and feature speakers from different faiths.

Air Force Seeks O.T.S. Candidates

The Air Force recruiting office in Providence has announced that there is still a great need for pilots and navigators through the Officer Training School program. There are still openings in the program for those interested in administrative, technical, scientific, and engineering fields.

The three-month program leads to reserve commission as a second lieutenant and an immediate call to four years of active duty. Only college graduates are eligible for the program.

Seniors interested in the program are invited to call Sgt. DeSilva or Sgt. Anderson at GA 1-8911 or to visit the recruiting office at 368 Westminster Street in downtown Providence.

This is Charger

new leader of the Dodge Rebellion

Tired of looking at dream cars you can’t buy? The cars you see at the Auto Show and never see again? Well, then, do something about it. See the one you can buy, right now, today, at your Dodge dealer’s. It’s Charger, a full-sized, fastback action car that’s all primed up and ready to go. With V8 power. Bucket seats, fore and aft. Full-length console. Disappearing headlights that disappear without a trace. Rear seats that quickly convert into a spacious cargo compartment. Just pop the rear buckets down and watch the cargo space go up. That’s Charger—breathtaking new leader of the Dodge Rebellion. Until you’ve seen it, you haven’t seen everything from Dodge for ’66. Charger, a brawny, powerful dream car that made it—all the way to your Dodge dealer’s.

JOIN THE DODGE REBELLION

Dodge Charger DODGE DIVISION CHRYSLER MOTOR CORPORATION

See your Dodge Dealer now.
In recent years, planes powered by Pratt & Whitney Aircraft have gone on to set new standards of performance in much the same way the Wasp had done in the 1920's. The 727 and DC-9 are indicative of the new family of short-to-medium range jetliners which are powered by the highly successful JT8D turbofan. Examples of current military utilizations are the J58-powered Mach 3 YF-12A which recently established four world aviation records and the advanced TF36-powered F-111 variable-geometry fighter aircraft.

The Company's first engine, the Wasp, took to the air on May 5, 1926. Within a year the Wasp set its first world record and went on to smash existing records and set standards for both land and seaplanes for years to come, carrying airframes and pilots higher, farther, and faster than they had ever gone before.

Take a look at the above chart; then a good long look are today exploring the ever-broadening avenues of stability—where engineers and scientists are recognized as the major reason for the Company's continued success.

Engineers and scientists at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft are today exploring the ever-broadening avenues of energy conversion for every environment... all opening up new avenues of exploration in every field of aerospace, marine and industrial power application. The technical staff working on these programs, backed by our Corporation-financed Graduate Education Program. Your degree can be a BS, MS or PhD in:

- APPLIED MECHANICS
- APPLIED PHYSICS
- CHEMISTRY • METALLURGY
- MECHANICAL • AERONAUTICAL • ELECTRICAL • CHEMICAL
- ENGINEERING • PHYSICS • CHEMISTRY • METALLURGY
- CERAMICS • MATHEMATICS • ENGINEERING SCIENCE OR APPLIED MECHANICS

For further information concerning a career with Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, consult your college placement officer—or write Mr. William L. Stoner, Engineering Department, Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, East Hartford, Connecticut 06108.

Fr. Oahn...

(Continued from Page 1)
James Bond: The Man

He was patting on his favorite cologne. Then the buzzer sounded. Room service—dressed up as a French maid—was the most gorgeous creature he’d seen in some time. He remained like other men to rush for the Walther in his shoulder holster. He didn’t recognize her, but something told him that she was there to deliver something deadly than breakfast. He moved just in time as the knife flew through the air and imbedded itself with a twang in the wall behind him. Grabbing her shoulder, he spun her to the floor and trained the Walther on her ...

NEW YORK (NAPS) — This isn’t an episode from a James Bond adventure, but it could be. It’s the stuff that dreams are made of — the daydreams of millions of men (and women). Will the dream hero shoot the intruder? It won’t be necessary — because his male magnetism, a much more reliable weapon than the automatic — already gives him the “license to kill...women.”

What are the factors in the charm of the 007 type hero? For the countless men who would give a year’s salary to know the tricks of the trade, it’s more than likely that’s what you will get.

