GE College Bowl Invites Friars to Participate

Providence College has been invited by General Electric to appear on the G.E. College Bowl, on Sunday evening, October 30, 1965. This is a tremendous opportunity for the college to achieve national exposure for our academic programs. This program is carried by more than 200 stations over the NBC television network, with an average viewing audience of about 15 million people. It is broadcast live and in color, Providence College will be the challenger of that week's defending team.

Mr. Edward C. Brennan has been named by Father Haas to be the coach for PC, and it is his duty to supervise the selection of the team.

In order to field a representative team, preliminary competition will be open to the whole student body. Anyone interested will be allowed to take the preliminary, forty minute, examination which will be held on Tuesday, May 3, at 3:15 in Albertus Magnus. A list of interested students will be prepared for the examination at the Public Information Office before May 2. The cut-off point has not been determined as yet. Those selected from this preliminary group will be put through a series of tests which will include an oral examination. The eight finalists only four will actually participate. However, these eight will be given special preparation in the summer and participation in college bowls to be held with other schools and our own faculty in order to determine the final team.

The preliminary examination will consist of 125 questions to be answered in forty minutes. Short written answers must be supported by a multiple-choice test. The areas to be covered are mathematics, English, and modern European History. American History, American, English and European Literature, American and European art, science, music, art, mythology, languages and trivia. A sample question from the exam is "Who killed Oedipus by Sophocles?"

Mr. Edward C. Brennan was appointed to organize the program. Mr. Laurent Gougie and committee of prominent faculty members and representatives of the student body.

The response, at this point, to the information forwarded to the parents has been overwhelmingly favorable and it is believed that the program has been much encouraged.

The Weekend will begin on Saturday, April 29, with a registration at Alumni Hall at 8:00 a.m. also at this time and up until 11:00 a.m., the campus book store will be open for book sending and campus tours will be provided. At 11:00 a.m. the Dean of Freshmen will address the gathering in Alumni Hall, following this a lunch will be served at 11:30 in Alumnae cafeteria.

Where Is Your Son Going?" which will provide explanatory information on the college's curriculum, will be held from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. Displays presented by the Athletic and ROTC department will operate from 3:00 to 4:00.

The parents will be afforded the opportunity to meet the professors at a reception held in Raymond Hall at 6:00 p.m.

Senator Kennedy Supports U.S. Policy In Viet Nam

Last Monday evening Providence College had the great pleasure of presenting Senator Edward Kennedy. The Senator received a rousing and warm reception by an audience believed to be well in excess of four thousand people.

Senator Kennedy began his talk on a light note but as he developed his arguments, the momentum became grave and severe. His lecture was Viet Nam. The Senator then began by discussing the historical development of the Viet Cong and the Communist movement since the French evacuation. Senator Kennedy also said he was in Viet Nam in 1965. The Senator then went on to say that from 1956 on there has been increasing activity from both the Viet Cong and the Communists. This activity, Senator Kennedy said, can be divided into four distinct areas; a. individual guerrillas; b. groups attacking railroads; c. units in battle with government and American forces which stage we are in; and d. battle force fighting on a larger scale.

The key question at this point was where does the U.S. stand today? Senator Kennedy viewed four alternatives for the U.S. in our stand in Viet Nam: 1. escalation of the war which he believed would be an overwhelming mistake and more than likely lead to a second World War. 2. — withdrawal — some view the war, he said, as a local struggle and not vital to the National interests of the U.S. during the 1960's. But Senator Kennedy also pointed out that if the U.S. withdrew the Viet Cong movement would probably be successful because the career of the U.S. in Southeast Asia would be undermined even though not all the countries could or would follow the Communist潮流s crumbling dues. Senator Kennedy also stated that since the Test Ban Treaty Russia has been interested in spreading Communism but through a non-war manner. The United States of bookshelves. It was suggested that the U.S. should only principle areas. And in so doing securing a two-thirds majority of the population from which to hold elections.

To the Editor:

In less than two months members of the senior class will be saying goodbye to "home" for these past four years. For seniors they have years of joy and sadness, faith and doubt, excitement and frustration — years certainly bound to a growing maturity and a keener awareness of life. In keeping with this trend of opposites, so has the "Cowl" experienced popular moods — moods ranging from satisfaction with editorial response to sheer dismay.

