Cool Reception Given Members Of Peace Group

The New England Committee for Non-Violent Action sent 40 "peace caravans" to the Providence College campus last Thursday. They were received with anything less than cordiality on the part of the students.

Interest was extremely high on the part of the faculty and student body as they crowded around the group of four two men and two women in the Guild Room in Alumni Hall.

The Non-Violent Committee advocates "non-violent direct action" and they believe in the withdrawal of the military forces of the United States from Viet Nam and the destruction of draft cards by those men in draft age eligible for military service.

In an interview with one of the members of the caravan, Terry Sullivan, an employee of the Providence College, New York, the 28 year old advocate of non-violent action described the war in Viet Nam as "slaughtering of innocent people, a tremendous waste by the virtuous and stupid." Mr. Sullivan at one point paralleled the attack on Pearl Harbor with the defense of one man being attacked by ten lawless men. He explained that the one man should not defend himself because he is going to die any way. Using this analogy, Mr. Sullivan went on to describe the consequences of the war in Viet Nam as he saw them.

The "peace caravan" was somewhat marred by the burning of some of their literature by one of the students of the college. A similar incident occurred the previous day at Rhode Island College, where the peace caravan had appeared.

The caravan's presence on campus was sponsored by Providence College, Political Union. This sponsorship in no way, however, reflects the views of the Political Union.

Peace Corps to Talk To College Students

The Peace Corps will be represented on the Providence College campus on March 4 by Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Johnson, who have just returned from assignment in El Salvador. Mr. Johnson, who received a degree in Agricultural science from the University of Rhode Island, worked in agricultural education. He is a native of Providence.

Mrs. Johnson, a mathematics major from Indianapolis, worked in community development. She is a native of Indiana. A recent panel discussion on the Peace Corps was held on campus. Venice will be the location tonight at 7:30. Slides taken on location in El Salvador will be shown.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will be in residence on campus.

Class Gift Decided

Members of the senior class who were interviewed by the "Project 66" poll have voted to present the cash plan gift, which proposes a $100 donation by each class member over a five year period.

Of the 82.2 per cent of seniors interviewed, 233 voted for the cash plan, 125 for the mutual and 3 for the insurance.

Class agent William Smith, chairman of "Project 66," said that each of the 29 pollers made a strong effort to contact every member of the graduating class. Unforeseen difficulties arose, however, he said.

Mr. Smith said the poll had "many positive aspects because of the personal approach. Interest in the gift picked-up over night. We also received a good deal of constructive criticism about the gift."

A meeting of all committee members will be held tomorrow night at 6:30 in Donnelly Hall to start work on the details of the gift. Mr. Smith said the committee will consider the possibility of soliciting gifts over $100, since a few seniors have indicated that they would be willing to pledge $250 to the class gift.

Senior Class President Jack Cullinan urged all seniors to support the committee.

Student Parking Policy

Tented Very Successful

Although only 686 students have registered their cars this semester, as compared to over a thousand students who parked on campus last semester, Mr. Arthur Newton, director of student affairs, termed the new policy of $5 a semester parking fee as progressing "very well."

In an interview last Friday, Mr. Newton said that he thought the students are apparently accepting the fee increase from one dollar a year to ten. "I believe that the students are more students, after they have accepted the change, will return to the campus in the fall."

He also pointed out many students who are not parking on campus have eliminated "tight situations" on campus. However, the increased presence of cars parked on the surrounding public highways has precipitated an interest of new off campus parking areas and the problem has become where parking may be interfered with driveways, corners and in front of buildings.

The added money will be used to replace the amount of money taken from general fund to pay for snow plowing and maintenance of the campus parking areas. In this way, Mr. Newton explained, the money used for such services in the past will be applied to more constructive projects on campus. However, he quickly added that it was not the intention of the College to derive a revenue from the increased "fee. The only reason we did increase the registration fee," he emphasized, "is to control the parking pattern."

The director added, "The administrative is well aware that future planning in parking is necessary, I am certain in line with the building program adjustments will be made."

Dr. H. Kennedy Awarded Grant

Dr. Hubert C. Kennedy, associate professor of mathematics at Providence College, has been awarded a research grant under the Fulbright-Hayes Act for the academic year 1966-1967.

Under the grant, Dr. Kennedy will write a critical biography of Giuseppe Peano (1858-1932) a pioneer in symbolic logic and the increased mathematical axiomatics. Dr. Kennedy will conduct his research at the University of Turin, Italy.

