Sophomore sensation Geoff Smith leads a pack of Friar runners en route to PC's victory in last Saturday's Big East meet. See related story on page 12. (Photo by Kevin Burke)
WED., OCTOBER 28

Art Journal — Sale of Candy Apples.
Faculty Seminar — 2:30 p.m., Slavin lower level.
Cheese Club Meeting — 4 p.m., Cameron 14.
10th Anniversary Celebration
Faculty Reception — 6 p.m., Slavin 64 hall.
Social Work Alliance Meeting — 7 p.m., Slavin 113.
Prayer Meeting — 9:30 p.m., Guzman Chapel.

FRI., OCT. 30

Art Journal — Sale of Candy Apples.
9:30 a.m. — Slavin lower level.
Counciling Center Group Presentations — 11:30 a.m. — 4 p.m., Slavin 113.
CEC Halloween Party for Children.
Nov. 2-3 p.m., Slavin 203.
Panel Discussion — PC Alumni — Hopes, Dreams and Realities:
Ten Years of Co-education at PC — 7:30 p.m., Slavin 64 hall.
Theatre Arts Trilogy of Kings — 8 p.m., Harkins Auditorium.

SAT., OCT. 31

10th Anniversary Celebration — Convocation — 1 p.m., Alumni Hall.
Laying of Cornerstone — Peterson Recreation Center.
Open House — 2 p.m.
Champagne Reception.
PC Karate Club Meets WED. NIGHTS 7-9, ROOM 254 ALUMNI (Old Girls Gym).

Seniors!!
Sign up for your senior portraits as soon as possible at the Student Info Desk in Slavin!
PC Karate Club Meets WED. NIGHTS 7-9, ROOM 254 ALUMNI (Old Girls Gym)

Knights of Columbus

Thurs., Oct. 29 — First Degree Slavin 113 — 7 p.m.
Sat., Oct. 31 — Halloween Tunnels — Lower Campus, 4:30 p.m.

TEN — A Providence College Anniversary Celebration... Please Attend!

Thursday, October 29 — Aquinas Chapel
4:30 p.m. — Opening Liturgy — Most Rev. Daniel P. Reilly, Bishop of Norwich (Vicar General of Diocese of Providence, Sept. 1971) Principal celebrant.

Harkins Auditorium
5:00 p.m. — "RICHARD III" by William Shakespeare. Presented by Providence College Theatre (Opens the PC participation in "A Trilogy of Kings," a Shakespearean Festival in conjunction with Brown University and Rhode Island College.)

Friday, October 30 — "64 Hall, Slavin Center
7:30 p.m. — "Hopes, Dreams, and Realities: Ten Years of Co-Education at Providence College." Panel Discussion featuring PC alumnus. Multi-media presentation. "107" (an anniversary slide show). Reception.

Saturday, October 31 — Alumni Hall
1:00 p.m. — Convocation. "107" (an anniversary slide show)
Peterson Recreation Center
2:00 p.m. — Laying of Cornerstone. Open House. Champagne Reception.

Crossword Puzzler

ACROSS
1. Cavalier
2. Greek letter
3. Lawmaking
4. Lease
5. Zodiac sign
6. Equal
7. Young boy
17. Rage
16. Imitate
15. Kind of bean
14. Toward
13. Equal
12. Sandarac
11. Equal
10. Eye part
9. Turkish
8. Box
7. Perfection
6. Joint
5. Vary
4. Noose
3. Perfection
2. Box
1. Newt

DOWNS
1. Young cow
2. Opera
3. Limb
4. Female ruff
5. Native
6. Regiment
7. Belief
8. Sandarac
9. Eye part
10. Equal
11. Equal
12. Joint
13. Equal
14. Equal
15. Equal
16. Equal
17. Equal

Art Journal — Sale of Candy Apples.
9:30 a.m. — Slavin lower level.
Opening Liturgy (10th Anniversary Celebration) — 4:30 p.m. Aquinas Chapel.
10th Anniversary Celebration — Convocation — 1 p.m., Alumni Hall.
Laying of Cornerstone — Peterson Recreation Center.
Open House — 2 p.m.
Champagne Reception.
PC Karate Club Meets WED. NIGHTS 7-9, ROOM 254 ALUMNI (Old Girls Gym).

Shakespeare Festival

Providence College Theatre and The Rhode Island Shakespeare Festival announce a lecture series on November 2, 3 & 4, when professors from Providence College, Rhode Island College and Brown University present informative topical essays regarding each play to be performed.
The lectures are free and open to the public.
The lecture schedule is as follows:
November 2 — Lecture by Dr. Robert Comerio: "RICHARD II—Envy: The Human Impulse, the King's Demise" Providence College, Sienna Hall, 212 at 4 p.m.
November 3 — Lecture by Dr. John Shroeder: "HENRY IV: The King and the Character", Rhode Island College, Roberts Little Theatre at 4 p.m.
November 4 — Lecture by Dr. Rene Fortin: "RICHARD III: The Seductions of Power", Brown University, Louis Theatre at 4 p.m.

Math Help Sessions

Monday
2:30-4:30
Stephens Room 2

What's where

News.................... p. 3
Editorials.................. p. 5
Features.................. p. 7
Sports...................... p. 11
Abolish Education?

Senator Claiborne Pell (D-RI), ranking member of the Senate Education Subcommittee, said it is clear that the Administration is committed to more than the dismantlement of the Department. He warned that there are those in this Administration who want not only to reduce but almost end the federal role in education. "I supported the establishment of the Department," he said, "because I believed that education organized a multi-media presentation featuring videotapes of current PC students. The year, Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., was made president of the Providence and Development of Western Civilization was added to the core curriculum.

That same year, 34 years after the creation of the Department of Education, Providence College offered admission to women. One woman, a nun, graduated the first year. It was 1975, just six years ago, that the first four-year female students graduated. To recognize the tremendous contribution women have made to the college community, the universi­versity committee is presenting a special program on Friday evening at 7:30 p.m., in Providence in 1971, will be the principal celebration.

