Classes End... Exams Start Monday

Providence College honors St. Catherine of Siena
By Ted Cummary

Last Sunday, April 27, marked the first time that a building on the Providence College campus has been named for a woman. The dedication was part of a series of events that observed the 600th anniversary of the death of the Dominican Saint, Catherine of Siena. The Music/Theater building has been officially named Catherine of Siena Hall, honoring the woman who was proclaimed a "Doctor of the Church" in 1970, by Pope Paul VI.

"Catherine was an extraordinary woman for her time, helping the laity in every walk of life, whether they were kings, government officials or housewives," stated Dan Foster, News Bureau officer for PC. Foster added that she also played a major role in the life of the Church. The Rev. Robert B. Haller, O.P., co-chairman of the Anniversary Committee, commented, "Catherine is considered one of the primary teachers of the Christian Faith in the history of the Catholic Church." He explained that a committee was formed last May to plan for some type of celebration to honor the death of Catherine. He added that the church looks upon the death of St. Catherine as a joyous occasion, because it is the beginning of her saintly period.

Father Haller said that the committee decided that the best way to honor Catherine would be with a three day festival, involving as many of the school's departments as possible. Their success in doing so was marked by the participation of the theatre, music, and art departments, with the help of the Women's Liaison Committee. Father Haller added that Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., president of the College, strongly agreed with the idea. "He (Father Peterson) thought that it was high time a building be named after St. Catherine." Father Haller also mentioned that a conference was held in Rome and Siena yesterday, honoring St. Catherine. Sister Mary Ann Follmar, O.P., a member of the Graduate School of Religious Studies at PC, delivered a paper at that conference in Rome. Father Haller added that "this is quite an honor for Providence College."

The Rev. Thomas Ertle, O.P., chaplain of PC, stated that during the festival, "the College is expressing its gratitude for the saints who have blessed its history, and for the special grace that St. Catherine has brought to it. Her life, St. Catherine influenced the Holy Father and unified the Church. She symbolizes both the active work of a man with the prayerful part of that devotion." The Providence College Corporation, Foster said, serves as an "avenue for consultation" of the candidates and is a "direct channel" to the agency's chairman. More than 1000 baccalaureate and master's degrees will be awarded to members of the Class of '80 during the 10 a.m. Commencement exercises at the Providence Civic Center.

Biddle assumed the position as the third president of the N.E.A. on May 19 at the Providence College 62nd Commencement as was announced today by the Very Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., president of the College. The College will also confer an honorary doctorate on the agency's chairman. More than 900 baccalaureate and master's degrees will be awarded to members of the Class of '80 during the 10 a.m. Commencement exercises at the Providence Civic Center.

Biddle assumed the position as the third president of the N.E.A. upon U.S. Senate confirmation in November, 1977. Prior to this position, he served as special assistant to Senator Claiborne Pell (D-RI) and staff director of the U.S. Senate Subcommittee on Education, Arts and Humanities, which is chaired by Senator Pell. At special assistant to the Senator beginning in 1963, he drafted legislation which led to the establishment of the National Council on the Arts in 1964. He again drafted legislation leading to the establishment of the Arts and Humanities (1965), under which the Arts Endowment was created. Following enactment of the Arts Endowment legislation, Biddle served as deputy to the agency's first chairman and was instrumental in developing its organization and administration.

From 1968-1970, he left the N.E.A. to establish a new education program in the arts for Fordham University at Lincoln Center. In 1970, the Pennsylvania native returned home to assume chairmanship of the Pennsylvania Ballet Company, which was near bankruptcy. After the company had regained financial footing, he rejoined Senator Pell's staff and in 1975 was selected to create and direct the agency's first office of Congressional Liaison. One year later he returned to the U.S. Senate as Staff Director of the Senate Subcommittee on Education and Humanities, where he remained until assuming chairmanship of the N.E.A.

A graduate of Princeton University, Biddle first worked as a reporter with the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin. He is the author of four books, two of which are best sellers.

Providence College Corporation for the coming academic year. However, this does not eliminate the other candidates, junior Tim Ahearn and sophomores Tim Duggan, Steve Dooley and John Hasson. The student election serves as an "avenue for consideration" of the candidates and is the first step before an interview with Rev. James M. Murphy, O.P., who relays information about each student to the members of the Corporation. Winning the election is a step in the right direction, but the final decision made by the Corporation is not totally based on the election results.

The Corporation must determine who the most socially and educationally well balanced candidates are. Only upper-classmen are eligible to run for membership because of their familiarity and experience with Providence College. According to Father Murphy, who functions as chairman of the Nominating Committee, the candidates should be active and have pride in PC. He feels that a student can do much for the College as a member of the Corporation because it is "a great way for the alert student to take part in the peace and harmony of the College." Mike Corrigan, a political science major from Somerset, MA, if chosen, wants to help PC by giving "an organized representation to the Corporation." Corrigan's opponent for the senior position is Mike O'Connor, a political science major from Somerville, MA. Ahearn, a double major in

Congress News
By Morey Fay

Finances were the major topic of discussion at Monday's weekly meeting of the Student Congress. President Bill Pearson began the organization's final meeting for the '79-'80 year by congratulating Mike Corrigan and Jim O'Connor on their recent election to the Providence College Student Congress. He also announced that a medieval fair honoring St. Catherine of Siena would be held April 29, weather permitting, in front of Slavin.

Congress treasurer Ken McGunagle presented his financial report. He noted that the recent Quad party had raised approximately $1700, however, expenditures were some $200, with the Resident Board picking up most of the difference. All the figures cited are estimates. McGunagle also presented a proposed amendment to the Student Congress by-laws, which provides a built-in control of fund dispersals. Essentially, the amendment would set limits on the Congress' financial expenditures. This is achieved by setting a two hundred dollar limit on expenditures that can be made by the treasurer without first obtaining majority approval from the Congress' coordinator. In addition, it would require that a financial report be presented by the treasurer to the Congress on a weekly basis. An annual semester report would be made to the student body via The Cowl. The amendment was passed unanimously by all members present.

McGuang also submitted a tentative budget to Congress for approval. The budget gives the Congress approximated $37,400 with which to work in the coming year. One proposed section of the budget allows for an allocation of funds to each of the student bodies. Each Freshman class would receive...
News

Around the campus

Art Display

The Counseling Center’s art display will continue to be on exhibition during the day for the remainder of the week.

Grotto Mass

There will be an outdoor mass at the Grotto on Sunday, May 7:00 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

Student Art Show

Senior art works will be on display in the Art Gallery on lower campus beginning Wednesday, April 30. Photographs by Marianne Biron and Kenneth C. Perry will be shown, along with drawings by Janice Sal.

Biology majors speak at S.U.N.Y.

Debate Team Elections

Recently, sophomore Frank Manni and junior Donna Di Stefano were elected as co-chairmen of the 1980-81 Debate Team, while freshman Alan James was chosen treasurer. Manni, a political science major from Johnston, RI, served as junior chairman this past year. He and Di Stefano hope to continue the team’s tradition of success, which outgoing senior chairman, Peter Connorford, has established during the past three years. Di Stefano, a history major from Providence, RI, is presently spending her junior year abroad in Fribourg, Switzerland. Junta, an economics major from Middle­town, RI, succeeds Darla Cashioff as treasurer.

Marketing Club news

On Thursday, April 24, the Marketing Club sponsored a cocktail hour for Rhode Island businessmen and PC students.

Dr. Gerard O’Leary

Dr. Gerard O’Leary, Jr., of the department of biology was elected to the only permanent office (permanent secretary) of the Eastern Colleges Science Conference (ECSC) at this year’s business meeting at S.U.N.Y. Cortland on April 11. The ECSC is an annual conference held in the eastern half of the United States and is devoted to the presentation of papers representing the original work of undergraduates. Since its beginning at Vassar College in 1947, interest has increased in the conference and ever fifty colleges and universities attend this annual event. This conference is held at a different host institution each year and has been held at institutions such as Boston College, Penn State, Georgetown, Yale, West Point, and Fordham. The range of subject matter covered in the conference has also increased to include computer science, environmental biology, psychology and the social sciences as well as biology, chemistry, mathematics, physics and engineering.

Excep that for the permanent secretary, all other officers are from the host institutions and serve for one year. The permanent secretary is elected for a minimum term of three years and has the responsibility of the permanent files and the annual publication of the conference’s activities. He also assists the host institution, especially with respect to overall planning and finances. Dr. O’Leary is succeeding Professor Stanley Shepard of the department of physics, the Pennsylvania State University. In introducing Dr. O’Leary after the election, Dr. Shepard noted that he was impressed with Dr. O’Leary’s level of participation at the ECSC and that he was confident that the conference was in good hands. Dr. O’Leary has co-authored 25 undergraduate presentations at this conference since 1976. One of Dr. O’Leary’s goals, which was received with much enthusiasm at this year’s conference, is the establishment of a regional, refereed journal for undergraduate research which would span the scientific disciplines.