A native of Florida, Dr. Kennedy received his degree from the University of Florida in 1952, the M.A. degree from the University of Michigan in 1957, and the Ph.D. degree from Saint Louis University in 1961.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Alpha Chi, and Sigma Xi. He is a member of several mathematical associations including the Mathematical Association of America, and he has published several articles, including one on Giuseppe Peano in the Encyclopedia Americana.

Editorially Speaking

An Inconsiderate Group

Last week, the students of this institution of higher learning have been subjected to a divergence of viewpoints concerning national and international affairs. I am referring to the visit of the New England Committee for Non-Violent Action. The committee was here to explain and defend their views. They realized, admittedly, that somewhere between 85 and 95% of the students are thoroughly opposed to their viewpoints. They merely wished to provoke "serious thought on the subject" of the war in Viet Nam and other issues. The students, in direct opposition to their viewpoints, they were able to accomplish this—partly through the aid of the Political Union and the Administration, who set up the whole affair.

These people were treated, however, with something less than cordiality by the student body in general. This, we feel, is highly unfortunate. The fact that an isolated incident occurred in which one of our students burned a piece of their printed material shows the adolescent attitude of some of our students. We must commend those members of the faculty and student body who seriously engaged these people in debate. On the other hand, we can only condemn those whom merely wished to provoke "serious thinking" or "indifference to good form." It is some-two girls driving around campus were stopped and involved. The same cannot be said for the student body. The decision to use a student questionnaire is implicit.

In conclusion I hope this editorial will not be taken by the people involved as a criticism but rather as something less than cordiality by the student body in general. The fact that many more college students should concern themselves with this war—more even than they are now concerned. It may be the most important problem they will ever face. Those who are vigorously debating the issue are asking questions all Americans should be asking, regardless of political belief. These students are worried. They're not kidding themselves into thinking acceptance of glib official answers given by diplomats.

Today's student would like a chance to finish school, and jobs. America is again rich, and war is no longer, but the logic behind the arguments completely defies analysis. For example, why should anyone consider burning his draft card? This form of protest serves no purpose whatever. Change can only be brought about in this country through the ballot box. Since burning one's draft card is a criminal offense, it only serves to eliminate that person's right to vote.

The protest movement is a fine thing as long as it is an intelligent protest, as long as the protestor keeps the realities of the world in mind.

Two Noted Lecturers To Speak on Campus

Father Haas has invited two distinguished professors from University of Fribourg in Switzerland to lecture here tonight and tomorrow night. Dr. Norbert M. Lytten will speak here tonight at 8:15 p.m. in Albertus Magnus Auditorium. Tomorrow night at 8:15 p.m., Professor I. M. Bochenski will discuss "The Autonomy of the University" in Harkins Hall. This lecture will be open to the public.

Both men are recognized philosophers and teachers in Europe. Both are well published in their fields. And this year both are touring America. Fr. Haas thinks that the lecture to be given by Professor Bochenski will be especially interesting. One question which certainly can be included under "The Autonomy of the University" is "whether or not a Catholic University is ever intellectually independent enough to pursue its aims." This question is current by being argued and debated on a campus at a leading Eastern Catholic school. Fr. Haas mentions that the European is capable of dropping some "bombshells" on the question.

Dr. Lytten was formerly the Rector of the University of Fribourg where Fr. Haas did postgraduate work. Dr. Lytten is an authority on the Philosophy of Science, Psychology, and the works of Teilhard de Chardin.

Dr. Bochenski is presently the Rector of the University of Fribourg. His interests include mathematical logic, contemporary European philosophy, and philosophy in CommunistRussia. Fr. Haas wrote his doctorate thesis under Professor Bochenski at Fribourg.

The lectures are presented by the college as part of the Distinguished Lecturers Series.

The Very Reverend Monsignor Alberto Giovannetti, permanent observer of the Holy See to the United Nations, will speak at the College on Tuesday, March 22.

He is the first permanent observer from the Vatican. His current concern is the social and humanist problems, especially those involved in the new nations.

Monsignor Giovannetti has written two books concerned with the problems of the Church and Communism. One is the Red Book of the Persecuted Church and the other is The Pope Speaks to the Church of Silence. He has also written The Vatican and the War which tells the story of the Vatican's secret efforts to save the city of Rome from destruction during World War II.

Pilots Needed

Charles Mason, senior vice-president in charge of personnel for United Air Lines, has announced that pilot applicants with no flying time or less than the 40 hours required for a private pilot's license. In the past at least a private license was required for consideration.

