PROVIDENCE COLLEGE'S SOURCE
March 9, 1983

ECAC Friar Hockey Boston Bound

Big East Lady's Hoop Upset by St. John's

Photos by Karen Gwode and Ed Santarpio

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE THEATRE
Adapted by Jim Dale & Frank Dunlop

THE BLACKFRIARS THEATRE
March 4, 6 & 8-11

SAPiNo!
with the master of RASCALITY

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE THEATRE

get high on happiness

8 pm curtain
Reservations 658-2127

S4.00 General Admission
S2.00 Students/Nectar Citizens
Living quarters for Dominicans

Priory To Be Constructed

Citing the ever-increasing need to renovate the Harkins Hall living quarters of the Providence College Dominican Community, the PC Corporation has passed a resolution to construct a new Dominican Priory on campus. Though specifics are still in the planning stage, the new Priory will be located off the main entrance to Harkins Hall, opposite Albertus Magnus. This location, which has always been reserved for a Priory, will appropriately identify the college as being conducted under the auspices of the Dominican Friars.

In making the announcement, the Very Reverend Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., president of the college said, "The idea of having a Priory on campus is not new. In fact, for the past ten years, it has been considered during all phases of the college's overall development plan. Following an established set of priorities, the college in the past has responded to the needs of the student population by upgrading academic facilities, dormitories, and most recently, by building the recreation center and new theatre."

"Now," he continued, "the living quarters of the Dominicans are in dire need of renovations and the college would have to spend a significant amount even to upgrade existing facilities. A new building is necessary, and each year the college delays the new construction will increase significantly the cost of the project," Fr. Peterson remarked.

The primary objective in designing the new Priory is to provide an environment that will enable the Dominican Friars to live together as a religious community. Preliminary plans call for the building to provide living quarters for approximately 5 Dominicans. It will also include a chapel, which will enable the entire college community to participate in the liturgical life of the Dominicans, a refectory and a common recreation room.

Father Peterson noted that while the Priory would house many Dominicans, the commitment of the Fathers and Brothers to be available to students in the dormitories will continue, as it always has. There would always be a Dominican present in the dormitories of the campus," he assured.

"There has always been a great need for a Dominican Priory building on campus that would serve as a residence. We hope that it will become a reality in the not too distant future," he concluded.

Faculty Survey News

By Lisa Reagan

Faculty Survey Committee

Survey time is soon approaching (March 15-16). To help speed the survey process within the classroom, this year's survey is being published so that the students will have an opportunity to review the questions and begin to think about their answers.

It is impossible to survey all of our courses or classes in a three day period. To lessen the course load it has been decided that the following classes will not be surveyed:

Western Civ (6 courses are usually surveyed at the end of each year and the Civ. teams tend to change from year to year), staff and team taught courses, research courses, and in some cases, courses with less than five students in the class.

This is simply a time problem.

The Blackfriars Theatre

OPEN AUDITIONS

STRIDER—The Story of a Horse

A PLAY WITH MUSIC—Based on a story by Leo Tolstoy

WHEN: Monday, March 7 and Tuesday, March 8

Auditions will consist of reading from the script.

Time: 7:00 p.m. Place: The Blackfriars Theatre

OPEN AUDITIONS

#1 on the Ballot

JOE CORRADINO

Student Congress Treasurer

#1 on the Ballot

Elect Joe Corradino
BOP Watch

St. Paddy's Day trip

By Maureen McGuire

At a March 3 meeting of the Board of Programmers several new issues were discussed. Among these a March 19 variety show, by the Knights of Columbus was unanimously accepted and granted the use of 64 Hall.

Sharon Walsh, representing the Providence College Big Brothers, Big Sisters division, proposed a March 19 Trivia Night. This event was also successfully approved by the Board and will also be held in 64 Hall. Sharon Walsh, the purpose of the event is to "show what a thriving organization" the Big Brothers, Big Sisters is to the Providence College Community. Lauren O'Day, Glover and Robertson, co-chairpersons of the event, also presented the newness pointed out with the Board's approval their "How to Achieve Financial Independence with Minimum Capital Flow" by Joseph Steckler. This proposal would have cost the Board $5,000. Yet the Board seemed to have anticipated this lecture and financial seminars held by the counseling center, and voted against it by a count of one favorable vote, four objections and five abstentions. Said Miss Glennon, "They want names, and names want $7500. That's less than a 'budget'."

In other areas, Emmet Binner of the Travel Committee presented plans for a Saint Patrick's Day trip to New York City. The cost of this event on the 17th, will be $10 and all buses, (depending on demand) will leave at 6 a.m. and return by 7 p.m. (just in time for the mixer). Treasurer Marie Demers announced that Spring Budgets will be available for each committee by next week so that plans may further develop.

Class of '84 Commencement Care Committee, Seated (r) Steve Yank, Tom McLaughlin, Scott Masselelle and Tony Kerbit, Standing (l-t) Lori Stiecher, Michelle Griffin, Janet Gray, Kerry Reilly and Cindy Sampson. (Photo by Claire Cerni)

CONGRESS, continued from page 2

two terms and has worked on the Activity Fee Committee. Currando feels that "the office of treasurer is an important one. It requires an ability to use sound judgement and discretion in the allocation of student funds. I would like to see more student involvement in the allocation process, however, with regard to the big budget organizations. I would like to increase class funding particularly to the Juniors and Seniors. I feel that my experience and goals are consistent with the office of treasurer."

Also running for treasurer is the class of '84 treasurer, Sue Sullivan. A management major from Chatham, Ma. she has served on Congress for three terms, one of these as class representative. She has been on the Congress Finance Committee for two terms. Sullivan states that "my experience and hard work will help me be an effective treasurer. The challenge of working with the financing of Junior Ring Weekend has prepared me for the duties of Executive Committee. I would like to see a reevaluation of the allocation process, which to me makes it fair for all students, possibly using a percentage basis to determine club need."