Always be cool. This is really the “ABC” of the 007 hero. James Bond is above all, self possessed. Keep your temper at all times — Secret Agent Bond may indulge in a flying tackle, but he never flies off the handle. You may ignore the temptation to boast — let your actions speak for you. They’ll say flattering things, if you’ve learned the secrets of Bond’s appeal.

With a little practice, in fact, you may find it easier than you think to establish a firm “bond” between yourself and the 007 hero image.

For millions of men (and women), the James Bond image means adventure and excitement. A symbol of masculinity, 007 personified onscreen by Sean Connery, is probably today’s most idolized hero. What makes an 007 hero? You may be closer to his image right now than you may think.

The Albertus Magnus Club will hold its third dance of the school year on this Friday, Jan. 14, between 8 p.m. and 1 a.m. at the South Providence Hope Council Knights of Columbus Hall. This pre-exam dance, for couples only, is being held at the same location as the last dance on Dec. 4, held in conjunction with the Villanova basketball game.

By acclamation of those who attended the last dance, Mike Flanagan’s band will again provide the entertainment.

Tickets will be $3.00 a couple, as usual, for non-club members. This includes the refreshments, information, tickets, and maps may be obtained from the Club officers and social chairman: Larry Kane and Tom McCormack, Ray 214; Al Matook, commutor; Tom Collins, M 103; Tom Liesegang, Joe’s 207; Phil Sococcia, Joe’s A-3.

PLACEMENT OFFICE

Home Office: Atlanta, Ga.
Science Grants Awarded to PC

Provided College has been awarded a $5,000 grant for adanced teaching by the Du Pont company and a $2,500 unexected grant by the Esso Educational Foundation.

Two thousand, five hundred dollars of the Du Pont grant is designated for chemistry and sitions awarded such grants by retraining in its MANAGEMENT?

INTERESTED IN

A CAREER IN

RETAIL STORE

MANAGEMENT?

THE

W. T. GRANT CO.

offers men an interesting and challenging opportunity in its MANAGEMENT TRAINING PROGRAM to prepare for Store Management and later executive positions in a rapidly expanding company. Unusually high income potential, good starting salary.

Interviews July 7, 1966 resident at your Placement Office

School of Business and recent copy of “W. T. Grant Co. Your Career”

Du Pont to help the college & Refining Company, presented maintain and improve the excel-the Esso check to the Very Rev-lence of their teaching in scien-William Paul Haas, O.P., president, at the college. The Founda-

Hervey M. Tripplet, local sales has made several similar grants for the Humble Oil to PC in recent years.

John Lynes defends against on-rushing Rich Pfeifer of Bowdoin. Looking on are Norm butter No. 15 and Andy Branchard.

This Week in Sports

Saturday, January 15

Basketball: Boston College, HOME. Hockey: Colby College, AWAY.

Indoor Track: Mass., K. of C. Games, Madison Square Garden. Friday, January 28

Hockey: Eastern Olympic, AWAY. Saturday, January 29

Basketball: Niagara University, HOME. Indoor Track: Boston A.A. Games, Boston Garden. Tuesday, February 1

Basketball: Canisius College, HOME. Hockey: Northeastern University, HOME.

Birch Society . . . .

(Continued from Page 1)

the rank of Captain. While remaining in China John Birch was seized while in uniform and murdered by the Communists. The U. S. said nothing and the Birch family for an extremely long period of time knew nothing of John’s fate. This is the indifference for which the John Birch Society fights so bitterly against.

Again Bunker reaffirmed the writings of the Birch Society with the idea of the human life aspect seemingly to become much less important in the United States. His view of the Korean Conflict, for example, was that the U. S. should have won by the end of 1950 but because the central government didn’t want to win

they let innocent young men be murdered. Bunker continued that his current policy towards Vietnam is “to win or ask why not.”

The audience of some three hundred ladies and gentlemen were also warned of the sneaky

Communist way. This is seen in Poland and other now Communist countries where the Communists took over certain key positions in the government. Before long a group which was made up of no more than three present Communists gained and kept control of an entire country. The John Birch Society believes that this is happening in the United States today. For example, the central government in case of emergency has full control of all communications and news media. And who has control of the central government? A few specific positions control much of the governments acdtions. Again, we are supposedly slowly sinking to the Comnunist power of subversion.