By editorial response I refer to the way in which the administration has responded to this year's editorial page. We are pleased when we hear that professors this year were named well in advance and that senior privileges are still in existence, but what about that quarterly exam schedule, those 55 minute classes, or that editorial on dorm rules? At times we receive the impression that the administration does not even read our illustrious newspaper. We can only go so far as to express our views and the views of the student body as a whole — the rest is up to the administration to listen and respond to our pleas. We hope that they will listen more often next year.

This being our last issue, however, we do not wish to stress all that is "wrong" with PC. Rather we teachers, new dorms, distinguished lecturers, and a basketball team which has earned national recognition — all these are vital symbols of a growing campus, a growth reflected in our four years at the College. With a new library and course changes now in the planning stages, the future looks last far better than their "home away from home" began to rise we can see that, good or bad, our stay here on the Cowl has certainly been an interesting one, an experience which we will never forget nor regret.

Letters to the Editor

(If it is not a general policy of the COWL to publish letters to the editor on the editorial page. We felt, however, that the following letter was in a special category and deserved particular notice. —The editors)

To the Editor:

Ability for the rhetoric does not necessarily make for the truth, and I hasten to add, "a little knowledge is a dangerous thing, drink not, etc." If memory serves me correctly a few days ago Alexander Pope, Jonathan Swift and Emerson said something to the same common effect.

Certainly, even from the early language of this letter you realize that I take sharp exception with the editorial.

I believe in free will. But I have never heard of any such law and I know of no basis for the construction of a multiple-choice exam. That the construction of a multiple-choice exam is to have them submit a one-page questionnaire, but also as a result of the examination of catalogs and student handbooks which were obtained from virtually all 62 institutions.

Madison, Wis. — (LP.) — A good way for teachers to encourage students to review for exams is to have them submit questions which might appear on that exam. That's the conclusion reached by a University of Wisconsin psychology professor who has analyzed the difference between student and faculty answers.

"Student participation in the construction of a multiple-choice exam is a better test performance," Professor Albert R. Marston has found, "than the construction of a multiple-choice exam by experts." Participants improved their grades in the level of the academic atmosphere. Professors will be asked to comment on subjects such as their students' attitudes, the cultural environment, and communication between students and faculty.

EXEC. EDITOR: 'Adieu'

MEMO FROM THE EDITOR

This, dear reader, is my last "Memo." Usually, the last "Memo" of the outgoing editor consists of two choruses of "Hearts and Flowers," but this year is going to be a little different.

On Monday morning I received a letter, which is printed in this issue, from six irate students. The source of their anger is an incident that occurred several days ago involving the outing from the PC campus of a girl who had come to see her father for the weekend. She was not engaged in any indecent activity. She was merely sitting in her car waiting for her date. Yet for some reason, which has not been explained otherwise, there was a vague statement to the effect that a rule of the College forbids the presence of girls on the campus.

I have never heard of any such law and I know of no other student who has heard of it, at least not until now.

There are at least two unfortunate aspects to this incident, and other incidents of a similar nature that have occurred during the year. First of all it was highly embarrassing to the girl and her date. Secondly, such incidents are not very helpful to the image of the College.

I certainly hope that those few people on this campus will, in the future, take a more reasonable attitude toward female visitors to this campus. Such inexcusable incidents as have occurred in the past do not speak well for any of us.

It is now hearts and flowers time. First of all, let me say that I am not as cynical about this as I may sound. I am very thankful to all of the people who have helped me in my job during the year. I would like to give special thanks to Frank. Hoos who, despite his extremely busy schedule, was always ready to talk with me. He concluded me in numerous matters concerning the College and very often his advice saved me from making rash and unwarranted statements.

Thanks are also due to the other members of the administration as well as the faculty who aided the staff reporters in writing the news.

No less helpful were the members of the student body. They provided us with news and also rendered considerable assistance.

