GE College Bowl Invites Friars to Participate

Providence College has been invited by General Electric to appear on the G.E. College Bowl, on Sunday evening, October 30, 1966. This is a tremendous opportunity for the college to achieve national exposure for our academic programs. This program is carried by more than 200 stations over the NBC television network, with an average viewing audience of about 15 million people. It is broadcast live and in color, Providence College will be the challenger of that week's defending team.

Mr. Edward C. Brennan has been named by Father Haas to be the coach for PC, and it is his duty to supervise the selection of the team.

To field a representative team, preliminary competition will be open to the whole student body. Anyone interested will be allowed to take the preliminary, forty quiz examination which will be held on Tuesday, May 3, at 3:15 in Albertus Magnus. All students interested should register for the examination at the Public Information Office before May 2.

The cut-off point has not been determined as yet. Those selected from this preliminary group will be put through a series of tests which will in-
Letters to the Editor

It is not a general policy of the COWL to publish letters to the editor on the editorial page. We felt, however, that the following letter was in a special category and deserved particular notice.—The editors.

Ability for the rhetoric does not necessarily make for the truth, and I hasten to add, "Little knowledge is a dangerous thing, drink not, etc." If memory serves me correctly a few years back, Aleister Pope, Jonathan Swift and Emerson said something to the same common effect. Certainly, even from the early tenures of this letter you must realize that I take sharp exception with your editorial. I believe in free will. But the shocking thing here is, that you and yours are not yet in position to judge what is right for you and what is not. Are you refusing yourselves this chance? Is this neo paganism? Are you using The Cowl to further the joining of that group or groups who will tell their teachers what and how to teach them, knowing not what? Are you to teach your teachers—or to teach your teachers what and how to teach you? (Continued on Page 6)

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"Well, Mrs. Delany, you'll just have to stop washing potatoes until this rash clears up."
ROOMMATES REVISITED

This morning's mail brought a letter from a student at a prominent Western university (Princeton). "Dear Sir," he writes, "In a recent column you said it was possible to get along with your roommate if you try hard enough. Well, I'd like to see anyone get along with my roommate!" Mervis Trus (for that is his name) practices the ocotlana all night long, keeps an alligator, wears knapsack slippers, and collects airplane tires. I have tried everything I can with Mervis Trus, but nothing works. I am desperate. (signed) Desperately."

But you, dear Desperately, really tried everything? Have you, for example, tried a measure so simple, so obvious, that it is easy to overlook? I mean, of course, have you offered to share your Personna? Super Stainless Steel Blades with Mervis Trus?

To have a friend, dear Desperately, you must be a friend. And what could be more friendly than sharing the bounty of Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades? Who, upon enjoying the luxury of Personna, the nickless, scrapeless, tugless, hackless, scratchless, matches comfort of Personna, the ease and breeze, the power and glory, the truth and beauty of Personna—who, I say, after such jollies could be without a friend?

Personna is available both in Double Edge style and Injection style. In a recent column you said it was possible, for being so new, to get along with Personna—who, I say, after such jollies could be without a friend. Infection style is the ease and breeze, the power and glory, the truth and beauty of Personna, the nickless, scrapeless, tugless, hackless, scratchless, matchless comfort of Personna, the luxury of Personna, the nickless, scrapeless, tugless, hackless, scratchless, matchless comfort of Personna, the ease and breeze, the power and glory, the truth and beauty of Personna.

No, dear Desperately, your problem with Mervis Trus is far from insoluble. In fact, as roommate problems go, it is pretty small potatoes. Compare it, for example, to the classic case of Basil and E. Pluribus, roommates at a prominent Easter University (Oregon) were at an impassable impasse.

Basil and E. Pluribus, roommates at a prominent Eastern University (Oregon) were at an impassable impasse. Basil and E. Pluribus roommates at a prominent Eastern University (Oregon) were at an impassable impasse. Basil and E. Pluribus, roommates at a prominent Eastern University (Oregon) were at an impassable impasse. The room was too dark for Basil to study. E. Pluribus turned the lights off, the room was too dark for Basil to study.