The event was held in Aquinas Lounge and it proved to be an enjoyable evening for both executives and executive hopefuls. The cocktail hour provided students with an opportunity to meet with businessmen on an informal basis. This type of atmosphere was conducive to a variety of conversation, including discussions of the faltering economy and student concerns about employment opportunities.

The businessmen that attended represented some of the following companies: Metropolitan Life, Prudential, American Tourister, Citizens Bank and New England Telephone.

A congratulations is extended to the Marketing Club, for the cocktail hour was a true success.

A cultural season in review

Isa Candelmas

My critic’s efforts at review now come to a season’s close. A season which introduced a new conductor for the Philharmonic, now housed in the lavish glitzer of the Ocean State, and finished among the musicians, causes me to wonder—will we see the orchestra? whether Cusatoto’s intentions and ambitions? We shall wait and see.

The issue of programming brings me to the Chas recital of March 14. Undoubtedly, she possesses a fine talent for the piano, technically highly practiced and quite sensitive to the textural intricacies of such an instrument. The Debussy Preludes illustrated this nicely. In her performance of the Waldstein sonata by Beethoven, she showed a firm grasp of the music’s demands, highlighted at this work with her driving tension through the last movement. But the Waldstein as well as the equally lengthy and complex Schumann Carnaval, fall into the cliched category of war horses. Because of their technical difficulty, the fans of the composer, and the admittedly glorious beauty which commands our attention, they appear and reappear in recital programs. The danger to a performer not internationally recognized and hot on the recording circuit lies in the temptation for comparison. If the Chas Carnaval interpretation

See CANDLEMAS, Page 11
Budget Committee Interviews

By Karen Ryder

The Providence College Budget Committee has announced the following upcoming interviews for the position of student representative for the 1980-81 academic year.

The committee, which is chaired by Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., president of the College, is comprised of Joseph L. Seals, vice president for Business Affairs; Rev. Robert A. Morris, O.P., vice president for Research and Development; Dr. Paul V. Thompson, vice president for Academic Affairs; Dr. Raymond Sicking; Dr. James J. Tattersall; Dr. Josephine A. Ruggerio; Bob Scalzi, '82, holds the position of student representative to the Committee on Administration; and Peggen McGeirick, '80, student representative to the Budget Committee.

Its basic responsibility is to review budget proposals for all areas of the College in an informal manner. Any revisions and recommendations deemed necessary are then made by the committee. The group, which met extensively during the school year particularly during the months of January and February, is also involved with decisions regarding tuition and room and board fees. All the committee members carry equal weight in all decisions that are voted on.

Interviews, which will be conducted by the Executive Board of College, the student representatives to the Budget Committee, and the student representative to the COA, are open to all students. At the conclusion of the interviews, three names are presented to Father Peterson for consideration in their qualification for the job. Father Peterson finalize the selection process by choosing the one student he feels can best fulfill the responsibilities of the job.

The Budget Committee represents the students, faculty and administration. All students interested in the position of representative to this committee are urged to attend an interview on Thursday, May 1, 1980, from 2:30-4:00, in the Student Congress office.

Social Work

Under the auspices of the social work department, a new organization has been instituted at Providence College. The newly formed Social Work Alliance is chaired by Valerie King, a member of the Class of 1982. Seals, '82, holds the position of vice-president, with Cathy Shea, '83, as secretary, and Colleen Duffy, '81, in the position of treasurer.

King described the basic purpose of the Social Work Alliance as an eventful club for the social work majors, in which they can voice their concerns about issues relating to the social work field.

The student-initiated alliance has been receiving great support from the social work department, and has many suggestions for activities for the coming year. One major goal is to establish a liaison between the Providence community and volunteers from the social work department. These volunteers will take an active part in dealing with social casework cases within the surrounding community. Having such included volunteers will greatly enhance the qualifications of these volunteers in filling positions within the social work field.

The Alliance also hopes to establish an in-service training program at PC. Such a program would entail enlisting representatives from various social work agencies to conduct seminars, and show films on topics such as alcoholism and child abuse.

The faculty of the social work department also has a liaison with the students, through the student representatives currently serving on the board are Patty Martin and Karen Coyne, both of the Class of 1981.

The Social Work Alliance, as well as the social work department, has high hopes for the successful activation of these new changes and proposals for the coming academic year. Its ultimate goal is to attain enough funds to gain membership in the National Association of Social Workers.

Math department reviewed

By Elizabeth Walsh

On Thursday, April 25, the President's Colloquium Committee held a meeting to discuss the curriculum of the math department. This committee, under the chairmanship of Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., president of the College, was organized to oversee revisions in the academic program. Father Peterson began the meeting by asking John King, Ph.D., chairman of the math department, to comment. King stated that overall, the math department was doing very well, but a few problems do exist. He stated that the problems the department faces is the recent decline in the number of students in the math/education program. The decrease makes the program the college course and it faces its potential for expansion.

King said that one of the reasons for the decrease is that high school seniors do not realize the opportunities that exist in math/education. King also stated that more students are shifting to the math/computer science program, because the jobs are more assured.

The department, stated that as the other disciplines become more quantitative, the math department will become more of a service department to them. Lavoie suggested the possibility of having the first semester of statistics taught by the math department and the second semester taught by the members of the statistics department. Lavoie stated that by doing this, the students would have a better foundation in statistics.

The Planning Committee will decide how these suggestions can aid the College in its overall academic planning.

Class Not 1980

Have you picked up your commencement number from the Dean's office? 1981

“Farewell to Seniors” Tonight, 8-12 p.m.

Alumni Cafe & The Rat featuring the return of “The Paul Wayne Revue” —special for seniors— 1982

“End of Civ Extravaganza” Today, 3-7 p.m.
Editorials

COWL calls for civ rep review

Since its introduction in 1971, the Western Civilization program has developed into an integral part of the PC academic. The founders of the DWC program recognized the need of student input during the beginning years of DWC, and thus they recommended the creation of a corps of Civ representatives.

Civ representatives, during the first few years, played a fairly active role in examining, discussing and streamlining the program. Obviously, there was a great need for student participation at that time. The Cowl Editorial Board feels there still remains a need for DWC representatives.

Civ representatives have the potential to be active liaisons between students and faculty or students and administrators. An incoming freshman, if having difficulty with some aspect of the program, such as a difference with a seminar professor, may feel intimidated by approaching the professor himself. A Civ representative could ease the tension that occasionally arise in student/teacher relationships.

Presently, the Civ representative election lacks coordination and proper management; some teams have reps, some do not, some reps are active, some are not. Therefore, the Editorial Board of The Cowl urges the DWC coordinators to establish a standardized election procedure for Civ representatives. A standardized election process would provide the Providence College students with proper representation in his journey through western civilization.

The Editorial Board of The Cowl further recommends that the Civ reps meet more frequently with Dr. Fortin, coordinator of the DWC program, and their respective team members. A working rapport between Civ faculty, administration, and students could only enhance the success of the Western Civ program.

Dr. Mandelare: What is the password?

Last week The Cowl published an editorial about the PC computer system. Since that time, the Editorial Board of The Cowl has learned that there are serious problems involving the operation of our tie-in with the Brown University computer center. The Brown system handles computer languages other than BASIC, the language used by our own HP-2000F academic computer.

Our information shows that many students will not be able to complete this semester's projects involving the Brown system. This apparently has been caused by a lack of cooperation between those who run the PC Academic Computer Center and the student body. The Center's director, Dr. John J. Mandelare, evidently did not inform these students that their password would be locked in the system if not used at the beginning of the semester. Consequently, they have been unable to log on to the Brown system since the beginning of April. Repeated attempts by these students to get Dr. Mandelare to reissue their passwords have failed. Also, other information about the Brown system has not been explained, thus causing programs to be lost and students' time to be wasted.

The Cowl Editorial Board feels that action should be taken to correct this semester's problems. Hopefully, next semester, communications between the Academic Computer Center and the student body will be improved.

Next COWL be published this summer.

BOG Congrats

The Board of Governors is a multi-faceted organization that is responsible for the programming and coordination of events at Providence College. The Cowl Editorial Board salutes the '79-'80 BOG for meeting this responsibility aggressively and creatively.

The BOG as a unit. The goals of any college organization is to achieve unity among its members. Last year's BOG, with 27 chairpersons, as well as 100 volunteer workers, achieved such a unity. A spirit of comradeship among '79-'80 BOG board members created an atmosphere conducive to a successful year of programming.

The ultimate goal of organization. Organization was the key to the BOG's success. Getting the Board to back in advance was one of President Tom Corcoran's major concerns. This year's Board, therefore, placed a great emphasis on "planning ahead," as it booked groups, lectures, and so forth. See BOG, Page 11.

From the Editor's desk...

