These alumni dinners would be better if they served Molson.

Stepping Off Campus
Wed., Sept. 30
Oktoberfest Tickets for Jr.
Prayer Meeting
4 p.m. - 7:30 p.m., Guzman Chapel
Karate Club Meeting
9:30 p.m. - 10:30 p.m., 204 Alumni, Old Girls Gym
Chorus Rehearsal
6:30 p.m. - 8:00 p.m., Sienna Hall

Thurs., Oct. 1
Oktoberfest Tickets for freshmen & sophomores
8:30-3:30, Slavin, 64 Hall
BOG Mini Concert
7:30, Slavin 64 Hall
Legion of Mary
7:00 p.m., Harkins Hall

Fri., Oct. 2
Last Fort Social, Aces & Eights

“How were classes!”

(Photoby Mary Beth Holland)

Class of 1983
Ring Weekend

Bids will go on sale Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, October 5, 6, and 7, respectively. Price of bids will be $36 and will be sold on a first come, first serve basis in Slavin 317.
A free ring and a free bid will be raffled off. Raffle tickets are available at the times bids are sold. Raffle tickets will be $1 each.

The Outdoor Grotto

The Grotto has significance to PC students as the place where Candlelight Mass is celebrated. Many students want to see the Grotto used more often. We agree!
Therefore, during the month of October
Devotions honoring the Blessed Virgin Mary will be held outdoors. Beginning Thursday, October 1 and every evening, Monday through Friday, PC students are cordially invited to spend a half hour (6:30 - 7:00 p.m.) at the Rosary Grotto.
The Chaplain’s staff invites you to come to recite
the Rosary and receive a blessing with the Blessed Sacrament.

THE MARQUIS
Father Begley
Man of Many Achievements

By Joe Corradino

Rev. Aloysius B. Begley, O.P., was one of Providence College's best known and most honored priests. Father served the PC community for four decades in various capacities, including English professor, athletic digester and Prior.

Father Begley was born in Peterborough, Ontario, in 1905. He graduated from PC in 1931 and returned to join the faculty in 1940, he was appointed director of athletics and continued in the post for the next 31 years. During that time, PC teams achieved national renown. Under the leadership of the Friars. In addition to fostering the development of national powerhouses in basketball and hockey, Father Begley added programs for cross country, tennis, golf, soccer, and indoor and outdoor track.

In March of 1977, Father Begley was elected Prior of the Dominican Community at Providence College. Father Begley served as religious superior of the 76 priests and brothers of the Order of Preachers who are members of St. Thomas Aquinas Friary at Providence College. This is the largest community of Dominicans in the world. Father Begley remained as Prior until his death in September of 1979 at the age of 73.

Father Thomas L. Fallon, O.P., reflected upon his late teacher and religious superior as a "most calm, most kind, a very mild and gentle man. He was very successful and everybody loved him. He never offended anyone. We lost a very wonderful superior — a kind, honorable, just, and holy man."

Dorm Council Election Results In

By Cathy Graziano

Voter turnout was good for last Thursday's Dorm Council elections. The Student Congress offered congratulations to all the new officers. They are:

Aquinas — President, Joan Whalen; vice president, Mary Ratigan; treasurer, Carolyn Torsone; director, Donovan; social chairperson, Gerri Fair.

Dore — President, Kathy Bisagna; vice president, Alice Brochinsky; treasurer, Nancy Miller; social chairperson, Ms. Buco.

Fennell — President, Mark Dempsey; vice president, Greg Houssary.

Guzman — President, Brian Travers; vice president, Roger Gionio; treasurer, Paul McCarthy; secretary, Kevin O'Hara; social chairperson, Mike McGinn.

Raymond — President, Tom Bonetti; vice president, Pete O'Donnell; treasurer, Dave Snetsos; social chairperson, George Balerini.

McDermott — President, Jim Meighan; vice president, Fran Figurgi; treasurer, Ken Kellaway; social chairperson, Pat Johnson.

McViness — President, Lisa Began; vice president, Sue Avila; treasurer, Cindy Frawley; secretary, Ellen Harrington; social chairperson, Laura Callahan.

Meagher — President, Cathy John; vice president, Tracy Baldini; treasurer, Rosey Piro; social chairperson, Patty Laversoge.

Stephens — President, John Farley; vice president, Ed McCarthy.

Raymond — President, Matt Ciancone; vice president, Chris Dorsi; social chairperson, Anthony Longobardi.

Freshmen General Meeting

By Maribeth Anderson

Being a freshman by an unfortunate nature involves, among other horrors, being new. Consequently, we missed the annual election of class officers in January. Does this mean that the Class of '85 must endure yet another plight? As if the raising of the drinking age was not enough; how about acquiring a taste for Raymond Cafe food? Initiation into college life can, indeed, be trying. But the Student Congress, in its infinite wisdom, has devised a plan whereby the freshmen can elect representatives to aid them in their dilemma.

At the crowd of freshmen left Raymond Cafe—no doubt muttering complaints—a few ventured into '64 Hall to attend the first general class meeting, which was held Monday night at 7 o'clock. Cheryl Morrissey, who serves as vice president to the Student Congress, occupies the space of freshmen class president while it is vacant. The vacancy of this position and the unfilled ones beneath it, was the topic of the meeting.

Although the details for the election of the Class of '85 will be discussed this Friday, October 3, the Dorm Council will hold elections in Meagher lounge from 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

Grotto Mass Sunday

Friar Council Knights of Columbus is sponsoring a Grotto Mass this coming Sunday, October 4, 1981, at 7 p.m. In the Dominican tradition, the first Sunday of October is observed as “Rosary Sunday.” Consequently, the candlelight Mass will be followed immediately by a candlelight rosary procession around the Grotto during which the rosary will be recited. Principal celebrant of the Mass will be Rev. John A. McMahon, O.P. Chaplain of Friar Council Knights of Columbus; the homily will be Rev. Dominic Rover, O.P. of Providence College.

Friar Council Knights of Columbus encourages all members of the PC community to participate in this candlelight Mass and Rosary procession. In case of inclement weather the location will be '64 Hall. The chaplain's office has announced that the 6 p.m. Mass in Guzman and the 7 p.m. Mass in Aquinas have been cancelled for this Sunday because of the Grotto Rosary Mass.

There will be a ROSARY AND BENEDICTION every evening in October from 6:30-7:00 in the Grotto (weather permitting)

If not, Aquinas Chapel.
Four Class Freeloaders?

By Karen MacGillivray
Faculty Senate Correspondent

The Faculty Senate of Providence College is involved with all the academic issues of the school. The senate sets academic policy through legislation, which must be approved by the president of the College, Rev. Thomas R. Petrone, O.P., before it is put into effect. There are 29 members of the senate from whom three officers are selected. The president of the senate is Dr. Francis P. McKay, from the chemistry department. The vice president is Dr. Mario DiNunzio from the history department. Dr. Stephen Mecca from the physics department is the secretary.

Fifteen of the members of the senate are elected as representatives from each department. The other 14 members are elected by the faculty at large. These senate members are assigned to 10 different committees during each academic year. These committees are: academic affairs, admissions, appeals, college budget, constitution and by-laws, departmental affairs, elections, faculty status, faculty welfare and library.