There are two candidates running for secretary Cathy Jahn '84 is an English major from Cresswell, Ct. She was the Cornwall Club Chairperson for the class of '84's Junior Ring Weekend and has been a member of the Cowl Editorial Board for two years. Cathy stated that "for the past two years I have been closely involved with the PC Student Congress and I feel that I have an offer to the way of leadership; enthusiasm and organization. I feel that the coming year will be key to the growth and progress of PC in the future, for there is quite a variety of issues to be addressed here. I would like to serve as secretary in order to work on certain social, academic and service oriented problems."

Dave Preston, '84 is also running for secretary. An English major from Warwick, Rl. Dave is a State House page and a writer for the newspaper. Preston feels that "I am somewhat of a Congreess outsider and could lend a different and fresh perspective to the Executive Board. Change is needed and I have what it takes to be effective. I'd like to make available methods of solving the drinking age problem instead of having a divided campus."

The Jazz concert is free and open to the public. The Central RI Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) is organizing a CR (Consciousness Raising) Group starting the week of April 11. A demonstration meeting will be held Wednesday, March 23, (7:30) at the Sarah Doyle Center, Meeting Street on the East Side in Providence. For more information or to indicate an interest, call 222-2550 or write in care of Box 2633, Providence, RI 02906.

PC has been notified by the Department of Health that a Nine-Day Measles epidemic is headed this way from the State of Indiana. This type of measles is very serious and not to be confused with the German Measles. The infirmary wishes to alert all students if you have been in contact with anyone from the following colleges you should contact your physician or the Department of Health:

- Indiana State College
- University of Indiana
- Purdue University
- Butler University

Most students may have received the measles vaccine as infants, however, anyone who has not should be concerned. Should the measles come in our state the Department of Health will give the vaccine free of charge.

POINTS OF INTEREST

By Maureen McGuire

BY MAUREEN McGuire

APARTMENT FOR RENT

Eaton Street Area
$250 a month
Utilities extra, semi furnished w/2 bdrms.

Call
434-3409

APARTMENTS AVAILABLE

47 & 49 EATON
2 bedroom, $310 per mon.
Gas heat

45 & 47 PEMBROKE
2 bedroom, $360 mon.
Gas heat

9 & 11 PEMBROKE
3 bedroom, $370 mon.

59 & 61 PINEHURST
1st & 2nd Floor
2 bedrooms each floor
$380 per month each

CATHY JAHN
Student Congress Secretary

Remember Friday to vote for the team that will get things done.

Nancy Ragosta for V.P. and JoAnn Mahoney for Treasurer in the Dillon Club Elections

Coming to PC April 2nd

Stroh Beer Kegs
Call 861-6434
For Details Ask for Collin

Dillon Club: Elections on Friday

The Dillon Club will be holding elections for officers on Friday March 11. Voting will be held in lower Slavin.

Vying for the position of president are Michelle Love, '84, current Dillon Club secretary, and Michael Palumbo, '84. In the race for vice president are Nancy Ragosta, '84, current Dillon Club social chairperson, and Eddie Caputo, '84.

Two freshmen, Pam Borges and Dot Zambarano, are competing for the post of secretary. Running for treasurer are John Mahoney, '84, and Ken Karcher '84. Peggy Flagg is unopposed for social chairperson.

All Dillon Club members are encouraged to vote this Friday.
Libraries miss "Mrs."

Security slackening

Dear Editor,

I am writing this letter in response to the articles in the Providence Journal and the PC campus paper The Cowl. I was asked to respond to the statements made and cartoons in the Cowl. I am quite surprised and much annoyed when I read them.

In an attempt to be studious, I'm not out to start a feminist riot, but I don't think the issue should be overlooked. Whatever happened to good old justice? To Mrs. Langieri, who now works the front gate, I can only say it is a shame they can't hear you say: "ahh, this isn't a mixer!"

Yours truly,

Joseph D. Wiskel
Complimentary Remarks

Mr. Fay, for you to write a letter to the editor with a personal opinion, but you careless­ly leave yourself open for due criticism.

Respectfully,

Lisa Hamel, '83

---

"Change is definitely needed...

Problems to be addressed

By Ted Hodkinson

I would like to begin this com­mentary with a quote from a staff of The Cowl for their fine ar­ticles in the Feb, 9 issue which dealt with the pros and cons of a drinking dilemma. Hopefully, the administration will respond to these proposals in a reasonable manner. A discussion involving the Providence College community, a school at which you are paying a premium price for and have for too long, is definitely not ap­parently not your overwhelming dilemma. Your letters to the editor flow through your letter, a letter which I might add encouraged me to take to my pen.

You see, whilst you have numerous letters and reports about various organizations here, both academic and social in nature, you yourself lack the enthusiasm, zeal and "confidence in change" here. You seem like it's the 60's, a young rebel without a cause, and one with no solution. Why don't you propose for change? Nothing. It is one thing, Mr. Fay, for you to write a letter to the editor with a personal opinion, but you careless­ly leave yourself open for due criticism.

Judy McNamara responded to your letter point by point with what I feel is a general and fair com­mentary by praising the Editorial staff of The Cowl for their fine ar­ticles going through the Propositions and healthy discussions regarding issues. Many non-drinkers at Pro­vidence College maintain that there are virtues and values in not drinking or which do not involve drinking. Mr. Fay, you have failed, failed miserably. Any food can get on a soap box as a platform for his/her opinion, but the dif­ference between the fool and the wise person is that he/she has a directive, a plan or a solution to remedy the problem they rant and rave about. You merely rant and rave.

Providence College is an institu­tion with the integrity and vigor of any comparable college in the na­tion. Will you attempt to speak for all schools? Perhaps the apathy you are referring to is a reflection of the times. Our national spirit has not been ignited with the rage and fury reminiscent during the 60's and ear­lier. Mr. Fay, I've never seen a person of your caliber talk so much and say so little. Your comments, I am sure, are referring to yourself; "an unfortunate waste of time".