Well sir, these two intelligent American kids found an answer. They got a miner's cap for Basil! Thus, they had enough light to study by, and still the room was dark enough for E. Pluribus to sleep.

It must be admitted, however, that this ingenious solution had some unexpected sequelae. Basil got so enchanted with his miner's cap that he switched his major from 18th century poetry to metalurgy. Shortly after graduation he had what appeared to be a great stroke of luck: while out prospecting, he discovered what was without question the world's largest fiberglass mine. This might have made Basil very rich except that nobody, alas, has yet discovered a use for fiberglass. Today Basil, a broken man, squeezes out a meager living as a stagatime in Albany Claghorn.

Nor has E. Pluribus fared conspicuously better. Once Basil got the miner's cap, E. Pluribus was able to catch up on his long-lon sleep. He woke after nine days, refreshed and vigorous—more vigorous, alas, than he realized. It was the all-night shift. E. Pluribus stayed in line with his classmates, waiting to shake the Dean's hand. At last his turn came, and E. Pluribus, full of strength and heft, turned to the dean and his firm handshake—so firm, indeed, that all five of the Dean's knuckles were permanently fused.

The Dean sued for a million dollars and, of course, woo. This morning's mail brought a letter from a student at a prominent Western university (Princeton). "Dear Sir," he writes, "In a recent column you said it was possible to get along with your roommate if you try hard enough. Well, I'd like to see anyone get along with my roommate!" Mervis Trus (for that is his name) practices the ocotlana all night long, keeps an alligator, wears knapsack slippers, and collects airplane tires. I have tried everything I can with Mervis Trus, but nothing works. I am desperate. (signed) Desperately."

But you, dear Desperately, really tried everything? Have you, for example, tried a measure so simple, so obvious, that it is easy to overlook? I mean, of course, have you offered to share your Personna? Super Stainless Steel Blades with Mervis Trus?

To have a friend, dear Desperately, you must be a friend. And what could be more friendly than sharing the bounty of Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades? Who, upon enjoying the luxury of Personna, the nickless, scrapeless, tugless, hackless, scratchless, matches comfort of Personna, the ease and breeze, the power and glory, the truth and beauty of Personna—who, I say, after such jollies could be without a friend. Personna is available both in Double Edge style and Injection style. In a recent column you said it was possible, for being so new, to get along with Personna—who, I say, after such jollies could be without a friend. Infection style is the ease and breeze, the power and glory, the truth and beauty of Personna, the nickless, scrapeless, tugless, hackless, scratchless, matchless comfort of Personna, the luxury of Personna, the nickless, scrapeless, tugless, hackless, scratchless, matchless comfort of Personna, the ease and breeze, the power and glory, the truth and beauty of Personna.

Dennis McKenna and Joe Hadley prepare an attack on the United Kingdom's resolution on Rhodesia.

---COWFOTO BY JOHN S. DAWBER, JR.

Beach Boy Concert . . .

(Continued from Page 1) Beach Boys have acquired a very polished sound for recording and personal performances. They now use all the modern electronic techniques for needing the box wax. In light of these observations the Beach Boys can be counted on for offering a night's worth of enterainment.

It is the policy of the Beach Boys to include within their act two additional groups. The groups appearing with them will satisfy the fan of the new breed of rock and roll, and the fan of the standard comedy routine.

The Lost play an assimilation of many different kinds of music — rock, folk, blues, jazz — but their forte is the new rock-folk or rock-blues sound. They have received national expulsion with "Maybe More Than You", "Back Door Blues." The group has been featured in concert with Sonny and Cher, the Supremes and others, and their popularity at colleges and in teenage nightclubs is unrivalled in New York and New England.

The second group, the Uncalled For Three, present an exercise in electric antics and quips on everything from television commercials to ventrilo-quistia. They have appeared regularly at Bitter End coffeehouse and guest appearances on Shindig. They have been acclaimed "irresistible as mimes improvisers, joke tellers or physical clowns."

Tickets have been available since last week and will continue to be sold at the ticket office in Alumni Hall, 3 p.m. It is advisable to purchase the tickets as soon as possible, since the remainder is to be made available to the Providence general public.