The second Faculty Senate meeting this year held in Aquinas Lounge on Sept. 25, 1981, Dr. McKay opened the meeting as a majority of the legislation that had been approved in the spring of 1981, had been approved by Father Petrone. This legislation concerned the constitution and by-laws of the Faculty Senate. The senate also passed the free requirements of the College.

The report is concerned with the fact that an increasing percentage of incoming freshmen are choosing science majors that allow few free electives. It was decided that腿t time the senate requirements for graduation, through the addition of one more elective requirement in each of the final four semesters, would provide more flexibility in the students’ academic program, leading to a more varied undergraduate background. This five-course curriculum for juniors and seniors was approved by Father Petrone.

The report presented to Father Petrone also included suggested revision in other programs, including natural sciences, religious studies, social sciences, DFW, fine arts, mathematics, and the development of a General Degree Requirement Course Designation System was also proposed.

Father Petrone approved a continuation of a six hour credit requirement in natural sciences, religious studies, and the social sciences. The continuation of the current requirement in DFW will remain pending a thorough evaluation of the program by a special committee. He also approved the establishment of a three credit requirement in the fine arts and mathematics. In addition, plans were made for the reorganization of the physics department to include a combined plan for an engineering program, an energy management concentration, a systems science concentration, and a nuclear concentration. Action concerning the philosophy requirements was deferred by Father Petrone, as he felt that the departmental outlines were not clear.

These revisions and suggestions agreed upon by the Faculty Senate and Father Petrone will affect incoming freshmen in the fall of 1982. Students currently enrolled at PC will be unaffected by these curriculum changes.

Elections were also held at the Wednesday meeting to select two members to the rank and tenure committee. Members of this committee must be honored and hold a doctorate or its equivalent. Dr. Rance Portin, professor of English, and Dr. Richard Grace, an associate professor of history, were elected.

A report was also given by Dr. Tiallorg Clohca, assistant for the Faculty Senate, concerning faculty pay checks, new telephones for the teachers, faculty fees for the new fieldhouse, and the limit on money earned by relatives of faculty who are employed in work-study programs. Dr. Mecca reported from the Committee on Administration concerning the need for remedial courses in basic skills. The issue was referred to the senate’s special committee. He also reported that a Faculty Lounge would be installed over the Christmas break in Harkins 300.

Another obvious change from previous years in the bookstore move from Harkins Hall basement to Slavin Center. The required textbooks now under the private ownership of the Barnes and Noble Book Company.

These improvements have not been installed in Slavin Center and in the computer center, which is where the vending machines used to be. The vending machines are expected to be installed in Slavin, finally. Mr. Cunningham is looking for some money that can get the equipment and manpower together.

You Never Looked So Good

By Beth Saleses

Although the Providence College academic calendar has been in session for about four weeks, one can still walk around the campus and discover new improvements which have been made during the summer. The department of the physical plant, commented on the improvements which had been made in three buildings: Hendl, McNam, and Alumni.

Mr. Cunningham said, “received improvements sponsored by an energy grant from the government. Providence College applied for these energy grants under the Leading Title 3 Cycle 3. Although the improvements made on these buildings may not appear visually obvious, they are very important for conserving energy. All three buildings were insulated, received storm sashes, and had temperature control settings installed to decrease the need for energy conservation requirements.”

Mr. Cunningham also reported that the lighting in various buildings was changed from incandescent to fluorescent in many areas of the campus. The light changes were made in Alumni Hall and Stephen Hall. Grant Infraray which is on the second floor of Stephen, had a number of improvements made. The infraray received some temperature control and suspended ceilings were installed, as well as fluorescent lighting.

The more visually obvious improvements were made by Mr. Cunningham and his staff over the summer. The improvements include lighting in front of the president’s house and the stuff which was done around the Grotto. Mr. Cunningham also said six more buildings on the campus of Slavin, are expected to be improved. Mr. Cunningham said, “we can get the equipment and manpower together.”

Congress Update

By Kathy John
Student Congress Staff Correspondent

The Student Congress meeting held this past Sunday evening, September 26, in the new meeting room in Lower Slavin, opened with President Dave Mikula announcing that plans for Rev. Thomas R. Peterson's celebration of 25 years of his presidency, DFC, and women, and as well as of the opening of the new fieldhouse, have been finalized. Liz Flynn, Student Congress treasurer, reported that club allocations are now in progress. She also noted that Student Congress and Catholic Community should hope to plan a fund raiser to make money for the Brothers and Sisters, so that they might buy a van.

Bob Givone announced in his legislative report that the printing of some Congress handbooks has been delayed, and that the request for a figure

You Never Looked So Good

Another obvious change from previous years in the bookstore move from Harkins Hall basement to Slavin Center. The required textbooks now under the private ownership of the Barnes and Noble Book Company.

These improvements have not been installed in Slavin Center and in the computer center, which is where the vending machines used to be. The vending machines are expected to be installed in Slavin, finally. Mr. Cunningham is looking for some money that can get the equipment and manpower together.

You Never Looked So Good

Although the Providence College academic calendar has been in session for about four weeks, one can still walk around the campus and discover new improvements which have been made during the summer. The department of the physical plant, commented on the improvements which had been made in three buildings: Hendl, McNam, and Alumni.

Mr. Cunningham said, “received improvements sponsored by an energy grant from the government. Providence College applied for these energy grants under the Leading Title 3 Cycle 3. Although the improvements made on these buildings may not appear visually obvious, they are very important for conserving energy. All three buildings were insulated, received storm sashes, and had temperature control settings installed to decrease the need for energy conservation requirements.”

Mr. Cunningham also reported that the lighting in various buildings was changed from incandescent to fluorescent in many areas of the campus. The light changes were made in Alumni Hall and Stephen Hall. Grant Infraray which is on the second floor of Stephen, had a number of improvements made. The infraray received some temperature control and suspended ceilings were installed, as well as fluorescent lighting.

The more visually obvious improvements were made by Mr. Cunningham and his staff over the summer. The improvements include lighting in front of the president’s house and the stuff which was done around the Grotto. Mr. Cunningham also said six more buildings on the campus of Slavin, are expected to be improved. Mr. Cunningham said, “we can get the equipment and manpower together.”

Congress Update

By Kathy John
Student Congress Staff Correspondent

The Student Congress meeting held this past Sunday evening, September 26, in the new meeting room in Lower Slavin, opened with President Dave Mikula announcing that plans for Rev. Thomas R. Peterson's celebration of 25 years of his presidency, DFC, and women, and as well as of the opening of the new fieldhouse, have been finalized. Liz Flynn, Student Congress treasurer, reported that club allocations are now in progress. She also noted that Student Congress and Catholic Community should hope to plan a fund raiser to make money for the Brothers and Sisters, so that they might buy a van.

Bob Givone announced in his legislative report that the printing of some Congress handbooks has been delayed, and that the request for a figure

You Never Looked So Good

Another obvious change from previous years in the bookstore move from Harkins Hall basement to Slavin Center. The required textbooks now under the private ownership of the Barnes and Noble Book Company.

These improvements have not been installed in Slavin Center and in the computer center, which is where the vending machines used to be. The vending machines are expected to be installed in Slavin, finally. Mr. Cunningham is looking for some money that can get the equipment and manpower together.
Budget Cuts ‘Enough is Enough!’

Senator Claiborne Pell (D-R.I.) in his recent statement today, drew the line on "excessive" budget cuts. Declaring that "enough is enough," Pell announced he would oppose additional deep cuts in essential federal government programs.