Respectfully,

Lisa Hamel, '83

---

By James Fay

Last November a drastic change in the political political scene occurred. Massachusetts Senator Edward M. Kennedy announced he would not be a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomin­ation in 1984. This opened the door for an alarming number of presidential candidates to enter the race.

Former Vice President Walter Mondale entered from the pack as Kennedy's successor as the fron­tier runner. Other names include Sen. John Glenn, Sen. Alan Cranston, Sen. Ernest Hollings, Sen. Gary Hart, and former Florida governor Reubin Askew.

Many Americans, both Republicans and Democrats would like to see the Democrats present a viable alternative to Ronald Reagan and George Bush in 1984. Yet, we see no hope among the announced Democratic candidates. None of the candidates stir any kind of emotion among the people. The 1980's is a time when fresh leadership is needed — America knows it, but the Democrats seem to be avoiding it.

As time passes, the nomination seems to be falling into the hands of Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynahan for the'80s generation. Sen. Kennedy may not be a candidate in '84 from his home state of New York. As many, Moynahan is the man who can lead without being attached to the New Deal, yet for the big spending ideology. Although he is somewhat liberal, he shows a pragmatic bent that is attractive to many moderates.

It is interesting the party that nominated William Jenn­ings Bryan for the presidency three times to have the boldness to meet the challenge of the 80's. Mondale, it seems, would be the right man to lead the party in a national election.

John Glenn is a possible alter­native to Mondale. Glenn represents the newer generation of Senators and Representatives who come to Washington for Mondale's "rhetoric of the New Deal." However, most experts feel Glenn does not carry the proper in­telligence baggage necessary for the Presidency.

Kennedy was, in the past decade, is that there seems to be a growing number of Americans interested in New York Senator Daniel Patrick Moynahan. An eloquent man with a brilliance that is particularly common on Capitol Hill, Moynahan has been mentioned as the future democratic presidential standard bearer, replacing Sen. Kennedy. Moynahan, 55, served under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson as labor advisor from 1961-1966. He then taught at Harvard. He served as a special advisor to Presi­dent Nixon and as ambassador to India from 1973 to 1975. He serv­ed as the US ambassador to the UN in 1975 and 1976. In 1977 Moynahan took his seat in the Senate and was reelected in 1982 with the largest number of votes of any candidate in the country.

Moynahan is an old time liberal who espouses already failed methods for dealing with today's complex problems. If Mondale names Moynahan, the Democrats would merely postpone the inevitable task of finding fresh ideas for a new generation. They can lead without being attached to the New Deal.
Scapino Review: Energy without an end

by Judy A. McNamara

If a quiet night at the theatre, where you can sit back and relax, is what you seek, PC's production of "Scapino" in the Blackfriars Theatre is not the thing to see. If three strokes slapstick, absurd action and exaggerated comedy is what you seek, then "Scapino" is the play for you. After all, "Scapino" is meant to be a farce, and that it is.

The problem with the play is that the actors are more concerned with audience interaction than they are with the play itself. On Saturday night, March 8, it didn't work. Maybe the audience had a rough weekend and they felt no more like stamping their feet or screaming "What the heck is going on here?" than they wished to be hit with a shaving cream pie. Front row audience members clenched their seats for fear of being literally scooped up into the action.

The play is set in Federal Hill in Providence. The time is the present. Yet "Scapino" does not carry the audience into its setting. The viewer is constantly aware that he is sitting in a theatre watching what is supposed to be entertaining.

Scapino, himself, a lovable rogue, is depicted with festal and vitality by Joseph Henderson. Decol and trickery equal talent and hard work for Scapino. He is the master manipulator, and the perfect con-artist. John Powers as Carlo, the wino and peddler of shoe shines and ice cream, is a happy drunk that one can be saved if you play your cards right. Strenuous work comes of Scapino, himself, a loveable character. As for the romantic conflict in the play; it's just too corny to stomach. Even though the play is a 300-year comedy that is an adaptation of Moliere, something is missing in all that tradition. The cast should be given a lot of credit for all the energy they exerted during the performance. There certainly wasn't a dull moment in "Scapino." If someone wasn't being hit over the head with a sausage they were picking themselves up from a tumble. Yet I didn't enjoy myself. I left with a headache and a craving for some peace and quiet.

It's All in Good Humor

By Jane McAlpine

The Fine Art of Sleeping: How to Live Without It

Great advice! I found out that there's one thing that I seriously lack when I'm at school: sleep. And I realized that half of the PC population must be walking around dead, because as God and the Dominican fathers know, college is no place to sleep.

Take the 8:30 a.m. class, I really must extend my sympathy to the professor with early morning classes. Here he is, with about three stacked styrofoam cups (coffee's the quicker-picker-upper) trying to get themselves into gear, when he looks up from the board to find 25 glassy-eyed students writing chicken-scratch in their notebooks. It's depressing.

I think a traditional practice after the calling of the roster should be the distribution of toothpicks for those drooping lids. Or how about shock treatment?

But let's keep in mind, it's not easy for the student, either! It's 8:00 Bob has science at 8:30. Quick to the showers! Bob stumble down the hall with his towel, shampoo and soap and gets to work.

By 8:20, he's shaved, shaved face dotted with so much tissue he practically needs a transfusion.

At 8:21 he runs a comb through his old rat's nest so he's looking dapper for that early class. He carries himself with the high clogs and size five Sasoons.

At 8:22 he's pulling on the jacket, pausing only momentarily to curse the sleeve that's inside out.

By 8:23 Bob's out the door and bolting to Albertus Magnus. For Brendan Quin, the trek would be a breeze. However, Bob's not one who would come to get a break. Bob rings in the door, knocking down the shelves and floor lamp. Bob tells the professor that his Wheaties. Over vacation, I found out that half of that distance would be, "Uh, uh .. I don't know.

"I asked if you think the distance from the sun to the earth has anything to do with the distance of the celestial constellations from galactic hyper-space, and if so, what the ratio of that distance would be?"

"Uh-yeah, sure, I think they could have a connection. "Oh, why?"

"Uh-er .. uh, I don't know."

