I can't believe it. I trusted you... and you drank the last Molson.

Falling Into Autumn
Points of Interest

BUS IT DOWNTOWN

Boxes operate every ten minutes from Downtown Providence to 14 stops within downtown. Buses also go inbound by Smith Street and River Avenue every ten minutes.

WHAT’S WHERE?

News | P.3
---|---
Editorials | P.6
Commentary | P.7
Features | P.9
Arts/Lesisure | P.12
Sports | P.14
New COA Member:
Dr. Susan Marsh Appointed

By Cathy Jahn

The Committee on Administration (COA) is the highest decision-making body at Providence College. The COA consists of nine members, both administrators and faculty, as well as one student representative. It is chaired by the Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., president of the College. Other administrators who hold seats on the committee include: Rev. Robert A. Morris, O.P., executive vice president of the College, and vice president for institutional planning and development, Dr. Paul van R. Thomson; vice president for academic administration; Dr. Joseph L. Byrnn, vice president for business affairs; Rev. John G. McCreavy, O.P., vice president for student services, and Rev. John Davis, assistant to the president.

The student representative to the committee, chosen by Student Congress each spring for the following year, is senior Jim O'Connor, a political science major. Faculty representatives to the committee include: Dr. James Tattersall, an associate professor of mathematics and the appointed member of the Faculty Senate to the COA, and the newly appointed Dr. Susan Marsh, assistant professor of political science.

Dr. Marsh was recently appointed to the COA. She has been a member of the faculty for five years and serves on the Student-Faculty Curriculum Committee within the Political Science Department.

Chairman of the concert committee said that the COA is similar to a “clearing house” concerning the particular aspects of the college life. They have found a solution to this problem by sponsoring bi-monthly mini concerts. This week’s featured artist is Tom Chapin. By having a Thursday night concert they are able to get acts for less money than on weekends and as Donovan said, “provide quality entertainment during the week.”

The members of the committee still want to put a major show on campus but with limited dates it is not easy. While they are working on that possibility, some popular acts have been booked for this semester. Beaver Brown will be here October 1. Foundation is coming October 22 and B. Willie Smith will be putting on a show November 2.

Even though the three chairmen of the concert committee have been working very successfully this year, they are “looking for a helpful and dependable group of workers to work with this year,” according to Dennis McCreavy. If anyone has any interest in working with the committee, just stop in the BOG office and talk with Dennis, Jeff or Pete.

Members of the committee are trying to put on shows that will appeal to everyone’s taste in music. Suggestions are always welcome. The committee would like to encourage everyone to attend the concerts this semester and look forward to an exciting second semester with such promising events as Columbus Day, the Morris Dance Show, NRBQ and the Stompers.

Last Thursday, September 17, The Knights of Columbus sponsored another successful Blood Drive. Pictured above is a PC student extending an arm.
Acuilar Replaces Cerwonna
New Changes on the Way

By Tim O'Hara

During the past year, the business department at Providence College has under- gone numerous changes and improvements. One such change was the appointment of Robert J. Acuilar as the new Business Administration department chairman.

On June 1, 1981, Mr. Acuilar was elected by his fellow faculty members to this one-year position, a seat left vacant by Dr. Ronald P. Cerwonna. Dr. Cerwonna resigned his position to spend a year in sabbatical. Elected as chairman of such a large department means inheriting a number of problems associated with the reorganization of the department. Mr. Acuilar feels that the solution lies in expanding the business department’s role. While an increase in enrollment is planned for the future, Mr. Acuilar pointed out that finding qualified instructors is a major obstacle. According to Acuilar, the possibility of greater salaries and benefits provided by business corporations places academic institutions at a distinct disadvantage.

In addition to the personnel changes, new ideas and proposals to improve the department’s role are now in the planning stages. Among possible plans for the future, Mr. Acuilar hopes to see a unified accounting program that would be able to better serve the different members to this one year in the position.

Acuilar has also been elected as chairman of the Student Congress. As chairman, Mr. Acuilar hopes to broaden faculty and student involvement in the department, working to make the business field more accessible.

Congress Meeting:
Campus Council Looks for a Van

By Janet Hook

Reprinted from The Chronicle of Higher Education

Three federal student aid programs will be combined into block grants to be awarded to colleges and universities, under a proposal being considered by the Department of Education.

Edward M. Eiden, Deputy Assistant Secretary for student financial assistance, says the department is working on a proposal designed to give colleges more flexibility in awarding aid to their students by merging together these three programs — Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants, College Work-Study Program and National Direct Student Loans.

The money, which is now sent to colleges in three separate allocations, would be awarded to institutions on a single lump sum basis. District councils that are underrepresented in the program would be able to receive grants.

In addition, business students who need to make adjustments in order to complete their training requirements will not have to wait until the end of the academic year, but will do so at the time of preregistration. Mr. Acuilar has also instituted a system by which each department member will be responsible for the adjustment and approval of students’ schedules with a certain business concentration.

Another problem existing as a direct result of the department’s expansion is the need to increase the number of scholarships available to students. In order to address the increasing number of students, the problem lies in expanding the business department’s role. While an increase in enrollment is planned for the future, Mr. Acuilar pointed out that finding qualified instructors is a major obstacle. According to Acuilar, the possibility of greater salaries and benefits provided by business corporations places academic institutions at a distinct disadvantage.

In addition to personnel changes, new ideas and proposals to improve the department’s role are now in the planning stages. Among possible plans for the future, Mr. Acuilar hopes to see a unified accounting program that would be able to better serve the different members to this one year in the position.

Acuilar has also been elected as chairman of the Student Congress. As chairman, Mr. Acuilar hopes to broaden faculty and student involvement in the department, working to make the business field more accessible.

Congress Meeting:
Campus Council Looks for a Van

By Janet Hook

Reprinted from The Chronicle of Higher Education

Three federal student aid programs will be combined into block grants to be awarded to colleges and universities, under a proposal being considered by the Department of Education.

Edward M. Eiden, Deputy Assistant Secretary for student financial assistance, says the department is working on a proposal designed to give colleges more flexibility in awarding aid to their students by merging together these three programs — Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants, College Work-Study Program and National Direct Student Loans.