Last week the Editorial Board of The Cowl changed hands. The new Board is a very qualified and competent staff. Each new Board member has different ideas which are vital to the growth of The Cowl. As a newspaper for the entire student body, we welcome suggestions from those who are not on our staff, since they likewise foster this growth.

One of the goals as Editor-in-Chief of The Cowl is to increase student awareness of the issues that affect our campus. Also, I hope to promote the many different types of organizations available to the PC student body.

As can be expected with any turnover of the leadership in an organization, some changes were made last week. We created these changes to meet the needs of our student body. The Cowl is an influential medium; therefore, we have redesigned its format and have added a new section, Metro-Update. We hope this new coverage of local events will expand the knowledge of PC students have of the area around our campus.

The Cowl is potentially one of the most powerful and useful tools available to the student body. I encourage all students to take advantage of letters to the editor and Forum for Ideas which appear on the op-ed page. Through them, students can present their opinions to the rest of the PC community.

In closing, I would like to thank my predecessor, Maureen O'Hare, for her help and support. The old staff wishes Mo well in her future endeavors. We'll all miss her.

Stephen E. Sylva

THE COWL

established by Providence College in 1938

Editor-in-Chief

Stephen E. Sylva '81

Managing Editor

Marybeth Holland '82

Editorial Board

Karen M. Ryder '82

William J. Sullivan '81

News Editor

Kevin M. Burke '83

Features Editor

Photography Editor

Copy Editor

Advertising Manager

Business Manager

Circulation Manager

College Advisor

Business Manager

Advertising Manager

Business Manager

Circulation Manager

Copy Editor

Art and Graphics: Tom McManimon, Chris Tubridy, Marc Tetreault

Circulation Staff: Joe Brandolino, Kerry Brown, Al Cannavaccio, Steve Riley

Photography Staff: Ronnie White, Cathy Codiga, Maureen Twonn, Gary Smeltz, Bob Dettmer, Jim Cuts

Features Staff: Tom McManimon, Chris Tubridy, Marc Tetreault

Sports Staff: Joe Brandolino, Kevin Burke, Robert Burke, Mike David, Cherry Gobe, Mary Catherin, Ellen Harrington, Tim O'Toole, Ron Pruner, Ed Ruhl, Jim Smith

Advertising Representatives: Celeste Bergeron, Barbara Brady

Circulation Staff: Joe Brandolino, Kenny Brown, Al Cannavaccio, Steve Riley, Gary Smeltz

Subscription rate $4.00 per year by mail. Student subscriptions $4.00 included in tuition.

Published each full week of school during the academic year and one summer edition during June by Providence College, River Avenue and Eaton Street, Providence, R.I. 02918. Second class postage paid at Providence, R.I. 02918. USPS No. 19981, 645-2241.

The opinions expressed herein are the opinions of the editorial board and do not necessarily represent the opinions of the administration or the student body of Providence College.
Announcement:

All letters written to the Editor of the Cowl are published in unedited form. The Cowl is not responsible for their content.

Letters

Is the Residence Office unfair?

Dear Editor:

As a result of recent experience I have begun to question whether in fact this is a college promoting Christian feelings and actions, or a college intent on collecting every cent due to the residence office without punishment to teach a lesson.

I recently received a memo from the Director of Residence stating that I was being fined $25 because someone "found" and used a meal card I had lost. I paid $5.00 for a new meal card and used it for the rest of the month, while someone used my original meal card for three weeks undetected by Raymond workers. To realize it is difficult for Raymond workers to check every meal card every day, but the cafeteria is given a list of lost card numbers and they should be something responsible for keeping an eye out for those numbers. Remember, the third time we meet as a class will be May 30, 1980, in the Civic Center.

I want to encourage our class to save a little out of your weekly summer pay checks so that in November you all can be together for the second time as a class. The success of the weekend and the end of the year celebration ought to be given to a body that vacation is over and it's the be-all and end-all of life, is the be-all and end-all of life, and because it's tradition. There's nothing wrong with a little tradition now and then. It represents hard work by many people which would be impossible to list in this space.

I was sitting in the library working on a paper last week when suddenly it hit me...Our class is almost the junior class. And we are ordering our class has assembled together something special. I guess the ring as a class. And we are ordering that famous course which we've only yesterday.

It's the be-all and end-all of life, and because it's tradition. There's nothing wrong with a little tradition now and then. It represents hard work by many people which would be impossible to list in this space.

I was sitting in the library working on a paper last week when suddenly it hit me...Our class is almost the junior class. And we are ordering that famous course which we've only yesterday.

Kelly’s Keane Komments

“Getting away to it all.” That’s what the poster said. We put our hard earned money down as deposit and started the countdown. “Only six more weeks to Florida!” That was it. We were in a state of slow paced relaxing vacation, don’t go to Florida and the rest was history. I was aware that life on the strip would be wild, but we were not prepared for it.

Imagine bummer to bumper traffic jams of people all day and night. Walking down the street is accompanied by whistles, number rating, and garbage on the road. OUCH! Where was everyone going? We discovered that it was the “Prom Club,” an elegant eating and drinking establishment which is on par with “Louie’s Tap.” The Friday night there were all from Providence, too. Each night the comparison of rats and chatter about our vacations would take place.

On Easter day, we all trooped down to—you guessed it—St. Peter Church. It was interesting to be in a totally new surrounding and feel right at home.

Two things were different that week: 1) Classes were nonexistent except for the semester exam that had been at our front door. It was a blast... and an experience never to be forgotten.

By the end of the break, I wanted to go back North to relax, but to far that has been impossible. Sure, the beach is gone, but the partying instinct still thrives. Would someone please tell my body that vacation is over and it is time to study? “Spring Week” and the end of the year celebrations are not helping my current bit. Final exams are going to jump up on me, and what are we going to doing then? That’s right, sleeping. I can’t wait.

Inquiring Photographer

Where are you living next year? Why?

Mary Beaudin, ’81

“I’m an RA. People off campus are too alienated. Besides, I like the food in Raymond Caf.

Paula Hebert, ’81

“220 Oakland, I like my landlord.”

Cowl Photos by Kathy Codega

Heinz Brosco, ’81

“At home. It’s cheaper.”

Brian McCauley

“McDermott. I like the condition of that dorm.”

Mike Fitzgerald

“Off campus. Independence; meet difficult people; and I get to try my pocon food.”

Peggy Doberty

“8th St. McVey—I like the price.”

Letters

Kelly’s Keane Komments

“Getting away to it all.” That’s what the poster said. We put our hard earned money down as deposit and started the countdown. “Only six more weeks to Florida!” That was it. We were in a state of slow paced relaxing vacation, don’t go to Florida and the rest was history. I was aware that life on the strip would be wild, but we were not prepared for it.

Imagine bummer to bumper traffic jams of people all day and night. Walking down the street is accompanied by whistles, number rating, and garbage on the road. OUCH! Where was everyone going? We discovered that it was the “Prom Club,” an elegant eating and drinking establishment which is on par with “Louie’s Tap.” The Friday night there were all from Providence, too. Each night the comparison of rats and chatter about our vacations would take place.

On Easter day, we all trooped down to—you guessed it—St. Peter Church. It was interesting to be in a totally new surrounding and feel right at home.

Two things were different that week: 1) Classes were nonexistent except for the semester exam that had been at our front door. It was a blast... and an experience never to be forgotten.

By the end of the break, I wanted to go back North to relax, but to far that has been impossible. Sure, the beach is gone, but the partying instinct still thrives. Would someone please tell my body that vacation is over and it is time to study? “Spring Week” and the end of the year celebrations are not helping my current bit. Final exams are going to jump up on me, and what are we going to doing then? That’s right, sleeping. I can’t wait.

Inquiring Photographer

Where are you living next year? Why?

Mary Beaudin, ’81

“I’m an RA. People off campus are too alienated. Besides, I like the food in Raymond Caf.

Paula Hebert, ’81

“220 Oakland, I like my landlord.”

Cowl Photos by Kathy Codega

Heinz Brosco, ’81

“At home. It’s cheaper.”

Brian McCauley

“McDermott. I like the condition of that dorm.”

Mike Fitzgerald

“Off campus. Independence; meet difficult people; and I get to try my pocon food.”

Peggy Doberty

“8th St. McVey—I like the price.”

Letters

Kelly’s Keane Komments

“Getting away to it all.” That’s what the poster said. We put our hard earned money down as deposit and started the countdown. “Only six more weeks to Florida!” That was it. We were in a state of slow paced relaxing vacation, don’t go to Florida and the rest was history. I was aware that life on the strip would be wild, but we were not prepared for it.

Imagine bummer to bumper traffic jams of people all day and night. Walking down the street is accompanied by whistles, number rating, and garbage on the road. OUCH! Where was everyone going? We discovered that it was the “Prom Club,” an elegant eating and drinking establishment which is on par with “Louie’s Tap.” The Friday night there were all from Providence, too. Each night the comparison of rats and chatter about our vacations would take place.