---SUNDAY, APRIL 25, 1965

VINCENT'S PRESCRIPTION PHARMACY
"THE BEST IN DRUGS"
VINCENT N. CIAYATTA, Reg. Pharmacist
364 Admiral Street
GA 1-6003

MATCH EM

Fifty answers, your picture, a hand writing sample, your birthday, three dollars and some luck will get you an ideal date at the Beach Boys concert you meet at a social gathering at the end of May, ($3 includes dance, $2.50 refundable if match impossible). Write:

THE CUPID COMPUTER COMPANY
BOX 3018, NORTH STATION, PROVIDENCE, R. I.
CALL 421-0401 (9 to 5) --See Campus Agent--
AED Holds Banquet To Induct Members

The Providence Chapter of the Alpha Epsilon Delta, national pre-medical honor fraternity, initiated its new initiates with an awards program followed by a celebration banquet, Monday, April 24, at Hummocks Restaurant in Providence. Gardner received the main address delivered at the cocktail and roast beef affair. Father's talk, pertinent to professional society as an honorary fellowship, was presented by Edward K. Annis, M.D., past president of the American Medical Association, and was entitled, "What Kind of a Profession Am I Preparing For?" This was the main question discussed at the convention, and Providence's pre-meds gained a better insight into its answer by their association with Doctors and Biologists from all over the United States. Since the convention is bi-annual, most of the AED members are able to attend at least one of these rewarding experiences.

As part of its program objectives, the AED recently held a meeting between juniors and seniors to discuss the Medical College Admission Test which the juniors fake in May. A cake sale to alleviate the financial burden of the convention expenses was held in front of St. Mary Church on March 27 and the parishioners proved very interested. The chapter activities for the remainder of the year will include a six-week "attendance" trophy, and the "Rick and the Rogues" will be held at the Student Union last week: "One of two more meetings scheduled--a Junior Weekend with the theme "If I Were a Professional.""

The focal point of the weekend will be the Junior Prom to be held at the King Philip in Providence, Massachusetts. This will be a formal (black tie) and formal affair. Favors for both guys and girls will be distributed, and a queen will be chosen. The Prom is from 8:00 to 1:00 a.m., and will be held on Friday, May 6, 1967.

On Saturday, May 7th, a clambake at Chopmist Hill Inn in Scituate, Rhode Island, will be held from 11:30 to 3:30. The location of the clambake is only 15 miles from the college. Refreshments, food and dancing with "Rick and the Rogues" will all be provided. There will be games and twenty acres to get lost in.

Saturday night will include refreshments, dancing, music by "The College," and girls will be on the boat for the clambake. The boat will leave from the State Pier in back of the Shipyard at 7:15 and return at midnight.

A 10:30 Mass in Saint Joseph Chapel followed by a Communion breakfast at Maria's in Cranston are planned for Sunday, May 7. The Very Reverend William Paul Hass, O. P., president of the college, will be the special guest speaker at the Communion breakfast. All this is available for the price of $2.50. Bids are available at the 10:30 breakfast in the Alumni Hall Cafeteria.

Junior's Announcement Weekend Activities

The class of '67 will hold its Junior Weekend with the theme "Togetherness" on May 6, 7 and 8. The Junior Sing Night festivities will be held at the Eagles Home, 857 Eddy Street, Providence, on Thursday May 5th. This event will be from 8:00 to 1:00 a.m., and refreshments and entertainment will be provided.

Mr. Porter announced the appointment of his editorial board and production staff at an organizational meeting last week: Bryan V. Maguire, '67, Associate Editor; Dennis A. Wentsch, '67, Poetry Editor; Robert A. Holton, '67, Prose Editor; Robert J. MacDonald, '67, Art Editor; Production Staff: Stephen Moody, '68, Thomas Thomson, '68, Joseph Mancini, Jr., '68, James Borges, '69.

Bruce is a member of the Arts and Letters Society, Italian Society, and a Charter Member of the Providence College Political Union. After graduation he hopes to pursue a career in journalism.

