Awards And Honors
Announced by College

It has recently been announced by Dean of the Class of 1966, Mr. Robert Reisman, that the annual "Awards Night" is slated for Monday, June 6th. This evening will consist of a parents’ night for the parents of the five hundred and eighty-two graduating seniors. In addition to this the traditional presentation of awards will be made to those graduating seniors who were considered to be outstanding during their college careers.

The following information contains the awards which are to be presented this evening, the names of the recipients, and the departments from which these awards have been bestowed.

4. Life Time Achievement Award — Michael J. Paolantoni.
5. Hogan Award — Gerald Corin.
6. Annual Award — Harry James Brown.
7. Father Kane Award.
8. Shakespearian Speech Contest 1st prize, John McDonald.

The following list contains the names of seniors graduating from Providence College with honors:

A Freshman Class of approximately 750 students will be receiving high school outside the Providence area. They will be best represented by the Class of 70 who will be a Benedictine of the Order, New Jersey.

The freshmen may compete for the 122 monetary achievement awards offered by PC this year. Fr. Gardner, O.P., the Dean of Admissions, released several of these grants in the early part of the new academic year. From the number of those wanting to matriculate, 1328 were approved. As of May 12, 621 students cancelled their admissions and 683 have committed themselves. As of the present there are facilities for only 750 freshmen. Of those accepted, 682 applied as resident students and 507 applied as day students.

The number of applicants this year is 1,111 up from last year's total of 290. The fact that there are too many applications sent in and insufficient facilities to accept a majority of admissions has prompted the Admissions Office to set the deadlines for incoming students. As of May 1 to March 1 next year. Fr. Gardner admitted, “You can consider too many.”

The number of states and foreign countries which will be represented by the freshman class is now final. The fact that there are too many applications sent in and insufficient facilities to accept a majority of admissions has prompted the Admissions Office to set the deadlines for incoming students. As of May 1 to March 1 next year. Fr. Gardner admitted, “You can consider too many.”

Editorially Speaking

"Thumbs up... or down!"

Threats, laughter, sighs of relief, groans of revenge... there's ONE thing about a teacher evaluation to be appreciated, but let it be cut to an absolute minimum!

Aside from this rather negative approach, there are some aspects of a survey, if the student were made equivalent, and the question should be such a student and the 'F' student (perish the one thing, the opinion of both the 'A' "poor" professors stay poor, and are objectively placed on an equitable level with the good. So much for the problem.

As a solution the evaluation itself was hardly without its drawbacks. For one thing, the opinion of both the professor (perish the thought that there should exist such a one as he) were made equivalent, and this should not be so. For another, many of the questions were forced into the realm of ambiguity because of the variance of opinion among professors, even when the same subject matter was involved.

But all of this is to be expected. What is NOT to be expected is the reaction of some of the professors to the survey. It seems that the worst the evaluation could be accused of would be a bit of unnecessary vagueness, but some professors, convinced (?) of the malicious intent of it, refused to accept unsigned evaluations, and/or did not comply with the request that they be not purged by the professor before being turned into the Dean.

In one particular instance, a certain "professor," apparently in disagreement with the ideals of the survey, proceeded to make a complete mockery of it, (and himself), by destroying the unfavorable sheets and inserting his own replacements. I suppose in instances such as these no evaluation is really necessary, for the logical conclusion is only too obvious to the members of that class.

Conduct of this sort, coupled with the insincerity displayed by a portion of the students, tend to make the accuracy hoped for in any such survey, and jeopardize the very occasion of the system itself. What we have seen this week isn't the ultimate in perfection, but it is a start.

Let's appreciate what it's worth, and take it from there.

Adieu!

Adieux are always difficult to render both because they tend to lose their sincerity with overuse, and also because any real sentiment is buried in trite emotionalism. But the Senior Class is leaving, and apparently it is time for saying adieu. So without lauding their accomplishments in a burst of nostalgia, or coating their failures in a last act of editorial kindness; may we simply wish our graduates "Godspeed" and refer them to the advice reprinted here below.

This open letter was originally published in the May 23 issue of the Cowl, 16 years ago, to separate two classes, but the problems of facing the uncertainty of life that greeted the Class of '41 and one dissimilar to those which our grads will face. The letter was written when the world was immersed in a "hot" war; but we feel its advice will certainly carry some glimmer of meaning even in this age of suspended "cold" wars.