"I asked Bob. He should have had his Wheaties. Oh well, whether it's your roommates, the professor or you down the hall, a prank phone call, friends who decide to visit after the stroke of partials, caffeine, nervous tension or the homework that refuses to get done, here's hoping that you can get some sleep.

Sleep. You can live without it, but let's face it — the best zombies are in the movies.
Animation exhibit

What's up Doc?

By Colleen Vigneaux

For those of you who still watch Saturday morning cartoons, and are just a bit curious as to how these bits of true entertainment are made, you will get to take a little closer look. On Thursday and Friday, the BOP will be sponsoring a visit by the Gallery Lainzberg in lower Slavin. More than 250 unique and often humorous cel paintings of familiar characters, like Bugs Bunny or Daffy Duck, will be the subject of a special sale and exhibit.

Animation cel paintings are the actual paintings filmed in making animated cartoons. Each character is painted by hand on a clear sheet of acetate then photographed, one frame at a time, to create the illusion of the cartoon characters in motion.

Did you realize that an animated cartoon character is painted by hand on a clear sheet of acetate then exhibited. The com­pany buys the cels from the cartoon characters in motion.

By V. Chwoyk

Midterms getting you down? All those exams, research papers, and computer programs are now all due on the same day! There seems to be only two weeks when a student wonders, "will I survive?" and without a doubt they are the weeks of midterms and finals. Professors never cease to amass students by placing their exams and major assignments due on the exact same day as other professors. Why does this unlikely phenomenon always occur?

There may not be a way to solve this sleepless, nerve racking experience of midterms, but there is a reward that each and every one of you deserve at the end of this week. What is this marvelous, incredible, edible delight that will tempt your taste buds with heavenly sweetness? How does a fluffy chocolate cream pie sound? Like a lot of things, it's delicious! There seems to be only two weeks when a student wonders, "will I survive?" and without a doubt they are the weeks of midterms and finals. Professors never cease to amass students by placing their exams and major assignments due on the exact same day as other professors. Why does this unlikely phenomenon always occur?

There may not be a way to solve this sleepless, nerve racking experience of midterms, but there is a reward that each and every one of you deserve at the end of this week. What is this marvelous, incredible, edible delight that will tempt your taste buds with heavenly sweetness? How does a fluffy chocolate cream pie sound? Like a lot of things, it's delicious!

Sue Sullivan

Coconut Dream Pie

2 envelopes whipped topping mix (Dream Whip preferred)
- 2 and 3-4 cups cold milk
- 1 pkg. (4 oz.) German sweet chocolate
- 1-3 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese, soft
- 1 8 oz. container non-dairy whipped topping, thawed
- 1 graham cracker crumb crust
- Heat chocolate and two tablespoons of the milk in a saucepan over low heat, stirring until chocolate is melted. Beat sugar into cream cheese; add remaining milk and chocolate mixture and beat until smooth. Fold in whipped topping, blending until smooth. Spoon into crust. Freeze until firm. (4 hours) Garnish with chocolate curls if desired. Store any left­over pie in freezer.

Coconut Dream Pie

2 envelopes whipped topping mix (Dream Whip preferred)
- 2 and 3-4 cups cold milk
- 1 tsp. rum flavoring
- 1 graham cracker crumb crust
- Heat chocolate and two tablespoons of the milk in a saucepan over low heat, stirring until chocolate is melted. Beat sugar into cream cheese; add remaining milk and chocolate mixture and beat until smooth. Fold in whipped topping, blending until smooth. Spoon into crust. Freeze until firm. (4 hours) Garnish with chocolate curls if desired. Store any left­over pie in freezer.

Creamy Fudge Pie

1-4 cup butter or margarine
- 3-4 cup brown sugar packed
- 3 eggs
- 2x or 4x (2x) cups semi sweet real chocolates pieces
- 1 tbsp. instant coffee
- 1 tbsp. rum flavoring
- 1-4 cup all purpose flour
- 1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
- 9-inch unbaked pastry shell
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 2 tbsp. chopped maraschino cherries
- Cream butter with brown sugar; add eggs, one at a time, beating well. Beat all ingredients together, add to batter over chocolate mixture in a mixing bowl. Blend until creamy mixed with coffee and cream flavoring. Stir in flour and walnuts. Pour into pie shell. Bake at 375 degrees for 25 minutes. Cool. Whip cream stiff, fold in cherries. Spread on top of pie and refrigerate.

Creamy Fudge Pie

1-4 cup butter or margarine
- 3-4 cup brown sugar packed
- 3 eggs
- 2x or 4x (2x) cups semi sweet real chocolate pieces
- 1 tbsp. instant coffee
- 1 tbsp. rum flavoring
- 1-4 cup all purpose flour
- 1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
- 9-inch unbaked pastry shell
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 2 tbsp. chopped maraschino cherries
- Cream butter with brown sugar; add eggs, one at a time, beating well. Beat all ingredients together, add to batter over chocolate mixture in a mixing bowl. Blend until creamy mixed with coffee and cream flavoring. Stir in flour and walnuts. Pour into pie shell. Bake at 375 degrees for 25 minutes. Cool. Whip cream stiff, fold in cherries. Spread on top of pie and refrigerate.
Tired Tale of a Tenant

By Michele Griffin

Directions for simulated tornado scene in one's apartment, ingredients and steps as follows:

Four (4) roommates
Five (5) duffle bags in various degrees of emptiness.
Assorted bottles, sleeping bags, pillows and stuff hanging around.

Take four roommates, mix three of them with case and/or keg of beer added to case of beer four friends from home and one game, disc or chug-a-lug, and the tornado is born. Between various stages of inebriation bodies begin piling about one's livingroom and dishes piling in the vicinity of the sink. Violent a tornado scene is attained.

Now that you are totally confused, the above typically describes the absolutely fabulous weekend that was experienced by my apartment and its occupants. Ten visitors and a hangover later, it ranks highly among most enjoyed weekends. Buds had friends down from home and they comprised the living room occupants for Friday night. It was great.