The money, which is now sent to colleges in three separate allocations, would be awarded to institutions on a single lump sum basis. District councils that are underrepresented in the program would be able to receive grants.

In addition, business students who need to make adjustments in order to complete their training requirements will not have to wait until the end of the academic year, but will do so at the time of preregistration. Mr. Acuilar has also instituted a system by which each department member will be responsible for the adjustment and approval of students’ schedules with a certain business concentration.

Another problem existing as a direct result of the department’s expansion is the need to increase the number of scholarships available to students. In order to address the increasing number of students, the problem lies in expanding the business department’s role. While an increase in enrollment is planned for the future, Mr. Acuilar pointed out that finding qualified instructors is a major obstacle. According to Acuilar, the possibility of greater salaries and benefits provided by business corporations places academic institutions at a distinct disadvantage.

In addition to personnel changes, new ideas and proposals to improve the department’s role are now in the planning stages. Among possible plans for the future, Mr. Acuilar hopes to see a unified accounting program that would be able to better serve the different members to this one year in the position.

Acuilar has also been elected as chairman of the Student Congress. As chairman, Mr. Acuilar hopes to broaden faculty and student involvement in the department, working to make the business field more accessible.
Scholars Recognized In Economics, Political Science

By Karen MacGillivray

Pi Sigma Alpha is a political science honor society. A chapter of this society was established at PC on February 1, 1972, and the PC chapter is known as Epsilon Chi.

Pi Sigma Alpha was founded at the University of Texas as a national honor society in October, 1920. In 1949, this society was admitted into the Association of College Honor Societies, representing political science. There are now approximately 256 chapters of Pi Sigma Alpha in the country.

The PC chapter, Epsilon Chi, currently has 11 members. They are: Deborah George, president; Joel Kaufman, vice-president; Cheryl Morrissey, secretary-treasurer; Steven Angarella, Rosemary Connolly, Timothy Duggan, Marybeth Holland, Frank Manni, Roberta Motherwasy, Lori-Ann Ricci, and Alison Roe. Their faculty advisor is Neil Romans, associate professor.

The economics department also has an honor society called Omicron Delta Epsilon. A chapter of this society was instituted on the PC campus on May 1, 1972. Omicron Delta Epsilon is the result of a merger between two honor societies: Omicron Delta Gamma and Omicron Chi Epsilon. Omicron Delta Gamma was founded in 1915 by a union of the economic societies of Harvard University and the University of Wisconsin. Omicron Chi Epsilon was founded in 1920. In 1949, this society was reconstituted on the PC campus. Omicron Delta Epsilon is the result of a merger between two honor societies: Omicron Delta Gamma and Omicron Chi Epsilon. Omicron Delta Gamma was founded in 1915 by a union of the economic societies of Harvard University and the University of Wisconsin. Omicron Chi Epsilon was founded in 1920. In 1949, this society was reconstituted on the PC campus. Omicron Delta Epsilon is currently has 11 members. They are: Deborah George, president; Joel Kaufman, vice-president; Cheryl Morrissey, secretary-treasurer; Steven Angarella, Rosemary Connolly, Timothy Duggan, Marybeth Holland, Frank Manni, Roberta Motherwasy, Lori-Ann Ricci, and Alison Roe. Their faculty advisor is Neil Romans, associate professor.

Economics is the study of how individuals, businesses, and governments make decisions about the allocation of scarce resources. It involves the analysis of supply and demand, pricing, production, and distribution. Economists use various models and theories to understand economic behavior and to make predictions about future trends. They work in a variety of settings, including government agencies, businesses, and research institutions.

There are currently nine members of this society at PC. They are: Michael Tavares, Dennis Clark, Brian Fay, Elizabeth Leonard, Tyrone McElhugh, John Reilly, James Sullivan, Michael Sweet and Thomas Sorbo.

Dorm Council Elections Participation Is Low

Dorm Council elections will take place tomorrow in Lower Slavin between 9:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. The nomination period for candidates ended Monday, September 21 at 4 p.m. On Monday, John Ludvig, chairperson of the ways and means committee of Student Congress, held a meeting for about 45 of the nominees. At the meeting the rules for the campaign were explained.

The candidates are as follows:

1. President: Olivia Davis, Vice-President: Emily Johnson, Secretary: Kate Smith, Treasurer: Steven Angarella, Social Chairperson: Lisa Bisegna.

Running in Fennell for President is Tim "Demps" D'Isodoro and Gerri Fair.

The candidates are as follows:

1. President: Olivia Davis, Vice-President: Emily Johnson, Secretary: Kate Smith, Treasurer: Steven Angarella, Social Chairperson: Lisa Bisegna.

Running in Fennell for President is Tim "Demps" D'Isodoro and Gerri Fair.

PC's Familiar Faces Are Winners in Journal Contest

Providence, Rhode Island, September 9, 1981: The members of Hospital Trust National Bank's Providence College Office staff have all been winners recently in the Providence Sunday Journal magazine "The Puzzle" contest. Surrounded by their newspapers and Journal T-Shirts are: (Seated l-r) Dottie Morris, Banking Officer and Manager, a Warwick resident; Helen Cunningham, a Greenville resident; and Cindy Breault, a Riverside resident. (Standing l-r) Raymond Dore: President, Kathy Colgan and Susan Avila; Secretary, Ellen Harrington; Treasurer, Cindy Frawley, Social Chairperson, Laura Callahan; Paul McConvilly; Vice President, Pete O’Connell; Treasurer, Dave Smelio; and Social Chairperson, George Balsam.

"Hey, this place looks great! Are you sure we’re on the PC campus?"
Take a Trip Off-Campus

Enjoy Providence

Take heed PC resident-students—there is life beyond campus! As a matter of interest there is even a city out there with a good many things to do.

By the time one is a senior at Providence College, you will no doubt have heard the complaints about falling into a social rut. For those of you who think there is nothing beyond the realms of Louie’s, Brad’s, and Geister’s you have yet to discover the cultural offerings of Providence, R.I.