Gentlemen:

You will soon graduate. Armed with a scarcity of experience and a wealth of ambition you are entering a world in which the philosophy of free men is threatened with extinction. You leave disillusioned.

You are disillusioned because being caught in the maelstrom of human events your rosy-eyed visions of the future are clouded with doubt and uncertainty. Uncertain, doubtful, skeptical, and disillusioned you go forth feeling that your four years of study, effort, and labor have been wasted.

You cannot now see the value of your education here at Providence College; it would be folly to suppose that you did. The principles that you have been taught will not be reaped in a day, or a year, or a lifetime. You cannot balance and weigh the merits of your learning merely because you have your diploma in hand. Rather when that wisdom comes, you will appreciate and see clearly the fundamental teachings which you have been so privileged to acquire. If you waver in these doctrines that have been instilled in your minds you may give up the ghost and fall into the rank and file of those who used to be, the limbo of forgotten men."

Good Advice...

With the closing of another magnificent year at Providence College we are heading into the home stretch — not as it is by any means, the end. Typically, the college student rarely experiences that much drive.

You know how best to study for your particular needs. But St. Thomas has some tips on study that are beneficial the year round. One is the modern emphasis on conditions for better study, an emphasis seldom mentioned outside Thomistic circles. The other is restraint in studying — that is better seen in the Summa of Theologica, Q. 166 and 167, where the virtue of studiousness is concerned as a part of temperance. This is particularly significant at this time with "Spring Fever" slipping into the picture with the approach of finals. Restraint is attained by studying only those things that are intended to be studied and to the extent that they are applied directly.

There are some who exist solely for the ball field, and others wouldn't know what, or where, a ball field is. Study when your needs call for study, and relax when the bell calls for relaxation.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Dear Virgilio,

I have read your letters, editorials, and columns with great interest and find you are disturbingly accurate. You constantly prompt me to ask myself, "Is this the way I would have phrased that?"

I have now read, with considerable interest, your piece on the PC candidates. I am one of those Puritans against whom I have been accused. I am not a beatnik myself, but I do understand them. Many of my friends are beatniks and other people who have not seen any good in the PC since Adam bit into the apple.

Don’t be misled, Virgilio, by the image of the PC college. The world is full of pessimists and other people who really knew what it is like, to be titillated by a beatnik himself on the balcony for a day, "You will be very happy with the PC, pandemic and every member unavoidably shares the image of the Friar who was a parishioner of St. Pius. The second time he was convicted, and every member of the Friars who were so eye-pleasing to the audience at this final home concert, the Emmanuel College Glee Club was to have played host to the forty young ladies of Emmanuel College who were so eye-pleasing as well as ear-pleasing.

If this performance is any indication, the Emmanuel College Glee Club is a musical ensemble of a very high artistic caliber. The faculty they exhibited was most impressive. Beauty of tone, obvious mastery of their parts and facility in execution gave evidence to the superlative resources of this group; however, the total results were as much a tribute to the ma- terial, admirers, and all, artistic directing on the part of Sister Theresa Zullo, S.N.D.

Each of their musical presentations was, speaking most sincerely, an artistic endeavor worthy of all the grandiloquent adjectives I employ above. Above all, I was most impressed by the quality of the compositions selected. In each case we were presented with music of consider-able beauty as well as diffi- culty. Handel’s "Where e’er you go," a fine example of the Italian choral art of the Late Baroque. In the selection, "Priscilla," by the contemporary American composer, Chabrier, we were shown the courage and spirit of adventure as well as their tech- nical proficiency. While the singing of technical adeptness, I was surprised to find myself thinking of Tschaikovsky’s "Trepak." This was a tour de force performance by a company of remarkably virtuosi; the tempest was pre- cise and even, remarkably well executed.

Worthy of note was the well conceived and executed solo of Miss Cynthia Chadwick. Tonally beautiful the sure control as well as dramatic power were her high points.

Of all the selections they per-formed, the most impressive and inspiring was the Emmanuel College Alma Mater. The song was well and splendidly directed by the Director, the Chorale from Mascagni’s Cavalleria Rusticana, shown forth with an imposing strength in this faithful interpretation; and the text spoke with a clarity, strong and steady. It was a real strength which had been made to have there, and I look forward with anticipation to hearing them again.