Tomorrow evening, at 8 p.m. in the Lower Auditorium, the PC theater department will present "Richard III," this is PC's contribution to the "Trilogy of Kings" Shakespearean Festival, being presented with Brown University and Rhode Island College. The other parts of the trilogy are Henry IV, Part One and Richard II. Tickets can be purchased through the theater department.

Saturday's activities will center primarily around the dedication of the new fieldhouse. After a p.m. convocation in Alumni Hall, the Lauds of the Cornerstone for the Peterson

News

A Perfect '10

By Peggy Hugan

It's anniversary time for Providence College and for many the next four days will be a nostalgia look back over the past 10 years.

It was the academic year 1971-72 that marked the beginnings of three major changes that have had a visible impact on the college. That year, Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., was made president of the college and the Development of Western Civilization was added to the core curriculum.

That same year, 34 years after the creation of the Department of Education, Providence College offered admission to women. One woman, a nun, graduated the first year. It was 1975, just six years ago, that the first four-year female students graduated. To recognize the tremendous contribution women have made to the college community, the universi­versity committee is presenting a special program on Friday evening at 7:30 p.m., in 1971, will be the principal celebration.

Tomorrow evening, at 8 p.m. in the Lower Auditorium, the PC theater department will present "Richard III," this is PC's contribution to the "Trilogy of Kings" Shakespearean Festival, being presented with Brown University and Rhode Island College. The other parts of the trilogy are Henry IV, Part One and Richard II. Tickets can be purchased through the theater department.

Saturday's activities will center primarily around the dedication of the new fieldhouse. After a p.m. convocation in Alumni Hall, the Lauds of the Cornerstone for the Peterson

News

A Perfect '10

By Peggy Hugan

It's anniversary time for Providence College and for many the next four days will be a nostalgia look back over the past 10 years.

It was the academic year 1971-72 that marked the beginnings of three major changes that have had a visible impact on the college. That year, Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., was made president of the college and the Development of Western Civilization was added to the core curriculum.

That same year, 34 years after the creation of the Department of Education, Providence College offered admission to women. One woman, a nun, graduated the first year. It was 1975, just six years ago, that the first four-year female students graduated. To recognize the tremendous contribution women have made to the college community, the universi­versity committee is presenting a special program on Friday evening at 7:30 p.m., in 1971, will be the principal celebration.

Tomorrow evening, at 8 p.m. in the Lower Auditorium, the PC theater department will present "Richard III," this is PC's contribution to the "Trilogy of Kings" Shakespearean Festival, being presented with Brown University and Rhode Island College. The other parts of the trilogy are Henry IV, Part One and Richard II. Tickets can be purchased through the theater department.

Saturday's activities will center primarily around the dedication of the new fieldhouse. After a p.m. convocation in Alumni Hall, the Lauds of the Cornerstone for the Peterson

News

A Perfect '10

By Peggy Hugan

It's anniversary time for Providence College and for many the next four days will be a nostalgia look back over the past 10 years.

It was the academic year 1971-72 that marked the beginnings of three major changes that have had a visible impact on the college. That year, Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., was made president of the college and the Development of Western Civilization was added to the core curriculum.

That same year, 34 years after the creation of the Department of Education, Providence College offered admission to women. One woman, a nun, graduated the first year. It was 1975, just six years ago, that the first four-year female students graduated. To recognize the tremendous contribution women have made to the college community, the universi­versity committee is presenting a special program on Friday evening at 7:30 p.m., in 1971, will be the principal celebration.

Tomorrow evening, at 8 p.m. in the Lower Auditorium, the PC theater department will present "Richard III," this is PC's contribution to the "Trilogy of Kings" Shakespearean Festival, being presented with Brown University and Rhode Island College. The other parts of the trilogy are Henry IV, Part One and Richard II. Tickets can be purchased through the theater department.

Saturday's activities will center primarily around the dedication of the new fieldhouse. After a p.m. convocation in Alumni Hall, the Lauds of the Cornerstone for the Peterson

News

A Perfect '10

By Peggy Hugan

It's anniversary time for Providence College and for many the next four days will be a nostalgia look back over the past 10 years.

It was the academic year 1971-72 that marked the beginnings of three major changes that have had a visible impact on the college. That year, Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., was made president of the college and the Development of Western Civilization was added to the core curriculum.

That same year, 34 years after the creation of the Department of Education, Providence College offered admission to women. One woman, a nun, graduated the first year. It was 1975, just six years ago, that the first four-year female students graduated. To recognize the tremendous contribution women have made to the college community, the universi­versity committee is presenting a special program on Friday evening at 7:30 p.m., in 1971, will be the principal celebration.

Tomorrow evening, at 8 p.m. in the Lower Auditorium, the PC theater department will present "Richard III," this is PC's contribution to the "Trilogy of Kings" Shakespearean Festival, being presented with Brown University and Rhode Island College. The other parts of the trilogy are Henry IV, Part One and Richard II. Tickets can be purchased through the theater department.

Saturday's activities will center primarily around the dedication of the new fieldhouse. After a p.m. convocation in Alumni Hall, the Lauds of the Cornerstone for the Peterson

News

A Perfect '10

By Peggy Hugan

It's anniversary time for Providence College and for many the next four days will be a nostalgia look back over the past 10 years.

It was the academic year 1971-72 that marked the beginnings of three major changes that have had a visible impact on the college. That year, Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., was made president of the college and the Development of Western Civilization was added to the core curriculum.

That same year, 34 years after the creation of the Department of Education, Providence College offered admission to women. One woman, a nun, graduated the first year. It was 1975, just six years ago, that the first four-year female students graduated. To recognize the tremendous contribution women have made to the college community, the universi­versity committee is presenting a special program on Friday evening at 7:30 p.m., in 1971, will be the principal celebration.

Tomorrow evening, at 8 p.m. in the Lower Auditorium, the PC theater department will present "Richard III," this is PC's contribution to the "Trilogy of Kings" Shakespearean Festival, being presented with Brown University and Rhode Island College. The other parts of the trilogy are Henry IV, Part One and Richard II. Tickets can be purchased through the theater department.