"In February, after the Administration presented its program to the Congress," Pell said, "I suggested several ways in which the program could and should be improved. I suggested that the projected huge military spending increases were too deep, the increases in defense spending were too large, and the proposed tax cut was too large, potentially inflationary and would lead to continued budget deficits.

"Because of these concerns I voted against the Budget Resolution and the Reconciliation Act which slashed spending and projected huge military spending increases. I voted with reluctance for the tax reduction bill and for the time the Administration provided tax reductions that were too large and too heavily weighted for the well-off.

"I voted for a substitute tax proposal which stated that there would have been a smaller tax reduction, but assured a balanced budget, and given our government the revenue it needs to fulfill its basic responsibilities to the American people."

"With greater moderation, as I proposed in February, I believe the Administration’s program could have succeeded. Moderate budget cuts combined with moderate tax cuts and a moderate increase in defense spending would preserve the basic responsibilities and commitments of government, encourage solid economic growth, reduce inflation and move steadily toward a balanced budget.

"The excesses in the Administration program are the cause of the program’s current problems. The Administration apparently now recognizes this as true in the case of military spending. But to offset the excessive tax cut, the Administration intends to seek even deeper and more excessive budget reductions. If the Administration continues down that path, the result, as I have argued, will be the destruction of government programs that are essential to the economy and the well-being of the American people.

"In my view," Pell said, "the Administration’s program, if pursued to its ultimate end and would lead to the abdication by our government of its basic responsibilities to the American people for the economic and social health of our nation.

"Regrettably, there are some in this Administration who believe that nearly all government activity is bad. I disagree with that view. Government, properly conceived and administered, makes our free economic system possible. Government programs, properly conceived and administered, are not a burden depressing the economy, but support the private economy and provide services without which the economy could not prosper.

"I applaud," Pell said, "the Administration’s recognition that its program, as presented, will not balance the budget. I applaud also the Administration’s apparent willingness to make at least some modest cuts in the huge increases projected for military spending. But I will oppose proposals to cut even more deeply into such federal programs as education, health, housing, low income energy assistance and unemployment compensation.

"Enough is enough."

On Campus or Off?

By Marianne Malloy

"Are you living on or off?"

This is a popular question which everyone will either ask or answer sometime this year. The majority of the senior class and a large portion of junior class have left the halls of the dormitories and chosen to live off campus in apartments.

Mary (Dube) Petruzzi ’84 lives on campus and sees living on as "convenient, with food and laundry services and it’s easier to meet people." While Stephen Driscoll ’82 contends that "living off is a chance to become more responsible and it builds character.

"The conditions of off-campus living are constantly changing. The demand for dorm rooms is up. The dorms, especially those on and off campus, are in high demand. The demand for off-campus housing is also high. People are looking for new rooms and the rent is up. People are looking for new rooms and the rent is up. People are looking for new rooms and the rent is up."
President Reagan's Plan
Harsh—but Just

"I have yet to meet anyone who likes the bitter taste of medicine, but neither have I met anyone who prefers to be sick."

By Ed Grogan

This past Thursday, September 24, President Reagan addressed the nation on national television. The President made it clear in this, his fifth television appearance this year, that he is prepared for another round of budget cuts.

President Reagan said that he was not content with his victories in the Congress this past summer. These victories were only the first steps on the long road towards economic recovery. "It will take time," said Reagan, "for the effect of the tax rate reductions to be felt in increased savings, productivity, and new jobs."

The President's plan will affect every segment of society and he appealed to all Americans to sacrifice.

Many Americans are saying that we have already been asked to sacrifice too much. This reaction is to be expected for the President's plan is harsh, very harsh.

There is, however, no alternative. Our economy is diseased, and has been for the last 40 years. It has only been within the last 20 years that the disease has affected us. Inflation, unemployment, huge deficits, recession upon recession are the most obvious, though not the only, symptoms of this disease. President Reagan is addressing the source of the disease—excessive government involvement in the economy, and is administering the proper medicine.

I have yet to meet anyone who likes the latter taste of medicine, but neither have I met anyone who prefers to be sick.

The Cowl
established by P.C. in 1935

Marybeth Holland, Editor in Chief

Managing Editor..........................................................Elizabeth A. O'Donnell '82

News Editor ................................................................. Doreen F. Popolillo '82

Copy Editors ................................................................. Kevin Burke '83

Sports Editor ................................................................. Kathryn A. Bisegna '84, Andrea Melka '85

Editorial Editor ............................................................ Karen M. Ryder '82

Photography Editor .......................................................... Barry Brygge '82, Barbara Trebiluck '83

Circulation Editor ........................................................... Mike Kenally '82

Sports Editor ................................................................. Kevin Burke '83

Features Editor ............................................................... Judy A. McNamara '83

Editorial Editor ............................................................ Karen M. Ryder '82

Photography Editor .......................................................... Barry Brygge '82, Barbara Trebiluck '83

Circulation Editor ........................................................... Mike Kenally '82

President Reagan's Plan
Harsh—but Just

"I have yet to meet anyone who likes the bitter taste of medicine, but neither have I met anyone who prefers to be sick."

By Ed Grogan

This past Thursday, September 24, President Reagan addressed the nation on national television. The President made it clear in this, his fifth television appearance this year, that he is prepared for another round of budget cuts.

President Reagan said that he was not content with his victories in the Congress this past summer. These victories were only the first steps on the long road towards economic recovery. "It will take time," said Reagan, "for the effect of the tax rate reductions to be felt in increased savings, productivity, and new jobs."

The President's plan will affect every segment of society and he appealed to all Americans to sacrifice.

Many Americans are saying that we have already been asked to sacrifice too much. This reaction is to be expected for the President's plan is harsh, very harsh.

There is, however, no alternative. Our economy is diseased, and has been for the last 40 years. It has only been within the last 20 years that the disease has affected us. Inflation, unemployment, huge deficits, recession upon recession are the most obvious, though not the only, symptoms of this disease. President Reagan is addressing the source of the disease—excessive government involvement in the economy, and is administering the proper medicine.

I have yet to meet anyone who likes the latter taste of medicine, but neither have I met anyone who prefers to be sick.

The Cowl
established by P.C. in 1935

Marybeth Holland, Editor in Chief

Managing Editor..........................................................Elizabeth A. O'Donnell '82

News Editor ................................................................. Doreen F. Popolillo '82

Copy Editors ................................................................. Kevin Burke '83

Sports Editor ................................................................. Kathryn A. Bisegna '84, Andrea Melka '85

Editorial Editor ............................................................ Karen M. Ryder '82

Photography Editor .......................................................... Barry Brygge '82, Barbara Trebiluck '83

Circulation Editor ........................................................... Mike Kenally '82

Sports Editor ................................................................. Kevin Burke '83

Features Editor ............................................................... Judy A. McNamara '83

Editorial Editor ............................................................ Karen M. Ryder '82

Photography Editor .......................................................... Barry Brygge '82, Barbara Trebiluck '83

Circulation Editor ........................................................... Mike Kenally '82

President Reagan's Plan
Harsh—but Just

"I have yet to meet anyone who likes the bitter taste of medicine, but neither have I met anyone who prefers to be sick."

By Ed Grogan

This past Thursday, September 24, President Reagan addressed the nation on national television. The President made it clear in this, his fifth television appearance this year, that he is prepared for another round of budget cuts.