Unfortunately, many students, particularly from out of state, tend to write the city off as “boring,” while those from the area are the wiser.

Take a look at The Cowl’s new section, The Marquee, and you will see what you have been missing. For example, Lupo’s Heartbreak Hotel, in the heart of downtown Providence, offers a variety of good bands as well as an assortment of interesting characters in an environment resembling early garage.

There are also fairs and festivals which are open to the public as well as art exhibits at the Rhode Island School of Design.

The East Side and the Arcade are two particularly good places to spend an afternoon, whether to shop or just browse, through their many boutiques.

For those who are interested in drama, the Trinity Square Repertory Company downtown performs many outstanding shows, in keeping with its tradition of excellent local theater.

So, PC students, you have no reason to limit yourselves any more. The Editorial Board of The Cowl suggests that you extend your interests. While the College’s various organizations do provide us with an excellent assortment of entertainment, it would not hurt to try something different. After all, the essence of a college education is the development of a well rounded person.

Better Safe

Common Sense: A Safety Must

Just about one year ago, Providence College was stricken with what, at the time, was an unheard of occurrence on this campus. In separate incidents, two female co-eds, while walking alone across campus, were sexually assaulted by a knife-wielding assailant. Fortunately, both of the young women escaped unharmed.

While sexual assault may be an almost daily occurrence at many universities and large institutions, it is something that a small school like PC rarely, if ever, hears about.

So when these two incidents occurred within a week of each other, they severely disturbed the peace and quiet of the PC campus.

Since that time, some changes have been made to prevent a repeat of such attacks. For one thing, the addition of the shuttle bus has been a means of keeping off-campus students from having to walk to and from the College at night. There are also many new lights, particularly in the area of the President’s House, the scene of one of the attacks.

The Editorial Board of The Cowl expresses its thanks to the administration for taking measures to increase the safety and security of the students at PC. However, no matter how many safety measures have been or will be taken, there is only one we should all carry with us: common sense.

Let it not be forgotten that the first attack occurred in a well lit area near McDermett Hall at a fairly early hour. The area is well travelled with students going to and from the Library and within earshot of the all-male dorm. This would certainly seem a safe place to walk. Yet the attack occurred there as the young woman walked from the Library to Aquinas Hall.

The Editorial Board of The Cowl emphasizes the importance of never walking alone, particularly to female students. It is easy enough ask for an escort from a security guard or a friend, and the benefit may last you a lifetime.

Dear Reader:

The news staff of The Cowl will be running a series of articles on the off campus residence situation at PC. These articles will present a number of different outlooks including the perspectives of landlords, student tenants, housing personnel at the College, and OCHO members.

The series will begin next week, in the September 30 issue. I hope you will enjoy this most informative series of articles.

Sincerely,

Marybeth Holland
Editor in Chief
By JACK ANDERSON and JOE SPEAR
WASHINGTON - The full story of the Libyan-American confrontation in the Mediterranean has yet to be told. The shooting down of two Libyan fighter planes was just the latest episode. We have been reporting the story, which has been hidden under the top-secret stamp, since the October Libyan fighters had been harassing U.S. reconnaissance planes. Libyan pilots had been overheard receiving orders to shoot down American planes, and some U.S. aircraft had to take evasive action to avoid being blasted out of the sky. We also reported that Libya's radical ruler, Muammar Qaddafi, had demanded that U.S. Navy ships keep out of the Gulf of Sidra. But these were international waters, and the Navy scheduled exercises in the gulf despite Qaddafi's protest. This was in June 1980. Jimmy Carter was president, and his brother Billy was avert from being carded by the Libyans. For this and other reasons, the naval exercises were moved in to the Gulf of Sidra. Qaddafi then showed his contempt for the United States by inviting the Soviet fleet to sail in the gulf.

Inside the Pentagon, the military officers are Islamic fundamentalists who resent the Westernization in their countries. Many officers were rulers. Many officers were overheard receiving orders to shoot down American planes, and some U.S. aircraft had to take evasive action to avoid being blasted out of the sky. We also reported that Libya's radical ruler, Muammar Qaddafi, had demanded that U.S. Navy ships keep out of the Gulf of Sidra. But these were international waters, and the Navy scheduled exercises in the gulf despite Qaddafi's protest. This was in June 1980. Jimmy Carter was president, and his brother Billy was avert from being carded by the Libyans. For this and other reasons, the naval exercises were moved in to the Gulf of Sidra. Qaddafi then showed his contempt for the United States by inviting the Soviet fleet to sail in the gulf.

Inside the Pentagon, the military officers are Islamic fundamentalists who resent the Westernization in their countries. Many officers were rulers. Many officers were overheard receiving orders to shoot down American planes, and some U.S. aircraft had to take evasive action to avoid being blasted out of the sky. We also reported that Libya's radical ruler, Muammar Qaddafi, had demanded that U.S. Navy ships keep out of the Gulf of Sidra. But these were international waters, and the Navy scheduled exercises in the gulf despite Qaddafi's protest. This was in June 1980. Jimmy Carter was president, and his brother Billy was avert from being carded by the Libyans. For this and other reasons, the naval exercises were moved in to the Gulf of Sidra. Qaddafi then showed his contempt for the United States by inviting the Soviet fleet to sail in the gulf.

Inside the Pentagon, the military officers are Islamic fundamentalists who resent the Westernization in their countries. Many officers were rulers. Many officers were overheard receiving orders to shoot down American planes, and some U.S. aircraft had to take evasive action to avoid being blasted out of the sky. We also reported that Libya's radical ruler, Muammar Qaddafi, had demanded that U.S. Navy ships keep out of the Gulf of Sidra. But these were international waters, and the Navy scheduled exercises in the gulf despite Qaddafi's protest. This was in June 1980. Jimmy Carter was president, and his brother Billy was avert from being carded by the Libyans. For this and other reasons, the naval exercises were moved in to the Gulf of Sidra. Qaddafi then showed his contempt for the United States by inviting the Soviet fleet to sail in the gulf.