Saturday's activities will center primarily around the dedication of the new fieldhouse. After a p.m. convocation in Alumni Hall, the Lauds of the Cornerstone for the Peterson

News

A Perfect '10

By Peggy Hugan

It's anniversary time for Providence College and for many the next four days will be a nostalgia look back over the past 10 years.

It was the academic year 1971-72 that marked the beginnings of three major changes that have had a visible impact on the college. That year, Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., was made president of the college and the Development of Western Civilization was added to the core curriculum.

That same year, 34 years after the creation of the Department of Education, Providence College offered admission to women. One woman, a nun, graduated the first year. It was 1975, just six years ago, that the first four-year female students graduated. To recognize the tremendous contribution women have made to the college community, the universi­versity committee is presenting a special program on Friday evening at 7:30 p.m., in Illiteracy Feared In Undergraduates

More college students soon might have to pass a competency test before they graduate.

Just as the controversial preliminary plans for the student test were spread on the high school level — a movement largely fueled by parental and college admissions officials' complaints that high school graduates were still ill-educated — the tests appear to be making inroads on the college level as well.

Most recently, a university of Oklahoma faculty committee recommended two weeks ago that undergraduate students complete an examination in their majors before being allowed to graduate.

Individual departments within the university — not seminancing agencies such as Educational Testing Service — will write and administer the tests.

Congress Update

At Sunday evening's Congress meeting this week, six of the recently elected freshman representatives were officially sworn into office. The representatives will be sworn in at next week's meeting.

The academic research committee announced that they will be sponsoring a CPR course on Sunday, November 15. Students participating in the course will be able to receive certification at that same time, and students who need their certification will be permitted to bring their licenses.

It was reported that the finance committee decided to give $100 for expenses to run World Food Day on November 16. Any money left after expenses are refunded. Usually, we find from $45 for their service and "it's more than a round­trip for competency, it's just plain dumb."

At the Athletic Board announced that finals for all athletic competition will begin again during the second semester.

Jim O'Connor stated that the COA has made plans for sprinklers to be installed in Aquinas Hall. All installation work will be completed by the December break this year.

The Dillon Club announced that they are planning to hold a spaghetti dinner benefit for Mr. James Vincent Cuddy, in order to purchase a scoreboard for the baseball field that has already been purchased in his name. OCHO has finished its handbook on student­tenant relations.

The Afro­American Club is sponsoring a Halloween party in Colonel's Corner on Friday, October 30. Proceeds will go for tutorial services to children on Providence's East Side.

Nancy Schiano reported that the BOG concert committee does not plan to hold any other concerts this year, but that they will begin again during the second semester.

Richard III, William Shakespeare's explosive drama, will open Providence College Theatre's 13th season on October 29. This production will also open participation in the city college's collaboration — Shakespeare Festival: A Trilogy of Kings.

Being staged in the College's Hurkina Auditorium through Sunday, November 1, at 8 p.m., Richard III can also be seen at Brown University's Faunce House Theatre (November 5–6) and Robert's Theatre at Rhode Island College (November 7–8), also at 8 p.m.

Richard III recounts the bitter rivalry between brothers of the House of York for the succession of the English throne. Shakespeare portrays Richard, the "last of the Plantagets" as a violent, brooding person whose magnetic presence commands the chaotic, bloody events of the day. Written as a brilliant manipulation of historical fact to further the then­ reigning Tudors, the play offers a political statement appealing to contemporary audiences.

In 1918, Richard, the charismatic villain, still provides an evening of great theatre.

Dr. Jean Scharenberg, professor of Theatre Arts at Illinois State University, Normal, Illinois, is guest director of the production. Dr. Scharenberg has directed over 120 productions in her career, including three dramas for the Illinois Shakespeare Festival. She holds degrees from Central Missouri State University, the University of Washington, and the University of Wisconsin.

Aiding Dr. Scharenberg in the production are James Fiddy, scenic and lighting designer, and Mary Farrell, costume designer. Tickets for Richard III are $4 each; $2 for students and senior citizens, and can be obtained by calling 865­2327 (for October 29—November 6 performances); 865­2328 (for November 5–November 6) and 456­8114 (for November 7–8 performances).

Reservations for the touring productions of Henry IV Part I and Richard II at Providence College on November 5–8 can be made by calling 865­2327.

Happy Halloween!
Tenth Anniversaries:
All Should Celebrate

Women of Providence College— it's time for you to learn about your roots. You need not search long and far to discover who your forebears were, for you can meet and hear some of them speak on Friday, October 30 at 7:30 p.m. in '64 Hall. It is on that night that PC is officially commemorating the 10th anniversary of women at Providence College. It is, however, only a part of the festivities that will be marking several major anniversaries.

Also being recognized is the 10th anniversary of Rev. Thomas R. Peterson's presidency at Providence College, as well as, the 10th year of the Western Civilization program. The celebration will stretch from Thursday, October 28 through Saturday, October 31.

"The inception of the DWC program, the addition of women to the College, and Fr. Peterson's presidency have all had immeasurable effects on the character of Providence College."

The events will open with a liturgy in Aquinas Chapel at 4:30. At 8 p.m. that same night, Richard H. Atlee, a play by William Shakespeare, will be presented by the Providence College Theatre. This is also the opening of "A Trilogy of Kings," a consecutive effort with Brown University and Rhode Island College to present a Shakespeare festival. Because it is opening night, a reception will be held following the performance.

The evening of Friday, October 30 is devoted to recognizing the anniversary of co-education at PC. Several alumni will discuss their experiences as the first coeds at PC. There will also be a video presentation, as well as a slide show called "Ten Years in Ten Minutes." Refreshments will be served.

At 1 p.m. on Saturday, October 31, a convocation will be held in Alumni Hall. At this time another anniversary slide show will be presented. The highlight of the entire weekend is at 7 p.m. on Saturday, when the dedication of the new fieldhouse takes place. The laying of the cornerstone of the Peterson Recreation Center will be followed by a champagne reception for all students, faculty and alumni.

I have a little story to tell about how the FBI kept a file on me. There was nothing interesting in my files. That is the interesting and very significant part of the story. If there is a file about me, there could be a file about anybody.