President Reagan said that he was not content with his victories in the Congress this past summer. These victories were only the first steps on the long road towards economic recovery. "It will take time," said Reagan, "for the effect of the tax rate reductions to be felt in increased savings, productivity, and new jobs."

The President's plan will affect every segment of society and he appealed to all Americans to sacrifice.

Many Americans are saying that we have already been asked to sacrifice too much. This reaction is to be expected for the President's plan is harsh, very harsh.

There is, however, no alternative. Our economy is diseased, and has been for the last 40 years. It has only been within the last 20 years that the disease has affected us. Inflation, unemployment, huge deficits, recession upon recession are the most obvious, though not the only, symptoms of this disease. President Reagan is addressing the source of the disease—excessive government involvement in the economy, and is administering the proper medicine.

I have yet to meet anyone who likes the latter taste of medicine, but neither have I met anyone who prefers to be sick.

The Cowl
established by P.C. in 1935

Marybeth Holland, Editor in Chief

Managing Editor..........................................................Elizabeth A. O'Donnell '82

News Editor ................................................................. Doreen F. Popolillo '82

Copy Editors ................................................................. Kevin Burke '83

Sports Editor ................................................................. Kathryn A. Bisegna '84, Andrea Melka '85

Editorial Editor ............................................................ Karen M. Ryder '82

Photography Editor .......................................................... Barry Brygge '82, Barbara Trebiluck '83

Circulation Editor ........................................................... Mike Kenally '82

Sports Editor ................................................................. Kevin Burke '83

Features Editor ............................................................... Judy A. McNamara '83

Editorial Editor ............................................................ Karen M. Ryder '82

Photography Editor .......................................................... Barry Brygge '82, Barbara Trebiluck '83

Circulation Editor ........................................................... Mike Kenally '82

President Reagan's Plan
Harsh—but Just

"I have yet to meet anyone who likes the bitter taste of medicine, but neither have I met anyone who prefers to be sick."

By Ed Grogan

This past Thursday, September 24, President Reagan addressed the nation on national television. The President made it clear in this, his fifth television appearance this year, that he is prepared for another round of budget cuts.

President Reagan said that he was not content with his victories in the Congress this past summer. These victories were only the first steps on the long road towards economic recovery. "It will take time," said Reagan, "for the effect of the tax rate reductions to be felt in increased savings, productivity, and new jobs."

The President's plan will affect every segment of society and he appealed to all Americans to sacrifice.

Many Americans are saying that we have already been asked to sacrifice too much. This reaction is to be expected for the President's plan is harsh, very harsh.

There is, however, no alternative. Our economy is diseased, and has been for the last 40 years. It has only been within the last 20 years that the disease has affected us. Inflation, unemployment, huge deficits, recession upon recession are the most obvious, though not the only, symptoms of this disease. President Reagan is addressing the source of the disease—excessive government involvement in the economy, and is administering the proper medicine.

I have yet to meet anyone who likes the latter taste of medicine, but neither have I met anyone who prefers to be sick.

The Cowl
established by P.C. in 1935

Marybeth Holland, Editor in Chief

Managing Editor..........................................................Elizabeth A. O'Donnell '82

News Editor ................................................................. Doreen F. Popolillo '82

Copy Editors ................................................................. Kevin Burke '83

Sports Editor ................................................................. Kathryn A. Bisegna '84, Andrea Melka '85

Editorial Editor ............................................................ Karen M. Ryder '82

Photography Editor .......................................................... Barry Brygge '82, Barbara Trebiluck '83

Circulation Editor ........................................................... Mike Kenally '82

Sports Editor ................................................................. Kevin Burke '83

Features Editor ............................................................... Judy A. McNamara '83

Editorial Editor ............................................................ Karen M. Ryder '82

Photography Editor .......................................................... Barry Brygge '82, Barbara Trebiluck '83

Circulation Editor ........................................................... Mike Kenally '82

President Reagan's Plan
Harsh—but Just

"I have yet to meet anyone who likes the bitter taste of medicine, but neither have I met anyone who prefers to be sick."

By Ed Grogan

This past Thursday, September 24, President Reagan addressed the nation on national television. The President made it clear in this, his fifth television appearance this year, that he is prepared for another round of budget cuts.

President Reagan said that he was not content with his victories in the Congress this past summer. These victories were only the first steps on the long road towards economic recovery. "It will take time," said Reagan, "for the effect of the tax rate reductions to be felt in increased savings, productivity, and new jobs."

The President's plan will affect every segment of society and he appealed to all Americans to sacrifice.

Many Americans are saying that we have already been asked to sacrifice too much. This reaction is to be expected for the President's plan is harsh, very harsh.

There is, however, no alternative. Our economy is diseased, and has been for the last 40 years. It has only been within the last 20 years that the disease has affected us. Inflation, unemployment, huge deficits, recession upon recession are the most obvious, though not the only, symptoms of this disease. President Reagan is addressing the source of the disease—excessive government involvement in the economy, and is administering the proper medicine.

I have yet to meet anyone who likes the latter taste of medicine, but neither have I met anyone who prefers to be sick.
In Defense of Science Education

By Walter McLean

Recent issues of The Cowl have considered columns entitled "The Learning World by Dr. Richard Meisler," and "Science Students are ill prepared for college." Meisler bemoans the apathy he detects throughout the student body. There may be a tremendous amount of apathy. However, Dr. Meisler has chosen the educational system to bear the brunt of the blame for it and this is a terrible injustice.

He states, "But when we consider our passivity and our sense of hopelessness, we see that we are also dealing with an educational failure of gigantic proportions." He also implies that it is "absolutely possible" that the system is failing to adequately train students of science or to inform them of the world of science. The distinction between the two is important.

The suggestion that American science students are ill prepared to perform in laboratories is unfounded. Most experts agree that U.S. students filling a pitcher of beer for a college sociable is more than the average white family.

While this is laudable from the point of view of philanthropy it is fraught with political and economic considerations. Decreased consumption of meat will lessen the prosperity of some people who have a strong political influence.

An educator who advocates laissez-faire economic education because it fails, in his view, to adequately inform laymen about the need for action. Dr. Meisler advocates a mixture of science, social concern, philosophy, economics and politics be taught as science. One line of his argument is that people do not understand that a "diet too rich in grain fattened meat makes a person sick and deprives others of protein." While this is laudable from the point of view of philanthropy it is fraught with political and economic considerations. Decreased consumption of meat will lessen the prosperity of some people who have a strong political influence.

An educator who advocates laissez-faire economic education because it fails, in his view, to adequately inform laymen about the need for action. Dr. Meisler advocates a mixture of science, social concern, philosophy, economics and politics be taught as science. One line of his argument is that people do not understand that a "diet too rich in grain fattened meat makes a person sick and deprives others of protein." While this is laudable from the point of view of philanthropy it is fraught with political and economic considerations. Decreased consumption of meat will lessen the prosperity of some people who have a strong political influence.

An educator who advocates laissez-faire economic education because it fails, in his view, to adequately inform laymen about the need for action. Dr. Meisler advocates a mixture of science, social concern, philosophy, economics and politics be taught as science. One line of his argument is that people do not understand that a "diet too rich in grain fattened meat makes a person sick and deprives others of protein." While this is laudable from the point of view of philanthropy it is fraught with political and economic considerations. Decreased consumption of meat will lessen the prosperity of some people who have a strong political influence.