Cramming Clowning Crushing Pubbing Frugging

Mr. Wrangler

PERMANENT PRESS Shirts and Slacks of FORTREL® and cotton

From dawn to discotheque, they're a staple with Wrangler. Permanently pressed 50% Fortrel polyester and 50% cotton make Mr. Wrangler your best buddy from early classes to just-off-classroom poses. Wrangler is guaranteed for one year's normal wear.

They stay like new forever. In a full range of colors and styles.

SEE YOUR LOCAL STORE FOR FAMOUS MR. WRANGLER SHIRTS & SLACKS or write

Mr Wrangler
350 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10001

Hair Styling, Razor Cutting

RITZ BARBER SHOP
997 Smith Street, Providence, R. I.
Hours 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tues.-Sat.

Scoot right down to Hospital Trust
And open your CheckMaster Account!
"Open your account this week!"

RHODE ISLAND HOSPITAL TRUST COMPANY
434 SMITH STREET, PROVIDENCE
NEAR CAMPUS
Opportunity Given To Sociology Majors

An opportunity for Providence College sociology majors to earn $1.75 per hour while conducting sociological research has been announced by Mr. Georgios Pan. Piperopoulos, member of the college’s faculty and research associate with the Progress for Providence program.

Progress for Providence is an agency which attempts to bring the disadvantaged poor closer to the programs designed to ease their pressures. It is operated by the Division of Community Services of the City of Providence.

Progress for Providence, Inc., has been in contact with PC in the past, using the campus for the orientation of the summer interviews employed by their “Teenagers’ Probe”; through the Very Reverend Vincent C. Dore, O.P., ex-president of the college and member of the Agency’s Board of Directors; through utilization of volunteer students working in various P.P.P. programs, etc.

“The present project, however,” Mr. Piperopoulos said, “represents the beginning of what might be termed as a long lasting and mutually beneficial cooperation not only for Progress for Providence College, but primarily for the Sociology students at the College who are given a well compensated and useful practical experience in the field, under my supervision.

Providence College, he said, will be involved in the first operation of the project, which is coding and punching the information gathered for IBM computers. Fifteen students are now employed as coders. Father George McGregor, O.P., is acting as a consultant for the project.

Mr. Piperopoulos hopes to find positions for fifty to seventy-five students next year.

Frosh Weekend

The plans for the Frosh Weekend have been completed and are being sold. The Weekend will cost $20.00 and for all those who are going to attend, the complete payment must be made by Friday April 28th. Mr. William Powell, Secretary of the class.

The Weekend will begin on Friday, May 7th, with a semi-formal dance at the Rhode Island Yankee Motor Inn, 8:00-1:00. Music will be provided by “The Others.” On Saturday a boat-ride from 11:00 a.m. till 4:00 p.m. will be held. The boat will leave from the State Pier in Providence; the “Right Honorable Gentlemen” will play during the excursion. That night the “Beach Boys” will give a concert at Alumni Hall starting at 8:00 p.m. Following the concert a catered dinner will be served at the Cliff House in Warwick at 10:30 p.m. Sunday, May 9, a Mass will be celebrated at 11:00 a.m. in Guzman Hall for the members of the class and their dates, after which a continental breakfast will be served in Raymond Hall. Following a tour of the Weekend an “open-house” on campus will be held that afternoon.

Weekend Packets, containing the necessary tickets and directional maps will be distributed later on this week.

Brother Antonius To Appear at P.C.

Brother Antonius celebrated San Francisco, a verse play written and performed with great success, and after his release from the service, he met a fallen-away Catholic whose struggle back to her faith led to his own conversion. They are attending the University of Santa Clara.

When Brother Antonius was about to leave the service, he received the news that one of the San Francisco’s missions was to be closed down. He decided to stay for a year longer and to work with the missions. The visit of Brother Antonius to P.C. is one of the highlights of the Frosh Weekend.

Have 18 bowls of vintage burgundy ...on us!

Enjoy a free full-size pouce of Burgundy. An aromatic blend of vintage tobaccos, fine taste and pleasant wine aroma, for the smoothest smoke ever to come out of a pipe. Clip the coupon now. Cheers!