I have obtained documents from my file under the Freedom of Information Act and the Privacy Act. When I first requested the file the FBI said that I could not have it. They gave several reasons including that I could not have it. They said it was a "criminal investigation" or a "meet the standards of a security clearance." I have obtained documents from my file under the Freedom of Information Act and the Privacy Act. When I first requested the file the FBI said that I could not have it. They gave several reasons including that I could not have it. They said it was a "criminal investigation" or a "meet the standards of a security clearance." I have obtained documents from my file under the Freedom of Information Act and the Privacy Act. When I first requested the file the FBI said that I could not have it. They gave several reasons including that I could not have it. They said it was a "criminal investigation" or a "meet the standards of a security clearance." I have obtained documents from my file under the Freedom of Information Act and the Privacy Act. When I first requested the file the FBI said that I could not have it. They gave several reasons including that I could not have it. They said it was a "criminal investigation" or a "meet the standards of a security clearance." I have obtained documents from my file under the Freedom of Information Act and the Privacy Act. When I first requested the file the FBI said that I could not have it. They gave several reasons including that I could not have it. They said it was a "criminal investigation" or a "meet the standards of a security clearance." I have obtained documents from my file under the Freedom of Information Act and the Privacy Act. When I first requested the file the FBI said that I could not have it. They gave several reasons including that I could not have it. They said it was a "criminal investigation" or a "meet the standards of a security clearance." I have obtained documents from my file under the Freedom of Information Act and the Privacy Act. When I first requested the file the FBI said that I could not have it. They gave several reasons including that I could not have it. They said it was a "criminal investigation" or a "meet the standards of a security clearance." I have obtained documents from my file under the Freedom of Information Act and the Privacy Act. When I first requested the file the FBI said that I could not have it. They gave several reasons including that I could not have it. They said it was a "criminal investigation" or a "meet the standards of a security clearance."
assassination as his crack­down on Moslem fundamentalists.

BITTER PILLS. Budget Director David Stockman is not normally a man to be put off easily. On the contrary, this soft-spoken, unassuming student has been absolutely punishment­ized in his efforts to cut government spending, often at the expense of those least able to afford it.

But still, you have to feel sorry for the guy sometimes. His past keeps coming back to haunt him.

That’s what happened with the sugar program. President Ronald Reagan had to sweeten it not for some Southern Democrats to get his budget cuts through Congress. So he went along with a $3.5 billion support program for sugar, even though it violates every principle of Reaganomics.

It was a bitter pill to swallow. The Agriculture Department estimated that continuing price supports for sugar would add more than $2 billion a year. That works out to $100 for a family of four.

But the sugar program was particularly bad for the 1986 budget. It supported the then-acting sugar budget director, Stockman. Three years ago, he was a Republican congressman from Michigan and he opposed the sugar program publicly in eloquent terms. He called the program an artificial sweetness for big sugar companies.

As a congressman, Stock­man described the sugar price support as a corporate welfare measure disguised as an assistance program for small farmers. But it would not only benefit the big sugar producers — so said Congress­man Stockman. He said it would cost consumers more than a billion dollars a year.

Rising to heights of indig­nant, rhetoric, young Con­gressman Stockman said sugar price supports were “an inflationary steamroller highballing toward the House floor that would flatten the American consumer and make a mockery of our efforts to control inflation.”

That was only three years ago. Congress­man Stockman is now director of the bud­get, and he’s at the wheel of that inflationary steamroll­er of sugar.

HEADLINES AND FOOT­NOTES: Some federal fraud­sters think food-stamp recipients should carry identifi­cation cards and be subjected to fingerprints — even their thumb­prints — to make sure they are not double-dipping. A house­wife was reported to have used several id­entification cards to get benefits.

The Department of Agriculture recently began issuing food-stamp cards to people who use food stamps.

One of the chief problems is that fraud­sters are now using their Win­dows of Vulnerability.

From Ole Ireland

Kelle Kean Comments

Hot fudge sundaes, real apple cake, carrot cake, ice­cream, pop­corn, tuna fish with cheese. Had our picture taken with a British soldier with his gun. Almost had camera confiscated. The North is quiet. Ten of us in cottage in Killybegs, Ox­ford, Donegal. Easy washing day — we tramped a few miles for fire. We hitched a CROSS the county. Good chance that we will see the locals with their dogs. Sold a new sweater. We drove 18 miles out of our way. One old man gave us a feed. Lady donated a load of bread. Truck driver behind us was delivering scones on Wed­nesday. We learned the best songs. We got onion pie, carrot cake, pop­corn, iced tea, pop­corn and iced tea. The owner of the truck told us there were a lot of terrible people in the world.

We got a total of 40 letters today. The witch must’ve felt guilty. I got the “Kelly Bakery” secret brown bread recipe. With red marks on them do NOT mean the same as the original sweaters. I got a real sheep-skin jacket for free.

Going apple picking tomorrow in “I’m on a long road, maybe the wrong road.” Wild cows graze in the public park. “On the road to God knows where.” Every town, no matter how tiny has at least two pubs. Our old bus driver miss­es us. He was so friendly. Two guys wanted to know why M.A.’s trous­ers are so short . . . and she thought Bermuda’s were in style! Trinity College has great scones. “Black pudding” is not jol­d-bread. It’s tinned mixed with pigs’ feet brown. Mmm.

Did we tell you we kissed the blarney stone? And never believe an Irish guy ‘cos they’re full of it. We saw the Book of Kells. Laundry time again. Do you think pop­corn “smells up the whole house”? So many people smoke here. Horseback riding in Wexford was really wonderful. How come the Irish had to face many difficul­ties? Everyone in Ireland loves corn flakes. Every­thing. My boys work great. Aim is running out quickly. I can’t believe I’m sure I have a friend in the blarney. Do we know Sadat? We told Desi how his dad had sent us to his stables while we were in Egypt. His dad has been dead seven months. We tracked tons of mud in the house one night and we threw it out the bathroom window. We thought we were so smart. Mrs. Frew found it, the Puss. But I’m growing a beard while I’m here. Our new nickname is “Crazy Ladys.” Did you ever years for any xmas? Our sugar income has really taken us under the wing—Martin is so lucky to have them.