An educator who advocates laissez-faire economic education because it fails, in his view, to adequately inform laymen about the need for action. Dr. Meisler advocates a mixture of science, social concern, philosophy, economics and politics be taught as science. One line of his argument is that people do not understand that a "diet too rich in grain fattened meat makes a person sick and deprives others of protein." While this is laudable from the point of view of philanthropy it is fraught with political and economic considerations. Decreased consumption of meat will lessen the prosperity of some people who have a strong political influence.

An educator who advocates laissez-faire economic education because it fails, in his view, to adequately inform laymen about the need for action. Dr. Meisler advocates a mixture of science, social concern, philosophy, economics and politics be taught as science. One line of his argument is that people do not understand that a "diet too rich in grain fattened meat makes a person sick and deprives others of protein." While this is laudable from the point of view of philanthropy it is fraught with political and economic considerations. Decreased consumption of meat will lessen the prosperity of some people who have a strong political influence.

An educator who advocates laissez-faire economic education because it fails, in his view, to adequately inform laymen about the need for action. Dr. Meisler advocates a mixture of science, social concern, philosophy, economics and politics be taught as science. One line of his argument is that people do not understand that a "diet too rich in grain fattened meat makes a person sick and deprives others of protein." While this is laudable from the point of view of philanthropy it is fraught with political and economic considerations. Decreased consumption of meat will lessen the prosperity of some people who have a strong political influence.

An educator who advocates laissez-faire economic education because it fails, in his view, to adequately inform laymen about the need for action. Dr. Meisler advocates a mixture of science, social concern, philosophy, economics and politics be taught as science. One line of his argument is that people do not understand that a "diet too rich in grain fattened meat makes a person sick and deprives others of protein." While this is laudable from the point of view of philanthropy it is fraught with political and economic considerations. Decreased consumption of meat will lessen the prosperity of some people who have a strong political influence.

An educator who advocates laissez-faire economic education because it fails, in his view, to adequately inform laymen about the need for action. Dr. Meisler advocates a mixture of science, social concern, philosophy, economics and politics be taught as science. One line of his argument is that people do not understand that a "diet too rich in grain fattened meat makes a person sick and deprives others of protein." While this is laudable from the point of view of philanthropy it is fraught with political and economic considerations. Decreased consumption of meat will lessen the prosperity of some people who have a strong political influence.

An educator who advocates laissez-faire economic education because it fails, in his view, to adequately inform laymen about the need for action. Dr. Meisler advocates a mixture of science, social concern, philosophy, economics and politics be taught as science. One line of his argument is that people do not understand that a "diet too rich in grain fattened meat makes a person sick and deprives others of protein." While this is laudable from the point of view of philanthropy it is fraught with political and economic considerations. Decreased consumption of meat will lessen the prosperity of some people who have a strong political influence.

An educator who advocates laissez-faire economic education because it fails, in his view, to adequately inform laymen about the need for action. Dr. Meisler advocates a mixture of science, social concern, philosophy, economics and politics be taught as science. One line of his argument is that people do not understand that a "diet too rich in grain fattened meat makes a person sick and deprives others of protein." While this is laudable from the point of view of philanthropy it is fraught with political and economic considerations. Decreased consumption of meat will lessen the prosperity of some people who have a strong political influence.
Another Dissatisfaction with Policy

"I realize PC has to follow R.I. State laws, but it's my opinion that we're getting carried away."

- Student"
Parents Day perks up Frosh!

By Sue Robertson

There are devils. They are present, and have always been so. We are not speaking of devils in the sense that your brother or sister is a "little devil," but in the true theological sense of the word. The Catholic faith has an example of perfection in God, and conversely, there is that which represents the imperfect: the devil. Monday evening, Fr. Mahoney, chairman of the religious studies department, addressed his audience at the Last Resort on the subject of devils and demons.

Fr. Mahoney's most basic statement was, "There are devils." The audience was made aware of the fact that throughout our lives, temptation will always be present. One reflection made by the speaker was that ease does not come with age. Lucifer, Beelzebub, and other fallen angels realize it is impossible to cause direct harm to God. Their objective: to get at God through his creatures. What are some signs of possession? Well, there are many, but Fr. Mahoney gave three basic examples. If a person acquires an understanding of an unknown, difficult language, there may be some question. A member of the audience raised a question concerning charismatics, the gift of tongues, and how one can distinguish between that and possession. Fr. Mahoney explained the difference as being in the manner, tone, and message. Charismatics would experience love, while the voice of the devil would be evil. Another sign is knowledge of hidden facts. These are facts that would seem impossible for that person to know on his own. The third example given by Fr. Mahoney was the possession of unusual physical powers. We all see these exhibitions of power by the devil. This hot shot is only trying to impress us. He knows he cannot rank with God, so he tries to win votes by means of the spectacular. God's goodness is omnipresent, but less flashy. The devil may be able to touch the body of God's creatures, but he can never reach the soul.

The Devil Made Me Do It

First 200—Free Leis!!

Tickets $2.00
First 200—Free Leis!!
Tickets on sale Thurs. & Fri. in Lower Slavin

Class of '84 presents Hawaiian Night

- Sat.-Oct. 3
- 9-1
- Upper Slavin
- Music provided by WDOM
- Tickets $2.00

SPIRO'S

HOUSE of PIZZA

851 Smith St., Providence, R.I.
(Corner of Smith St. and River St.)

MON.-SAT. 11 a.m.-1:00 a.m.
SUNDAY 3 p.m.-1:00 a.m.

Free Delivery to PC.
4 - 12 Midnight

273-7755
Steve Stacks For Reynolds

By Judy McNamara
This past summer, steve Ferreire of the Class of 1982, became involved in a very beneficial project for R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company in Providence. Through the help of Mr. John McKinnon, the PC Counseling Center, Steve was able to set up an interview with the assistant district manager of R.J.R. Mr. Peter Writer. After going through the interview process, Steve was awarded the position of sales trainee for the first half of the summer.

Originally, Steve was awarded a 12-month internship, which was changed to 40 hours to the company observed Steve's diligent performance in his first week. His job consisted of traveling up to different territories in Northern Rhode Island, Fall River, Seekonk, and the Attleboro. Steve visited various supermarkets, drugstores, independent retailers, liquor stores, etc. In main duty was making sure that the actual products were properly stacked. He was also involved with special promotions for the public as well as advertising the product and resolving any conflicts with merchants about the product.

The second half of the summer, Steve received some actual sales experience. Steve feels this is an extreme asset in his quest for future jobs. Steve worked with the Reynolds vending program receiving “hands-on” selling experience. His job basically involved increasing independent retailers volume of R.J.R. products. Steve made sales presentations to vending machine owners, espousing the company's products and better informing retailers about the benefits R.J.R provides.

The overall experience proved invaluable to Steve because it allowed him the opportunity to test his selling ability, something rather dormant in his pre-college years unless they have practice and time to develop personal techniques. Reynolds gave Steve the chance to earn more than more money. Steve also learned a skill which only through practical experience could be acquired.

Steve notes another valuable aspect of the summer experience, “I broadened my horizon within the business world. I have learned interviewing techniques that have incredibly made come much easier. I'm much more comfortable.”