This can be seen through two aspects: power supply—a prime example is the recent yet unexplained blackout; and our water supply.

Col. Bunker then uttered the fact that the John Birch Society would like to have one hundred thousand in membership, and eventually one thousand in each congressional district. He also touched on their media of communication. The one official communications is the monthly bulletin. The “American Opinion” is a periodic magazine, and “Review of the News” is a weekly summary.

Col. Bunker told us to give lecture with a question and answer period which proved colorful and somewhat beneficial.

NOTES FROM THE

SPORTSDESK

by Vincent Marottoli

Once upon a time, there was a “basketball player” who was on a team with an internationally-recognized coach. And this “basketball player” reaped all the benefits which accrued from such an association, such as publicity. Meanwhile, there was another player on a near-by campus who had proved himself to be more versatile and was objectively judged to be a better player. But this player did not receive the newspaper coverage which the other “player” received. Many seemed to think that this was an injustice, yet who could argue with the mass media?

But one trip to New York cured the disease. Jimmy Walker had to prove it on his own, without the facile assistance of a well-known coach. But prove it he did. He played some of his best basketball in the big city during the Festival and he dazzled the eyes of many of the writers seated around the court who had really never given Jimmy much thought.

Who is to blame for this injustice? Why should a star as talented as Jimmy be subject to a constant testing of his abilities? Publicity belongs with the professionals, and I for one am not in a position to know the proper channels for distribution of such information. My responsibility rests with the campus denizens, and yet

I believe that many of us in the field learned much about the various angles involved because of this experience.

But I do not wish to accuse in this article, merely to praise. A new syllable has been added to the basketball alphabet, and it is my belief that the “Big W” will eat a long and illustrious history before he removes himself from basketball circles.

INSIDE STUFF: Rumors start easily enough and spread quickly. But many of them should be dispelled, and this includes the possibility of a certain varsity player returning to the eligibility list next semester. According to one official, this is a remote idea. That is bad news to any Friar fan . . . And to continue in the same vein, I have good reason to believe that my reporters will have fewer hockey players to write about come second semester, unless some scholastic inequities are resolved . . . By the way, I pay very well for tips such as these . . . And lastly, I would like to thank the six girls from Albertus Magnus College who did such a remarkable job distributing the Cowl sports’ supplement at the opening game of The Festival. They wouldn’t be a bad idea as a permanent fixture on the cheer leading staff.

My Neighbors

“Now, while we’re digging you out carefully ask yourself ‘what did I do wrong this time?’”

Frosh Lose to UMass After Beating Brown

BY GREG WALSH

Fred Sullivan is a guy who is going places. The rugged veteran left wing for the Friars is not only a hockey standout, but he is also well-qualified with the baseball diamond and a competent man with the books.

Sully's academic and athletic career had its first real beginning at St. John's Prep in Danvers, Mass. At St. John's, Sully starred in football, hockey, and baseball, while maintaining a high academic average. By the end of his senior year, he had attracted much attention and received a large number of scholarships for both football and hockey. It was a difficult choice, but he finally decided to give up football for hockey and go to Providence.

During his career at Providence, the senior political science major has been a regular on the baseball and hockey teams, and has kept a near perfect attendance index. Sully is probably best remembered for his game winning, pinch-hit homerun against U.R.I. last Spring. He is also a very successful businessman. He owns a window washing business in Danvers which he set up himself when he was in high school.

Friar Pucksters Skate to Win; Down Bowdoin Easily

BY TOM HUTTON

Playing their first game at the R. I. Auditorium in three weeks, the Friar sextet got back in the game last night with a big 7-1 win over a strong Bowdoin sextet. Tuesday night in the New England Invitational Tournament, the pucksters continued to find in Brown's rink and they dropped three straight games. One to Brown 3-1, another to the University of Minnesota-Duluth 7-1 and the University of Montreal 3-0.