THE COWL, APRIL 28, 1966
Letters to the Editor

(Continued from Page 2)

And, if you are seeking (the fancy phrase of the day) "academic freedom"—have you asked yourselves, "freedom" or from what? I am not really seeking freedom from authority, everyone knows that that is impossible. I am seeking freedom from God Himself.

For the purpose of this letter I use the word God in the broadest possible sense that you and your contemporaries want to use it, knowing not your religions. You could be Mohammedan, Buddhist, Jewish, or any other, or you want to be just running blindly with the pack, no matter the consequences.

I simply cannot believe anything like this emanating from the campus of Providence College!!

I think it all strange, exceedingly strange, that you now criticize and pick apart that the values of the Dominican Fathers, when you must have or should have known of it and its standards, before entering the College? Why now? If you are so inclined in your thoughts, De gustibus non disputandum, there are those colleges (a famous one in Massachusetts) where you are taught along the behavioristic system, i.e., you are not responsible for the consequences of your acts.

And multiply each by a million years.

And one moment of heaven is worth them all?

I realize that I have taken certain liberties without discussion had with the administration but everything herein contained I assure you, is intended in the best interest of Providence College, the Dominican Fathers and certainly of your entire student body.

Sincerely yours,
James E. Boborah
Class of '37

To the Editor:

This weekend an "unwritten law" of Providence College was enforced by a priest and a Pinkerton guard, upon a female visitor of a resident student. The law holds that no girls are allowed on this campus. What is the justification for the misogynic overtones of this law? Why haven't the students been informed of this law in writing before its embarrassing enforcement in my presence?

Kevin M. Tubridy '68
Richard A. Stupak '68
Peter F. Curran '68
David A. Mortimer '68
Anthony C. Silva '68
William C. Martin '68

Here are 7 knotty problems facing the Air Force: can you help us solve one?

1. Repairs in space. If something goes wrong with a vehicle in orbit, how can it be fixed? Answers must be found. If large-scale space operations are to become a reality, for this and other assignments Air Force scientists and engineers will be called on to answer in the next few years, we need the best brains available.

2. Lunar landing. The exact composition of the lunar surface, as well as its structure and propulsion characteristics of the spacecraft, enter into this problem. Important study remains to be done in order that an acceptable official could be the one to do it.

3. Life-support biology. The farming of microbes can provide food in long periods of time in space is one of the most important subjects for Air Force scientists to visit. The results promise to have vital implications for our life on earth, as well as in outer space.

4. Space orientation. The orbital problems of a spacecraft, including its ability to maneuver over selected points on the earth, are of vital importance to the military utilization of space. There are plenty of assignments for young Air Force scientists in this area.

5. Synergetic plane changing. The ability of a spacecraft to change vehicle also to be crucial to space operations. Where in the Air Force could be the 5th to get the chance to work on such fascinating projects right at the start of their career?

6. Space propulsion. As our space flight cover greater and greater distances, propulsion—more than anything else—will become the limiting factor. New fuels and new propulsion techniques must be found, if we are to keep on exploring the mysteries of space. And it may well be an Air Force scientist on his first assignment who makes the big breakthrough!

7. Pilot performance. Important tests must still be made to determine how the pilots of massed anti-satellite spacecraft will react to long periods away from the earth. Of course not every new Air Force officer becomes involved in research and development right away. But where the most exciting advances are taking place, young Air Force scientists, administrators, pilots, and engineers are on the scene.

The Cowl, April 28, 1966

Manley Colonial
A Subsidiary of H. P. Hood & Sons

College Students
EARN YOUR TUITION and then some . . .

Many students do . . . with the modern Hood Ice Cream mobile unit. Manley Colonial has found, through past experience, that college students make excellent mobile route salesmen. Sales have been high with almost every college student on this program.

If you need to "earn your way," a Hood mobile truck is the perfect way to do it. Hood mobile trucks are available on either lease or purchase plans. With a minimum investment, you can make as much money as you wish.

Many of our student vendors net as much as $2,000 for the summer.

For further information, or a descriptive brochure, contact:

Manley Colonial
A Subsidiary of H. P. Hood & Sons

Newport, R. I.
Sophomore Class Reveals List Of Weekend Activities

The Social event of the year for the Sophomore class is coming up the weekend of May 6, 7 and 8. The dorm students will put their dates up in the Esquire Motel in Seekonk.