Steve even called the resident of R.J.R. Industries in North Carolina one summer's night. He wanted the representative to take his name known to him and hopefully increase its business company. He discussed various career opportunities as well as learning more about the company.

All in all, Steve feels that his knowledge of the business world and the functioning of the business world has been immensely increased. He is ready to take part in making the best of his summer.

Add experience to your degree

You've changed a lot of opinions since you entered college. You know a degree may be the key to a fulfilling career. But, you know a degree is no guarantee.

Today's job market demands more than a degree. Corporations look for "take charge" attitudes in their new executives. So get a head start in college. They'll be competing with you for the best job.

I'm a RYTC. Henry Ford's was the first employer to hire RYTC's in 1951. They're ready to make a difference.

A RYTC provides a head start in leadership management experience.

With Army ROTC, you don't just read about it. You do it. It's not too late to take charge. You can accumulate four years in this program.

To add experience to your degree contact CPT. Jay Johnston
Army ROTC
Providence, R.I. or call 865-2471/2472

Army ROTC. Learn what it takes to lead.
Creative Corner SEPTEMBER

A setting sun like honey
Dribbled across a drowsy pasture
Varnishing maple leaves and drying thistle.
In summer glow.

- Leo
  - Sept. 23 through Oct. 22
  - Using your sense of fair play, you will speak up against injustice that might have gone unnoticed. This is a great time to ease up on studies and head on down to the fieldhouse—seemingly unnoticed. This is a good week to prove to yourself that you are a true pillar of athletics!

- Virgo
  - Aug. 23 through Sept. 22
  - Your natural charm is enough to make that special someone swoon this week, Virgo! Just don’t get too enthusiastic upon matters at hand. Good week for business relations. Your enthusiasm should keep you one step ahead.

- Scorpio
  - Oct. 23 through Nov. 22
  - Look out Scorpio, this week proves to be a trying one. You might as well be rolling out for those Raymond Café desserts or you may be rolling home come Thanksgiving!

- Sagittarius
  - Nov. 23 through Dec. 21
  - Handle with care this week—co-workers might not be as pleasant as they seem.

- Capricorn
  - Dec. 22 through Jan. 19
  - The pressure is finally off this week. Capricorn. After a trying few weeks, take the time to go about a few at the fieldhouse. Someone will present a new idea for the weekend. Keep your mind open to all avenues!

- Aquarius
  - Jan. 20 through Feb. 18
  - Things are looking up, Aquarius! Your current interest might just do a little extra studying at the library some time this week. Take advantage of the opportunity and turn up the charm! Be careful at work this week—co-workers might not be as pleasant as they seem.

- Pisces
  - Feb. 19 through March 20
  - Those of you who missed Tom Chapin, you missed a wonderful memory. For those of you that missed Tom Chapin, you missed an experience of a lifetime.

---

Tom Chapin Seeks A Career Of His Own

By Jean Ludwig

This 3'11" man, full of smiles, gave his heart to Providence College through his singing on Thursday night, September 24, between shows. I got a chance to talk with him as he munched on a burger from Mural and sipped on a glass of Apple's beer. He's in a family of 12 and he's 34 years old. He's one of all your interesting young ladies he is also married and living in Brooklyn Heights, New York, with his wife and four children, Abigail Rose Elizabeth, Jessica and Jonathan.

He seems to be a very fun-loving guy who enjoys sports because occasionally during the interview he caught a bit of the Sox game and made some interesting comments. He also said that he really enjoys playing at colleges of just "where the people are responsive" because it is a "more human existence" than the concert scene. Although he would rather play colleges, he is doing some opening acts soon.

For example, he'll be opening for Air Supply and Cliff Richard this year.

Tom is really interested in building up his own career. He would like to "grow—both in writing and performing." He says that he would like to "grow—both in writing and performing." He says that he doesn't have a work ethic. He is a very fun-loving guy who enjoys sports.

---

STORE 104 MOONLIGHT MADNESS SPECIALS

- Soda — 12 oz. can — All varieties .................. 25¢
- All Peppridge Farms & Nabsico Products
- REGULAR PRICES
- 10¢ Off Regular Prices

OFF CAMPUS STUDENTS NOTE:

- Quart Hood Milk ......................... 60¢
- One-half Gallon Hood Milk ............. 99¢
- Quart Orange Juice ....................... 82¢
- One-half Gallon Orange Juice ......... 1.49

---

The K of C Ball—a topsy turvey success.

By Janie McAuliffe

The K of C Ball—a topsy turvey success. (Photo by Chris Flannery)
Class of 1983
presents
JUNIOR RING WEEKEND

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19 THRU SUNDAY,
NOVEMBER 22, 1981

Schedule of Events

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19
DISTRIBUTION OF RINGS
VENUS DE MILO, SWANSEA, MA.
BUFFET DINNER DANCE
ENTERTAINMENT BY “STRUTT”
COCKTAILS AT 6:00 P.M.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 20
CASUAL EVENING FEATURING
JIM PLUNKETT, CLASS SLIDE
SHOW BEGINS AT 8:30 PM RHODES
ON THE PAWTUXET, CRANSTON,
RI. NO JEANS REQUESTED.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 21
FORMAL DINNER DANCE
KING PHILIP BALLROOM,
WRENTHAM, MA.
RECEIVING AT 6:30 P.M.
OPEN BAR AND DANCING
9:00 P.M.-1:00 A.M.
MUSIC BY TOUCH

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 22
MASS AT ST. PIUS, 2:00 P.M.
BLESSING OF THE RINGS
COFFEE HOUSE FEATURING
CARL SAUERBRUNN AND
MARY ELLEN WESTDYKE.
COFFEE AND DOUGHNUTS

CORE COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN
MARY ELLEN BATCHELLER, Weekend
MARYBETH ALTO, Formal Night
BOB FERREIRA, Bands & Entertainment
SHARON GRADY, Bids and Favours
DEB LAVIOLETTE, Special Events
SA OLEKSAK, Ring Design & Rings
SHARON ROVEDA, Special Events

ITEMS TO REMEMBER
• Bids will go on sale Oct. 6 from 1:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. and Oct. 7 and 8 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Slavin 217. The price of bid is $67.00 and must be made in full and cash only. A PC I.D.
will be required at this time and throughout the festive weekend.
• Ring balances must be paid in full on any Tuesday in Oct. Rm. 103 Slavin from 9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.
• At the sale of bids and the final deposits of Rings the class will raffle off a free class ring and free bid for the price of $1.00 per ticket.
• Anyone wishing to contribute slides or pictures for the class slide show can do so by sending them to Box 86. Remember to put name and box number on slide or picture.
• Bid returns will be from Oct. 26 thru 30 in a designated area and time.
SUNDAY, OCTOBER 5
FILM COMMITTEE
presents
"THE FINAL CONFLICT"
SHOWS AT 7:00 & 9:00
AT THE LAST RESORT
PRICE IS $1.00

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2
THE LAST RESORT
presents
"ACES AND EIGHT"

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1st
THE CONCERT COMMITTEE PRESENTS A
MINI CONCERT STARRING
"BEAVER BROWN"
IN '64 HALL
SHOWS AT 7:30 AND 10:00
PRICE IS $4.00

MONDAY, OCT. 5
FACULTY LECTURE PRESENTS
DR. FERGUSON OF THE
LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT
AT 7:00
AT THE LAST RESORT
FREE ADMISSION
 TICKETS ARE $5.00
AND ARE AVAILABLE
THURS. AT 3:30 IN BOG
OFFICE.
LIMIT 2 PER PERSON
POSITIVE I.D.
REQUIRED.