Against Bowdoin the pucksters began to fly the offensive flag and muscle of which they are capable and which has always been a mark of a Friar hockey team. With all lines scoring the Friars showed their best offensive balance of the season, and led by their highly-touted sophomore line they bunched home goals in the first period, 3 goals in the second period and 1 goal in the final. They took a total number of 6 goals in the game.

Over at Brown the rinksters have played 9 games in the last three weeks. The men in brown once in three games and have won of six games played in the New England Invitational Tournament. This year the play of goalies Bill Lasher and Elvin Hayes has been quite a tussle. Following in at center. It takes time to get a sophomore, Dana Mas, and hockey. It was a difficult choice, but he finally decided to give up football for hockey and go to Providence.

During his career at Providence, the senior political science major has been a regular on the baseball and hockey teams, and has kept a near perfect attendance index. Sully is probably best remembered for his game winning, pinch-hit homerun against U.R.I. last Spring. He is also a very successful businessman. He owns a window washing business in Danvers which he set up himself when he was in high school.

Friar Pucksters Skate to Win; Down Bowdoin Easily

BY TOM HUTTON

Playing their first game at the R. I. Auditorium in three weeks, the Friar sextet got back in the game last night with a big 7-1 win over a strong Bowdoin sextet. Tuesday night in the New England Invitational Tournament, the pucksters continued to find in Brown's rink and they dropped three straight games. One to Brown 3-1, another to the University of Minnesota-Duluth 7-1 and the University of Montreal 3-0.

Against Bowdoin the pucksters began to fly the offensive flag and muscle of which they are capable and which has always been a mark of a Friar hockey team. With all lines scoring the Friars showed their best offensive balance of the season, and led by their highly-touted sophomore line they bunched home goals in the first period, 3 goals in the second period and 1 goal in the final. They took a total number of 6 goals in the game.

Over at Brown the rinksters have played 9 games in the last three weeks. The men in brown once in three games and have won of six games played in the New England Invitational Tournament. This year the play of goalies Bill Lasher and Elvin Hayes has been quite a tussle. Following in at center. It takes time to get a sophomore, Dana Mas, and hockey. It was a difficult choice, but he finally decided to give up football for hockey and go to Providence.

During his career at Providence, the senior political science major has been a regular on the baseball and hockey teams, and has kept a near perfect attendance index. Sully is probably best remembered for his game winning, pinch-hit homerun against U.R.I. last Spring. He is also a very successful businessman. He owns a window washing business in Danvers which he set up himself when he was in high school.

Friar Pucksters Skate to Win; Down Bowdoin Easily

BY TOM HUTTON

Playing their first game at the R. I. Auditorium in three weeks, the Friar sextet got back in the game last night with a big 7-1 win over a strong Bowdoin Sextet. Tuesday night in the New England Invitational Tournament, the pucksters continued to find in Brown's rink and they dropped three straight games. One to Brown 3-1, another to the University of Minnesota-Duluth 7-1 and the University of Montreal 3-0.

Against Bowdoin the pucksters began to fly the offensive flag and muscle of which they are capable and which has always been a mark of a Friar hockey team. With all lines scoring the Friars showed their best offensive balance of the season, and led by their highly-touted sophomore line they bunched home goals in the first period, 3 goals in the second period and 1 goal in the final. They took a total number of 6 goals in the game.

Over at Brown the rinksters have played 9 games in the last three weeks. The men in brown once in three games and have won of six games played in the New England Invitational Tournament. This year the play of goalies Bill Lasher and Elvin Hayes has been quite a tussle. Following in at center. It takes time to get a sophomore, Dana Mas, and hockey. It was a difficult choice, but he finally decided to give up football for hockey and go to Providence.

During his career at Providence, the senior political science major has been a regular on the baseball and hockey teams, and has kept a near perfect attendance index. Sully is probably best remembered for his game winning, pinch-hit homerun against U.R.I. last Spring. He is also a very successful businessman. He owns a window washing business in Danvers which he set up himself when he was in high school.

Friar Pucksters Skate to Win; Down Bowdoin Easily

BY TOM HUTTON

Playing their first game at the R. I. Auditorium in three weeks, the Friar sextet got back in the game last night with a big 7-1 win over a strong Bowdoin Sextet. Tuesday night in the New England Invitational Tournament, the pucksters continued to find in Brown's rink and they dropped three straight games. One to Brown 3-1, another to the University of Minnesota-Duluth 7-1 and the University of Montreal 3-0.