On Easter day, we all trooped down to—you guessed it—St. Peter Church. It was interesting to be in a totally new surrounding and feel right at home.

Two things were different that week: 1) Classes were nonexistent except for the semester exam that had been at our front door. It was a blast... and an experience never to be forgotten.

By the end of the break, I wanted to go back North to relax, but to far that has been impossible. Sure, the beach is gone, but the partying instinct still thrives. Would someone please tell my body that vacation is over and it is time to study? “Spring Week” and the end of the year celebrations are not helping my current bit. Final exams are going to jump up on me, and what are we going to doing then? That’s right, sleeping. I can’t wait.

Inquiring Photographer

Where are you living next year? Why?

Mary Beaudin, ’81

“I’m an RA. People off campus are too alienated. Besides, I like the food in Raymond Caf.

Paula Hebert, ’81

“220 Oakland, I like my landlord.”

Cowl Photos by Kathy Codega

Heinz Brosco, ’81

“At home. It’s cheaper.”

Brian McCauley

“McDermott. I like the condition of that dorm.”

Mike Fitzgerald

“Off campus. Independence; meet difficult people; and I get to try my pocon food.”

Peggy Doberty

“8th St. McVey—I like the price.”
Features

Joe’s makes battle no contest

For the fifth consecutive year, Joseph Hall successfully defended its title as “champion” among the other dorms, winning the annual Rugby of the Dorms by a 20 points. The final results of this meeting were: Joseph Hall (45 pts.), Off-Campus (33 pts.), Stephen Hall (29 pts.), and McVinnie Hall (24 pts.).

Yet in many ways the lopsided score did not reflect the excitement of the afternoon, as the race was close throughout of the “competitive” events. It was not until the final moments that Joseph Hall ran away with the contest, as they donated over $100 to cancer research and consumed (and probably incalculable) quantities of beer.

The afternoon began with the ever-popular sack race, which was won by the off-campus contingency and which made them feel right at home for the rest of the afternoon. The Stephen Hall Hoppers came right behind, leaving the others floundering in their sacks or in the clouds of dust that were stirred up all day. The paralyzing heat, as well as the agility of the one who filled his sack or in the clouds of dust that were stirred up all day. The paralyzing heat, as well as the agility of the one who filled his sack to the brim, was a challenge head on, however, and the event went smoothly until various clandestine attempts to sabotage the garbage cans brought to light. A repeat performance brought glory to the winning team, but unfortunately the egg was too fast. Yet is the egg too that always draws the crowds. Hurling that fragile oblong object up to the sun, it is essentially that some of the country boys had been trained to do this kind of thing everyday — for among the last pairs left it simply came down to a matter of technique. Did you predict the trajectory of the falling egg, or did you use disco turns to cushion the momentum? In either case, the event was definitely popular, at least among those who weren’t wiping the yolk off their palms.

The prize contest was next. Yes, that event that provides everyone with visions of gastronomic glory, a chance to prove that blue is beautiful, and a great way to end that six-month diet, had arrived. The gourmet delights were laid out on a long banquet table and the boys dug into them with all their weapons. The Laurel Hall crew revetted in the final victory, as their challenger left the rest of the competition muddling in the blueberry mire. Come to think of it, they never did find the pie!

The most glorious and prestigious of all the events is, of course, the tug-of-war. For the men this is THE event, the one that allows all the frustrations of the afternoon to come out in the open, the one that they can refer to in future scuffles with the other dorms. The Laurel Hall crew went to the strong Stephen Hall team, who overcame the off-campus crew in less than fifteen seconds. The stigma of the afternoon may now die forever.

In many ways the afternoon was enjoyable. The sport, the beer, and the fun all came together on Raymond Field to create an atmosphere that every Friday afternoon would envy. For the dorms on campus, the summer Olympics were still alive, a chance to vie for that laurel wreath that makes the “thrill of victory” and the agony of defeat all worthwhile.

PC carnival great!

Raymond Field was the place to be last Saturday, April 26, when three of New England’s greatest rock bands played at one of the final events of Spring Week ‘80, sponsored by the Providence College College Board of Governors. Although dark clouds hung over the field, the sun shone down on the drop of rain fell and everyone was spared from getting soaked. But even if it had rained, it would not have prevented everyone—except for the Acts—ranged from frisbee-throwing to ear-smashing. Those who partook of this event could take a swing at an old (but drivable) car with a sledgehammer for 50¢ (later, $1.50 for a minute), which went to benefit the PC Rugby Club.

The water brigade was another growing event—everyone had to possess the rare ability to stand there and be able to pass a bucket filled with water to the person next to you. Most people met this challenge head on, however, and the event went smoothly until various clandestine attempts to sabotage the garbage cans brought to light. A repeat performance brought glory to the winning team, but unfortunately the egg was too fast. Yet is the egg too that always draws the crowds. Hurling that fragile oblong object up to the sun, it is essentially that some of the country boys had been trained to do this kind of thing everyday — for among the last pairs left it simply came down to a matter of technique. Did you predict the trajectory of the falling egg, or did you use disco turns to cushion the momentum? In either case, the event was definitely popular, at least among those who weren’t wiping the yolk off their palms.

The prize contest was next. Yes, that event that provides everyone with visions of gastronomic glory, a chance to prove that blue is beautiful, and a great way to end that six-month diet, had arrived. The gourmet delights were laid out on a long banquet table and the boys dug into them with all their weapons. The Laurel Hall crew revetted in the final victory, as their challenger left the rest of the competition muddling in the blueberry mire. Come to think of it, they never did find the pie!

The most glorious and prestigious of all the events is, of course, the tug-of-war. For the men this is THE event, the one that allows all the frustrations of the afternoon to come out in the open, the one that they can refer to in future scuffles with the other dorms. The Laurel Hall crew went to the strong Stephen Hall team, who overcame the off-campus crew in less than fifteen seconds. The stigma of the afternoon may now die forever.

In many ways the afternoon was enjoyable. The sport, the beer, and the fun all came together on Raymond Field to create an atmosphere that every Friday afternoon would envy. For the dorms on campus, the summer Olympics were still alive, a chance to vie for that laurel wreath that makes the “thrill of victory” and the agony of defeat all worthwhile.

PC carnival great!

Raymond Field was the place to be last Saturday, April 26, when three of New England’s greatest rock bands played at one of the final events of Spring Week ‘80, sponsored by the Providence College College Board of Governors. Although dark clouds hung over the field, the sun shone down on the drop of rain fell and everyone was spared from getting soaked. But even if it had rained, it would not have prevented everyone—except for the Acts—ranged from frisbee-throwing to ear-smashing. Those who partook of this event could take a swing at an old (but drivable) car with a sledgehammer for 50¢ (later, $1.50 for a minute), which went to benefit the PC Rugby Club.

The water brigade was another growing event—everyone had to possess the rare ability to stand there and be able to pass a bucket filled with water to the person next to you. Most people met this challenge head on, however, and the event went smoothly until various clandestine attempts to sabotage the garbage cans brought to light. A repeat performance brought glory to the winning team, but unfortunately the egg was too fast. Yet is the egg too that always draws the crowds. Hurling that fragile oblong object up to the sun, it is essentially that some of the country boys had been trained to do this kind of thing everyday — for among the last pairs left it simply came down to a matter of technique. Did you predict the trajectory of the falling egg, or did you use disco turns to cushion the momentum? In either case, the event was definitely popular, at least among those who weren’t wiping the yolk off their palms.

The prize contest was next. Yes, that event that provides everyone with visions of gastronomic glory, a chance to prove that blue is beautiful, and a great way to end that six-month diet, had arrived. The gourmet delights were laid out on a long banquet table and the boys dug into them with all their weapons. The Laurel Hall crew revetted in the final victory, as their challenger left the rest of the competition muddling in the blueberry mire. Come to think of it, they never did find the pie!

The most glorious and prestigious of all the events is, of course, the tug-of-war. For the men this is THE event, the one that allows all the frustrations of the afternoon to come out in the open, the one that they can refer to in future scuffles with the other dorms. The Laurel Hall crew went to the strong Stephen Hall team, who overcame the off-campus crew in less than fifteen seconds. The stigma of the afternoon may now die forever.

In many ways the afternoon was enjoyable. The sport, the beer, and the fun all came together on Raymond Field to create an atmosphere that every Friday afternoon would envy. For the dorms on campus, the summer Olympics were still alive, a chance to vie for that laurel wreath that makes the “thrill of victory” and the agony of defeat all worthwhile.

The high point of the evening seemed to be the ultimate audience participation. Arterbury picked Joe Gianni from the audience, put him in “whiteface,” and showed him the “ropes,” and then brought him into the world of silent fantasy. Yet the end showed to us the greatness of this master mime.