The new program was instituted to meet the increasing demand for airline pilots. Applicants must be U.S. or Canadian citizens, be in excellent overall physical condition with vision correctable to 20/20 with glasses and be not less than 5 feet 7 inches tall nor more than 6 feet 4 inches tall. All applicants must pass a rigid flight aptitude test.

Interested applicants should contact United Air Lines in Chicago, Illinois.

Pershing Rifles Hold Bowling Tournament; Trophies Presented

Company K-12, Pershing Rifles, held an intra-Company Bowling Tournament on Washington's Birthday at the Cranston Bowl. Competition was on a squad and individual level, with trophies going to the top individuals (4) and the top squad.

The individual trophy winners were: George Flanagan (479), Edward O'Rourke (462), Gerald Dillon (460), and Andrew Gordon (459). The score was by total pin fall in three strings.

The top squad was the 2nd squad of the 2nd platoon with a 432 1/3 average.

The tournament was planned and executed by Warrant Officer Thomas C. DePalma P/R, Assistant Operations Officer.

Track News

Last Saturday night the P.C. Friar trackmen traveled to Albany, N.Y., to participate in the Capital District Track Championships, and they emerged highly successful from their competition.

The outstanding performer of the evening was Barry Brown, while running in his home town, made the night an impressive one as he emerged the winner of both the one mile and two mile events, setting records in both.

In the one mile run, Brown was at his best in setting a new national record for an unbanked track of more than eight laps to the mile, and his 4:13.2 clocking also enabled him to reverse a previous defeat at the hands of Matt Cucciaris, of the N.Y.A.C. In the two mile event Brown took over with seven laps to go and set a new meet 2:58.8 record for that distance, breaking the tape in 9:18.8.

The team's next competition will be in the I.C.A.A.'s to be held next Saturday in Madison Square Garden.

with a bland, knowing smile and a few short puffs on a pre-victor cigar. When pressed farther he concedes that he has a definite man in mind for the job, but then quickly recedes into a hazy cloud of smoke and generality.

Although leaving his court-side duties with the Celtics, Mr. Auerbach will remain with the team in his present positions of vice-president and general manager. He does not believe in second-guessing, however, and will give the new coach complete control of the ball club, the same situation he has had while with the Celtics.

Mr. Auerbach credits the fabulous success of the Celtics over the years to the fact that they "play as a unit." One of the major reasons for this is that a ballplayer's salary doesn't depend on his scoring average, but rather on his contribution to the overall team effort.

Although still occupying their usual position atop the Eastern Division of the NBA, the Celtics are having a much tougher time of it this season than they had in the seemingly invincible years of Cousy, Sharman, and Heinsohn. Mr. Auerbach believes that this close race is primarily due to the improvement of the caliber of the rest of the league, especially that of the Eastern Division. He primarily mentioned the drafting of college players by professional clubs in reverse order of their standing, which has tended to level out the league and provide for better and closer competition.

Speaking of college basketball players in general, Mr. Auerbach turned to the Providence College Friars, and Jim Walker in particular. He has seen the team play in the Holiday Festival and "a couple of games on TV," and considers them to be "a very well-coached ball club." He mentioned that he was greatly impressed by the team spirit of the Friars, as well as by the impressive performance of Walker, whom he thinks will make it big in the pro ranks.

Mr. Auerbach was particularly dismayed by the fact that "Walker will go early (in the pro draft)—first, second, or third in the country," and could only plaintively murmer "I wish I could get him." Whatever the future may hold for Jim Walker, he may rest assured that he will always have a job, for Mr. Auerbach has promised "he can play on my ball club anytime."

These are the people who are behind the success of the Dillon Club. In the future, articles concerning the club will be less anonymous. Finally, students can expect to be shown that seven schools of the Dillon have an examination period of five days, seven schools have a period of five days, seven schools of the Dillon have an examination period of ten days, while eight schools have a period of five days, indicating that almost half of the schools surveyed have a scheduling system superior to Providence College.

To the Editor:

After seeing the newly posted library plans, I would like to make a few suggestions concerning the proposed structure.

I think that the two story building with a sand volume capacity is a short sighted mistake on the part of the planners. A larger building, perhaps with six hundred thousand sand volume capacity, would be much more economical in the long run.

One additional story would probably double the buildings book capacity at a minimum. I believe that we don't underestimate the need for library space to the same extent that we underestimate our need for Gymnasium space ten years ago.