I could go for a bagel right now. Is it true that bikinis aren’t allowed in the new pool? Great! We’re used to skinny-dipping. Our picture taken by some fantastic ostrich impressions. The fire is great. The after­noon festival began. We all went to the movies. Our address is: Rathfarnham, Dublin 14, Ireland. Phone: 980700.

DON’T BE SCARED! The Cowl

accepts Editorial­ls From All Students!

Please submit, and in­clude your REAL Name and Number, or else it can’t be published.

FBI (continued from Page

"Official national security int­elligence:" "In other words, they had no business in­vading me or asking to see the file once I had requested it. However, if they were collecting other sub­versive things in my FBI file: a newspaper announce­ment of the birth of my first child, the information that my father-in­law, a New York lawyer, had visited his first grandson, a statement by my neighbor saying that I was a patriotic citizen, the fact that I resigned one job to take another."

I’m almost embarrassed by my dossier. I never did anything exciting, and I have one of the most boring files in the history of the FBI. But it was wrong for the FBI to watch me in the first place, and it was wrong for them to attempt to keep me from seeing the file without proper cause. For the latter attempt the government has had to pay thousands of dollars in legal fees ever since my case was closed, plus fees of my lawyer. When a judge finds that a citizen has prevailed in a suit under the Privacy Act, he may order the government to pay all the legal fees. This is what happened in my case.

In the last few years, we’ve learned about the extensive and outrageous spying by the FBI, that has gone beyond all bounds of legality and reason. College and university campuses, where freedom of speech and thought has been sacred, have not been exempt from this snooping. We have been living with the police state, the kind of organization that neo-con­ervative militarists, with totalitarianism. Nothing short of the elimination of the FBI or its total statutory overhaul can be adequate to restore our confidence in our freedom of privacy.
Features

'R84 Initiative

Rosalini Trip a Success

By Judy McNamara and Jim Spellissy

This past Saturday evening the class officers and representatives of the Class of 1984 sponsored an exciting trip to Rosalini's in Stonington, Connecticut. The idea was first initiated in the minds of Pat Conley, vice president, and Jay Sullivan, a representative. Jay Conley, vice president, and Jay initiated in the minds of Pat Connecticut. The idea was first Rosalini's in Stonington, Con­ sponsored an exciting trip to\n suggested five buses and gave\n full support. And five buses it was. At about 7 p.m. Saturday, 215 sophomores\n departed on one of the "most memorable" road trips ever. It took about 45 minutes to get there and the anticipation was evidenced along the way. It was fun to be legal for a night. The band "Hot Head Slater" provided loud, rowdy rock 'n roll entertainment. The owner provided free drafts to PC students from 8-9. The bar is similar to Center Stage and holds about 1,900 people.

The typical antics that go along with a bar ride, beer and college students were prevalent that night. Five buses pulled off 95 from a pit stop and one got lost. There were a few less students on the return trip than there were on the way down. As Pat and Jay would say, "Everyone enjoyed themselves to the max."

The Class of '84 put out a great effort to organize and carry out a superb social event for the primary benefit of the members of their class. They have definite plans to return in the future because of the atmosphere, location and price. Everything was done within the limits of the law and Rosalini's await their return. Nice going '84 for your creativity and originality.

Napoleon a Hit

By Ray Marcaccione

From Oct. 24, 1983, through Jan.\n
1. Abel Gance's Napoleon appeared at the Ocean State. Many of the ads for this film told how magnificent the movie is. I was hesitant to believe that the film could be titled a "masterpiece" in comparison to modern day cinema. So I went to see the Saturday night performance with a slight wariness of being attracted to another film by an excellent advertisement for a poorly created film. It was within the first 10 minutes of the movie that I realized the ads were an understatement.

I think to appreciate the creativity of Abel Gance one should consider some of the filming techniques he used. While the German studios were experimenting with filming on wheels, Gance was producing very realistic film by strapping a camera on the backs of horses, suspending them on overhead wires, and mounting them on pendulums to reproduce the motion of ocean waves. He even placed cameras in cannons to vividly portray the effects of artillery warfare.

All of these innovations earned Gance's place in cinema history, but none compare with his invention of the Tryptichs — the presentation of three films on three screens simultaneously. Gance said that of the three simultaneous screens, the theme of the film is presented on the central screen while the side screens create a type of poetry about the theme. Much of the Tryptichs scenes have been lost or destroyed over the years, but during the last 20 minutes of the film this triple screen process anticipated Cinemarks by 30 years.

Gance's ingenious techniques produced some of the most memorable scenes in the history of film. In one such scene, the leaders of the French Revolution — Danton, Robespierre, and Marat — met at the Club des Cordeliers. A young officer of the Rhine Army, Rouget de Lisle, presents the revolutionary song "La Moriselle" to the large crowds of people gathered at the Club. As de Lisle sings this song, a strong breeze blows the revolutionary flag placed behind him into a wind. The noise with excitement, the young officer's clothes and the flag begin to intermingle in the wind. Soon the flag and officer are united into one frenzied mesh of cloth. At this point, the audience at the Ocean State applauded after experiencing one of the best scenes created in cinema.

Part of Gance's genius is his use of filming techniques also. While filming the scene where Napoleon united with his family at Corsica.

An amazing two record set with a free live performance poster.

IT'SNAZ. ON AN ALBUM AND ON TOUR ALL OVER AMERICA STARTING OCTOBER 14TH.

IT'SNAZ. LIVE. ON A&M RECORDS & TAPES.

SEE NAZARETH LIVE IN CONCERT ON NOVEMBER 3 AT THE PERFORMING ARTS CENTER
Thoughts While Shaving
By S.J.J. (Veg) McGuire

"What's in a name? that which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet."