Graciously, he presented to us a gift that he had held back for over one hour—his voice. His “thank you!” resonated throughout the hall, yet lacked the eloquence of his earlier “speeches.” It’s too bad you can’t mime a “thank you” on paper. "Great job, Trent" will have to suffice.
The spirit of Ireland lives on

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish are a special people. They are warm. They are friendly. They are a people blended in a rich and cultured tradition, a heritage that is the intriguing mystery that has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play, and yet the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

The Irish countryside has always been the subject of many a poem or play, and yet the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

The Irish countryside has always been admired and loved, the subject of many a poem or play. Heaney went on to say that the Irish have a way of making you feel that you are a part of their history.
Barley and Hops—two popular ingredients.

The Annual Carnival was a great success.

By Peggy Doherty

The weatherman said that it was supposed to rain on Saturday, April 26, but nobody seemed to care as hundreds turned out for the FC Carnival in Raymond Field.

Several campus organizations set up booths around the field. The booth that gave out the hats and straw hats—Huck Finn style—had the easiest game with a sledge hammer. For those who desired to see some “action.”

The seminar, entitled “Four or Forty Years of Your Life,” was positive and inspiring. “Call Mike: 433-3652. April 30, 1980.

Do you want more out of life?

By Thomas McManimon

The Xaverian Missionaries can help you give meaning to your life by continuing Christ’s work in Japan, Mexico, and positive about the students who “find themselves,” he went on to discuss the most important thing is to know your abilities....I can have confidence and your conviction in your own abilities.”

The BOG is offering a reward for the return of the Last Resort’s sign. No questions will be asked.

The Seminar, entitled “Four or forty years in our lives,” was magical, then that’s what life is! It is only through our own realization of ourselves that optimism can thrive.

April 26, but nobody seemed to care as hundreds turned out for the FC Carnival in Raymond Field.

Several campus organizations set up booths around the field. The booth that gave out the hats and straw hats—Huck Finn style—had the easiest game with a sledge hammer. For those who desired to see some “action.”

The seminar, entitled “Four or Forty Years of Your Life,” was positive and inspiring. “Call Mike: 433-3652. April 30, 1980.

Do you want more out of life?

By Thomas McManimon

The Xaverian Missionaries can help you give meaning to your life by continuing Christ’s work in Japan, Mexico, and positive about the students who “find themselves,” he went on to discuss the most important thing is to know your abilities....I can have confidence and your conviction in your own abilities.”

The Seminar, entitled “Four or forty years in our lives,” was magical, then that’s what life is! It is only through our own realization of ourselves that optimism can thrive.

April 26, but nobody seemed to care as hundreds turned out for the FC Carnival in Raymond Field.

Several campus organizations set up booths around the field. The booth that gave out the hats and straw hats—Huck Finn style—had the easiest game with a sledge hammer. For those who desired to see some “action.”

The seminar, entitled “Four or Forty Years of Your Life,” was positive and inspiring. “Call Mike: 433-3652. April 30, 1980.
April 30, 1980

WHAT COULD THE ARMY POSSIBLY OFFER A BRIGHT PERSON LIKE YOU?

Drop your guard for a minute. Even though you're in college right now, there are many aspects of the Army that you might find very attractive. Maybe even irresistible. See for yourself.

MED SCHOOL, ON US
You read it right. The Army's Health Professions Scholarship Program provides necessary tuition, books, lab fees, even microscope rental during medical school.

The hitch? Very simple. After your residency, you give the Army a year as a doctor and officer's privileges.

INTERNSHIP, RESIDENCY & CASH BONUSES

Besides scholarships to medical school, the Army also offers AMA-approved first-year postgraduate and residency training programs. Such training adds no further obligation to the student in the scholarship program. But any Civilian Graduate Medical Education sponsored by the Army gives you a one-year obligation for every year you're paying back medical school or postgraduate training.

So you not only get your medical education paid for, you get extra pay while you're paying it back.

A GREAT PLACE TO BE A NURSE
The rich tradition of Army Nursing is one of excellence, dedication, even heroism. And it's a challenge to live up to.

Today, an Army Nurse is the epitome of professionalism, regarded as a critical member of the Army Medical Team.

A BSN degree is required. And the clinical spectrum is almost impossible to match in civilian practice. And, since you'll be an Army Officer, you'll enjoy more respect and authority than most of your civilian counterparts. You'll also enjoy travel opportunities, officer's pay and officer's privileges.

Army Nursing offers educational opportunities that are hard to find in college right now, there are many aspects of the Army that you might find very attractive. Even though you're in college right now, there is indeed a lot the Army can offer a bright person like you.

A BONUS FOR PART-TIME WORK
You can get a $1,500 bonus just for enlisting in some Army Reserve units. Or up to $2,000 in educational benefits.

You also get paid for your Reserve duty. It comes out to about $1,000 a year for about 16 hours a month and two weeks annual training. And now we have a special program to help you fit the Army Reserve around your school schedule. It's worth a look.

A SECOND CHANCE AT COLLEGE
Some may find college to be the right place at the wrong time for a variety of reasons. The Army can help them, too.

A few years in the Army can help them get money for tuition and the maturity to use it wisely.

The Army has a program in which money saved for college is matched two-for-one by the government. Then, if one qualifies, a generous bonus is added to that.

So 2 years of service can get you up to $7,400 for college, 3 years up to $12,100, and 4 years up to $14,100. In addition, bonuses up to $3,000 are available for 4-year enlistments in selected skills.

A BRIGHT PERSON

There are many aspects of the very attractive Army that you might find in college right now, there is indeed a lot the Army can offer a bright person like you.

For more information, send the coupon.
On May 6,7,8,9,10 and 12, the Providence College Bookstore will be buying back certain textbooks at ½ the list price if the book is being adopted for use in the Fall semester.

There will be a representative from Barnes & Noble, a used book wholesaler, also buying books that are not being re-adopted next fall. The prices being offered by the Barnes & Noble representative are based on the books salability to other colleges.

Be aware that this year the bookstore is encountering a substantial increase in the number of new textbooks and new editions being adopted for course use. The Barnes & Noble wholesaler, however, will buy many of the formerly used texts.

Here is a short list of the books that the bookstore will be buying back at ½ the retail price.

ALL TITLES ARE THE LATEST EDITIONS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Will Pay</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ABRAMS</td>
<td>NORTON ANTHOLOGY OF ENGLISH LIT. I &amp; II</td>
<td>5.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BAILEY</td>
<td>THE AMERICAN PAGEANT I &amp; II</td>
<td>6.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BERKOWITZ</td>
<td>POLITICS OF AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY</td>
<td>5.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BERTSCH</td>
<td>COMPARATIVE POLITICAL SYSTEMS</td>
<td>7.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BLACK</td>
<td>20TH CENTURY EUROPE</td>
<td>8.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BOCK</td>
<td>MODERN CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY</td>
<td>5.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CIOFFARI</td>
<td>BEGINNING ITALIAN</td>
<td>7.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>COWDEN</td>
<td>CONGRESS RECONSIDERED</td>
<td>3.75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DYE</td>
<td>THE EAGLE ENTANGLED</td>
<td>5.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FAGOTHEY</td>
<td>RIGHT AND REASON</td>
<td>8.75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GIANCOLI</td>
<td>IDEA OF PHYSICS</td>
<td>7.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GITMAN</td>
<td>PRINCIPLES OF MANAGERIAL FINANCE</td>
<td>8.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GORDON</td>
<td>MACROECONOMICS</td>
<td>5.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HALLIDAY</td>
<td>FUNDAMENTALS OF PHYSICS</td>
<td>11.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HARLOW</td>
<td>PUBLIC HEALTH</td>
<td>12.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HAYS</td>
<td>STATISTICS FOR THE SOCIAL SCIENCES</td>
<td>10.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HELBIG</td>
<td>FIRST YEAR GERMAN</td>
<td>8.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HINSTEET</td>
<td>BUSINESS COMMUNICATIONS</td>
<td>8.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>JACOB</td>
<td>ELEMENTARY POLITICAL ANALYSIS</td>
<td>5.75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>JONAS</td>
<td>HEALTH CARE DELIVERY IN THE U.S.</td>
<td>7.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LAHEY</td>
<td>PSYCHOLOGY AND INSTRUCTION</td>
<td>5.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LERNINGER</td>
<td>BIOCHEMISTRY</td>
<td>15.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIAL</td>
<td>MATH WITH APPLICATIONS</td>
<td>8.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIDZ</td>
<td>THE PERSON</td>
<td>6.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIEBERT</td>
<td>PERSONALITY</td>
<td>9.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LUSK</td>
<td>BUSINESS LAW</td>
<td>10.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MACK</td>
<td>NORTON ANTHOLOGY OF WORLD MASTERPIECES</td>
<td>6.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MASON</td>
<td>AMERICAN CONSTITUTIONAL LAW</td>
<td>10.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MILLER</td>
<td>ENERGY AND THE ENVIRONMENT</td>
<td>3.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MONKS</td>
<td>OPERATIONS MANAGEMENT</td>
<td>10.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PASACHOFF</td>
<td>ASTRONOMY FROM THE EARTH TO THE UNIVERSE</td>
<td>9.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHILLIPS</td>
<td>SOCIAL RESEARCH</td>
<td>7.75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POUGEO</td>
<td>GOVERNMENT &amp; ECONOMIC CHOICE</td>
<td>9.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RING</td>
<td>BEHAVIOR THERAPY</td>
<td>8.25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ROTHWELL</td>
<td>UNDERSTANDING GENETICS</td>
<td>9.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SALAS</td>
<td>CALCULUS</td>
<td>13.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SCHIFFMAN</td>
<td>CONSUMER BEHAVIOR</td>
<td>9.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SHERMAN</td>
<td>BIOLOGY</td>
<td>8.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPANIER</td>
<td>GAMES NATIONS PLAY</td>
<td>5.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>STEVENSON</td>
<td>BUSINESS STATISTICS</td>
<td>8.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>STEINWISSEER</td>
<td>INTRO TO ORGANIC CHEMISTRY</td>
<td>12.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TURK</td>
<td>MASTERING SPANISH</td>
<td>7.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TURNER</td>
<td>DIFFERENTIAL DIAGNOSIS AND TREATMENT</td>
<td>9.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UPTON</td>
<td>PHOTOGRAPHY</td>
<td>8.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VILHEE</td>
<td>BIOLOGICAL PRINCIPLES &amp; PROCESSES</td>
<td>9.25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VOLPE</td>
<td>MAN NATURE &amp; SOCIETY</td>
<td>8.50</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Continuations