TO BE ANNOUNCED
THE TRAVEL COMMITTEE
presents
"ANNIE"
AT THE OCEAN STATE
PERFORMING ARTS CENTER
Field Hockey Falls to UConn.

Record at 1-2-1

By Peter DiBiasi

On Thursday, September 24, the University of Connecticut brought their field hockey team to Providence. Coming into this game Connecticut was ranked fourth in the nation, a ranking they almost lost.

The game was scoreless after the first half. Both teams were playing well, but Providence College appeared to be dominating. Connecticut got on the board during the second half, but their lead did not last long. With twenty minutes left in the game Donna Salsman scored on a penalty corner, as she was assisted by Paula Johnson. The contest was tied 1-1 in the end. Neither team was able to take advantage during the first overtime.

Then came sudden death overtime, but the Lady Friars defense was able to stymie Connecticut. After the two overtime periods, both teams were still tied 1-1, leading to a penalty shootout.

* SCIENCE
(Continued from Page 7)

Dr. Meisler may be correct when he accuses people of being irrational. Blacks, for example, may say or think “What about the enslavement and slaughter of our forefathers?” When blacks talk about slavery, their attitudes may grow restless as they think about the chapters of oppression in their histories.

But it is stupid, an absolute dead end, to allow such responses to predominate. There is no point in discussing the question of which group’s suffering was worse. They were all bad enough. If, after generations, we cannot discuss our past, we are doomed. We cannot afford to divide our best protection against future victimization.

Blacks and others have slavery in their histories and have endured attempted genocide. Our goal must be to turn these events into conditions that will be beneficial to our society insofar as career and social mobility are concerned.

We are, moreover, citizens of a large and powerful nation, and as such, we can aspire to influence the world. In future columns I will deal extensively on the moves of the Congress and other political bodies.

* JEWISH
(Continued from Page 8)

The doctor blames the illness on anxiety and tensions brought on by the war in the Middle East. Before I introduce my conclusion, I must add one more comment.

A picture of national proportions, like the Nazi attempt to destroy the Jews, should not separate people but bring them together. It was made possible to one to blame, to use artificial distance between groups of people by those in power. It allows a Jew to talk about the Holocaust, I sometimes see others growing

Field Hockey Falls to UConn.

Record at 1-2-1

By Peter DiBiasi

On Thursday, September 24, the University of Connecticut brought their field hockey team to Providence. Coming into this game Connecticut was ranked fourth in the nation, a ranking they almost lost.

The game was scoreless after the first half. Both teams were playing well, but Providence College appeared to be dominating. Connecticut got on the board during the second half, but their lead did not last long. With twenty minutes left in the game Donna Salsman scored on a penalty corner, as she was assisted by Paula Johnson. The contest was tied 1-1 in the end. Neither team was able to take advantage during the first overtime.

Then came sudden death overtime, but the Lady Friars defense was able to stymie Connecticut. After the two overtime periods, both teams were still tied 1-1, leading to a penalty shootout.

* SCIENCE
(Continued from Page 7)

Dr. Meisler may be correct when he accuses people of being irrational. Blacks, for example, may say or think “What about the enslavement and slaughter of our forefathers?” When blacks talk about slavery, their attitudes may grow restless as they think about the chapters of oppression in their histories.

But it is stupid, an absolute dead end, to allow such responses to predominate. There is no point in discussing the question of which group’s suffering was worse. They were all bad enough. If, after generations, we cannot discuss our past, we are doomed. We cannot afford to divide our best protection against future victimization.

Blacks and others have slavery in their histories and have endured attempted genocide. Our goal must be to turn these events into conditions that will be beneficial to our society insofar as career and social mobility are concerned.

We are, moreover, citizens of a large and powerful nation, and as such, we can aspire to influence the world. In future columns I will deal extensively on the moves of the Congress and other political bodies.

* JEWISH
(Continued from Page 8)

The doctor blames the illness on anxiety and tensions brought on by the war in the Middle East. Before I introduce my conclusion, I must add one more comment.

A picture of national proportions, like the Nazi attempt to destroy the Jews, should not separate people but bring them together. It was made possible to one to blame, to use artificial distance between groups of people by those in power. It allows a Jew to talk about the Holocaust, I sometimes see others growing

Field Hockey Falls to UConn.

Record at 1-2-1

By Peter DiBiasi

On Thursday, September 24, the University of Connecticut brought their field hockey team to Providence. Coming into this game Connecticut was ranked fourth in the nation, a ranking they almost lost.

The game was scoreless after the first half. Both teams were playing well, but Providence College appeared to be dominating. Connecticut got on the board during the second half, but their lead did not last long. With twenty minutes left in the game Donna Salsman scored on a penalty corner, as she was assisted by Paula Johnson. The contest was tied 1-1 in the end. Neither team was able to take advantage during the first overtime.

Then came sudden death overtime, but the Lady Friars defense was able to stymie Connecticut. After the two overtime periods, both teams were still tied 1-1, leading to a penalty shootout.

* SCIENCE
(Continued from Page 7)

Dr. Meisler may be correct when he accuses people of being irrational. Blacks, for example, may say or think “What about the enslavement and slaughter of our forefathers?” When blacks talk about slavery, their attitudes may grow restless as they think about the chapters of oppression in their histories.

But it is stupid, an absolute dead end, to allow such responses to predominate. There is no point in discussing the question of which group’s suffering was worse. They were all bad enough. If, after generations, we cannot discuss our past, we are doomed. We cannot afford to divide our best protection against future victimization.

Blacks and others have slavery in their histories and have endured attempted genocide. Our goal must be to turn these events into conditions that will be beneficial to our society insofar as career and social mobility are concerned.

We are, moreover, citizens of a large and powerful nation, and as such, we can aspire to influence the world. In future columns I will deal extensively on the moves of the Congress and other political bodies.

* JEWISH
(Continued from Page 8)

The doctor blames the illness on anxiety and tensions brought on by the war in the Middle East. Before I introduce my conclusion, I must add one more comment.

A picture of national proportions, like the Nazi attempt to destroy the Jews, should not separate people but bring them together. It was made possible to one to blame, to use artificial distance between groups of people by those in power. It allows a Jew to talk about the Holocaust, I sometimes see others growing
Assumption Clips Friars

By Joe DeFilippo

Despite a great offensive performance Saturday, the Providence College gridders lost a heartbreaker to Assumption College 26-18. The Worcester crowd saw the Friars accumulate 261 yards on the ground and score a touchdown. However, Assumption scored up only 13 points. They were held by three fumbles and two failed conversions which proved to be the edge.

Assumption got on the board quickly with a 70 yard scoring drive, capped off with a 3 yard run. This well executed drive consisted of short passing and traps. The kick was converted and Assumption was out in front 7-0. In previous years the matriculated teams have always been close. Last year, the Friars went on to victory for BU. Boston claimed the overall performance Saturday.

The second half saw the Friars defense lead and practically close down the already slowed Assumption offense. There was nothing but praise for the defense, which played a really strong game, holding passing to under 120 yards offensively. Many singled out No. 22 sophomore defensive back Rusty Debus for his exceptional performance.