I am very grateful for the fine work done by all the members of the Cowl staff, news and sports reporters, members of the editorial board for their assistance: executive editor, Pete Ulman, managing editors, Bob Neccio and Peter DeDonato; and, of course, the staff editor, Vin Morrochi.

To use a trite, but entirely applicable phrase, last but not least, all of us on the Cowl wish to express our thanks to everyone at the Providence Visitor, the company that prints our paper. Without them, we could not publish the Cowl. They are truly, indispensable.

And that, as they say, is that.

ROOMMATES REVISITED

This morning's mail brought a letter from a student at a prominent Western university (Princeton), "Dear Sir," he writes, "In a recent column you said it was possible to get along with your roommate if you try hard enough. Well, I'd like to see anyone get along with my roommate!" Mervis Truss (for that is his name) practices the ocarina all night long, keeps an alligator, wears knee-length socks, and collects airplane tires. I have tried everything I can with Mervis Truss, but nothing works. I am desperate. (signed) Desperate.

But you, dear Desperate, really tried everything? Have you, for example, tried a measure so simple, so obvious, that it is easy to overlook? I mean, of course, you have offered to share your Persona Super Stainless Steel Blades with Mervis Truss?

To have a friend, dear Desperate, you must be a friend. And what could be more friendly than sharing the bounty of Persona Super Stainless Steel Blades? Who, upon enjoying the luxury of Persona, the needle-like, scrapes-free, tugless, lackless, scratchless, matches comfort of Persona, the ease and breeze, the power and glory, the truth and beauty of Persona—who, I say, after such jollies could harden his heart against his neighbor? Nobody, that's who—no, not even Mervis Truss—especially not today with the new Persona Super Blade bringing us new highs in speed, comfort, and durability. And here is still a further bonus: Persona is available both in Double Edge style and Inceptor style.

No, dear Desperate, your problem with Mervis Truss is far from insurmountable. As a matter of fact, roommate problems go on; it is a pretty small potato. Compare it, for example, to the classiscal problem of the Dean's cat. Every afternoon for ten cents an hour, walking the Dean's cat every afternoon for ten cents an hour. It must be a prominent Western column, Bertrand Russell has said. And here is still a further bonus: That it is a prominent Western column, that it is a prominent Western column, that it is a prominent Western column. And who, of course, could be more friendly than sharing the bounty of the Dean's cat?

The real problem, however, is not the Dean's cat, or the lack of friendship, but the fact that the Dean's cat is a prominent Western column. A column of which we all can be proud. A column that is a prominent Western column. A column that is a prominent Western column. A column that is a prominent Western column. A column that is a prominent Western column. Beach Boy Concert...

Beach Boys have acquired a very polished sound for recording and personal performances. They now use all the modern electronic techniques for needling the box wax. In light of these observations the Beach Boys can be counted on for offering a night's worth of entertainment.

It is the policy of the Beach Boys to include within their act two additional groups. The groups appearing with them will satisfy the fans of the new breed of rock and roll, and the fans of the standard comedy routine.

The Lost play an assimilation of many different kinds of music — rock, folk, blues, jazz—but their forte is the new rock-folk or rock-blues sound. They have received national exposure with "Maybe More Than You" and "Back Door Blues."

The group has been featured in concert with Sonny and Cher, the Supremes and others, and their popularity at colleges and in teenage nightclubs is unrivalled in New York and New England.

The second group, the Un-called T-T's, three, present an exercise in electric antics and quips on everything from television commercials to ventriloquist. They have appeared regularly at Billie Eilish's In house and guest appearances on other shows. In short, they have been acclaimed "irresistible mimics, joke tellers or physical clown."

Tickets have been available since last week and will continue to be sold at the ticket office in Alladin's at 3 p.m. It is advisable to purchase the tickets as soon as possible, since the remainder is to be made available to the Providence general public.
The Providence Chapter of the national pre-medical honor fraternity began its new initiation with an awards program followed by a celebration banquet.

Letters to the Editor

(Continued from Page 2) And, if you are seeking (the fancy word of the day) "academic freedom"—have you asked yourselves, "freedom from what?" Or are you not really seeking freedom from authority, everywhere and always, but freedom from "dom" from God Himself? For the purpose of this letter I use the word God in the broadest possible sense that you and your contemporaries consider you want to use it, knowing not your religions. You could be Mohammedian, Jewish, Buddhist, or some other thing. It makes no difference.