The inclusion of all these facilities would raise the building cost a little but would give Providence College one of the finest libraries in the country.

Dear Sir:

I have just read in the February 16th issue of The Cowl, an article concerning the Dillon Club. It was titled "Dillon Club Announces Future Social Schedule." The forthcoming events arranged and proposed for the second semester were set forth. Also in this article my name was mentioned twice and gave the appearance that I was solely in charge of a good number, if not all, of the activities that the club plans.

I publicly state here that this is not the case. At the present time I am in charge of the dis- count movies only.

My name may have been included in this article because I am the Publicity Chairman of the Dillon Club, and it is my job to release such information. Through some misunderstanding or possibly some ambition on my part, the article was stated in a manner which it appeared.

There is an old saying: "Give credit where credit is due." I believe in that expression, especially considering that the other members of the Dillon Club have and are working hard during the semester (to use a word from the article) to make the club as successful as possible.

To set the facts straight, let me state that the Dillon Club is still solely, as Publicity Chairman release all information to The Cowl.

Brian Corey—Activity Chairman—co-ordinates all activities and is the information to be released. Under Brian are the following committees and their corresponding members:

Date Dance Committee—Brian Corey, Matty Madden, Frank Esposito.

INTERVIEW DATE
March 15th

An Equal Opportunity Employer, (4/7)

THE COWL, MARCH 2, 1966

Dear Sir:

On Thursday February 24th the Political Union sponsored the visit of the New England Combined Organized Action to Providence College. This event, held in the Guild Room of Alumni Hall, was a success with approximately one thousand students in attendance during the course of the day. Although the purpose of the Committee was obvious, I think the role of the Political Union in regard to this activity remains somewhat a mystery in the minds of some students and perhaps faculty. Our purpose in the Political Union is to encourage political discussion on the campus by exposing various political factions. Consequently, the organizational efforts of the Political Union reflect in no way whatsoever the sympathy or favorable interest the Political Union or its officers towards people or groups who may participate as part of Political Union sponsored activities. Furthermore, the Political Union is always interested in any responsible discussion on any political issue that may present itself.

In conclusion, I would like to express my appreciation to the faculty and students for their interest in this activity and pray that the first year of the Political Union so successful as part of the Political Union sponsored activities. Furthermore, the Political Union is always interested in any responsible discussion on any political issue that may present itself.

Sincerely yours,

Jeremy M. Lord
President

In reply to both letters, it can be asserted that argumentation based essentially upon comparative studies is in the present context illogical. Regardless of the situation elsewhere, it is the responsibility of Providence College to attain excellence in every respect according to an objective norm. It may be said that Providence College excels other colleges if these other institutions think only in terms of comparative excellence will often be left in the dust.

I reply to Mr. Nissen's letter for a second reason. I respect the sincerity of his appeal, and I do not doubt that he is firmly convinced of the incontrovertible correctness of his opinion. But I object strongly to the very fact of such a letter being written by the president of a student congress. As I see it, it would have been far more appropriate for him to have written to the student congress. For the functions of the student congress president is to reflect the views of the student body as a whole and to act as a liaison between the student body and the administration. And to the extent that Mr. Nissen has written to a representative, for students, and to the administration, he has neglected, perhaps College Student Congress, his obligation to the students he represented. As I see it, his letter should have been written by a representa- tive of the school administration.

Mr. Nissen might object that he was not reflecting the personal opinions of an individual; that in writing it, he was not functioning as a student representative. This, unfortunately could not be the case, because whoever reads his letter, regardless of his personal opinions, must inevitably make the connection between the person and his office.

The fact of the inadequacy of student-administration communications creates an irresolvable problem at Providence College for too long a time. The College requires a suitable medium for such communications; it is in the time to begin moving in that direction. I therefore suggest that the initiative in this regard, in holding the unremarkable list of positive contribu- tions which he has made to the College, and in order to augment the good rep- utation of our school.

The technique which Fellini has mastered here makes it rather difficult to grasp the ideas upon viewing the work for the first time. It is rooted in the "stream of consciousness style" of Sterne and Joyce and the symbolism of Freud. Point of view is vital here in that we must realize that Fellini is showing us "reality" as a single human mind perceives it, exactly in the manner in which that person's mind works. Thus we see a series of associations of thought, the workings of Juliet's mind. If these are not always strictly logical or clear, they are not meant to be; for the human mind does not always work that way. Thus we do not so much see as we actually experience what she is going through. The effect is certainly powerfully impressive.