Inside the Pentagon, the military officers are Islamic fundamentalists who resent the Westernization in their countries. Many officers were rulers. Many officers were overheard receiving orders to shoot down American planes, and some U.S. aircraft had to take evasive action to avoid being blasted out of the sky. We also reported that Libya's radical ruler, Muammar Qaddafi, had demanded that U.S. Navy ships keep out of the Gulf of Sidra. But these were international waters, and the Navy scheduled exercises in the gulf despite Qaddafi's protest. This was in June 1980. Jimmy Carter was president, and his brother Billy was avert from being carded by the Libyans. For this and other reasons, the naval exercises were moved in to the Gulf of Sidra. Qaddafi then showed his contempt for the United States by inviting the Soviet fleet to sail in the gulf.

Inside the Pentagon, the military officers are Islamic fundamentalists who resent the Westernization in their countries. Many officers were rulers. Many officers were overheard receiving orders to shoot down American planes, and some U.S. aircraft had to take evasive action to avoid being blasted out of the sky. We also reported that Libya's radical ruler, Muammar Qaddafi, had demanded that U.S. Navy ships keep out of the Gulf of Sidra. But these were international waters, and the Navy scheduled exercises in the gulf despite Qaddafi's protest. This was in June 1980. Jimmy Carter was president, and his brother Billy was avert from being carded by the Libyans. For this and other reasons, the naval exercises were moved in to the Gulf of Sidra. Qaddafi then showed his contempt for the United States by inviting the Soviet fleet to sail in the gulf.

Inside the Pentagon, the military officers are Islamic fundamentalists who resent the Westernization in their countries. Many officers were rulers. Many officers were overheard receiving orders to shoot down American planes, and some U.S. aircraft had to take evasive action to avoid being blasted out of the sky. We also reported that Libya's radical ruler, Muammar Qaddafi, had demanded that U.S. Navy ships keep out of the Gulf of Sidra. But these were international waters, and the Navy scheduled exercises in the gulf despite Qaddafi's protest. This was in June 1980. Jimmy Carter was president, and his brother Billy was avert from being carded by the Libyans. For this and other reasons, the naval exercises were moved in to the Gulf of Sidra. Qaddafi then showed his contempt for the United States by inviting the Soviet fleet to sail in the gulf.

Inside the Pentagon, the military officers are Islamic fundamentalists who resent the Westernization in their countries. Many officers were rulers. Many officers were overheard receiving orders to shoot down American planes, and some U.S. aircraft had to take evasive action to avoid being blasted out of the sky. We also reported that Libya's radical ruler, Muammar Qaddafi, had demanded that U.S. Navy ships keep out of the Gulf of Sidra. But these were international waters, and the Navy scheduled exercises in the gulf despite Qaddafi's protest. This was in June 1980. Jimmy Carter was president, and his brother Billy was avert from being carded by the Libyans. For this and other reasons, the naval exercises were moved in to the Gulf of Sidra. Qaddafi then showed his contempt for the United States by inviting the Soviet fleet to sail in the gulf.

Inside the Pentagon, the military officers are Islamic fundamentalists who resent the Westernization in their countries. Many officers were rulers. Many officers were overheard receiving orders to shoot down American planes, and some U.S. aircraft had to take evasive action to avoid being blasted out of the sky. We also reported that Libya's radical ruler, Muammar Qaddafi, had demanded that U.S. Navy ships keep out of the Gulf of Sidra. But these were international waters, and the Navy scheduled exercises in the gulf despite Qaddafi's protest. This was in June 1980. Jimmy Carter was president, and his brother Billy was avert from being carded by the Libyans. For this and other reasons, the naval exercises were moved in to the Gulf of Sidra. Qaddafi then showed his contempt for the United States by inviting the Soviet fleet to sail in the gulf.

Inside the Pentagon, the military officers are Islamic fundamentalists who resent the Westernization in their countries. Many officers were rulers. Many officers were overheard receiving orders to shoot down American planes, and some U.S. aircraft had to take evasive action to avoid being blasted out of the sky. We also reported that Libya's radical ruler, Muammar Qaddafi, had demanded that U.S. Navy ships keep out of the Gulf of Sidra. But these were international waters, and the Navy scheduled exercises in the gulf despite Qaddafi's protest. This was in June 1980. Jimmy Carter was president, and his brother Billy was avert from being carded by the Libyans. For this and other reasons, the naval exercises were moved in to the Gulf of Sidra. Qaddafi then showed his contempt for the United States by inviting the Soviet fleet to sail in the gulf.

Inside the Pentagon, the military officers are Islamic fundamentalists who resent the Westernization in their countries. Many officers were rulers. Many officers were overheard receiving orders to shoot down American planes, and some U.S. aircraft had to take evasive action to avoid being blasted out of the sky. We also reported that Libya's radical ruler, Muammar Qaddafi, had demanded that U.S. Navy ships keep out of the Gulf of Sidra. But these were international waters, and the Navy scheduled exercises in the gulf despite Qaddafi's protest. This was in June 1980. Jimmy Carter was president, and his brother Billy was avert from being carded by the Libyans. For this and other reasons, the naval exercises were moved in to the Gulf of Sidra. Qaddafi then showed his contempt for the United States by inviting the Soviet fleet to sail in the gulf.

Inside the Pentagon, the military officers are Islamic fundamentalists who resent the Westernization in their countries. Many officers were rulers. Many officers were overheard receiving orders to shoot down American planes, and some U.S. aircraft had to take evasive action to avoid being blasted out of the sky. We also reported that Libya's radical ruler, Muammar Qaddafi, had demanded that U.S. Navy ships keep out of the Gulf of Sidra. But these were international waters, and the Navy scheduled exercises in the gulf despite Qaddafi's protest. This was in June 1980. Jimmy Carter was president, and his brother Billy was avert from being carded by the Libyans. For this and other reasons, the naval exercises were moved in to the Gulf of Sidra. Qaddafi then showed his contempt for the United States by inviting the Soviet fleet to sail in the gulf.