There were eight people in the house Friday night and ten people Saturday night, and although it did resemble a tornado, it was fun confusion.

What a gorgeous weekend this was! I went up on campus to take a shower (since there was a minimum of hot water at my apartment) and the quad was back to normal. Blasting steroes, frisbee, sunbathers — and the weatherman said it was only 48 degrees Saturday. It felt a lot warmer than that.

Hope the warm weather is here to stay.

And the parties — the hockey games — our fabulous girl's hoop team — how good it is. Boston Garden had better watch out for some vocal (but he's got it polite) fans. Got to love it.

Now our apartment is looking back to normal. The duffle bags are in the cans and on their way home, the blankets are folded back up or on people. And the people have gone back to routine. The monotonous of the real world set in. Back to the library and exams and everything.

Road trip to Boston! (or New York, depending on where your loyalists are). Best of luck to everyone in your end-of-year tournaments this weekend. If you live in an apartment and can’t quite get the right mix for a simulated tornado scene, have another! It seems that the more alcohol you ingest the more dramatic tornadoes are. Good luck! Catch you later —
The Class of 1984 has the pleasure of inviting all students who are interested in participating in the commencement exercises of the Class of 1983.

Meals and housing will be provided. Sign up in Congress Office.

The Class of '84 is Sponsoring A Trip to Boston, Mass. on Sunday, March 20 to see The New USFL

Boston Breakers vs. Washington (NICKERSON FIELD)

Buses will leave Slavin at 9:00 a.m. for pre-game tailgate party.

Tickets on sale Lower Slavin— Thursday, March 10- Thursday, March 17

Date: April 24th

Tickets go on sale
Monday, March 21st in lower Slavin

The Class of '84 in the spirit of St. Patricks Day will be selling Adhesive Cloth Shamrocks as seen on the jacket collars of many P.C. Irishmen.

Monday, March 14—St. Patricks Day.

Springfest is Coming

For Details Read Next Week's COWL.
Providing to host Racquetball tourney

By Paul Sweeney

The Providence College Racquetball Club team will host a Regional Intercollegiate Championships tourney from March 18 through March 20 at Providence Recreational Center.

The 1983 American Amateur Racquetball Association (AARA) Intercollegiate Regional Championships will begin at 6 p.m. on Friday and conclude at 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Sponsored by Penn, the tournament will draw colleges from every state in New England. Upstate New York will also be represented.

Providence College, University of Massachusetts at Boston, Northeastern University, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and the University of Rhode Island, along with a few of the colleges who will send teams to compete.

Coaches, who are currently 2.0 in Intercollegiate Racquetball, recently defeated both the University of Massachusetts at Boston and Northeastern University.

John Colonetti, president of the Providence College Racquetball Club, wishes to stress that this tourney is open to all who wish to participate.

The $10 entry fee guarantees each participant at least two matches and a complimentary Penn 1/2 to play on the court.

While there is no minimum number of necessary participants in order for a college to compete in the team-level competition, there is a maximum of eight men and four women. Points then will be awarded to each team in accordance with AARA specifications.

Team divisions include Frosh and Senior, Frosh, Junior and Senior, Junior and Senior, Open and Senior, Open and Open Divisions. Scholarship money will be awarded in each division.

Additionally, the winners and runners-up in each division will receive certificates and awards.

The two top teams of the competition will receive travel money for the National Championships which will be held in Tennessee in April. Necessary application forms are now available at the front desk in the Recreation Center.

The Providence College Racquetball Club wishes to express its sincerest thanks to the Providence College Student Congress, Father McGrorey, Lou Lamoriello and Peterson Recreation Center for their help in hosting the tournament.

Kathy Finn was the fifth highest scorer in the conference. (Photo by Chris Caliono)

Kathy Finn: A team worker

By Lisa Caliono

Prior to last weekend’s women’s basketball championship tournament, the PCLady Friars were seeded first in the Big East Conference, boasting an overwhelming 22.5 regular season record.

One reason for the remarkable success of the Lady Friars is Kathy Finn. The five-foot-nine-inch forward finished her season listed as the fifth highest scorer in the conference. Commenting on her own accomplishments, Miss Finn recognizes the importance of team work as well as personal ability. Says Kathy, "No individual player can accomplish too much without the backing of a strong team. This year our team was very strong and that’s why we have done as well as we have this season."

Still, Kathy has to credit a list of honors and achievements that are exclusively hers. During the 1982-83 season alone, she was selected MVP of the Jacob East Championship, which took place at URI on Dec. 28, chosen as one of the All Tournament Team of the PC Invitational from Jan. 14-15, and the Big East All Conference Team. Most recently, Kathy has been selected for the Academic All America Second Team of the University Division Division 2 Team, and is Rhode Island’s Woman Athlete of the Year, an award which was presented to Miss Finn on Sunday, March 6. Aside from these, she currently one of 30 finalists awaiting the announcement of the Wade Trophy, which is presented to the top collegiate player in the country.

It is easy to see from such a list that Kathy is a startlingly excellent player. She enjoys her sport and appreciates all the personal rewards and dreams of success that go along with possessing this ability. When asked about the practice schedule and constant sacrifice, Kathy says, "Sometimes it gets a little frustrating, but in the end it’s all worth it." Kathy also remarked about the Lady Friars’ biggest events: "It is only because of all the girls on our team that we have done as well as we have this year. The turnout at the Big East Tournament was magnificent, very encouraging. It helps when your sixth man scores. The Lady Friars will be returning next season and her dedication will insure a performance that will be as admirable as this past season. Surely, St. John’s and Friar fans alike will look forward to the opportunity of seeing Kathy Finn in action for the 1983-84 season.

St. John’s upsets Lady Friars

The Friars, who are currently 2-0 in the Big East, played an excellent game, as did the Lady Friars. The turning point in the game was a turnover by the Lady Friars on PC’s 70-63 as St. John’s got their revenge in the past weekend’s tournament.