Candlemas
Continued from Page 2
reminds one of Yeats’ “Things
Fall Apart: The Centre Cannot Hold,” this is due to our encounter with a Horowitz or Rubinstein reading. But Horowitz maintains his reputation with such pieces. Artists not under such pressure might well consider sharing a much broader offering of equally pleasing music with their fans. When did we last have a treat of Tausig, Moscheles, or of the American MacDowell and Amy Beach? How exciting it would be to scan a program and
be surprised by an unknown classical sonata or Late Romantic tone poem.

One heartening spin-off of the talent which Rosalind Chua has brought to the college is an increase both in music events and
the numbers in attendance. Her
own program drew an overflow
crowd to ‘64 Hall (surely a first
for the Hall in this category); later
in the month her student,
Deborah Demetsis, also garnered
a sizeable crowd for her recital at
the music building. That particular event was doubly innova­tive—
not only did Miss Demetsis give
the premier performance of
student Richard Brundage’s
unfinished sonata, but the two of
them concluded with the duet-
piano Scaramouche. On such
high notes should we hope each
college cultural year to end.

One heartening spin-off of the
talent which Rosalind Chua has
brought to the college is an
increase both in music events and
the numbers in attendance. Her
own program drew an overflow
crowd to ‘64 Hall (surely a first
for the Hall in this category); later
in the month her student,
Deborah Demetsis, also garnered
a sizeable crowd for her recital at
the music building. That particular event was doubly innova­tive—
not only did Miss Demetsis give
the premier performance of
student Richard Brundage’s
unfinished sonata, but the two of
them concluded with the duet-
piano Scaramouche. On such
high notes should we hope each
college cultural year to end.

Windmill

erected a gigantic experimental windmill on a 100 foot tower with two 62 foot blades to wrest power
from the wind.
The windmills of Rhode Island,
along with many other architectural treasures of its long past, are here for the seeing and experiencing. Over hill and bridge, along strand and gas-lit street, Rhode Island will show you—will let you—live her history.

BOG

trips well in advance. The result was the development of the BOG monthly calendar, which was met with a great reception by students,
for it enabled them to plan ahead
also.

Major accomplishments. A spirit of unity and good organization paved the path for a fruitful year of BOG events, despite a deficit from ‘78 BOG and a budget cut from Congress. The Last Resort was transformed into a multi-purpose entertainment center. The Resort was the center for the morning and evening
coffeehouses, Friday and Saturday night social gatherings,
and Sunday night movies.

Spring Week was another of the Board’s major accomplishments.

Massive Party

2 Bands - All you can drink
Monday, May 12, 9 pm-1 pm

Colonels Corner

Following the Commencement
Kickoff Party
Tickets $3.00—On sale May 5

BOG Committee’s trip to Newport, the Social Committee’s coordination of Spring Week, and the Video Committee for Mr. Bill. A special congratulations to ‘79-’80 Executive Board, the Publicity Committee and the programmers.

A step in the right direction.
The ’79-’80 Board of Governors have mastered the art of running a successful PC organization. The Cowl Editorial Board hopes the policies and spirit of the BOG will continue to flourish in the years ahead.

Paul Fournier

is proud to offer the Lowest possible prices on any new car
or Truck sold in the U.S.

Don’t Buy until you’ve

Checked My Price!

phone quotes gladly given!

$ave on used cars and Trucks

Renaults, Jeeps Dodge

and more!

Representative of E.P.

Fournier

submit inquiries to P.C. box 3221

class of 1980
Metro-Update

Friday and Saturday
Tour Benefit St. homes

By Marybeth Holland

A unique opportunity to see the Providence Preservation Society's tour will be offered to those who attend the Festival of Historic Homes on Benefit Street, May 2 and May 3. The Providence Preservation Society and Industrial National Bank are sponsoring guided tours of some of the most beautiful and historic homes in Rhode Island.

The homes to be shown represent a wide range of architectural styles, interior treatments, and restoration goals. In addition, they offer a sampling of the designs of Providence's most gifted architects throughout the 220 year span of Benefit Street's history. In all, 21 homes—some never before opened to the public—and a half dozen public buildings, all within easy walking distance, will be open Friday night and throughout the day Saturday. Guides will be stationed at each of the homes distributing fact-filled brochures and fielding questions.

Two buildings on the tour were designed by Joseph Brown, Providence's gentleman architect of the Colonial era. The First Baptist Meeting House, built in 1775, was inspired by the 1728 Book of Architecture, published in England by James Gibbs. The John Brown House, also designed by Joseph Brown, was proclaimed by John Quincy Adams to be "the most magnificent and elegant private mansion I have ever seen on this continent."

This May Festival is a celebration not only of historic architecture, but of the lovely gardens that adorn the homes. Eight gardens will be open on Saturday, providing pleasant spots for Festival visitors who wish to relax.

Further information concerning the Festival can be obtained by calling the Providence Preservation Society at 831-7440.

R.I. windmill gets stamped

Providence, R.I.—windmills! In Rhode Island? Yes indeed, there are. The United States Postal Service chose to feature one of them on a 15-cent stamp in 1980.

On Division Street in East Greenwich there stands a most uncommon structure called Windmill Cottage. Even if it were not so striking, architecturally its association with the great American poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow would arouse one's interest.

The R.I. windmill was built by George Washington Greene and his wife, G.W. Greene, Ph. D., was the grandson of General Nathaniel Greene, who was second-in-command of the Continental Army to General George Washington. The mill is four stories high, octagonal in shape, with a shingled housetop. The building is a private residence but may, of course, be seen from Division Street.

In the last third of the twentieth century, we seem to have come full circle. On Block Island, twelve miles south of Rhode Island mainland, the United States Department of Energy has built a windmill as a device to generate energy. The machine, which is still used to grind white flint corn, used in preparation of the Rhode Island grind, was restored and is maintained by the Providence Preservation Society and Indus­

Tour Benefit St. homes

See WINDMILL, Page 11

EXAM TIME!!

Free Delivery to PC
Good Food—Low Prices
Call 831-7402

Delivery from 7 p.m.—1 a.m.
Grinders, Heroes. Subs

Sunday

ALL YOU CAN EAT
$2.00

Park Place

Restaurant

387 Admiral St.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Ocean State Performing Arts Center
May 18–Slim Whitman May 31, June 1–Ben Vereen
Civic Center

May 2–Frank Zappa

RISD

Decorative arts from Newport mansions, 224 Benefit Trinity Square Repertory Co.

Upstairs—"Waiting for Godot"
8 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday through May 25

Downstairs—"Sea Marks" 8 p.m. Tues. thru Sun.
2 p.m. Wedn. thru May 4

RIC Theatre

"Play it Again Sam" Thu-Sun. Apr. 24-27 Roberts
The Salesians of St. John Bosco are a religious order of Catholic men dedicated to helping underprivileged youth. We’re looking for a few strong men to serve as priests and brothers in youth centers, parishes, trade schools, camps, prep schools and foreign missions, wherever needy young people are found.

Salesians: signs and bearers of God’s love for the young.
Lax-men look toward bright future

By Paul Hennings

The Providence College men's varsity lacrosse team will play its last game of the season on May 1. This game will conclude the first official season of men's varsity lacrosse here at PC. All in all, the transition from a club team to a varsity sport was well handled by coach Rod Eaton and all who participated.

