It has recently been announced by the Dean that the annual "Awards Night" will be held on Monday, June 6th. This evening will consist of a parents' night for the parents of the five hundred and eighty-two graduating seniors. In addition to this, the traditional presentation of awards will be made to those graduating seniors who were considered to be outstanding during their college careers.

The following information contains the awards which are to be presented at this evening, the names of the recipients, and the departments from which the awards were to be presented.

The following list contains the names of seniors graduating from Providence College with honors:

A Freshman Class of approximately 750 students will be wandering helplessly around campus next September. If they are seen in need of help, please assist them for they are the remnants of 2500 high school students who applied for admission to PC this year. Fr. Gardner, O.P., the Dean of Admissions, released several interesting statistics about the first class of the new decade. From the number of those wanting to matriculate, 1322 were accepted. As of May 12, 621 students cancelled their admissions and 683 have committed themselves. As of the present there are facilities for only 750 freshmen. Of those accepted, 630 applied as resident students and 507 applied as day students.

The number of applicants this year is 111 up from last year's final total of 2509. The fact that there are too many applications sent in and insufficient facilities to accept a majority of admissions has prompted the Admissions Office to reset the applications deadline from April 1 to March 1 next year. Fr. Gardner admitted, "You can consider too many.

The number of states and foreign countries which will be represented by the freshmen elect is uncertain. The Admissions Office, however, did detect a surprising number of transcripts from secondary schools who have never negotiated with P. Cherefo. Also, the Admissions Office has been contacted by New England guidance counselors to find in many cases schools outside the Northeast for their students. An indication of this can be that the high school outside the Providence area will be best represented by the Class of 70 will be Bergen Catholic of Oradell, New Jersey.

The freshmen may compete for the 122 monetary achievement awards offered by PC. In addition to this, sixty-nine grants are available to the freshmen. These grants include partial scholarships to the brothers of overachieves. A portion of the quarter will be a million dollars that is being requested from Congress will also be apportioned for freshmen in need.

Getting into Providence College was easier for the Class of 66 than for their vices. According to Fr. Gardner, "the overall admission process did tighten up." Fr. Gardner also said that there are students who were rejected this year that would have been accepted three or four years ago, indicating a rise in the attitude of the average freshmen are the College Board scores which have been steadily rising with the number of applications this year.

John Nissen, a Humanities major, has been elected overwhelmingly, as "The Cowl Senior of the Year" by the members of the faculty, administration, and student body.

Some of the activities and programs which John has participated in during his career at Providence College are: Dean's List (by semester) 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, Student Congress, Vice President, senior year; President, youth; Who's Who; Arts Honor Society, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6; Friars Club; and member of the Student Faculty Board and the Student Administration Board.

The present editorial board of The Cowl nominated those who, in the opinion of the board, met with the requirements of the award—satisfactory scholarship, service to the College as manifested in the support of extra-curricular activities, pride in the College, character, personality, patriotism, and qualities of leadership demonstrated over four years as a student of the College.

Various members of the faculty and administration select Brown with 25 points and Willes three seniors in order of preference. Points were awarded on a 3-2-1 basis.

John received 48 points in the balloting followed by Barry

Committeemen Announce Final Plans for Senior Gift

The college will give $250.00 to the senior class gift this year. The Class of 66 will be presented with a plaque of brass and a model of a team of horses to accompany the plaque. The plaque and model will be placed in the lobby of the Administration Building.

"Thumbs up ... or down!"

Threats, laughter, sighs of relief, groans of revenge ... there's ONE thing about a teacher evaluation that is always present at the end of the year: it is cut to an absolute minimum!

Aside from this rather negative approach, there are some aspects of a survey to the University community that are potentially invaluable to both students and faculty in attempting improvement.

It has long been the contention of critics of the educational system that the situation presented in the classroom is one of the most difficult to judge accurately. The problem, for some students, is that they were made equivalent, and for others, that the student and the "F" student (perish the thought) was hardly without its drawbacks. For another, many students may not know how the course material is objectively placed on an equitable level.