I simply cannot believe anything like this emanating from the campus of Providence College! Yes, perhaps from those schools under the behavioristic system, i.e., Providence College, not from Father Robert G. Walsh or Horace Mann, but not from Providence College!!

I think it all strange, exceedingly strange, that you now criticize and pick apart that the virtues of the Dominican Fathers, when you must have or should have known of it and its standards, before entering the College. Why now? If you are so inclined in your thoughts, (De gustibus non est disputandum) there are those colleges (a famous one in Massachusetts) where you are taught along the behavioristic system, i.e., you are not responsible for the consequences of your acts.

It is truly a shame that you do not give yourselves the opportunity to really study and to savor the cosmology course. It is equally a shame that you don't give yourselves the opportunity of truly studying and to savor the philosophy for the full four years. There are big questions here. Ask them of yourselves:

(a) Who really are you?
(b) What are you doing?
(c) Why are you doing it?
(d) Are you developing your own individual person, or are you just running blindly with the pack, no matter the consequences?

There are big questions here. Ask them of yourselves:

1. Repulse in space, if something goes wrong with a vehicle in orbit, how can it be fixed? Answers must be found. If large-scale space operations are to become a reality, for this and other assignments Air Force scientists and engineers will be called upon to answer in the next few years, we need the best brains available.

2. Lunar learning. The exact composition of the lunar surface, as well as structural and propulsion characteristics of the space vehicle, enter into this problem. Important study must remain to be done to show just how each spacecraft, vehicle, you could be the one to do it.

3. Life-support biology. The filling of many vessels needs to be accomplished. As the conditions of space are as unique as those on the earth, care must be taken to help us to understand the importance of your decision. Write for it today.

That is liberalism in its purest sense. Can you not in like manner be equally as liberal and leave us with our own philosophy?

When I matriculated at Providence I did not then know of the value of what I was then being taught until I got out into the hard, realistic world. Perhaps many among us feel that everything is quite as it should be at Providence. The impact of all that was taught to be eventually hit me square between the eyes and now I know the value of it all. In all our present-day and relevant thought I can best sum an argument against it all, and again if memory serves me correctly it goes thusly, as written by the old Irish poet, Thomas More: "Go wing thy flight from star to star, from world to lumenous world As far as the universe spreads its baning wall, Take all the pleasures of all the spheres? And multiply each by a million years. And one moment of heaven is worth them all!"

I realize that I have taken certain liberties without discussion had with the administration but everything herein contained assure me you are, is intended in the best interest of Providence College, the Dominican Fathers and certainly of your entire student body.

Sincerely yours,
James E. Bobolan

To the Editor:

This weekend an "unwritten law" of Providence College was enforced by a priest and a Pinkerton guard, upon a female visitor of a resident student. The law holds that no girls are allowed on this campus. What is the justification for the misogynic overtones of this law? Why hasn't the students been informed of this law in writing before its embarrassing enforcement plant?

COLLEGE STUDENTS EARN YOUR TUITION and then some . . .

Many students do . . .

with the modern Hood Ice Cream mobile unit. Manley Solomian has found, through past experience, that college students make excellent mobile route salesmen. Sales have been high with almost every college student on this program.

If you need to "earn your way," a Hood mobile truck is the perfect way to do it. Hood mobile trucks are available on either lease or purchase plans. With a minimum investment, you can make as much money as you wish.

Many of our student vendors net as much as $2,000 for the summer.

Here are 7 knotty problems facing the Air Force: can you help us solve one?

1. Repulse in space, if something goes wrong with a vehicle in orbit, how can it be fixed? Answers must be found. If large-scale space operations are to become a reality, for this and other assignments Air Force scientists and engineers will be called upon to answer in the next few years, we need the best brains available.
2. Lunar learning. The exact composition of the lunar surface, as well as structural and propulsion characteristics of the space vehicle, enter into this problem. Important study remains to be done to show just how each spacecraft, vehicle, you could be the one to do it.
3. Life-support biology. The filling of many vessels needs to be accomplished. As the conditions of space are as unique as those on the earth, care must be taken to help us to understand the importance of your decision. Write for it today.