Romeo and Juliet, Act 2, Scene 2

Oh, Romeo, your thoughts while contemplating a Capulet mark me as "Briorgo," while shaving! I have been shaving and have been thinking about names. Because in no way agree with Master Montague, I have wracked my brains for a way to incorporate the newly designated "original order of names" image with the little of this by-line "Thoughts While Net Shaving" (and in small letters) my head did not seem appropriate or particularly attractive, hence, I am forced to resort to the traditional title of this column. In any case out to any label, I have been shaving and I have been pondering upon some names.

Who, among all my enlightened readers, is aware that over half of the males born in Lisbon hospitals in the year 1980 were designated "Briorgo." Not to become a grave mistake, however, for a name is an article of clothing one wears, a weapon, a trade mark, a beauty mark, a blessing or a curse. Can you imagine the fate of these Lisbon boys in elementary school? They can look forward to one downfall; they might become a paving stone, anxiety, favoritism, injustice. Some will be ignored; some will steal credit for some who are great, some who are small. Some will wreak havoc, jealousy and bitterness, some will look forward to confusion and havoc, jealousy and bitterness, some will be ignored; some will steal credit from others. Those who are small will feel like he is a "hand without a chest" or that something could only belong to an unhappy party goer...

I thought I would wish you exactly what a "coke" was to the student that so wonderfully stimulating beverage whose muddy nectar means more to my circulation system each more than blood. This could only be a presumptuous; she looked like an intelligent U.S. girl, which means that she at least have seen an ad for Maxwell House during General Electric's order a coke and forced myself to enjoy.

Names are tools, tools which should be sharpened and properly applied for best results. Applications for graduation schools, for those who wish to hide from reality a few more months, Irish names, male names, "strong" names, nickname, and "different" names. There were many reasons for my choice, mostly irrational. A rose always smells sweeter than a Hibiscus malvaaceae, and a Solomon or a Lance is always victorious over a Wendell or a Bruce in a fist-fight.

Be it known to all that it is very difficult for a "Sullivan" or an "O'Shea" to be deferred to admission to Providence College. The length of a name is also a factor not to be forgotten. In American presidential elections, except for three times, the candidate with the longer name has been successful. (It is obvious that the Anderson loss is an anomaly, and we have seen discover the horrendous con-sequences of our failure to count the letters in a candidate's name on an election ballot.)

Dear R&P, I met this guy last weekend and we have gone on a couple of dates. Now I have decided that I don't really like him at all. Sunday night he came to see me and confronted me with the situation. Here's where I really goofed up! I told him that I did like him and I didn't know whether he got the impression that I didn't. Now I'm really stuck. How can I get rid of him when I led him on so? Help quick!

Dumpling Dilemma

Dear Dumping,
The best way to handle this situation is to be honest with the guy and tell him the truth. Tell him you like him but right now you just want to be friends. I don't think you should just dump him, just tell him you don't want to get serious right now.

R&P

Dear R&P,
I met this guy last weekend and we have gone on a couple of dates. Now I have decided that I don't really like him at all. Sunday night he came to see me and confronted me with the situation. Here's where I really goofed up! I told him that I did like him and I didn't know whether he got the impression that I didn't. Now I'm really stuck. How can I get rid of him when I led him on so? Help quick!

Dumpling Dilemma

Dear Dumping,
The best way to handle this situation is to be honest with the guy and tell him the truth. Tell him you like him but right now you just want to be friends. I don't think you should just dump him, just tell him you don't want to get serious right now.

R&P

Dear R&P,
I met this guy last weekend and we have gone on a couple of dates. Now I have decided that I don't really like him at all. Sunday night he came to see me and confronted me with the situation. Here's where I really goofed up! I told him that I did like him and I didn't know whether he got the impression that I didn't. Now I'm really stuck. How can I get rid of him when I led him on so? Help quick!

Dumpling Dilemma

Dear Dumping,
The best way to handle this situation is to be honest with the guy and tell him the truth. Tell him you like him but right now you just want to be friends. I don't think you should just dump him, just tell him you don't want to get serious right now.

R&P

Dear R&P,
I met this guy last weekend and we have gone on a couple of dates. Now I have decided that I don't really like him at all. Sunday night he came to see me and confronted me with the situation. Here's where I really goofed up! I told him that I did like him and I didn't know whether he got the impression that I didn't. Now I'm really stuck. How can I get rid of him when I led him on so? Help quick!

Dumpling Dilemma

Dear Dumping,
The best way to handle this situation is to be honest with the guy and tell him the truth. Tell him you like him but right now you just want to be friends. I don't think you should just dump him, just tell him you don't want to get serious right now.

R&P

Dear R&P,
I met this guy last weekend and we have gone on a couple of dates. Now I have decided that I don't really like him at all. Sunday night he came to see me and confronted me with the situation. Here's where I really goofed up! I told him that I did like him and I didn't know whether he got the impression that I didn't. Now I'm really stuck. How can I get rid of him when I led him on so? Help quick!

Dumpling Dilemma

Dear Dumping,
The best way to handle this situation is to be honest with the guy and tell him the truth. Tell him you like him but right now you just want to be friends. I don't think you should just dump him, just tell him you don't want to get serious right now.

R&P

Dear R&P,
I met this guy last weekend and we have gone on a couple of dates. Now I have decided that I don't really like him at all. Sunday night he came to see me and confronted me with the situation. Here's where I really goofed up! I told him that I did like him and I didn't know whether he got the impression that I didn't. Now I'm really stuck. How can I get rid of him when I led him on so? Help quick!

Dumpling Dilemma

Dear Dumping,
The best way to handle this situation is to be honest with the guy and tell him the truth. Tell him you like him but right now you just want to be friends. I don't think you should just dump him, just tell him you don't want to get serious right now.

R&P
Egypt at '64 Hall
By Sue Robertson

Did you know that according to legends, the reason the nose is missing on the Sphinx is because Napoleon used it for target practice?

Last Monday evening the Board of Student Activities lecture committee brought the culture and tradition of the Nile to "64 Hall with the help of PC senior Daria Castiglione. Miss Castiglione, an anthropology major, is part of her junior year in Cairo where she is studying Egyptian and modern Egypt.

In addition to recommending that one should never believe any statement about camels other than that they are beautiful, friendly, and fast, Miss Castiglione warned her audience never to use the term "travel" when describing an Egyptian experience. She then went on to present a new awareness of that nation that lies on the same latitude as Phoenix, Arizona, is nameless.