Inside the Pentagon, the military officers are Islamic fundamentalists who resent the Westernization in their countries. Many officers were rulers. Many officers were overheard receiving orders to shoot down American planes, and some U.S. aircraft had to take evasive action to avoid being blasted out of the sky. We also reported that Libya's radical ruler, Muammar Qaddafi, had demanded that U.S. Navy ships keep out of the Gulf of Sidra. But these were international waters, and the Navy scheduled exercises in the gulf despite Qaddafi's protest. This was in June 1980. Jimmy Carter was president, and his brother Billy was avert from being carded by the Libyans. For this and other reasons, the naval exercises were moved in to the Gulf of Sidra. Qaddafi then showed his contempt for the United States by inviting the Soviet fleet to sail in the gulf.
This Learning World
by Dr. Richard Meisler

Education and Survival

Survival. It's the most basic of issues. Yet if you listen to people you will hear mainly despair, hopelessness and, most of all, passivity. Nuclear war was: "If it comes, it comes. There's nothing I can do about it. Perhaps I'll be one of the lucky survivors." Cancer: "Since everything seems to cause cancer, there's no point in worrying about it." Pollution: "If we want jobs and a healthy economy, we just have to accept it."

Inconsistent world power has been unkind to America. National defense has led to a counterproductive economy. The last four decades of tax and budget cuts and with Ronald Reagan's victory on both national and international fronts brought great anticipation. Conservatives alike is one of this.

Young Americans for Freedom (YAF) was founded by young people with great passion. The word "basics" is killing us. Educators worship the idea of some basics, whatever they are, but discussing current problems of survival. In science education there's hardly anyone left to talk with the young people. They've all been persuaded that science is too complicated and the important issues that threaten humanity are too important to our survival.

They must do better. Paradoxically, this sort of education is also often the result of a deep-set elitism in the academic world. The professionals feel that they are not sure they can hold their own against the powerful core of the students. They set the ground-rules, therefore, in an attempt to limit discourse to their narrow realms of expertise. But if our educators are ever to act on the world this result will be disastrous. Widespread scientific literacy is too important to our survival. They must not be forced to abandon it, if we are to have a chance.

Fly Away From Home to Air

By Steve Sion

'Fly Away Home' is a 22 part series that began airing Friday night. It is a drama of Vietnam. Wouldças. There's no Vietnam are merely hollow events to most of us. Yet, to the men and women who lived during those years they were a harsh reality of man killing man. Whether it was unfair, cruel, inhumane made no difference. It was happening.

It is as old as he is. Arthur C. Remarque's All's Quiet On The Western Front tells of one man who tried, "...I stand up. Let the months and the years come, they can take nothing more." Before the war ends his commit suicide for a few brainless phrases which have an expression of calm. "War is senseless," he would have a chance.

YAF: A Conservative Voice

By Brian Fay

Young Americans for Freedom (YAF) was founded by young people who cared about the future of our nation and the world. These young people are concerned about the problems we face today as individuals and as a nation. The last four decades of growing power at home have brought an increased violation of individual rights, as well as alarming deficits, crippling inflation and astronomical tax rates.

The position of America as a world power has been undermined as well. Inconsistencies in foreign policy and a weak national defense has led to a position where America is virtually a second rate power today.

With the exception of 1964, this summer was the most prosperous for YAF, which now has chapters nationwide. With Ronald Reagan's victory on both the tax and budget cuts and with the prospect of our greater defense needs finally being met, the general mood of the YAF and conservatives alike is one of great anticipation.

If you are concerned with the future of your country and the world and if you want to do something about it, join with Young Americans for Freedom as the vanguard of conservation for the 80's.

The first meeting of the PC chapter of YAF will be sometime during the next week which will be announced shortly. This meeting will state the objectives of YAF as a club and the proposed events for the upcoming year. The movie In Pursuit of Freedom will also be shown at this time. This is an excellent promotional film about Young Americans for Freedom, its founding, development and success as an important organization within the conservative movement.

With the liberals constantly equivocating about American policy, you can't afford to miss this.
Mr. & Mrs. Slavin: Not Just The Brunt of Student’s Jokes

By Erin Donahue

We walk by it at least once every day and at first we wondered what it was all about. Then we just got used to its being there so we really didn’t think about it anymore.

What is it that seems to have escaped our attention? Well, it’s the statue in front of Slavin Center. Most of the students and the faculty don’t know the story behind the statue or what it symbolizes.

The seven-foot statue is constructed from bronze and weighs 900 pounds. It is a replica of Eterniter Juvenis which translates to Truth is Eternally Young. It was presented to the College at the 1974 commencement exercises by Joseph Bernstein and his daughter, Alice Bernstein.

Joseph Bernstein had attended Hope College and in 1939 had then come to PC. His stay here, however, was short, three weeks. He became the founder and retired chairman of the board of his downtown business. His interest in art came from his son who was an artist and the daughter who married a sculptor. Alice Bernstein also paints and sculps.

The Bernstein agency was handling a fund drive for PC and the agency head commented that the project would be an interesting addition to the Economics department of Providence College.

Dr. Kane, new economics professor.

Business Department Plans a Good Time

By Joan Whalen

Thinking back to previous President’s Day we have vague but fond memories of waking up late, taking a shower to shake off the results of one too many from the night before and then proceeding to the front of Slavin where serious partying began, complete with brew, a band, food and friends. This year’s President’s Day, however, has a slightly different twist at the request of Father Peterson. Each department has been asked to provide a variety of informal morning activities during which students can be familiarized with members of their department.

The business department started off the day on a religious note with an 8:30 a.m. mass Guzman Chapel offered by Father Ertle for the members of Mr. Gemma’s classes. The well attended liturgy was then followed by a continental buffet which took place in Koffler Hall, the well-known headquarters of the business department.

Over coffee and doughnuts students had an excellent opportunity to casually meet and converse with their assigned professors. The majority of teachers were eager to be acquainted with students who they had previously known as merely a name on their roll call sheet. Perhaps some looked upon this gathering as a chance to earn brownie points with the professor of their least favorite class.