The Friars, who are currently 2-0 in the Big East, played an excellent game, as did the Lady Friars. The turning point in the game was a turnover by the Lady Friars on PC’s 70-63 as St. John’s got their revenge in the past weekend’s tournament.

One reason for the remarkable success of the Lady Friars is Kathy Finn. The five-foot-nine-inch forward finished her season listed as the fifth highest scorer in the conference. Commenting on her own accomplishments, Miss Finn recognizes the importance of team work as well as personal ability. Says Kathy, "No individual player can accomplish too much without the backing of a strong team. This year our team was very strong and that’s why we have done as well as we have this season."

Still, Kathy has to credit a list of honors and achievements that are exclusively hers. During the 1982-83 season alone, she was selected MVP of the Jacob East Championship, which took place at URI on Dec. 28, chosen as one of the All Tournament Team of the PC Invitational from Jan. 14-15, and the Big East All Conference Team. Most recently, Kathy has been selected for the Academic All America Second Team of the University Division Division 2 Team, and is Rhode Island’s Woman Athlete of the Year, an award which was presented to Miss Finn on Sunday, March 6. Aside from these, she currently one of 30 finalists awaiting the announcement of the Wade Trophy, which is presented to the top collegiate player in the country.

It is easy to see from such a list that Kathy is a startlingly excellent player. She enjoys her sport and appreciates all the personal rewards and dreams of success that go along with possessing this ability. When asked about the practice schedule and constant sacrifice, Kathy says, "Sometimes it gets a little frustrating, but in the end it’s all worth it." Kathy also remarked about the Lady Friars’ biggest events: "It is only because of all the girls on our team that we have done as well as we have this year. The turnout at the Big East Tournament was magnificent, very encouraging. It helps when your sixth man scores. The Lady Friars will be returning next season and her dedication will insure a performance that will be as admirable as this past season. Surely, St. John’s and Friar fans alike will look forward to the opportunity of seeing Kathy Finn in action for the 1983-84 season.

St. John’s upset the Lady Friars

The Friars, who are currently 2-0 in the Big East, played an excellent game, as did the Lady Friars. The turning point in the game was a turnover by the Lady Friars on PC’s 70-63 as St. John’s got their revenge in the past weekend’s tournament.

One reason for the remarkable success of the Lady Friars is Kathy Finn. The five-foot-nine-inch forward finished her season listed as the fifth highest scorer in the conference. Commenting on her own accomplishments, Miss Finn recognizes the importance of team work as well as personal ability. Says Kathy, "No individual player can accomplish too much without the backing of a strong team. This year our team was very strong and that’s why we have done as well as we have this season."

Still, Kathy has to credit a list of honors and achievements that are exclusively hers. During the 1982-83 season alone, she was selected MVP of the Jacob East Championship, which took place at URI on Dec. 28, chosen as one of the All Tournament Team of the PC Invitational from Jan. 14-15, and the Big East All Conference Team. Most recently, Kathy has been selected for the Academic All America Second Team of the University Division Division 2 Team, and is Rhode Island’s Woman Athlete of the Year, an award which was presented to Miss Finn on Sunday, March 6. Aside from these, she currently one of 30 finalists awaiting the announcement of the Wade Trophy, which is presented to the top collegiate player in the country.

It is easy to see from such a list that Kathy is a startlingly excellent player. She enjoys her sport and appreciates all the personal rewards and dreams of success that go along with possessing this ability. When asked about the practice schedule and constant sacrifice, Kathy says, "Sometimes it gets a little frustrating, but in the end it’s all worth it." Kathy also remarked about the Lady Friars’ biggest events: "It is only because of all the girls on our team that we have done as well as we have this year. The turnout at the Big East Tournament was magnificent, very encouraging. It helps when your sixth man scores. The Lady Friars will be returning next season and her dedication will insure a performance that will be as admirable as this past season. Surely, St. John’s and Friar fans alike will look forward to the opportunity of seeing Kathy Finn in action for the 1983-84 season.

The Lady Friars entered the Alumni Hall Gym to the cheers of a packed house and the St. Pius team. The Lady Friars dominated the game, forcing 11 turnovers into baskets.

Besides Noble seven other athletes qualified for New England’s Mary Kelly in the 800 M, Custom’s Lisa Montambo in the 1500 M and 1500 M, Jackie McKenney in the 5 M and 200 M, Jean Fiore in the long jump, 55 M and 200 M, Julie Morand in the 200 M, Christyn Smith in the 200 M, the 4x300 M relay team of McKenny, MaryBeth Reynolds, Noble and Fiore and the 4x400 M team of McKenny, Montambo, Fiore and Smith.

Seasonal bests were achieved not only by Noble but also by Sue Custom in the 1500 M with a time of 5:20.7. Clement was handled by Britt King with 20 points, while for the PC, Jackie McKinney with a fine performance in the 5000 M, and 26.9 and 26.4 in the 200 M and 200 M with a toss of 29'; Jean Reynolds. Fiord and Smith with the shot put with a 1500 M. Jackie McKinney in the 1500 M, 7.46 while none of the girls seasons. Scholarship money will be awarded in each division.

Additionally, the winners and runners-up in each division will receive certificates and awards.

The two top teams of the competition will receive travel money for the National Championships which will be held in Tennessee in April. Necessary application forms are now available at the front desk in the Recreation Center.

The Providence College Racquetball Club wishes to express its sincerest thanks to the Providence College Student Congress, Father McGrorey, Lou Lamoriello and Peterson Recreation Center for their help in hosting the tournament.

We would appreciate your help in hosting the tourney. Please join us for...
Tonight at 8:00
Friars Face Seton Hall in B.E. Matchup
By Richard Testa

Who’s going to win the big East Tournament in Madison Square Garden? Who’s going to be the ultimate winner? Unfortunately, who isn’t telling. In fact, it seems to be one of the most bizarre finishes in any conference regular season. Providence College, St. John’s, and Villanova all have finished with 12-4 records and in first place. To break that tie, the team with the best record against the other two teams will be given the No. 1 seed in the East. Despite the lack of a seed, the Friars, who have won the regular season the past two years, lead the East and have earned the top seed. The Wildcats were given the second place. As a result of the conference, the hotly contested race for seventh place ended when Connecticut upset Syracuse 85-74 last Saturday and finished at 5-11, one game ahead of Philadelphia, which lost to BC 86-46 in its regular season finale.