The main focus of the lecture was on Cairo, the location of two unique lifestyles. The urban mixed with the village is the way of life for 12 to 13 million people. The modern section of Cairo is like most big cities: crowded, dirty, busy with traffic, etc. A good deal of the city is a poor section where there is no fertile land. Due to the barren land, the Nile is of vital importance and the peasants must face hard times. In spite of poverty, Miss Castiglione noted, the people are warm and friendly.

Egypt may have over 80 pyramids and a fascinating history coated with riches. One of the most valuable experiences was reaching an understanding of cultural relativities. When first going to another culture, one experiences culture shock. There are three phases: the tourist phase, being overwhelmed and getting over a feeling of guilt. After this Initial sighting, one understands the "whys" and "hows" that go with it, depression sets in. Culture shock is over when one grows to realize that American standards cannot be applied anywhere. One should not feel guilty or ponder about having perhaps a "better life." The best thing to do is to realize what you have to offer and make use of your gifts.

For all those planning to travel abroad, keep this in mind, for this understanding will be beneficial throughout your lifetime.

Shakespeare Festival: A Trilogy of Kings

By Michele Grinna

Halloween. The word is defined in Webster's Dictionary as "about for All Hallowes Eve. October 31 observed with festivity and the playing of pranks by children during the evening." Halloween is the eve before All Saints Day and has been celebrated for hundreds of years. Providence College is certainly a fine example of a festive and especially how imaginative Halloween can be. It is absolutely essential to have a costume and if you’ve raised the attic and cellar the last time home and are still costume-less, don’t worry.

For those of us who are not endowed with mothers that save everything or active imaginations, Providence offers some great shops to help us out. The best I’ve heard of for old clothing in good shape and well displayed is Roxy Deluxe, 234 Thayer Street. It is right above Spata Restaurant, next to the bus tunneled. They have a lot of interesting antique clothes and even if you don’t find anything to buy, you’ll walk out there with a head full of good ideas. I went around and found the names of some other prospective shops. Also on the East Side are Pre-Ambles on Hope Street and Hope Antiques which is off Hope Street. Romance in East Providence looks good, too. If worse comes to worst, walk down to Smith Street, there are a couple of shops there that might just be able to cheaply help you out. Like Edwin Vessel.

So put on your thinking cap — you don’t have much time! By Saturday you should have the most original, imaginative costume you can find. Hopefully the shops mentioned will be an aid to you in your search. Do your best to live up to Webster’s definition and have a festive and safe All Hallowes eve!
THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29
TRAVEL COMMITTEE
presents

WHALERS VS. ISLANDERS

AT
HARTFORD CIVIC CENTER
BUS LEAVES AT 5:00 P.M. — TICKETS ARE $12.00
AND ARE ON SALE IN B.O.G. OFFICE

SATURDAY, OCT. 31
SOCIAL COMMITTEE PRESENTS

“HALLOWEEN MIXER”
FROM 9:00-12:30
FEATURING THE BANDS
TANOOSE AND CINEMA
TICKETS ARE $2.00
LIMITED GUEST POLICY
DRINKING POLICY IN EFFECT
COME AS YOUR FAVORITE GOUL!

THURSDAY, OCT. 29
THE FILM COMMITTEE
presents

"THE HOWLING"
IN
’64 HALL
PRICE $1.00
Shows at 7:00 & 9:00 P.M.

SUNDAY, NOV. 1
FILM COMMITTEE
presents

“Seems Like Old Times”
starring
CHEVY CHASE and GOLDIE HAWN
AT
THE LAST RESORT
TICKETS ARE $1.00
SHOWS AT 7:00 & 9:00 P.M.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3
COFFEE HOUSE
FROM 9:30-12:00 P.M.
AT THE LAST RESORT
If you ask "Bear" Bryant, head football coach of the University of Alabama, if he thinks he's going to break the record as the winnigest college football coach in history this year, he'll probably change the subject. Not because he's ducking the subject. He just doesn't like to talk about himself or his successes.

The nickname "Bear" has stuck with him since he was a youngster and was "crazy enough" to wrestle a bear in a movie theatre for money. "The guy never did pay me but I got the nickname and it stuck," the coach said.

"I was just standing there and "Bear" said in his slow Southern drawl, "I'm a very happy man. I'm happy with my job, with the University and to be employed at a football school where we have to set high goals but the players..." he started and then interrupted himself.

"...get in ROTC. The discipline is important," he said. "For anybody," he said. "I think we have potential."

Asked to describe himself, "Bear" Bryant said he was a 35-year-old man on his team who are currently enrolled in Army ROTC. "I think it would be good for anybody," he said.

"Actually there is a relationship between football and the kind of training those young men get in ROTC. The discipline is certainly similar. They learn to work and sacrifice and become leaders, to develop their potential," Bryant said.

He loves working with young people and can sum up what makes a great football player in one word, pride. "Of course they have to love the game and they have to set high goals but the biggest thing is pride.

If "Bama" loses a game, there is just one person the "Bear" will blame himself. Never once to make predictions, he spoke cautiously about the Crimson Tide season. "I think we have potential."

Senior co-captain Oona Mulligan was the first PC runner to finish. "I was just standing there and "Bear" said to me if I wanted to play... I was a big kid... so I said yes. I only had one pair of shoes and those were my good ones, so I had my friend put a pair of shoes on them for me. In those days they didn't supply you with equipment."

Senior Oona Mulligan works the hills during last Saturday's Big-East meet. Mulligan was the first PC runner to finish.

"To put it as bluntly as I can," Pell said, "we have to set higher educational standards for our students who participate in any of these programs as College Work-Study, Student Incentive Grants, he said, could well mean that 350,000 students who participate in one or more of these programs would be eliminated."

"The regular government programs would be the paramount concern: Education will be lost in the quagmire of fiscal and monetary policy."

"Beyond the question of the department, there is the very crucial matter of funding for higher education," Pell said. "There is strong evidence that the Administration seeks a considerably diminished Federal role in education."