In the afternoon a bit more physical meeting of faculty and student body occurred when the two met in a softball game on Lower Campus. After much groaning and sweating and straining, it was still highly debatable who won. Bill Ribicaro, president of the Business Club still maintains that the students were the victors. Also taking place throughout the day was a raffle of PC memorabilia which had been distributed to those students who had attended their business classes the previous Thursday and Friday. As the day progressed students began to gather outside Slavin for the part of President’s Day that was more familiar to most of us. As and dusk closed in and we slipped out our last brew and the band played the last tune, it looked as if President’s Day would continue to be an annual event due to the success of the morning’s activities.
The Sorcery of Superstition

By Linda Zaccardo

Legend has it that a magic ointment rubbed onto one's skin would transform a man into a wolf-like creature that makes nocturnal excursions attacking animals and humans alike, devouring raw flesh, and then returning into human flesh again. Supernovation advises that seven years of bad luck is won by he who breaks a glass mirror. Countless modern myths of UFO's are told and retold again. Legends, superstitions, and myths: do they still exist today?

Dr. Raymond Sickinger addressed this question in the first of a series of lectures presented by the Lecture Committee and BOG on Monday, September 14, at the Last Resort.

Many people have a desire to resolve the mysterious and the unknown, claimed Sickinger. When science and religion fail to give adequate explanations, man attempts to deal with the inexplicable material by making it material. In times of insecurity, however, unreasonable fears prevail with fear, and man develops legends, superstitions, and myths to answer the unanswered. There are many people today who still believe in various superstitions such as a lucky horseshoe, or Friday the 13th. South County, Rhode Island, is second only to Transylvania in reporting of vampires. Other people have claimed to have seen such creatures as the legendary Big Foot, or the Lochness Monster.

Living in a world which changes so rapidly as new doors open into the unknown of space exploration, will we revert to the anxieties which drive us to the creation of new myths to explain the hidden mysteries? Or can we leave the inexplicable unresolved until we find the true answers which sometimes prevail?

Dr. Sickinger captured the audience with many entertaining tales. The informal atmosphere at the Last Resort combined with a short but informative discussion, and fine refreshments, provided a relaxing evening. Future lecture topics are also eye-catchers because they are not strictly academic, but of an interesting nature. It is well worth the effort to take the time out to attend one of these lectures which are very well presented.

Thoughts While Not Shaving

By S.J.J. (Vegic) McGuire

"Boys will be boys" is a popular expression which has been used to magically explain away mischiefful evil doings by males, as if there were something inherent in the masculine soul that directed it toward such conduct. Often, those members of the group who are not doing the bullying, the baby and the senior citizen, making it difficult to conclude that the age of the male in question is of importance at all. I am pretty well aware of the tendencies of the behavior "going 'coon" in stereotypically expected to exhibit. Clearly, there is permitted a certain vulgarity of language that rethorstrated superior capacity to consume alcoholic beverages, a "playful" violence of violence is ever really just playful, and a large number of other redeeming qualities. Ultimately, with not the doubt, is marked progress with women.

Two or three times this year, I have heard a colleague and friend referred to as a "Don Juan." Today, while I was not shaving, I pondered the concept of Don Juanism and wondering just how well the term was applied in the instances mentioned.

Each of the two or three times the term had been used, a certain glamour or admiration (by both men and women students) was connoted. As much as it is admired by the scholar, it is nearly always the slave to emotion! In order to logically examine the sapiens of the judgement "He is a Don Juan," it is necessary to discover just what Don Juan was and what is meant by Don Juanism.

Surely, the Providence College mixer of Eaton Street party are not the sole setting of which could be found examples of this famous label! A look at the name itself suggests that Don Juan was a Spaniard, and a Spaniard of noble blood. "Dom" or "Don" can be translated to mean "Lord" or "Sir." Somehow, though, it is not the Spanish version that has maintained the tradition of Juanism, but rather it has been two non-Spanish works, Mozart's opera Don Giovanni and Molieres play Don Juan. Not related to the Juanist myth are the very popular works of sorceror Don Juan. Authors and playwrights who have turned to the theme have included Lord Byron, Soren Kierggaard, and Bernard Shaw. Knowing Mozart's opera, others related to the Juanist myth are opera Don Giovanni and Moliere's play Don Juan. Many people who have heard a colleague and friend referred to as a "Don Juan." Today, while I was not shaving, I pondered the concept of Don Juanism and wondering just how well the term was applied in the instances mentioned.

Each of the two or three times the term had been used, a certain glamour or admiration (by both men and women students) was connoted. As much as it is admired by the scholar, it is nearly always the slave to emotion! In order to logically examine the sapiens of the judgement "He is a Don Juan," it is necessary to discover just what Don Juan was and what is meant by Don Juanism. The Friars' Favorite Florist!

“We deliver!”
50 Radcliffe Ave, Providence, R. I.

MINERVA PIZZA HOUSE
1405 Douglas Ave, North Providence, R.I.

Delicious pizzas and hot oven grinders.
"CALL YOUR ORDER BEFORE YOU LEAVE HOME THEY WILL BE READY ON ARRIVAL."
10% DISCOUNT WITH PC ID 353-5155
521-3339

Frey Florist & Greenhouse
The Friars' Favorite Florist!

“We deliver!”
353-5155
Soap Opera Syndrome
Daily PC Addiction

By Michele Griffin

Have you noticed how quiet this campus becomes in the middle of the afternoon? Don't get the impression that everyone is studying, because that idea is in left field. It's called the "Soap Opera Phenomenon." The way this campus gets to be addicted, it should be called the Soap Opera Syn­drome! A Soap Opera can be called the Soap Opera Syn­drome. To Soap Opera Anonymous chapter would be a good start in breaking the habit. Imagine sitting in a meeting.

"My addiction started when Laura was in Canada and Heather was barely a character and Bobbie was a prostitute in General Hospital. Now that is addicted! Or the one who started G.H. when Monica's husband was still alive?" (Boy. they've all come a long way!) or how about the one who started G.H. when Jeff and Monica and Laura and David Hamilton were items. But just because my non-soap friends. I get sick of soaps, too. There is just so much I will tolerate as far as the story line, and the rate they move along permits a once a week viewing. I've reformed.