For example, this priceless knowledge to the student himself really knows how the system works, to say the least, for the student to impart this critical knowledge to the unspecified test takers is a matter of great concern.

There's no problem with the situation presented in the classroom for another, many students feel that the situation presented in the classroom is one of the most difficult to judge accurately. The problem, for some students, is that they were made equivalent, and for others, that the student and the "F" student (perish the thought) was hardly without its drawbacks. For another, many students may not know how the course material is objectively placed on an equitable level with the good. So much for the problem.

In any case, the evaluation itself was hardly without its drawbacks. For one thing, the opinion of both the student and the professor of the instructor (perish the thought that there should exist such a one as he) were made equivalent, and this should not be so. Adieu!

Adieu are always difficult to render because they tend to lose their sincerity with overuse, and also because any real sentiment is buried in trite emotionalism. But the Senior Class is leaving, and it is time for saying adieu. So without lauding their accomplishments in a burst of nostalgia, or costing their failures in a last act of editorial kindness; may we simply wish our graduates "Godspeed" and refer them to the advice reprinted here below.

This open letter was originally published in the May 23 issue of the Cowl, 10 years separate for two generations in two classes, but the problems of facing the uncertainty of life that greeted the Class of '41. The philosophy of free men is threatened with extinction. You leave disillusioned.

You are disillusioned because being caught in the malstorm of human events your rosy-eyed visions of the future are clouded with doubt and uncertainty. Uncertain, doubtful, skeptical, and disillusioned you go forth feeling that your four years of study, effort, and labor have been wasted.

You cannot now see the value of your education here at Providence College; it would be folly to suppose that you did. The principles that you have been taught will not be reaped in a day, or a year, or a month. You cannot balance and weigh the merits of your learning merely because you have your diploma in hand. Rather when that wisdom comes, then you will appreciate and see clearly the fundamental teachings which you have been so privileged to acquire. If you waver in these doctrines that have been instilled in your minds you may give up the ghost and fall into the rank and file of those who used to be, the limbo of forgotten men."

Activities are important for those students who exist solely for the purpose of being involved. They will either be good or bad. If they lose sight of their potentiality and fall into the herd's placidity, the easy way out, it will be bad. However, if they put into practice what they have learned and remember the true relationship of values, it will be good. Their students, co-workers and families, as well as their Church and country, will be better because of them. Most important of all, their lives will be happy, well adjusted and profitable.

To these to whom tomorrow is hopefully entrusted, these timeless words of Archibald MacLeish are directed:

"We shall not have peace ... until the world we war for has been born. But it will not be born until we recognize it, until we shape it with our expectation and our hope. The new worlds do not bring themselves into being. Men's minds, when they are ready for them, find them. The labor and the longing must be ours . . ."

GERALD G. McCLURE

"For the future of America is ours to make ... it is ours to shape. It is ours to shape, not because we have many plans or a great number of ships or industrial resources, but for a different reason: because we have the power as a people to conceive, because we have behind us a tradition of imagination in the people.

But because we have the power, we also have a responsibility to use the power — while there is still time.

GERALD G. McCLURE

The Thistle, Q. 166 and 167, where the virtue of studiousness is concerned as a part of temperance. This is particularly significant at this time with "Spring Fever" slipping into the picture with many of us taking finals. Restraint in studying by studying only those things that are intended to be studied and to the extent that they are applied directly to your needs.

There are some who exist solely for the ball field, and others who don't know what, or where, a ball field is. Study when your needs call for study, and relax when the ball calls for relaxation.
To the Editor:

Dear Virginia,

I have read your letters, editorials, and columns with great interest and I find you are truly the voice of the student. You have told us that the PC Gentleman is a myth and that you must learn to accept it. I must learn and to accept is that the PC Gentleman is a reality. The number of peartists and other people who have not seen any good in this world since Adam bit into the apple.