Offensively the Friars scored two touchdowns to take a 14-6 lead with 9:06 left in the game. The first of the two scores came back in the third period when sophomore Jim McLean ran 14 yards. McLean enjoyed an outstanding game, as he ran for over 100 yards. The conversion failed and PC trailed 14-6. Providence came back again and scored in the fourth period on another Jim McLean run, this time for 3 yards and again the conversion failed.

It was now up to the defense to preserve this lead and get the ball back. This tired unit dug in but it took Assumption only 19 minutes to solve the Friar defensive puzzle which had solved the Assumption offense the whole second half and the result was a 26-14 lead for Assumption. The score came on a 4 yard pass from quarterback Prentiss to Norwood. Despite the loss, they kept up on Assumption and the kick for the conversion failed. The ball then exchanged hands with nothing happening. With less than 3 minutes to go in the game, with PC driving in Assumption territory, disaster again struck. Quarterback Chris Lamendola was hit while throwing a pass and injured his shoulder. He was removed from the game and was replaced by sophomore Mark Dooley. Dooley continued to move the ball, which was wanted on a pass and the ball was intercepted. This ended it for Providence and they were sent packing with their second loss in as many weeks.

Their record now stands at 1-2 and they will host Roger Williams next week.

Golfers 3rd in Big East

Reprinted from the Providence Journal

St. John's University, with a score of 632, captured the Big East Golf Championships last Saturday at the Colony Hills Country Club. The Redmen, who were edged by the Friars in last year's tournament, had the individual winner in this year Mike Diffley, who shot a 144 total. PC finished third this year with a score of 632. The Friars had two men in the top two places, as Rob Durfee's 153 tied him for fourth and Mike McGinn, who shot a 100, finished tenth.

The University of Connecticut was second to St. John's with a score of 617. Other scores were Villanova, 666; Georgetown, 661; Boston College, 666; Seton Hall, 692. Syracuse University did not compete.

Tip O'Neill and Rep. Baker to select five members, along with a Presidential five-member team, to create a task force concerned with the problems of Social Security.

Reagan believes government has taken away the American spirit of voluntarism. He told of an elderly man and his wife listening to a tourist guide exclaim about Mount Etna and turn to his wife, to say, "We have a volunteer fire department that'll put that out." Restoration of that spirit is an aim. The President doesn't want his administration to pass the ball to the next administration.

Women Netters Bow to BU; Swat Northeastern

By Smokey Lusignan

After defeating Bryant College last week by a score of 7-0, the PC women's tennis team went on to face Boston University. Unfortunately, that match, played on Thursday, Sept. 21, ended in a 4-3 victory for BU. Boston claimed the first six matches. The other matches were never played due to inclement weather. The score of 6-6 is misleading, however, because PC were never down. The Friar first and second singles matches were close and evenly matched.

Assumption was down but not defeated. They kept up their spirit and won a riveting victory over Northeastern University on Sept. 26. There has always been a rivalry between the PC and Northeastern teams and in previous years the matches had always been close. Last Saturday, however, PC pulled out a decisive victory and defeated Northeastern by a score of 8-1. This win is significant, for it shows the improvement of this year's team over last year's.

One of the particularly fine matches on Saturday was played by the second singles players, Nancy Curtin (PC) and Sue Coleman (NE). After losing the first set by the score of 7-5, Nancy was able to come back. She won the next two sets 6-2, 6-4 and added one more victory to the PC score. Other close matches were played by the first doubles teams, Anne Marie Mancini and Diane Desaulniers and the third doubles team, Andrea Curvone and Melanie Murray.

With a record of 3-1 and a promising outlook for future matches, the team looks forward to their upcoming home matches against Wellesley on Oct. 3 and UCen on Oct. 7.

Golfers 3rd in Big East

Reprinted from the Providence Journal

St. John's University, with a score of 632, captured the Big East Golf Championships last Saturday at the Colony Hills Country Club. The Redmen, who were edged by the Friars in last year's tournament, had the individual winner in this year Mike Diffley, who shot a 144 total. PC finished third this year with a score of 632. The Friars had two men in the top two places, as Rob Durfee's 153 tied him for fourth and Mike McGinn, who shot a 100, finished tenth.

The University of Connecticut was second to St. John's with a score of 617. Other scores were Villanova, 666; Georgetown, 661; Boston College, 666; Seton Hall, 692. Syracuse University did not compete.

Tip O'Neill and Rep. Baker to select five members, along with a Presidential five-member team, to create a task force concerned with the problems of Social Security.

Reagan believes government has taken away the American spirit of voluntarism. He told of an elderly man and his wife listening to a tourist guide exclaim about Mount Etna and turn to his wife, to say, "We have a volunteer fire department that'll put that out." Restoration of that spirit is an aim. The President doesn't want his administration to pass the ball to the next administration. He wants action. I would be very interested in hearing PC reaction to the President's program. Please drop a note in Slavin Center, Box 289.

Reagan ended his speech with a quote from Thomas Paine: "We have it within our power to make the world over again." He asked plainly, "What are we waiting for?"
Sports

Smith, Binns Win

Harriers Outrun UConn; Win 79th Consecutive Meet

By Chris Lydon

The Providence College cross country team began another season in typical fashion last Saturday, extending their consecutive dual meet winning streak to 79 with a victory over UConn at Storrs. Paceing the Friars in their victory were sophomore Geoff Smith and freshman Steve Binns, both from England. They covered the rugged 5-mile course in a record 27:56.

Following close behind, juniors Paul Moloney and Jimmy Fallon crossed the finish line together in 16th place.

Intramurals

Organization Spells Success

By Tim Farrell

Once again it's intramural athletics time and the fieldhouse provides ample space and facilities for even greater participation this year. The team sports offered, flag football, volleyball co-ed and water polo, will be open to men and women. There will be the usual tournaments: raquetball, tennis, golf, swimming, weightlifting and wrestling. The dates for these events and other events are scheduled by the Intramural Athletic Board and are posted on the Lower Lavin bulletin board, the fieldhouse bulletin board, and the Intramural Athletic Board.

The Intramural Athletic Board keeps our athletic facilities, has room to handle the increasing student participation. The Board consists of elected officers from each class, freshman representatives are Joe Shaw, Anne Dinatale and John DeSantis; sophomores Phil Moran, Sandra Roberts and Maria Adams; juniors Kevin Flynn, Bryan Jones, "Do" Tolan, and Jim Spinello; seniors Greg Canale, Mike Kelleher, Rich Ferraira and Laura White. If you have any questions concerning intramural sports contact the members of the Board at the Intramural office. Room 303, in the fieldhouse. If you are interested in becoming involved in the intramural scene contact Mr. Alaimo in Room 319, Alumni Hall.

Friars Bow to URI,

Gain Revenge On UNH

By Bob Ryan

Last week, the PC booters were engaged in two hard fought battles against the URI Friars and the UNH Wildcats. URI, ranked number 19 in the nation, would certainly prove to be a very tough game for the Friars. Sporting a 2-0 record, the Friars came out flying in a very physical and penalty ridden second half. The game remained deadlocked until 7:33 of the third quarter when Ram booter Mark D'Andrea of the Friars gave the Friars the lead of 1-0, which proved to be the winning tally. The Friars continued to apply pressure in the Ram half of the field, but due to tight coverage, were unable to capitalize. With this loss the Friars record dropped to 3-1. 