The Providence College Glee Club was in better form than we are accustomed to hearing them. Everyone seemed to know their part and the direct- or seemed to be in good con- trol. Their finest work of the evening was "Russian Fancies" by Chopin which was a fine ex- pression, dynamics, balancing and phrasing; and the solo was very well handled. Improve- ments since the Winter Concert here were in evidence in all the numbers. For the first time, two glee clubs actually sounded very well together. The Waring was a spread of the Battle Hymn of the Republic" seemed to be a very well chosen one. It enabled both choirs to show their ability. If I must pick out one specific number which I would say that they were, for the most part, in the area of performance, I would say that this was much better, and tone control was surprisingly good at times. This was really quite an im- provement over the winter con- cert—keep up the good work!

In passing, I would like to note the fine example given by the Providence Glee Club’s performance of their Alma Mater. It is most unfortunate that we have al- lowed this hallowed (well, at least its hallowed at other col- leges) tradition to go neglected. Providence College students should be sung at all college ceremonies—How about it, gentle- men?

The Glee Clubs of Emmanuel College and the Providence College were presented "A Joint Spring Con- cert" in Harkins Hall, Emmanuel Uni- versity on Sunday, May 15, 1966 at 7:30 p.m.

A rather interesting and enjoy- able program was presented in a lively and appropriate ac- cents at this final home con- cert. McKenna Elected To Pres. Position

The Providence College International Relations Club held its annual elections at its May 5 meeting, the first time in history. Dennis D. McKenna, president; John S. Dawer, Jr., vice-president; John A. Roman, secretary, and James Hosley, treasurer, Joseph Hasley, outgoing president, reviewed the club's activities during the past year with regard to proposed events during the coming year.

The problem facing the IRC next year will be membership. With the graduation of the Class of 1966 there will be a lack of upperclassmen next year to balance the expected influx of freshmen and sophomores next year to balance the expected influx of freshmen and sophomores. Special attention will be placed on the recruiting of upperclassmen next year to balance the expected influx of members of the Class of 1970.

of years. At least 1,000 applicants were qualified and could have been, easily accepted if faculty, space, and library limitations were not present to force the administration to set a 750 student maximum for the Freshman Class.

The College is also considering applications rendered from 271 students from various universities, colleges, and junior colleges. This number far surpasses any number of previous years.

The quality in the extremes of ability also indicates an intelligent Freshman Class. Thirteen students were accepted into the NIH's Honors Science Program and some were granted the opportunity to take Arts Honors courses. However, the College Board Scores indicate a need for only twenty-three students to take a remedial reading course which will be offered in the summer (this course which will be offered for the first time at PC this summer, has been given at various other institutions for a few years).

The College will be officially open to freshmen during Freshmen Week beginning September 12.

Guidance Officer Appointed

Raymond E. Thibeault, a retired Army officer, has been named guidance and placement officer for Providence College, the Very Rev. William Paul Haas, O.P., college president, announced today.

Mr. Thibeault will be responsible for student career guidance and counseling and will operate the college's placement office effective May 23.

Mr. Thibeault retired from the Army last July as a Lieutenant Colonel. His last military assignment was as an assistant professor of military science with the Providence College ROTC. Since that time, he has been teaching at Nathan Hale Greene Junior High School, Providence.

Class Gift...

the committee decided to solicit larger gifts.

The hope of acquiring large pledges led the committee to place the goal at its present sum. There are at present 80 members of the senior class, and with each member of the class pledging $100, the goal would be $8,000. Also figuring in on the decision for a higher goal is the prospect of earning interest on the money while it is banked during the five-year donating period.

After making his pledge, the member will be able to choose a plan for giving his money throughout the five years. Mr. Smith said that the pledge may, however, be paid in one sum.

All gift money will be sent to the alumni office here at the college. Participation in the project will qualify a member of the class as an active member of the Providence College Alumni Association with all its privileges, including basketball tickets at reduced rates, etc.

Mr. Paul Connolly, executive alumni secretary, will manage the funds for the class. Mr. Smith will remain responsible for the gift until it is given to the school at the fifth-year reunion. The traditional presentation will take place at the Parents' Night activities on the night before graduation.

The committee felt that the administration is in a better position to judge the future needs of the college and therefore did not put any specific stipulations on use of the money, except that it be used in some physical object—a room in a new building, for instance.

McNamara and O'Rourke Bring Luck of the Irish

By BOB FRIED

If one were to pick an all-time Providence College All-starter team, the infield would not be complete without this year's Captain Leo McNamara. The fiery Irishman, a 5'9", 150 Ibm. senior, has compiled a .316 batting average over three varsity seasons. Last year, he led the Friars in both hitting and batting average.