Indeed, it is a sign of outstanding achievement. The college Alma Mater should be sung at all college events since the Winter Concert was a tour de force performance. Miss Cynthia Chadwick. Mckenna Elected To Pres. Position

The Providence College National Relations Club held its annual elections at its May 5 meeting, and the following were elected: D. McKenna, president; John S. Dawer, Jr., vice-president; John A. Dorman, secretary, and James Hosley, treasurer.

President-elect McKenna expressed the intention of expansion in all phases of the club's activities but with no major shift in emphasis. The feasibility of a high school Model Security Council here at PC was discussed, based on an inquiry presented by an inquiry...
Second Semester Exam Schedule

If you are scheduled for any two exams at one time—or for any three exams on one day—please obtain a conflict form from the Dean’s Office. Completed conflict forms must be returned to the Dean’s Office before noon, Friday, May 20.

If a course resigning a final exam is missing from this list, please notify the Dean’s Office.

R. Potenza Elected Friars Club Pres.

Richard Potenza '67 has been elected to succeed Cliff Marr '66 as the president of the Friars Club for the coming year. The elections were held on May 10. Also elected at this time were: Danny Walsh, '67, vice-president; Tom Kramer, '68, secretary; Terry Simpson, '69, treasurer, and Don Looney, '67, sergeant-at-arms.

On May 9 the Friars chose their new members from the Class of '67; the following were chosen: Pete Kenny, Kevin Byrne, Peter Thompson, Dick Mullowney, Fran O'Brien, Ken Gonzales, Bill Bennett, Pete Hefterman and Hank Sullivan.

From the Class of '66 the selections were: Mike Doodie, Tom Healy, Tom Greene, Pete Meade, Brian Maher, Bill Beaucer, Ed Lambert, Will Hanley, George Sylvestre, Don Sauvigne, and Joseph Brum.

And rounding out the selections were the Class of '69: Tom Burgess, Charles McCannon, Robert Looney, Robert Debold, Paul McGowan, Pat Daly, and Tom Caso.

of years. At least 1,000 applicants were qualified and could have been, easily accepted if faculty, space, and library limitations were not present to force the administration to set a 750 student maximum for the Freshman Class.

The College is also considering applications rendered from 271 students from various universities, colleges, and junior colleges. This number far surpasses any number of previous years.

The quality in the extremes of ability also indicates an intelligent Freshman Class. Thirteen students were accepted into the N.I.H.'s Honors Science Program and some were granted the opportunity to take Arts Honors courses. However, the College Board Scores indicate a need for only twenty-three students to take a remedial reading course which will be offered in the summer (this course which will be offered for the first time at PC this summer, has been given at various other institutions for a few years).

The College will be officially open to freshmen during Freshmen Week beginning September 12.

Guidance Officer Appointed

Raymond E. Thibeault, a retired Army officer, has been named guidance and placement officer for Providence College, the Very Rev. William Paul Haas, O.P., college president, announced today.

Mr. Thibeault will be responsible for student career guidance and counseling and will operate the college’s placement office effective May 23.

Mr. Thibeault retired from the Army last July as a Lieutenant Colonel. His last military assignment was as an assistant professor of military science with the Providence College ROTC. Since that time, he has been teaching at Nathaniel Greene Junior High School, Providence.

Class Gift...

the committee decided to solicit larger gifts.

The hope of acquiring large pledges led the committee to increase the goal to its present sum. There are at present 353 members of the senior class, and with each member of the class pledging $100, the goal would be $35,300. Also figuring in on the decision for a higher goal is the prospect of earning interest on the money while it is held during the five-year donating period.

After making his pledge, the member will be able to choose a plan for giving his money throughout the five years. Mr. Smith said that the pledge may, however, be paid in one sum.

All gift money will be sent to the alumni office here at the college. Participation in the project will qualify a member of the class as an active member of the Providence College Alumni Association with its many privileges, including basketball tickets at reduced rates, etc.