Against Bowdoin the pucksters began to fly the offensive flag and muscle of which they are capable and which has always been a mark of a Friar hockey team. With all lines scoring the Friars showed their best offensive balance of the season, and led by their highly-touted sophomore line they bunched home goals in the first period, 3 goals in the second period and 1 goal in the final. They took a total number of 6 goals in the game.

Over at Brown the rinksters have played 9 games in the last three weeks. The men in brown once in three games and have won of six games played in the New England Invitational Tournament. This year the play of goalies Bill Lasher and Elvin Hayes has been quite a tussle. Following in at center. It takes time to get a sophomore, Dana Mas, and hockey. It was a difficult choice, but he finally decided to give up football for hockey and go to Providence.

During his career at Providence, the senior political science major has been a regular on the baseball and hockey teams, and has kept a near perfect attendance index. Sully is probably best remembered for his game winning, pinch-hit homerun against U.R.I. last Spring. He is also a very successful businessman. He owns a window washing business in Danvers which he set up himself when he was in high school.

Friar Pucksters Skate to Win; Down Bowdoin Easily

BY TOM HUTTON

Playing their first game at the R. I. Auditorium in three weeks, the Friar sextet got back in the game last night with a big 7-1 win over a strong Bowdoin Sextet. Tuesday night in the New England Invitational Tournament, the pucksters continued to find in Brown's rink and they dropped three straight games. One to Brown 3-1, another to the University of Minnesota-Duluth 7-1 and the University of Montreal 3-0.

Against Bowdoin the pucksters began to fly the offensive flag and muscle of which they are capable and which has always been a mark of a Friar hockey team. With all lines scoring the Friars showed their best offensive balance of the season, and led by their highly-touted sophomore line they bunched home goals in the first period, 3 goals in the second period and 1 goal in the final. They took a total number of 6 goals in the game.

Over at Brown the rinksters have played 9 games in the last three weeks. The men in brown once in three games and have won of six games played in the New England Invitational Tournament. This year the play of goalies Bill Lasher and Elvin Hayes has been quite a tussle. Following in at center. It takes time to get a sophomore, Dana Mas, and hockey. It was a difficult choice, but he finally decided to give up football for hockey and go to Providence.

During his career at Providence, the senior political science major has been a regular on the baseball and hockey teams, and has kept a near perfect attendance index. Sully is probably best remembered for his game winning, pinch-hit homerun against U.R.I. last Spring. He is also a very successful businessman. He owns a window washing business in Danvers which he set up himself when he was in high school.

Friar Pucksters Skate to Win; Down Bowdoin Easily

BY TOM HUTTON

Playing their first game at the R. I. Auditorium in three weeks, the Friar sextet got back in the game last night with a big 7-1 win over a strong Bowdoin Sextet. Tuesday night in the New England Invitational Tournament, the pucksters continued to find in Brown's rink and they dropped three straight games. One to Brown 3-1, another to the University of Minnesota-Duluth 7-1 and the University of Montreal 3-0.

Against Bowdoin the pucksters began to fly the offensive flag and muscle of which they are capable and which has always been a mark of a Friar hockey team. With all lines scoring the Friars showed their best offensive balance of the season, and led by their highly-touted sophomore line they bunched home goals in the first period, 3 goals in the second period and 1 goal in the final. They took a total number of 6 goals in the game.

Over at Brown the rinksters have played 9 games in the last three weeks. The men in brown once in three games and have won of six games played in the New England Invitational Tournament. This year the play of goalies Bill Lasher and Elvin Hayes has been quite a tussle. Following in at center. It takes time to get a sophomore, Dana Mas, and hockey. It was a difficult choice, but he finally decided to give up football for hockey and go to Providence.

During his career at Providence, the senior political science major has been a regular on the baseball and hockey teams, and has kept a near perfect attendance index. Sully is probably best remembered for his game winning, pinch-hit homerun against U.R.I. last Spring. He is also a very successful businessman. He owns a window washing business in Danvers which he set up himself when he was in high school.