The squad's record, as of April 24, is three wins and seven losses, amounting to a somewhat dismal 24%, is three wins and seven losses, amounting to a somewhat dismal 24%. The experienced (three of whom start) and seven sophomores (also three of whom start). Captain Jim Porell and Jeff Pierce will be lost to graduation

This year's team was led offensively by senior sensation Jeff Pierce, along with sophomore sensation Tim West, Doug Calenda, Tim Farrell, Brian Davies and Jack Malley.

Assistant coach Dan Calenda commented on the future, saying that "with such a young team and with the ability they have, the program should climb year by year. This was the first year of varsity competition, although the schedule was not as challenging as it will be in future years. Right now, the future of Providence College lacrosse looks very bright."

This year the fan support was excellent, the cooperation and patience of the administration was wonderful, and the entire organization in general was well handled. Thanks for an enjoyable first year with many high hopes for the years to come.

continued success for ladies' softball

By Cheryl Gabes

The PC girls' softball team is still on their hot streak, even as the season draws to a close. The wins that they continue to "rack up" more than compensate for their few losses, and they are truly giving PC something to be proud of. Although they suffered a loss to Stonehill in a close 2-1 bout, their spirit and endurance did not fail them. They went to defeat Bridgewater in a double-header on April 19, winning both games, 3-2, and 7-6. Close down to the wire, but PC the victors none the less. And finally, despite poor field conditions due to bad weather on April 29, they ran past Barrington, 13-4, adding another victory to their record.

With only a few games left, the squad is looking sharp. They are tough and powerful, and will hand any challenger a tough fight to the finish. In the future, the EAJAW Tournament on May 2 and 3, perhaps a glorious two days for the Lady Friars. Whatever the case, congratulations girls, we are proud of you and good luck!

Ruggers compete in N.E. tourney

This past Saturday, the Providence College rugby team traveled to Amherst, Massachusetts, to participate in the second annual New England Collegiate Rugby Tournament. The competition was hosted by UMass and 22 teams were invited, with the top four getting automatic bids to the New England College Championship to be held early next month.

In their first contest of the afternoon, the Ruggers of PC squared off against Norwich University. The Friars were totally out-played, enjoying only a few isolated moments in the second half. The game ended with the Black and White being shut-out by a score of 24-0.

In the second game of the tournament, things turned completely around for the Friars as they took on St. Anselm's. This game was highlighted by hard hitting and strong defensive plays by Providence. Down by four points at the half, the PC Ruggers came back in the second half with junior Mike Corrigan scoring six points to pull the Friars ahead for good, posting a 6-4 victory. Next week, the White and Black will take on Trinity College at Trinity.

Volleyball championships under-way

On Thursday, April 24, the women's intramural volleyball championships commenced. It had been a long season for all of the girls and these last games were extremely important. The team of "Right in Your Face," led by Jeff Driscoll, carried a string of victories against the undefeated "Kelly's Heroes" and the "Flying Mongoloid Family." Good job girls and congratulations to "Right in Your Face" for a superlative season.

Men's Tennis No. 1

Senior tennis team co-captains Peter Lyons and Brian Stanely, along with sophomore sensation Steve Charfield, won their respective divisions in the New England Division II and III Championships held in Waltham, MA, this past weekend, leading Providence College to a first place finish.

Lyons was victorious in his division as was Charfield, each scoring significant points which ultimately won the title for the Friars. Charfield and Stanley teamed up to reign supreme in their doubles division as well.

Coach Jacques Faulise cited significant victories contributing to the total team effort by senior Mike McCarthy and sophomores Bill Dinadio and Mike Tavares. Dinadio's performance enabled him to reach the semi-finals in his division. The latter culminated one of their most successful seasons ever this week with matches against Brown and URI, leading up to the New England Division I Championships this weekend at Yale.

The entire tennis team would like to extend its thanks and appreciation to coach Faulise, without whose outstanding leadership and coaching abilities the season would not have been as enjoyable as it was.

Make a free phone call: 800-356-2931

Get our free catalog

48 pages of quality clothing and accessories, plus our own Lands' End exclusive duffle and canvas luggage items. For men and women who enjoy the outdoors. Well-made items, guaranteed to satisfy unconditionally. Many not obtainable elsewhere. All solid values. See for yourself. Call our toll-free number, 800-356-2931.

Lands' End

The easy way to shop, toll-free.

Copyright 1980 Lands End, Inc. Darien, CT 06820
Baseball: Tossing and Turning

By Chris Duffy

In a game marred by seven Providence College errors, the Friars lost to the Huskies of the University of Connecticut last Wednesday in Storrs, CT, by a score of 8-7 in ten innings. The winning run was scored when leftfielder Ben Ruggles' hard ground ball went through the legs of shortstop Joe Penkala to send home pinch runner Kevin Trahan from third base.

UConn, which is experiencing a rare mediocre season (last year, the Huskies reached college baseball's final four), jumped on starter Paul Langfield in the very first inning. Connecticut scored three runs on only two hits. Mike Panciera and Tom Capalbo each had RBI singles in that first inning.

Then, with UConn runners on first and second, Langfield overthrew second base trying to nail the lead-off walk issued to catcher Doug Elliot of PC (Lembo replaced Langfield in that at bat). John Galle sacrificed the runners to third and home on an attempted sacrifice bunt. Roni Paciera then drove in the tying run with a single to left, scoring one run and putting Friars on first and second. Keith Quinn lined a single to left that put the Friars up 2-1, but catcher Doug Elliot of UConn just plain dropped the throw from Long and another Friar run was in. Bob O'Connor then delivered another run-scoring single. After a short fly by Pat Raich, rookie catcher Silence Dellaposta tied the game. The 5'10" junior from Cumberland lined a long fly in front of the UConn rightfielder to make the score 7-7.

Both pitchers, Long of Connecticut and Charlie Lenobo of PC (Lenobo replaced Langfield in the sixth), were effective in the ninth. After PC went down 1-2-3 in the tenth, UConn put an end to the contest. Elliot led off to lead-after being behind in the count, 0-2. John Galle sacrificed pinch runner Kevin Trahan to second. Mike Johnson then blooped a single to left that Trahan was unable to score on. Ben Ruggles then smashed a bloop bunt to a drawn in shortstop position. PC shortstop Joe Penkala gave the hard grounder a try, but came up short, giving the Huskies only their 2nd win of the year.

Despite the fact that PC was defeated, the Friars ousted the Huskies, 10-3.

However, the Providence College baseball squad's record jumped back over .500 mark last Friday afternoon as the Friars scored two runs in the ninth inning to beat Springfield, 2-0.

After the Friars had been shut out, 13-12, by Springfield's Tom Willerson over eight innings, PC broke the ice in the ninth. Captain Ed Cahir led off with a double. John Tierney hit Willerson's next pitch for another double, scoring Cahir. Steve Dellaposta (.351 in PC's first seven games) drove in the insurance run with a single.

Bert Montalban picked up the win in relief, pitching no hit ball over two innings. Paul Whitehead hurled the first five innings for Providence, limiting Springfield to three hits. Joe Gormley went innings six and seven. Gormley walked two and hit a batter, but also did not allow a hit.

Ed Cahir, Keith Quinn and Ray Fontaine (.308 before UMass) each collected two hits in the PC at bat. Providence once again outdistanced the opposition, this time by a whopping margin of 11-3.

Women tracksters continue their successful season

By Mary Gibbons

The Providence College women's track team finished an amazing fourth in the Fitchburg Invitational Meet which hosted fifteen of the finest track teams in the area. With fine efforts by all, the Lady Friars picked up a total of 53.5 points to follow the top three teams of Dartmouth, Bridgewater and Fitchburg. Among the Pacifia's, Betty Long, who tied the team's record in the 55 yard dash, was the only Friar runner to break the 7.95" mark. Donna Mullanigan qualified for the Easterns in the 500 meter run as she placed fourth in the discus with a toss of 100' 11". PC's mile relay pulled in the top five second place finish in the PC at bat. Providence once again outdistanced the opposition, this time by a whopping margin of 11-3.

Janice Cataldo ran for a time of 4:44.5 in the 1500 meter to slater a fourth. Rory Connody led the field events as she placed fourth in the discus with a toss of 106' 11". PC's mile relay pulled in the top five second place finish in the PC at bat. Providence once again outdistanced the opposition, this time by a whopping margin of 11-3.

Coach Kathy Cerra was proud of her team for their effort in this meet. Despite the dreary weather, Providence College managed to master the track in order to overtake the top five teams in their last meet of the regular season. The Lady Friars will send their representatives to the Easterns on Saturday, May 3, at the University of Pittsburgh. The following Saturday, May 10, they will be off to the New England at Dartmouth College to end this very successful season.