This campus is definitely addicted. When it gets to the point where you're planning activities around your favorite soap, you, too, have Soap Opera Syndrome. Good Luck fellow addicts!!! I think we're all hooked! Doesn't Scgaranelle. (the Sancho Panza. if I recall the words he said to his sidekick, Sgranalone, the (Sancho Panza, if you will, of the Don Juan legend) in Moliere's play. Translating from the French, "I believe, Sgranalone, that two and two are four and four and four are eight." Period, I don't think it has rested upon stealing and murder.

The Don Juan story is that a certain likeable personality has always helped him hide his many faults, and his ability to flatter and woo has reinforced that likeability. But, that is the nature of any literary villain.

Don Juan de Tenorio, a name which might just represent the real, historical figure from whose life the legend arose, was not able to charm everyone. The story has that it has his cruel, immoral conduct reached such a limit that he was abducted by local Franciscan monks who took his life to prevent his crimes from continuing. It is believed that later officially blamed a falling statue, from which the legend of the come-to-life statue which leads Juan off to Hell may have arisen.

The true story of Don Juan we may never know, but I take it upon myself to issue a warning to those "Don Juans" of Providence College. A Dominican, at times, can be as fierce as two Franciscans, and there are many statues around campus. I think again of that certain friend and colleague. I guess from now on we should call him "Cassanova."
The Rolling Stones concert at the New England Performing Center never came off and by 12 Saturday morning, A. Cianci Jr. and promoter Frank J. Russo were lambasting Channel 6 for not going along with other Rhode Island news outlets that had agreed to withhold news of the concert.

The city and the promoter had agreed the news embargo Friday evening under the Stones threat of no concert, no concert. The Stones wanted a "localized" concert in "a city like this, a smaller town," said the mayor, and safety problems that notice of their appearance would create.

"The rest of the press was extremely fair," said Cianci in a press conference about 12:30 on the lawn of his house. "The one station broke it that." "It is very difficult to keep a program like this on a secretive basis," said Russo, standing shoulder-to-shoulder with the mayor. "We got within 12 hours, less than 12 hours, of pulling off what this city would have seen as a major coup in this country."

Channel 6 News Director John Sweeney had a question about running the story and it was decided to air at 11 p.m.

He said that the news staff at the station did not even telephone him when Providence police Maj. Walter J. Clark called about 8 p.m. and, I feel I was being used," he said. "I did not think it was news."

In attacking Channel 6 at his press conference, Cianci said that the story broke into its regular programming and "ran it (the story) as if it were some investigation and they uncovered it, when they were told" about the story in a telephone call from a police official.

Sweeney, who was called numerous times by reporters after Cianci's press conference, said, "This story was not the result of some press release we were asked to keep quiet about. We were aware of it at 6. We did not air it because we could not confirm it. That's when we dropped the p.m. text edition, at 11.

Channel 10 ran its version of the story on the 11 p.m. broadcast after it was broken first on Channel 6. The Journal-Bulletin also ran a story in its edition printed earlier that day.

Executive Editor Charles Hart of Channel 12 said that his station had the story and it was confirmed by Russo, who composed the new musical score.

Reconstructed by British film historian Kevin Brownlow over a period of 20 years, this extraordinary movie picture broke on the January film scene as a major cinema event. In all, 60,000 New Yorkers crushed into eight special showings at a 9,000-seat Radio City Music Hall. The climax for tickets was enormous and for those fortunate enough to get in, the film surpassed all expectations.

Now Providence comes to Channel 12 to present its first New England presentation. By the end of the year it will have been seen in Los Angeles, Rome, Chicago, Atlanta, Washington and Detroit. A two-week return engagement to Radio City Music Hall will follow the Providence run. The movie will be shown as originally filmed by Gance, now 91 (alive and well) and living in Paris. The final 18 minutes of the film will be projected in Polyvision, a three-camera, three-projector process invented by Gance years before Cinerama. This scene, filled with tremendous triumphy, rival and challenges any film shot today.

Reserved tickets are available at $29, $15 and $10 at the box office. Both Ticket Agency and Ladd's Music Centers. Mail orders may be sent to OSPAC Ticket Service, 208 Weybosset St., Providence, R.I. 02903, and must include check or M.O., date, time, price, number of tickets and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Bank card customers may charge tickets by calling (401) 421-9075. Group of 25 or more receive a 20 percent discount and should call the OSPAC Group Line at (401) 421-6007.

"Y'all should read the COWL!"

OSPAC Groupline at (401) 421-25 or more receive a 20 percent discount. Groups of 25 or more receive a 20 percent discount and should call the OSPAC Group Line at (401) 421-6007.
WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 23
THERE WILL BE A
LAST RESORT RENOVATIONS
COMMITTEE’S
ORGANIZATIONAL MEETING AT THE
LAST RESORT
AT 6:30

THURSDAY, SEPT. 24
THE B.O.G. SOCIAL COMMITTEES IS HAVING AN ORGANIZATIONAL MEETING IN THE
B.O.G. OFFICE (RM. 101)
AT 4:00

THURSDAY
OCTOBER 1
THE CONCERTS
COMMITTEE
presents

‘BEAVER BROWN’
IN ’64 HALL
SHOWS AT 7:30 AND 10:00
PRICE IS $4.00
TICKETS ARE ON SALE
MONDAY, SEPT. 28
IN BOG OFFICE (ROOM 101)

SATURDAY, SEPT. 26
LAST RESORT SOCIAL featuring
“SAND DOLLAR”
from 9:00-1:00
TICKETS ARE
AND ARE ON SALE
THURSDAY AT
12:00 IN BOG OFFICE.
VALID PC I.D.
REQUIRED.
(LIMIT TWO PERSONS) ONLY
THOSE OVER TWENTY ALLOWED!