Especially impressive is the acting of Giulietta Masina, Fellini's wife, who has the title role. Her part is a very demanding and difficult one. The dramatic line is sustained and carried not so much by the spoken dialogue as it is by the depth of expression that she achieves in her facial and physical movements. Her character is subtly and beautifully delineated. Worthy of note here is the musical score. It is a rare example of what music for the cinema should be. It is never distracting but always appropriately sustaining the dramatic line.

If the effect is so impressive, it is yet very difficult to describe. Juliet's desires, inhibitions, obsessions, needs, hopes and fears confront the viewer and submerge him in the agony of her struggles to free herself from the imprisonment of her own dreams and to find her own true identity. This is an experience that should not be missed.

Mal Brown Club Unifies Sports-Minded PC Alumni

By TOM LIESEGANG and BOB FRIED

The Mal Brown Club of Providence College was established in 1954 by recently graduated alumni as a booster club to stimulate the interest of local athletic teams at the school, specifically the basketball and hockey teams. The first public affair of the club was an organizational banquet held at the Narragansett Hotel in Feb., 1955. This event coincided with PC's rise as a major hockey power in the East. The Alumni Hall gym was not yet constructed, so the basketball team was still playing at the Mt. Pleasant High School. The club's main purpose at this time was to bring the alumni as a booster club to stimulate the interest in the athletics of the school. The club's purposes are to encourage the alumni as a booster club to stimulate the interest in the athletics of Providence College and to create an enthusiastic athletic response on the part of the alumni as well as the student body.

The Mal Brown Club is the name of the alumni organization to the Providence College. The Mal Brown Club is an organizational ban-

If the fans can take their eyes off the Friars at the basketball games this year, the fellows who make such a statement are on the right course. The fans' attention are the cheerleaders. They lead out the team and keep the rafters rattling what the score.

This year's squad has three veterans, seniors Buzz Lagois and Ned Riley, and Mike O'Keefe, a junior. They have brought back most of all last year's enthusiasm and passed it on to the new members, Kevin McDonough, Paul Sullivan, Bud Dobbins, Wally Williams and Jack Donnelly, who have been outstanding.

Before the season began, Student Congress representative Bob Donnelly and Buzz got together and prepared application forms for anyone interested in trying out for a cheerleading post. Because of the encouraging response of about 25 students, an application was set up and the present members were chosen on their athletic ability and school spirit.

With some support by the Athletic Office and Student Congress, sweaters and equipment were purchased but the squad has been on its own since then. There are no official practices but occasional home games do necessitate a pre-game get-together where new ideas are discussed and a few of the old skills are reviewed.

The cheerleaders try to make as many away games as possible but the problem of travel has been a deterrent. There are no official practices but occasional home games do necessitate a pre-game get-together where new ideas are discussed and a few of the old skills are reviewed.

Who would ever think that the Friar theme song during the first week of NCAA games would be "Down in the Boondocks?"

To the Friar fans' dismay, this unfortunate song became the theme song for Fordham University. For the loyal followers the song will begin their 700 mile trek to that cherished example of Americana called Blackburg, Virginia.

This Monday evening, its 5,070 residents will be hosts to the Providence and St. Joseph's basketball teams who will be engaged in the first round elimination in the Eastern Regional Playoffs of the NCAA Tournament. My purpose is not to belittle the town, however, but rather the esteemed NCAAs.

As NCAA ruling prohibits tournament games to be played on any court other than that of a college campus. Another ruling prohibits Philadelphia teams from playing tournament games on their own ground on March 14. As a consequence, PC had the dubious honor of drawing the Hawks as their opponent, and thus being forced to play at the Blacksburg site.

Perhaps removing the Philly teams in the NCAA from the climactic games at the Palestra is one good result. But I wonder what the members of the NCAA selection committee when they picked the remote location?

Ramsey and Mullaney Discuss Friars' Chances against Hawks

By John Cieply

You might get the impression that tonight's game in the Palestra is of little consequence. After all, the Friars play St. Joseph's next Monday in Blacksburg in the NCAA regional semi-

But that is not the way of a championship squad... in personnel and spirit.