6. Space propulsion. As our space flights cover greater and greater distances, propulsion—more than anything else—will become the limiting factor. New fuels and new propulsion techniques must be found, if we are to leap on exploring the mysteries of space. And it may well be an Air Force scientist on his first assignment who makes the big breakthrough!

7. Pilot performance. Important tests must still be made to determine how the pilots of manned aerospacecraft will react to long periods away from the earth. Of course not every new Air Force officer becomes involved in research and development work right away. But where the most exciting advances are taking place, young Air Force scientists, administrators, pilots, and engineers are on the scene.

It was at this point that Senator Kennedy expressed his own thoughts about the Viet Cong. He believes that the Viet Cong have no thoughts of negotiating because they would consider negotiating a loss. The Senator also declared himself in firm support of the U. is difficult to say: "We are as good as, if not better, than last year's prospects, Carr, both of whom bested both URI and Boston College will provide the strongest team PC has ever tried to flip a circular disk into a cup. What kind of relay doubling.

The fact that these two championship events are on separate days at the Penn Relays will prove an advantage to a team that races are won the track and only Fri., Saturday and Sunday will reveal the winners.

More than a few eyes will be on the black and white. Just to cool down, the Friars won the Westerly 5 mile road race for the 5th consecutive year last Sunday. Brown was second, Rider 5th, Cremon 8th and Fusco 9th for the Friars.

Maj. E. Hornstein

 Killed In Action

A Mass for the late Major Edmund Hornstein has been scheduled for Thursday, April 28, by the ROTC cadet brigade. He graduated from the Special Forces at the time of his death.

The selection committee was comprised of the officers and board of directors of the league, headed by Ken Kimball and Larry Derito.

Golf Team Set For Triple Match
At Vesper Country Club Tomorrow

It's golf time again and the Friars are scheduled to be playing the fairways with the same deadly accuracy that characterized last year's impressive 13-3 season.

Last Friday P.C. took the Rhode Island State Championship in convincing fashion by beating both URI and Brown 6 and 1. The Friars were led by Dave Adamonis and Bob Carr, both of whom earned a score of 77. The victory was the Smith Hillies' first over the Easter in three games.

Commenting on his team's prospects, Coach Prisco had this to say: "We have had some upsets. I am optimistic but it is difficult to tell how a team will do until it experiences the pressures of match play." Coach

Dorm Hockey League

By JOE McENNINEN

Ken Kimball, president of the P.C. Dorm Hockey League, has announced the recipients of the awards, for the season recently completed.

Voted as the Most Valuable Player was Bert, a junior. Bert, from Lewiston, Maine, volunteered to play goalie for his team when their goalie failed to show, and after that he couldn't get him out of the net, since he went on to perform as well as any goalie.

There was a tie in the balloting for the Most Improved Player. Jeff Duffy, a junior from Attleboro, and Joe McMen-
Friar Nine Nips Assumption in Prep for Bruins

By Pete Meade

A bases-loaded single to right by Saradnick capped a two-out, ninth inning rally as the Friars edged the Assumption. School won a baseball game at Hendricken Field last Monday. Ken Bennett, in relief of Jimmy Jones, was the winning pitcher, as Providence ended its four game tailspin with the 5-4 victory, bringing the season's ledger to three wins against five defeats.

For the Friars, this victory ended a scoring drought during which they managed to score only ten runs in the last six ballgames.

Coach Alex Nahigian summed up the trouble of the Friars to date:

"After the opening game, the team went into a batting slump. Leaving men on base, and failing to produce the clutch hit when needed, it has been causing contributing to our losses."

At the beginning of the season, hitting appeared to be the strong point for Providence, but has since failed to live up to expectations.

"Now the boys went into their slump, they all began to press and try harder at the plate, but you cannot hit when you are not relaxed. I have tried shuffling the lineup and using different men to get some base hits, but so far the breaks haven't been going our way."

These breaks that Coach Nahigian was talking about are explains multiple errors before Saradnick's game-winning single ended the contest.