SUNDAY, SEPT. 27
THE FILM COMMITTEE
presents

‘THE STUNTMAN’

TUESDAY, SEPT. 29
THE LAST RESORT
presents

A COFFEEHOUSE WITH “PHIL FRAGLE” SHOWS ARE AT
8:00 AND 10:00
TICKETS ARE
$1.00 AND
ARE SOLD AT THE
DOOR
FROM 8:30
-11:30
FREE ADMISSION

MONDAY,
SEPT. 28
FACULTY
LECTURE SERIES
presents
Mrs. Lynch and
A Panel Discussion
at the
LAST RESORT
AT 7:00
FREE COFFEE AND DONUTS!

ALL
WELCOME
ALL
WELCOME
Lady Friars Win First, Running Past Bridgeport

By Peter Dillias

The Providence College girls’ field hockey team opened their season last Thursday on an encouraging note, shutting out the University of Bridgeport by a score of 3-0.

The Lady Friars started the scoring early when junior Monica Glynn scored on a penalty shot just 1:43 minutes into the first period. Providence continued to apply steady pressure on their opponents, keeping the ball in the Bridgeport end for most of the game. Such hard offensive pressure produced the second goal for the Friars 27:37 minutes into the first half. Freshman Donna Bailon from Natick, MA, put the ball past the Bridgeport goalie while classmates Liz Noble collected the assist. At the halfway mark, the Lady Friars held a two-goal edge.

However, the second half was not as one sided, but the Providence defense remained flawless. With 10 minutes remaining in the game, sophomore Jackie Glader scored the third and final goal for PC. Senior tri-captain Paula Monahan collected the assist. Time soon ran out for Bridgeport, as Providence went on to earn their first victory of the season.

Coach Kate Denning was most impressed with her team’s play as “everyone played well as an attack unit.” This was a constructive first game for Providence, as they face a much more competitive schedule than last year.

This fall, they will be playing UNH, the University of Connecticut, and the University of Massachusetts, all of which are among the top teams in the country.

Rugby Team: Back For More!

Broken bones mended, bruised bodies back to normal and Raymond Field rocky as ever, the Providence College rugby team is back for another packed games.

Besides Stauffer, the board consists of Larry Mongeau, vice-president; Eddie Smith, match secretary; George Mason, treasurer; Tom Sheehan, social secretary; Paul Shannon, Pat Leary and Peter Stauffer as selection committee members; and Captains Steve Kirby and Bob Fitzgerald. Brother Kevin, besides serving as the team’s moderator, will assume the duty of tapping all after game kegs.

The following is a schedule of this fall’s Providence Ruggers:

- Sept. 26 - MIT, home.
- Oct. 7 - Bridgeport, away.
- Oct. 24-25 - New College, tournament, away.
- Oct. 31 - Norwich, home. Nov. 7 - 8, Conn., away.

TheLady Friars field hockey teams teed off against Bridgeport last Thursday, winning 3-0.

Tennis Squad Records Victory Against RIC

By Susie Lessing

The women’s tennis team started off on the right foot when they defeated Rhode Island College on September 17 by a score of 6-1. This year’s team promises to live up to the excellent record of last year (10-2) even though they lost five seniors from the squad. According to Coach Gail Sullivan, “We have a very strong singles line-up and our first doubles team of Diane DeSaulnier and Anne Marie Mancini was undefeated last year.”

The toughest competition that the Lady Friars will have to face is against Boston University and Boston College. Some of the other teams that they will have to play in their quest for the Division I title include Northeasterners (September 20), Wellesley (October 3), and Holy Cross (October 5).

The women’s tennis team is composed of six singles players and three doubles teams. The girls on the team, consisting mainly of sophomores and juniors, are Patty Carver, Andrea Curran, Nancy Curdin, Linda Doehaine, Vicki Gervais, Elaine Maglin, Anne Marie Mancini, Orylna Mattera, Melaney Murray, Mary Ellen Bronnan, Lisa Tutunjian, Mary West and the two co-captains Diane DeSaulnier and Jill Sharkey.

This Saturday at 1 p.m., the Lady Friars play host to a strong Northeasterners team. Then it is off to URI the following Tuesday to face the Rams.

WITH A P.C. I.D. YOU GET A FREE 45 TO KEEP WITH EVERY FIVE ALBUMS YOU RENT!

Why waste a lot of money buying albums when you can RENT THEM?

$2.50 per album — $4.00 per double album
5 albums for $10.00
Special Deals on Blank Tapes

600 DOUGLAS AVE., PROV. — 273-2030
Ladies Reign Supreme

By Janet Payne

PC—eight wins, one loss; Springfield—four wins, four losses; Hfill—three wins, five losses; URI—three wins, five losses; and UConn—two wins, six losses. Although every game was filled with great excitement, the final game was by far the most thrilling.

It was between Providence and Springfield taking the first game, 15-12. But Providence after a come back took the next game, 15-8. With games tied, the pressure was on. Under the start of the third game, Springfield took the lead. The Lady Friars held their own, applying stiff pressure all the way. Even after playing in the last match after a disagreement in calls, the Lady Friars came up on top, winning the tournament with a 16-14 victory.

Both who missed this competition, it was a definite loss, but for the Lady Friars, whose long hours and hard work obviously paid off in triumph—we congratulate you.

* ROTC, Continued from Page 4

"Many of these kids don’t remember Vietnam," said Mr. Tribble. "What we are trying to do behind us, and we are getting a more paralyzing effect. This is in the best interests of the country to serve.

The statistics show that 90,510 students were enrolled in college ROTC programs in the past school year, a substantial increase over the 92,172 enrolled the past school year, a substantial increase over the 92,172 enrolled the past school year, a substantial increase over the 92,172 enrolled the past school year, a substantial increase over the 92,172 enrolled the past school year, a substantial increase over the 92,172 enrolled.

The statistics show that 90,510 students were enrolled in college ROTC programs in the past school year, a substantial increase over the 92,172 enrolled the past school year, a substantial increase over the 92,172 enrolled the past school year, a substantial increase over the 92,172 enrolled the past school year, a substantial increase over the 92,172 enrolled.

"We're getting Vietnam behind us," said Mr. Tribble, "and a reflection of paranoia on our campuses. They need us and will tolerate us."
Bentley runner succumbs to Friar defense.