Though of slight build, "Leapin' Leo" (so named by his teammates because of his tendency to leap before releasing the ball) has shown the ability to hit the long ball. He gets his power from his quick wrists, which he developed playing tennis. Indeed, in his sophomore year Leo was the ping-pong champion of the school.

Leo McNamara

Leo has hit home runs in his two years at Providence College, a particular stands out in his mind: "My biggest thrill was hitting a grandmother against Springfield last year." With PC trailing 4:1 in the ninth inning, Leo hit a fastball and sent it soaring into left center; the long ball passed the bases and turned defeat into victory.

His transition from short to first base was so smooth, "I don't get that good pitching," he says. "The key to go astray." In the 880, Bud Dobbins and Rich Duggan set records for his best mile effort to date. The mile mark, 4:11.3, the next day we hit but didn't get that good pitching. I'll say this about our club, we've made the big play in the field all year—this is an excellent fielding ball club. We just have not been able to catch our share of the breaks."

Victories Mark End of Season

Coming on strong in the last two games of the season, the Frosh nine completed its schedule with a couple of wins against four defeats. URI and Brown, who placed runner-up of the year's late surge as they succumbed to 6:5 and 3:2 defeats respectively. "We had a pretty good season," said Coach Hanlon. "The boys really wanted and actually six out of the seven spots for the starting lineup were decided by only one run."

The pitching staff was bolstered by coach Hanlon, who has described the Frosh nine as having the possibility of being an outstanding collegiate pitcher. Other standout performers were Rich Duggan, the left-handed hurler; Cal Bowden, and pitcher-outfielder John Kowalski. Chris Mortarity capably filled the backstop portion of the battery. To Richie Duggan we say the best of luck . . .

P. C. To Face Amer. Int. Univ. as Boston College Ends Friars Streak

Boston College ended the Friars’ three game winning streak yesterday with a 3-1 victory at Newton. Sophomore Bernie Norton, experiencing control problems, threw several wild pitches and walked eight batters in the loss. All of the wild pitches figured in the scoring. He also drove Sullivan in with the Friars’ only run on a fielder’s choice.

Greg Walsh and co-captain Jack O’Rourke paced the hitting attack as sophomore Bill Pettingill recorded his first collegiate pitching victory by hurling a five hit, 11-1, win over Stonehill College at Hendricken Field last Monday. For the Friars it was their sixth victory as compared with 11 setbacks.

Walsh and O’Rourke led the Friars’ onslaught with identical performances. Each had 2-for-4, and came up with the best outing at third due to Pettingill’s surge of the Friars has resulted in a sudden death playoff led the Friars to their first New England golding crown last Saturday. The highest previous team was third in the final list.

At the end of the first round of play the Providence College foursome was tied for the lead with Boston College and Assumption.

Walsh and O’Rourke came up with two runs in the second inning. Greg Walsh and co-captain Jack O’Rourke had four back with them on the mound. The late surge of the Friars has earned them a position at third in the final list. Walsh took advantage of his fielding. The individual leader with a .789 average, B. O’Rourke walked and Henderson singled. One out later, Saradnick unloaded a long triple to left which scored both runners and put the Friars ahead for good.

In the bottom of the ninth, Bridgeport fell victim to the fine hurling of sophomore Don Henderson as he led the Friars to a 3-1 victory last Saturday at the losers’ field. In recording his third win against two defeats Henderson gave up only five hits while mowing down eight batters.

Steve Saradnick came through with clutch performances both at the plate and in the field. He drove in Sullivan on a three run opposite field fence, the first of his collegiate career.

Pettingill came through with a fine outing for the Friars as he struck out 13 batters in giving up only one earned run. The defense, which has been excellent all year, came up with a double play in the fifth inning at bad Pettingill out of a bases-loaded jam.

The University of Bridgeport fell victim to the fine hurling of sophomore Don Henderson as he led the Friars to a 3-1 victory last Saturday at the losers’ field. In recording his third win against two defeats Henderson gave up only five hits while mowing down eight batters.

Steve Saradnick came through with clutch performances both at the plate and in the field. He drove in Sullivan on a three run opposite field fence, the first of his collegiate career.

Pettingill came through with a fine outing for the Friars as he struck out 13 batters in giving up only one earned run. The defense, which has been excellent all year, came up with a double play in the fifth inning at bad Pettingill out of a bases-loaded jam.