The weekend's festivities begin Friday night at 9 p.m. with a semi-formal, non-floral dance at the Wrist Mill in Seekonk. The dance, featuring the Polynesians, will terminate at 1 a.m. Hod-d'oeuvres will be served and favors will be given out.

For Saturday afternoon a boat ride is planned. The boat will leave from the Municipal Wharf in Providence at 11 a.m. and will return at 4 p.m. Refreshments will be served and dance music will be provided by the Travelers.

Saturday night a concert by the Beach Boys from 8 to 10 p.m. will be given in Alumni Hall. Following the concert there will be a post-concert party at the Casino in Roger William Park.

Sunday morning Mass will be offered in the Grotto at 11 o'clock. Following Mass breakfast will be served in Alumni Hall. From 2-5 p.m. an open house will be held in the dorms. Also a field in Lincoln Woods will be reserved for anyone who wants to go on a picnic.

Bids are now on sale for $22. Mike Doody, weekend chairman, urges all who wish to attend the weekend to put their deposit down as soon as possible because only 250 bids will be sold due to the limited space on the boat.

Veridames Social

The Veridames of Providence College will hold their 24th Annual Bridge and Fashion Show in Raymond Hall on Saturday, April 30, at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Edward P. Ryan is chairman of the event. Mrs. John J. Cavanaugh, Jr., is ex-officio.
Subject to change without notice.
Dorm Hockey League Awards Participants

By JOE McMenimen

Ken Kimball, president of the P.C. Dorm Hockey League, has announced the recipients of the awards, for the season recently completed.

Voted as the Most Valuable Player by the league was Bugs McDonough, a junior who starred at Potomac High School in suburban Washington.bug was one of the best players in the league, and on many a night was called upon to play the whole game to keep his team in the game.

Rookie of the Year was awarded to Bert Paradis, also a junior. Bert, from Lewiston, Maine, volunteered to play goalie for his team. When their goalie failed to show, and after the game the goalie didn't get him out of the nets, he went on to perform as well as any goalie in the league.

There was a tie in theballoting for the Most Improved Player between Jeff Duffy, a junior from Attleboro, and Joe McMenimen, a senior from Wattham, Mass. Both had never played hockey before last year, and after joining the Dorm League, they improved to the point that they were both valuable assets to their teams.

Bugs McDonough, a senior out of New Haven, Conn., was selected the Outstanding Senior. Bugs Scudder took over the reigns of the team when its captain was injured, and had to drop out of play. Scudder performed like a gentleman, both on and off the ice, and was a credit to the league.

The Most Sportsmanlike Award went to Jeff Scudder, a sophomore from Cottol, Mass. Scudder took over the reigns of the team when its captain was injured, and had to drop out of play. Scudder performed like a gentleman, both on and off the ice, and was a credit to the league.

Maj. E. Hornstein Killed In Action

A Mass for the late Major Edmund Hornstein has been scheduled for Thursday, April 28, by the ROTC cadet brigade. Major Hornstein was recently named as the winner of the President's Award and Joe McMenimen, a senior from Waltham, Mass. Both had never played hockey before last year, and after joining the Dorm League, they improved to the point that they were both valuable assets to their teams.

Maj. E. Hornstein, who was killed in action in Vietnam.

More than a few eyes will be focused on this basketball game, according to Coach Prisco, who predicted a tight contest between the Friars and the Rams in three days at the Penn Relays. The only Friar who had not already turned in a fine season was Dave Adamonis, a senior who starred at Providence College and was selected as the Most Valuable Player by the league.

The selection committee was comprised of the officers and board of directors of the league, headed by Ken Kimball and Larry Derito.

Golf Team Set For Triple Match At Vesper Country Club Tomorrow

It's golf time again and the Friars are ready to challenge the fairways with the same deadly accuracy that characterized last year's impressive 13-3 season.

Last Friday P.C. took the Rhode Island State Championship in convincing fashion by besting both URI and Brown 6 and 1. The Friars were led by Dave Adamonis and Bob Carr, both of whom earned a score of 77. The victory was the Smith Islanders' first over the Rams in three years.