The bright spot for the Friars so far is their defense. With Saradnick and Bill Peteling working together, the team has been getting the double play when needed.

"We have been turning over a couple of double plays each game. The defense has done their job as indicated by the fact that Providence has only been out of one contest, that being the 16-2 loss to Northeastern."

Explaining the shape of the team for their final stretch drive, Nahigian commented:

"Our pitching has been adequate, but not really outstanding. Joe Twooney, I have two heartbreakers in his outing against Fairleigh Dickinson earlier in the season. Outside of Twooney's effort, the rest of the staff has pitched well enough to win most games. If the hitters come to life, Providence is going to give the rest of its opponents a very difficult time."

Defense and Hustle Is Frost Strength; Hitting Needs Work

By Vin Papi

"Outstanding defense... a lot of hustle... need a few more base hits..." These, in the words of Coach Vic Cuddy, are the assets and liabilities of this spring edition on Freshman baseball.

Their record thus far, 6-2, is not a true indication of the team's overall ability. The defense has been "outstanding" in all phases while the offense has not yet shown that it can come up with that big hit. Both losses have been by one run (1-0 to Holy Cross and 2-1 to URI) and in both there were men in scoring position, needing only a hit to bring them around. One bright spot, however, is the hitting of first baseman Andy Martella. Although he is small as first basemen go, Andy has come up with two extra base hits thus far.

The defense is led by a very strong pitching corp which consists of Ed Dempsey and Steve Nelson (assistant coach), left John Kowalski (put in a fine six innings against URI), and Mike Ryan and Carl Roeder.

Both the infield and outfield have been platooned thus far in an attempt to keep players fresh. At his position Martella has been at first base while John Neashako and Phil Sousa share the chores at second base. At both John McGuire and Bob Labanara have been working while Vin Cimini is at third. The catching chores are being shared by Gene Murphy and Charlie Haddick, both of whom can also play the outfield.

In the outfield Dave Gavitt and Jim Burke have both seen action in left while Bill Harrington has been in center along with Norm Saucher in right.

Penn. Relays; Next Track Target

This past week the eyes of the track world were on Boston and New York, just where our Friars happened to be. A clear and sunny Patriot's Day crowd saw the annual running of the Boston Marathon last Tuesday. After many weeks and hundreds of miles of intense training, five of the best conditioned distance runners in the East represented PC at one of the finest in the world.

The first collegiate to complete the 26 mile test was PC's John Campbell, 3rd in 2 hours, 31 minutes and 54 sec. Behind him were Paul Robey behind the plate in the hopes of strengthening his overall defense.

Bennie Norton and Bob Butler, sophomore pitchers, were added to the squad after the Friars' three game road trip down south. Each pitched for the freshman team last year, and will be used mostly in relief."

PC Tennis Team Gets Late Start; To Face Crusaders at Home Friday

By Brian Maher

The debut of the 1966 edition of the Varsity Tennis team has been postponed twice because of rain and cold weather. Coach Dave Gavitt feels that this may hurt the team for now it must open against a strong squad from rival Brown University, rather than the weak team last year.

Coach Gavitt expects a successful season with the keepest competition coming from Brown, Tufts, Holy Cross and Spring field. He feels that the intensity shown by the players this year is far greater than that of years past. The boys have worked out on their own during the off-season and the coaching staff feel that it will pay off. In a practice match against Bryant a few weeks ago, the squad played as if it was a game.

This year's "racket squad" will be composed of six regulars and five alternates. In each match there are six singles and two doubles with a point being earned for each win. Here is a closer look at the players:

Kevin Phelan—Sr., Bristol, Conn.—Number one player, probably the most potential of any player in school's history, very strong with big service; with consistency he'll be tough to beat.

Bill Watterson—Sr., Newport, R. I.—Big surprise, was number six last year but worked hard over the summer; serve is his big weapon.

Ed Hadlock—Jr., Cranston, R. I.—Has shown great improvement, plays his best close to the net, needs some work on his serve.

Brian Mahan—New Bedford, Mass.—Has developed greatly, excellent strokes and good potential, may be surprise. (Continued on Page 9)