Berit and Felton run in Boston Marathon

At road level, pavement marathon, the race was run in the 80's, under an ardent sun, not exactly the sort of day a man would choose to run a marathon in. Ask just about anyone who has finished a marathon, and they will all tell you the same thing—"It was like a dream; a feeling that I've never experienced before. My legs and mind were on the verge of collapse." Just ask Jon Berit or Lee Felton, both seniors here at PC, who competed in the greatest footrace of all time, the Boston Marathon.

"The heat was just incredible, but the crowd kept me going."

Berit, a native of Dedham, MA, covered the 26.2 miles, 35 yard course in two hours and 59 minutes. Felton finished the torturous course in 2:55:45. Both men agreed that it was the toughest race they had ever run.

"The heat was just incredible, but the crowds kept me going," said Felton. Even Bill Rodgers, who won the race for the fourth time, stated that, "The greatest satisfac­tion in this win was the fact that I kept on going, even at the point of total exhaustion. I was just falling apart, both mentally and physically."

"I was just incredible," said Felton. Even Bill Rodgers, who won the race for the fourth time, stated that, "The greatest satisfac­tion in this win was the fact that I kept on going, even at the point of total exhaustion. I was just falling apart, both mentally and physically."

Not even Bill Rodgers was exempt from the heat. Here, he shows the strain coming off Heartbreak Hill.

By Chris Duffy

In a game marred by seven Providence College errors, the Friars lost to the Huskies of the University of Connecticut last Wednesday in Storrs, CT, by a score of 8-7 in ten innings. The winning run was scored when leftfielder Ben Ruggles’ hard ground ball went through the legs of shortstop Joe Penkala to send home pinch runner Kevin Trahan from third base.

UConn, which is experiencing a rare mediocre season (last year, the Huskies reached college baseball’s final four), jumped on starter Paul Langfield in the very first inning. Connecticut scored three runs on only two hits. Mike Panciera and Tom Capalbo each had RBI singles in that first inning.

Then, with UConn runners on first and second, Langfield overthrew second base trying to nail the lead-off walk issued to catcher Doug Elliot of PC (Lembo replaced Langfield in that at bat). John Galle sacrificed the runners to third and home on an attempted sacrifice bunt. Roni Paciera then drove in the tying run with a single to left, scoring one run and putting Friars on first and second. Keith Quinn lined a single to left that put the Friars up 2-1, but catcher Doug Elliot of UConn just plain dropped the throw from Long and another Friar run was in. Bob O'Connor then delivered another run-scoring single. After a short fly by Pat Raich, rookie catcher Silence Dellaposta tied the game. The 5'10" junior from Cumberland lined a long fly in front of the UConn rightfielder to make the score 7-7.

Both pitchers, Long of Connecticut and Charlie Lenobo of PC (Lenobo replaced Langfield in the sixth), were effective in the ninth. After PC went down 1-2-3 in the tenth, UConn put an end to the contest. Elliot led off to lead-after being behind in the count, 0-2. John Galle sacrificed pinch runner Kevin Trahan to second. Mike Johnson then blooped a single to left that Trahan was unable to score on. Ben Ruggles then smashed a bloop bunt to a drawn in shortstop position. PC shortstop Joe Penkala gave the hard grounder a try, but came up short, giving the Huskies only their 2nd win of the year.

Despite the fact that PC was defeated, the Friars ousted the Huskies, 10-3.

However, the Providence College baseball squad’s record jumped back over .500 mark last Friday afternoon as the Friars scored two runs in the ninth inning to beat Springfield, 2-0.

After the Friars had been shut out, 13-12, by Springfield’s Tom Willerson over eight innings, PC broke the ice in the ninth. Captain Ed Cahir led off with a double. John Tierney hit Willerson’s next pitch for another double, scoring Cahir. Steve Dellaposta (.351 before UMass games) drove in the insurance run with a single.

Bert Montalban picked up the win in relief, pitching no hit ball over two innings. Paul Whitehead hurled the first five innings for Providence, limiting Springfield to three hits. Joe Gormley went innings six and seven. Gormley walked two and hit a batter, but also did not allow a hit.

Ed Cahir, Keith Quinn and Ray Fontaine (.308 before UMass) each collected two hits in the PC at bat. Providence once again outdistanced the opposition, this time by a whopping margin of 11-3.

Janice Cataldo ran for a time of 4:44.5 in the 1500 meter to slater a fourth. Rory Connody led the field events as she placed fourth in the discus with a toss of 106' 11". PC’s mile relay pulled in the top five second place finish in the PC at bat. Providence once again outdistanced the opposition, this time by a whopping margin of 11-3.

Coach Kathy Cerra was proud of her team for their effort in this meet. Despite the dreary weather, Providence College managed to master the track in order to overtake the top five teams in their last meet of the regular season. The Lady Friars will send their representatives to the Easterns on Saturday, May 3, at the University of Pittsburgh. The following Saturday, May 10, they will be off to the New England at Dartmouth College to end this very successful season.

Berit and Felton run in Boston Marathon

At road level, pavement marathon, the race was run in the 80’s, under an ardent sun, not exactly the sort of day a man would choose to run a marathon in. Ask just about anyone who has finished a marathon, and they will all tell you the same thing—“It was like a dream; a feeling that I’ve never experienced before. My legs and mind were on the verge of collapse.” Just ask Jon Berit or Lee Felton, both seniors here at PC, who competed in the greatest footrace of all time, the Boston Marathon.

“The heat was just incredible, but the crowd kept me going.”

Berit, a native of Dedham, MA, covered the 26.2 miles, 35 yard course in two hours and 59 minutes. Felton finished the torturous course in 2:55:45. Both men agreed that it was the toughest race they had ever run.

“The heat was just incredible, but the crowds kept me going,” said Felton. Even Bill Rodgers, who won the race for the fourth time, stated that, “The greatest satisfaction in this win was the fact that I kept on going, even at the point of total exhaustion. I was just falling apart, both mentally and physically.”

“Just ask Jon Berit or Lee Felton, both seniors here at PC, who competed in the greatest footrace of all time, the Boston Marathon.”

Not even Bill Rodgers was exempt from the heat. Here, he shows the strain coming off Heartbreak Hill.
Corporation
(Continued from Page 1)

History and labor relations, was unavailable for comment.

For the junior position, Jim O'Connor, a double major from Fort Lee, NJ, is interested in the Corporation because, "It's a liaison between the administration and students. I'd like to be involved. The student opinion is important."

Competing along with O'Connor is Tim Duggan, a political science and humanities major from Lowell, MA. He is seeking the junior position to "increase communication between the student body and the Corporation."

Also running is Steve Dooley, an accounting major from Garden City, NY. Dooley's aim is "to get involved and help the school in the best way possible."

Perry Hasson, rounding out the list, is a math-computer science major from West Hartford, CT. Hasson is seeking Corporation membership because he wants to "get involved and get a chance to speak my voice."

Student response in the election was relatively low. The Corporation election is important because it gives the student body a chance to present to the Corporation the candidates they feel are the best for the positions. The Corporation consists of a maximum of 29 representatives on the Academic Research committee.

Candidate statements are not published in the program book, but they will appear in the program as a separate section. The Sophomore class would receive $2,000. Because of the expenses incurred by the Junior class, particularly with regard to Junior Ring Weekend, that class would receive $4,000. McEnery pointed out that the Junior classes traditionally have little or no money to put towards Commencement activities following Ring Weekend. As a result, senior classes would receive $2,000. He emphasized that these figures are by no means mandatory, rather they are ceilings, intended mainly to set some sort of limits on expenditures. The budget was approved unanimously, as proposed.

In other business, Congress representatives on the Academic Research committee will attend a meeting Wednesday afternoon to discuss the social science requirements. They hope to present a list of criticisms and recommendations regarding the five course requirement, the DWC program and the religion and philosophy requirements.

Dennis J. McEnery, newly elected student representative to the Committee of Administration brought up the problem of numerous students who are currently in debt to the College. A total of $77,000 is presently owed by seniors. McEnery warned that if these accounts are not settled before 4:00 p.m. on May 16, not only will the student's name not appear in the program book, but he or she will also not be allowed to participate in Commencement exercises nor receive their diplomas. He pointed out that they will be allowed to take their final exams, however grades will be withheld until accounts are cleared.

The Dillon Club reported that Spring Week was a success, and that the Senior Banquet has been tentatively scheduled for May 12.

The Class of '81 announced that last Friday's Battle of the Dorms raised $300 for the Cancer Society. Also, on April 30, from 8-12 p.m., Alumni Cafeteria will host a Senior mixer featuring the Paul Wayne Revue. There will be reduced rates for seniors.

The Class of '82 will hold its "End of Civ' party Wednesday afternoon, from 3-7 p.m. Admission is one dollar in advance, two dollars at the door. Cafeteria will hold a Senior Mixer featuring the Paul Wayne Revue. Lastly, Ken McGunagle announced that the Student Congress has hired a new lawyer. He is James H. Riley, Esq.