Because of the above chaos, the tournament setup is as follows: Wednesday (March 16) at 7 p.m., No. 1 PC vs. No. 9 Seton Hall; No. 2 Providence vs. No. 3 St. John’s vs. No. 6 Pitt, starting at 1 p.m., followed by No. 5 St. John’s vs. No. 7 Villanova at 3 p.m. The other quarterfinal doubleheaders will be held at 7 p.m. Friday and 2 p.m. Saturday at Madison Square Garden, with pitts No. 4 Georgetown vs. No. 5 Syracuse and No. 1 BC vs. the winner of PC-SH. The afternoon winners play at 7 p.m. Sunday and the evening winners follow at 9 p.m. The Championship game is set for 3 p.m. on Sunday. Let’s look at the regular season.

Providence versus Seton Hall. The Friars faced the Pirates on the road in the final game of the season in potentially the East’s tightest game of the season. The Friars were victorious, 93-87, as of this writing, and pits No. 4 Georgetown vs. No. 5 Syracuse and No. 1 BC vs. the winner of PC-SH. The afternoon winners play at 7 p.m. Sunday and the evening winners follow at 9 p.m. The Championship game is set for 3 p.m. on Sunday. Let’s look at the regular season.

The Friar tradition at Providence College has a great many victories. The Friars have been the East’s top team for four years, with the 1983-84 team second in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship. It’s great being a Senior and member of the Friars. It’s great being a part of a team that is the No. 1 team in the East and has the No. 1 team in the East’s top team in the East. But 1983 is their year for the ultimate win — a National Championship.

Providence goalie Mario Proulx defends the goal with teammates Bruce Raboin and Steve Taylor against the Bulldogs of Yale. The Friars were victorious, 3-1. (Photo by Karen Gowdy)

PC Classes at Season’s End at IC4A’s

By Chris Lyon

The indoor track season came to a close last weekend at the IC4A Championships held at Princeton University, and it saw several runners turn in fine performances for the second meet in a row.

The highlight of the meet was the 3000 meter run in which PC runners took the first four places, paced by senior Jimmy Fallon. Running near to the lead for the entire race, Fallon pulled away from his teammates over the final 100 meters to capture his second IC4A title in a time of 9:03.1.

Rich O’Flynn followed Fallon to the line in 9:13.8, with Mike Capper on his heels in 9:13.8. Paul Moloney finished fourth in a personal best 9:15.4. Capper’s time of 9:10.3 was enough to break the New England 18 and under record.

In the 5000, the Friars also had three runners score, taking places three, five, and six. Charlie Breagy was the first Providence runner home in a time of 14:18, with Rich Mulligan just getting past Andy Ronan by three seconds, 14:26 to 14:28.

Meanwhile, senior Brendan Quinn traveled home to Ireland for their National Cross Country Championships, and came away with fourth place. Quinn’s performance over the seven and a half miles of mud and grass gave him a spot on the Irish team for the World Championships at Gateshead, England on March 20.

Former Providence College standards John and Ray Twary also turned in fine performances, taking second and ninth respectively.

Down in Princeton this past weekend, the Friars were represented by athletes in the 3000 and 5000 meter events. Both were given a much different strategy, as it contained qualifying heats for both events.

On Saturday, Rich O’Flynn turned in an outstanding performance to capture third in his heat in a swift 8:17; while Paul Moloney was just outside of a heat in a close 8:17 after a disappointing 8:45 performance. His heat was much more tactical, and he was left behind in the final 400 meters. The Friars offered one of the more exciting races of the day, as Charlie Breagy qualified for the final with a 14:33 effort for third place, while Rich Mulligan was not as fortunate, missing by one place in 14:28. The top seven runners were two seconds apart in a wild finish, in the other heat, Andy Ronan also qualified for the final with a 14:17 performance.

In the finals, on Sunday, Rich O’Flynn took fourth in the 3000 with a time of 8:39. He stayed in contention until there were three laps to go when two races in two days caught up with him and took their toll.

Breagy and Ronan suffered a similar fate, as both hung with the lead group until the final 800 meters, when they fell behind. Breagy ended up fourth in 8:17, while Ronan ran his second consecutive 14:32 to take fifth.

Also last weekend in Philadelphia, Geoff Smith proved that he is on the road to recovery in his first race since last August. Smith placed 12th in 29:35, 12 seconds behind fellow countryman Nick Rose.

Providence College, St. John’s, and Villanova all have finished with 12-4 records and in first place. To break that tie, the team with the best record against the other two teams will be given the No. 1 seed in the East. Despite the lack of a seed, the Wildcats were given the second place.
PC clinches quarter finals

By John Brandolino

The top-seeded Providence College Friars defeated the eighth-seeded Yale Bulldogs, Friday and Saturday nights, to capture their ECAC quarterfinal series. The Friars earned the right to move on to the semi-finals, this weekend at the Boston Garden. In both contests (which were held for sell-out crowds at Schneider Arena), PC managed to produce the winning goal in the third period, to down the Bulldogs 2-1. Both games were the second lowest scoring games in ECAC playoff history.

Now, it’s on to the Boston Garden for the number one seeded Friars ranked third nationally behind North Dakota and Minnesota in the last regular season hockey poll to compete in semi-final action Friday and compete in either Championship or consolation action on Saturday. It’s only the fifth time in PC hockey history that the Friars have reached the quarterfinals. However, three of those times have been in the last four years. The Friars are determined to remember their last trip to the Garden resulted in PC grabbing the 1981 ECAC Championship.

As it turned out this past weekend, the top four seeds in the quarterfinals emerged victorious in their respective series. As a result, Providence will face the number four seed, St. Lawrence, in the late game on Friday. Second seeded UNH will face-off against Harvard, in the second scheduled match. The winners of each game will meet Saturday for the Championship.