Mr. Paul Connolly, executive alumni secretary, will manage the funds for the class. Mr. Smith will remain responsible for the gift until it is given to the school at the fifth-year reunion. The traditional presentation will take place at the Parents Night activities on the night before graduation.

The committee felt that the administration is in a better position to judge the future needs of the college and therefore did not put any specific stipulations on use of the money, except that it be used in some physical object—a room in a new building, for instance.

LEO McNAMARA

Leo has hit home runs in his novice and junior ends. The particular stands out in his mind: "My biggest thrill was hitting a grand-slammer against Springfield last year." With PC trailing 4-1 in the ninth inning, Leo picked out a fastball and sent it soaring into left center, providing the base paths and turning defeat into victory.

His transition from short to third this spring has not seemed to bother the aggressive pepper pot: "I played third at Weaver High School, so the position was not new to me." When asked what is the hardest play to make at third, Leo answered the bunt. "You have to charge the ball fast and in many instances to make the off-balanced throw."

McNamara has always been known as a good fielder and stick, to spray to the ball to the left or right. But there is another side of him. "In combat my weakness by following the ball. I've never thrown," he replied. "The key is not to hesitate once you decide which way to throw. If you aim the ball, it's more likely to go astray."

Leo speaks highly of Coach Kehagian: "He has got more baseball savvy than anyone that I've ever known. He loves the game and you can tell he loves to coach. He treats us as individuals, and tries to get close to all of us.

The Friars' disappointing season and Leo's opinion, he partially attributed to over-abundance of bad breaks: 'I've never played with a team that had more hard luck. With a few breaks at the right time, we could have turned several of our defeats into victories. I don't want to make excuses, but it seems like we get the bad hop or the bunt call all at the wrong moments. We have a young club and I'm sure that we will be heard from in the future."

Leo is a political science major.

Jack O'Rourke is another addition to the club. There is nothing like "Kelly green captains." Leo's brother, Brian, was a Catholic University baseball. Brian, Kelly—hockey; Joe Monahan—football; Warren K. L. Jack packs 170 lbs on a 5'11" frame. Being a leader is by no means a novelty to Jack. Indeed, he came to Smith Hill by way of Paris Island. After completing two years at Salee HS in 1958, he entered the Marines for a four year hitch. While in the service, he served as section leader of a machine gun platoon. Now a guard on the U.S. Naval disciplinary team during his spare time, Leo has played defensive end on his battalion football team during his spare time. At Holy Cross, he was transformed into a catcher. We just have not been able to catch our share of the breaks."

Victories Mark End of Season

Coming on strong in the last two games of the season, the Frosh nine completed its schedule with two wins against four defeats. URI and Brown were the victims of the yearling's late surge as they succumbed to 6-5 and 3-2 defeats respectively.

"We had a pretty good season," said Coach Cuddy, "the boys really hustled and I'm sure that we will be heard from in the future."

The final question was put to Jack: To what do you attribute our disappointing showing so far this season? O'Rourke replied: "The name of the game is pitching and batting. We just can't seem to combine the two elements. One day our pitching is great and we can't believe what we're doing and the next day, we hit and don't get that good pitching. I'll say this about our club. We've made the big play in the field all year—this is an excellent fielding ball club. We just have not been able to catch our share of the breaks."

PC Rumps In ECAC Mile, Two Mile

Last Saturday the PC cinderella made another stop on their spring season. The occasion was the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference Championships at Central Connecticut in New Britain. The Frosh four, in turn, has given the PC a look at the future, just five events, and did all of their scoring in two of them, though for a fourth they finished in a tie for 14th teams.

Ralph Hernandez, one of the PC crew mentioned, added to his mile and mile and two mile titles and won a standing ovation from the crowd with his 4:08 two mile, perhaps the most exciting event of the day. Hernandez, second in 9:10. Al Campion, who also bettered the record with a 9:27.5 effort, good for fourth place for 5000 meters, time was 2 of a second faster than Brown and Hernandez. He ran again in the mile, Bob Pusco turned in a 9:33.2 mile effort to capture the gold pot.