Commenting on his team's prospects, Coach Prisco had to say: "We have had a good run of balance. I am optimistic but it is difficult to tell how a team will do until it experiences the pressures of match play." Coach Prisco thinks that Holy Cross and Boston College will provide the biggest test for the Friars. Captain Joe McMenimen is also optimistic: "We are as good as, if not better, than last year's team. We have better overall balance."

There is a misconception on campus, noted by Coach Prisco, that students are not welcome to watch the matches. "This is not true," he said. "We indeed welcome students to all our games. Anyone who wants to come to any of our games will not be asked to leave."

Setting of upcoming match:

April 25—Lowell Tech and St. Anselm
April 26—Merrimack at Kirkbrae C.C.
May 3—Tufts and Springfield at Tufts
May 10—Holy Cross and Boston College.

Tennis

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Most impressive of the events scheduled for this year was as a freshman, could be the last one at that level. "I am a junior who will not play in all phases of the game."

Mike Tidio-Sopla, Providence, R. I.—With experience, the star lefty will be a strong sixth man, stable in all phases of the game.

Back the first team will be Mike Patterson, John Reil, Jim O'Connor, Jim McCoy and Kenny Johnson. So with good luck and good weather the tennis team is expecting to make a good showing.

From the Sportsdesk

By Vincent Marrotoli

"Madam Rocky," he panted, "I need your help. I need to know if PC ever got that Fall sport."

"Sit down, savau," she retorted, "my crystal ball will answer any question you have about PC. Now, what is this about a Fall sport? All I see are a group of students from PC and a friendly neighboring girls' school trying to flip a circular disk into a cup. What kind of sport is that?"

"Well, Madam Rocky," he shot back, "I guess the student body eventually did get together to sponsor a non-contact sport. Do you see anything else?"

"Yes, I see someone with a white sheet picking names out of a hat."

"It seems that they are still having difficulties with the ticket situation," he lined up. "They still have not learned that a suitably sized field house has many financial benefits."

"Very enlightening," she said. "Now I see some object in a state of putrefaction."

"Oh, that must be the corruption of sports," he slurped. "But what of the ameliorated basketball schedule?"

"Ameliorated? What does that mean? If it means stinkier, then it has ameliorated. In fact, there are more stinky teams than ever. But wait, here is something interesting. Everyone attending this basketball game is cheering when the other team scores from the foul line."

"I guess they finally tamed the animal section," he roared. "But how are the bus excursions?"

"Do you mean the caravan with the police escort? I would imagine they have found a way to control things. But please," she begged, "may we not continue this later. I find it very fatiguing."

"Well, until next year, then," he belabored.

I imagine that after perusing the editorial section and noticing all the recapitulations, many readers expected to see the same in the sports' column. And not to disappoint anyone, I wanted to follow in tradition, if everyone could bear with me.

No one writes editorials for his own benefit. There is always some problem which confronts the writer, yet the time and effort is graciously spent in the belief that others will be influenced. Of course, deaf ears will always be turned, but I thought the "twenty-five cent" words worth everyone's trouble.

But as for me, it was worth it. I never expected the student body to lose sleep because of my ideas or the Athletic Department to change any of its policies because some crack-pot editor went off on a tangent. No, it was worth it only to feel that seeds were planted in the minds of many people; it was worth it when people praised you for some issue, if only rarely.

There is one person whom I would like to thank specially, but unfortunately, I do not know his name. But to the student who came up to me and shook my hand, I say thanks for your inspiration.

Frosh Baseball

(Continued from Page 12)
Friar Nine Nips Assumption

BY PETE MEADE

A bases-loaded single to right by Steve Saradnick capped a two-out, ninth inning rally as the Friars edged the Assumption Crusaders at Hendricken Field last Monday. Ken Benussi, in relief of Jimmy Jones, was the winning pitcher, as Providence ended its four-game tailspin with the 5-4 victory, bringing the season's ledger to three wins against five defeats.