Drawing his examples from major higher education programs, Pell cautioned that the potential loss in Higher Education Funds, including Guaranteed Student Loans (GSL), "would well reach $2.5 billion under the Administration's proposals."
Begley Arena Court No. 3

Location

Peterson Recreation Center Sports Dedication Festival

Tentative Itinerary

Time

Event

2:00 p.m.

1st set of tennis semi-finals

2:45 p.m.

2nd set of tennis semi-finals

3:00 p.m.

Finals of Wrestling Competition

3:30 p.m.

Start of Aquatics Extramural tournament (a) intramural swimming

(b) diving exhibition (c) New England masters tournament (a) intramural swimming

Peterson Arena Court No. 3

Tennis finals

Awards ceremony in Begley Arena to present winners of all the day’s activities.

Freshman Rich Mulligan strikes through the 3½-mile mark with Jimmy Fallon close behind. Rich placed a very credible tenth.

Hockey Reflection

A Successful Trip

By John Brandsdorin

Can you imagine playing your very first college hockey game 3,000 miles away from home? "Everyone was nervous," comments freshman Jeff Hamilton about the Friar hockey team’s opening road trip to San Diego.

"It’s a big adjustment from going right out of high school," adds Steve Rooney who along with three other Class of ’86 recruits, was drafted by a pro team last year. "Most of us had butterflies, but there were no big problems. Everyone was just ready to play hockey."

The freshmen rookies were impressive in the two-game weekend, even though the Friars returned with a blemished 1-1 record. But it must be understood that Coach Lamorillo used the series to find his strengths and weaknesses. It was no coincidence that more than once he had lines consisting of all freshmen.

A successful road trip! Most people expecting the Friars to dominate would not think so. But to theokies it was a chance for the whole team to organize and get used to working as a unit.

"The upperclassmen were good to us," says Hamilton. "There was a team effort to stay calm and that helped us a lot."

Last year, the Friars were known to come back from road trips with suspended players who had broken Coach Lamorillo’s stringent rules. However, junior defenseman Randy Velischek assures that there was no trouble at all on the West Coast venture.

"There wasn’t much to do. Our hotel was out in the sticks. Most of the players decided to walk around and see the movies. We even went to see an awesome football game!"

The team that PC played -- U.S. International of San Diego -- wants to start hockey flourishing in the West Coast. They are a small, but surprising squad.

U.S. International was featured in The Washington Post in 1980 when they produced a nationally competing team, but they are mainly a novelty in the West where hockey isn’t an important sport.

The school is a bunch of kids," says Tim Farrel, a freshman defender. "The school is a bunch of kids, but they’re very good players."

"The place where we played was called the House of Ice. It was about one half hour out of the city. The ice was bumpy, as expected, but it wasn’t as bad as we thought. In the first game there was a pretty good size crowd, but most were just relatives of the home team players," John Hennesay, the FM also reported that the crowd was somewhat disappointed. But they didn’t have the advantage of knowing what to expect.

As far as performance is concerned, Coach Lou was somewhat disappointed. But maybe the loss should be justified. According to the announcer on Saturday, it was their first game this year and the squad a far from road trip even.

Certainly, when the Friars visit North Dakota this weekend, they’ll be prepared. They will know what to expect.

Rooney characterizes the squad’s positive attitude after a learning experience in San Diego: “We’re all looking forward to a great year, and all the other road trips!”

Harriers Regain Title

By Chris Lydon

In soccer action last week, the Friars had an easy time as they were victorious over Assumption College and Bentley College.

The Friars began the week away from home as they faced Assumption. Two things turned out well for the Friars: The weather and Assumption’s offensive attack, as they could only force goalie Morris to make four saves.

The Friars scored both goals, one in each half. Co-captain Tony Conte and Dave Freniere received assists on those goals.

At home on Wednesday afternoon, the Friar’s victim was Bentley. PC carried the play for much of the first half but did not score until John Mulligan put one in with a assist of the beautiful assist by Art Podgurski. This goal came at the 46:20 mark.

The Friars accounted for the supreme ball control of the ball for a great part of the first half. Also adding to Bentley’s problems was the fact that they were forced to remove their first string goalie after he was injured. PC also beat Bentley 5 in the first half.

The Friars came out for the second half the way they played the first half and scored an goal two minutes into the period. Dave Freniere got the tally as a pass was sent him by the playmaker of the afternoon, Art Podgurski.

Meanwhile the great work of the PC defensive alignment kept the Bentley offense at bay. On the scoreboard Morris was occasionally tested in the second half but nothing led to sustained pressure on the PC goal.

Toward the end of the game, the Friars slowed their play as they sat on the two goal lead. Even then Bentley could not keep an offensive attack going. The closest Bentley came to an attack was hitting the post to the left of goalie Morris as the rebound was kicked away.

The Friar’s record is now 7 and 1. They are expected to dominate would not think so. But to theokies it was a chance for the whole team to organize and get used to working as a unit.

"The upperclassmen were good to us," says Hamilton. "There was a team effort to stay calm and that helped us a lot."

The Friar’s victim. PC carried the play for much of the first half but did not score until John Mulligan put one in with a assist of the beautiful assist by Art Podgurski. This goal came at the 46:20 mark.

The Friars accounted for the supreme ball control of the ball for a great part of the first half. Also adding to Bentley’s problems was the fact that they were forced to remove their first string goalie after he was injured. PC also beat Bentley 5 in the first half.

The Friars came out for the second half the way they played the first half and scored an goal two minutes into the period. Dave Freniere got the tally as a pass was sent him by the playmaker of the afternoon, Art Podgurski.

Meanwhile the great work of the PC defensive alignment kept the Bentley offense at bay. On the scoreboard Morris was occasionally tested in the second half but nothing led to sustained pressure on the PC goal.

Toward the end of the game, the Friars slowed their play as they sat on the two goal lead. Even then Bentley could not keep an offensive attack going. The closest Bentley came to an attack was hitting the post to the left of goalie Morris as the rebound was kicked away.

The Friar’s record is now 7 and 1. They are expected to