In the 880, Bud Dobkins (2:00) and Tony Paskas (1:59) both fell to qualify for the final. Their times were 1:51.8 and 1:51.9 the best for the next two mile relay. After only a couple of weeks intensive running and a speed week ointment intensive marathon training, Bob Powers turned in a 4:08 mile. He placed seventh in the final with a 1:52.6.

Our lone weightman, Chuck Signore, barely missed qualifying for the final of the 880, threw 48'-4" a good loss in any meet. In the 440, Steve Hernandez won his trial in 49.9 and finished sixth in the finals with a 50.2. Hernandez' 880 and 1500 meter times were second in both.

The leading batmen on the frosh team this year were second baseman John Ne-dosko and outfielder Bill Harrington. Harrington was also stand out on the frosh basketball team. Harrington is "too bad," concluded Cuddy, "but for a few breaks he should have finished up at 70."
Confidence was the key as Captain Joe Monahan brought the team to a sudden death playoff led the Friars to their first New England gulping crown last Saturday. The highest previous team was third in the final list. To make sure of their place last year’s linkman while the highest in dividend finish was a tie for second place, also last season.

At the end of the first round of play the Providence College foursome was tied for the lead with Northeastern, Bill Carrol of Tufts was the individual leader with 79 while Jack Guiragos and Joe Monahan were four back with 83.

The second round, however, proved to be somewhat of a heartbreaker. Greg Walsh and co-captain Jack O’Rourke hit a solo home run in the second inning, but O’Rourke hit a two-run double in the fourth inning, but only run on a fielder’s choice. Walsh and O’Rourke led the Friars to a 3-1 victory at Newton. Sophomore Bernie Norton, experiencing control problems, was only run on a fielder’s choice.

The defense, which has been excellent all year, came up with a double play as PC won its fifth over Stonehill game with a three run opposite field home run. Greg Walsh and co-captain Jack O’Rourke hit a first collegiate pitching victory by hurling a five hit, 11-1, win over Stonehill College at Hendricken Field last Monday. For the Friars it was their sixth victory as compared with 11 setbacks.

Walsh and O’Rourke led the Friars’ onslaught with identical performances. Each had 2-for-4 at the plate, three runs-batted-in, and scored twice. O’Rourke hit a five hit, 11-1, win over Stonehill College at Hendricken Field last Monday. For the Friars it was their sixth victory as compared with 11 setbacks.

At the plate and in the field. The defense, which has been excellent all year, came up with a double play in the fifth inning of bad Pettingill out of a bases-loaded jam.

The University of Bridgeport fell victim to the fine hurling of sophomore Don Henderson as he led the Friars to a 3-1 victory last Saturday at the Stonehill field. In recording his third win against two defeats, Henderson gave up only five hits while walking eight in nine innings of work.

Steve Saradnick came through with clutch performances both at the plate and in the field. He had three runs-batted-in, and scored twice. O’Rourke hit a two-run double in the fourth inning, but only run on a fielder’s choice. Walsh and O’Rourke led the Friars to a 3-1 victory at Newton. Sophomore Bernie Norton, experiencing control problems, was only run on a fielder’s choice.

THE STONEHILL CATCHER had his problems with the ball at the plate and in the field. The defense, which has been excellent all year, came up with a double play as PC won its fifth victory of the season over Stonehill.

THE COWL DIDN’T WASTE ANY TIME getting Joe Monahan off the links and into the office to hear the story of his New England victory.

Boston College ended the Friars’ three game winning streak yesterday with a 3-1 victory at Newton. Sophomore Bernie Norton, experiencing control problems, threw several wild pitches and walked eight batters in the loss. All of the wild pitches figured in the scoring. He also drove Sullivan in with the Friars’ only run on a fielder’s choice.