For the Friars, this victory ended a scoring drought during which they managed to score only ten runs in the last six ballgames. Coach Alex Nahigian summed up the trouble of the Friars to date:

"After the opening game, the team went into a batting slump. Leaving men on base, and failing to produce the clutch hit when we need it, have been causes contributing to our losses."

At the beginning of the season, hitting appeared to be the strong point for Providence, but has since failed to live up to expectations.

"Since the boys went into their slump, they all began to press and try harder at the plate, but you cannot hit when you are not relaxed. I have tried shuffling the lineup and using different men to get some base hits, but so far the breaks haven't been going our way."

These breaks that Coach Nahigian was talking about are explained by 2nd baseman Bova as the Friars’ failure to come through in tying or winning a game. "We have been out of one contest, that being the 10-2 loss to Northeastern."

In the bottom of the ninth, the Friars scored four runs in relief of Jimmy Jones. As- sumption committed four consecutive errors before Saradnick's game-winning single ended the contest.

The bright spot for the Friars so far is their defense. With Saradnick and Bill Pettingill working together, the team has been getting the double play when needed.

"We have been turning over a couple of double plays each game. The defense has done the job as indicated by the fact that Providence has only been out of one contest, that being the 10-2 loss to Northeastern."

Explaining the shape of the team for its final stretch drive, Nahigian said: "Our pitching has been adequate, but not really outstanding. Joe Twomey is our two-out heartbreaker in his outing against Fordham last year. Outside of Twomey's effort, the rest of the staff has pitched well enough to win most games. If the hitters come to life, Providence is going to give the rest of its opponents a very difficult time."

Friar Nine Nips Assumption in Prep for Bruins

PC Tennis Team Gets Late Start;
To Face Crusaders at Home Friday

By Brian Maher

The debut of the 1966 edition of the Varsity Tennis team has been postponed twice because of rain and cold weather. Coach Dave Gavitt feels that this may hurt the team for now it must open against a strong squad from rival Brown before the rest of its opponents come to life.

Coach Gavitt expects a successful season with the keenest competition coming from Brown, Tufts, Holy Cross and Springfield. He feels that the intensity shown by the players this year is far greater than that of years past. The boys have worked out on their own during the off-season and the coach feels that it will pay off. In a practice match against Bryant a few weeks ago, the squad played "out of sight".

This year's "racket squad" will be composed of six regulars and five alternates. In each match there are six singles and two doubles with a point being earned for each win. Here is a closer look at the players:

Kevin Phelan—Sr., Bristol, Conn.—Number one player, probably has the most potential of any player in school's history. Very strong with big service; with consistency he'll be tough to beat.

Bill Watterson—Sr., Newport, R.I.—Big surprise, was number one last year but worked hard over the summer; serve is his big weapon.

Emile Martinier—Jr., Cranston, R.I.—Has shown great improvement, plays best close to the net, needs some work on his game.

Brian Mahon—New Bedford, Mass.—Has developed greatly, excellent strokes and good potential; may be surprise.

Charles Hadlock—Soph. (Continued on Page 9)

Penn. Relays; Next Track Target

This past week the eyes of the track world were on Boston and New York, just where our Friars happened to be. A clear and sunny Patriot's Day crowd saw the annual running of the Boston Marathon last Tuesday. After many weeks and hours of miles of intense training, five of the best conditioned distance runners in the East represented PC against some of the finest in the world.

The first individual to complete the 26 mile test was PC's Al Campbell, 3:23.2, followed by Bobby Fusco, just 32 seconds and one place behind. Freshman John Grange turned in a new PC frosh record, 2:55.00, finishing 56th, one of the first freshmen to finish. The Friars' quintet was composed of Andy Pettingill, 3:03 min, and Jim Schwartz, 3:30 min.

Once again every Friar to start the race finished, a tremendous tribute to both Coach Hanlon and his squad, already looking forward to another top cross-country season next fall. It's a proven fact in track circles that the teams who place at the Queens-Iona Relays are the teams to watch at Penn. Using just six men in the two championship events to which they were invited, the Friars finished (Continued on Page 9)

This Week in Sports

SATURDAY, APRIL 28

SUNDAY, MAY 3