Immediately before Monday night's extended practice, Coach Mullaney told his team about tonight's game and Monday night's games and the whole PC-St. Joseph's rivalry. "We've got to play like it's our only game with them—if they've got you, that's it. They could beat us by 20 and we'll still be in it in Virginia. These are two closely matched teams whose chances for victory depend on intricate circumstances. For an authoritative analysis of the two game series, the Friars contacted both coaches and asked them to evaluate these circumstances. Coach Jack Ramsey was understandably reluctant to make any astounding statements but he made a very good one when asked to compare the Friars to his squad. "They are a different type of team—the same as last year but without Westbrook. We run much—more—much more—while they are more conservative on offense. Then, of course, they play the combination while we intend to do more pressing."

Concerning the first part of this statement, Coach Mullaney said, "They're an excellent offensive rebounding club. I don't know how he (Ramsey) instills it in them, but they are right in there. Last year Dee was right in the middle of three men every time we got in there and we didn't rebound so well."

And about that press and St. Joseph's problem with winning away from the Palestra and their fantastic record at home—Coach Ramsey said, "Don't forget, we played some great teams here in Bridgeport, Young and St. John's away and the one loss at home to Dayton. We've been playing well enough—you can always play well, but it's not always possible."

Coach Mullaney's analysis of the success of the Hawk press at home and its sometimes failure away from friendly confines is both inclusive and worthy of complete retelling: "St. Joseph's is not a great FIVE MAN team. They have two exceptional ball players, Guokas and Anderson, but the rest are only good college ballplayers."

"His (Ramsey) style of play where they keep coming at you on offense and defense—a real pressure package—is what kills you. It's all far better at home where the crowd keeps coming at you, too. They didn't press us more than five times up here and only once at Maryland. This is partly due to the fact that the games were away. Away, they

Friars Drop Two Contests At N.Y. Hockey Weekend

By GREG WALSH

This past weekend the hockey Friars traveled to the birthplace and "hotbed" of Eastern Collegiate hockey, the Potsdam and Canton area of New York State, a distance of 700 miles from Providence. On Friday night, the Friars took on the Black and White spent the first period. From that point on it was easy for the Knights who scored three more periods before giving up the third period, when Clarkson finally broke the spell shot in the first period. From that point on the Black and White spent the game watching their brilliant goalie John Campbell who received an unprecedented one minute standing ovation from the partisan crowd.

On Saturday, the undermanned Friars regrouped and met St. Lawrence University on the ice. It was another uphill battle for the Friars, who scored three more than the "Golden Knights" of Clarkson College at their famous "cracker box" arena. The Friars committed the inexorable sin of drawing first blood on Jack Dougherty's slap shot in the first period. From that point on it was easy for the Knights who scored three more within a four minute stretch. With five minutes to play, Bob Racanelli replaced an exhausted John Campbell who received an unprecedented one minute standing ovation from the partisan crowd.

The occasion of the visit was an event called "Suicide Weekend. This journey occurs every two years as far as the Friars are concerned, all Northern weekends during the winter should be spent skiing.

For the Friars, Sunday's "Suicide Weekend" was a slow death. On the Black and White spent the game watching their brilliant goalie John Campbell hurled his body in front of enemy shot. Because of "Suony," the Friars maintained their slim advantage until the eleventh minute of the third period, when Clarkson finally broke the spell shot in the first period. From that point on the Black and White spent the game watching their brilliant goalie John Campbell who received an unprecedented one minute standing ovation from the partisan crowd.

Arnold "Red" Auerbach: Crown King of Basketball

By DAVE FREDRICKSON

"The only void would be the same as if I were coach. With these words Arnold "Red" Auerbach, the volatile, colorful coach of the world champion Boston Celtics, expressed his belief that his previously announced retirement at the end of this season would not seriously detract from the future performance of the team. This statement appears all the more surprising in view of Mr. Auerbach's coaching record in the Beanstown, since his nine Eastern Division titles and eight world championships in the past nine years represent the biggest professional dynasty in modern sports history.

However, the Celts have reserved a special place in their hearts for Mr. Auerbach and their winning ways. It is not surprising that the most widely asked question amongst fans is: "Who's going to replace Auerbach?" Mr. Auerbach himself answers (Continued on Page 7)

FRIAR FANS unfold last for two games with St. Joseph's, back off much quicker, while at home they'll give you a bucket or two but stay in the press. We won't know until we see whether we can handle the press—nationally we know what to do but... With this situation the scores at Philadelphia and at Blacksburg might be strangely divergent. "They're the type of team that can handle pressure, if they get you down and the tempo picks up. It's the system as well as the players — even the subs pile it on."