St. Lawrence defeated Clarkson, 5-3, in the first game of their series, but fell, 2-1, in the second game. However, the Laurens fought tough in the 19 minute mini-game overtime to pull out a 3-2 victory.

New Hampshire had a tough time the first night of their series and had to settle for a 3-3 tie with erstwhile Boston University. Yet the next night saw UNH evenly down the Terriers 6-1 to earn a trip to the Garden. Both the Wildcats and the Terriers were both Friars teams in the East at the end of the regular season.

Of all four quarterfinal matches, Harvard had the easiest time, PC managed to produce the winning goal in the third period, to down the Bulldogs 2-1. Both games were the second lowest scoring games in ECAC playoff history.

Next Stop Boston Garden

PC clinches quarter finals

By John Brandolino

The top-seeded Providence College Friars defeated the eighth-seeded Yale Bulldogs, Friday and Saturday nights, to capture their ECAC quarterfinal series. The Friars earned the right to move on to the semi-finals, this weekend at the Boston Garden. In both contests (which were held for sell-out crowds at Schneider Arena), PC managed to produce the winning goal in the third period, to down the Bulldogs 2-1. Both games were the second lowest scoring games in ECAC playoff history.

Now, it’s on to the Boston Garden for the number one seeded Friars ranked third nationally behind North Dakota and Minnesota in the last regular season hockey poll to compete in semi-final action Friday and compete in either Championship or consolation action on Saturday. It’s only the fifth time in PC hockey history that the Friars have reached the quarterfinals. However, three of those times have been in the last four years. The Friars are determined to remember their last trip to the Garden resulted in PC grabbing the 1981 ECAC Championship.

As it turned out this past weekend, the top four seeds in the quarterfinals emerged victorious in their respective series. As a result, Providence will face the number four seed, St. Lawrence, in the late game on Friday. Second seeded UNH will face-off against Harvard, in the second scheduled match. The winners of each game will meet Saturday for the Championship.

St. Lawrence defeated Clarkson, 5-3, in the first game of their series, but fell, 2-1, in the second game. However, the Laurens fought tough in the 19 minute mini-game overtime to pull out a 3-2 victory.

New Hampshire had a tough time the first night of their series and had to settle for a 3-3 tie with erstwhile Boston University. Yet the next night saw UNH evenly down the Terriers 6-1 to earn a trip to the Garden. Both the Wildcats and the Terriers were both Friars teams in the East at the end of the regular season.

Of all four quarterfinal matches, Harvard had the easiest time, PC managed to produce the winning goal in the third period, to down the Bulldogs 2-1. Both games were the second lowest scoring games in ECAC playoff history.

Now, it’s on to the Boston Garden for the number one seeded Friars ranked third nationally behind North Dakota and Minnesota in the last regular season hockey poll to compete in semi-final action Friday and compete in either Championship or consolation action on Saturday. It’s only the fifth time in PC hockey history that the Friars have reached the quarterfinals. However, three of those times have been in the last four years. The Friars are determined to remember their last trip to the Garden resulted in PC grabbing the 1981 ECAC Championship.

As it turned out this past weekend, the top four seeds in the quarterfinals emerged victorious in their respective series. As a result, Providence will face the number four seed, St. Lawrence, in the late game on Friday. Second seeded UNH will face-off against Harvard, in the second scheduled match. The winners of each game will meet Saturday for the Championship.

St. Lawrence defeated Clarkson, 5-3, in the first game of their series, but fell, 2-1, in the second game. However, the Laurens fought tough in the 19 minute mini-game overtime to pull out a 3-2 victory.

New Hampshire had a tough time the first night of their series and had to settle for a 3-3 tie with erstwhile Boston University. Yet the next night saw UNH evenly down the Terriers 6-1 to earn a trip to the Garden. Both the Wildcats and the Terriers were both Friars teams in the East at the end of the regular season.

Of all four quarterfinal matches, Harvard had the easiest time, PC managed to produce the winning goal in the third period, to down the Bulldogs 2-1. Both games were the second lowest scoring games in ECAC playoff history.

Next Stop Boston Garden

PC clinches quarter finals

By John Brandolino

The top-seeded Providence College Friars defeated the eighth-seeded Yale Bulldogs, Friday and Saturday nights, to capture their ECAC quarterfinal series. The Friars earned the right to move on to the semi-finals, this weekend at the Boston Garden. In both contests (which were held for sell-out crowds at Schneider Arena), PC managed to produce the winning goal in the third period, to down the Bulldogs 2-1. Both games were the second lowest scoring games in ECAC playoff history.

Now, it’s on to the Boston Garden for the number one seeded Friars ranked third nationally behind North Dakota and Minnesota in the last regular season hockey poll to compete in semi-final action Friday and compete in either Championship or consolation action on Saturday. It’s only the fifth time in PC hockey history that the Friars have reached the quarterfinals. However, three of those times have been in the last four years. The Friars are determined to remember their last trip to the Garden resulted in PC grabbing the 1981 ECAC Championship.

As it turned out this past weekend, the top four seeds in the quarterfinals emerged victorious in their respective series. As a result, Providence will face the number four seed, St. Lawrence, in the late game on Friday. Second seeded UNH will face-off against Harvard, in the second scheduled match. The winners of each game will meet Saturday for the Championship.

St. Lawrence defeated Clarkson, 5-3, in the first game of their series, but fell, 2-1, in the second game. However, the Laurens fought tough in the 19 minute mini-game overtime to pull out a 3-2 victory.

New Hampshire had a tough time the first night of their series and had to settle for a 3-3 tie with erstwhile Boston University. Yet the next night saw UNH evenly down the Terriers 6-1 to earn a trip to the Garden. Both the Wildcats and the Terriers were both Friars teams in the East at the end of the regular season.

Of all four quarterfinal matches, Harvard had the easiest time, PC managed to produce the winning goal in the third period, to down the Bulldogs 2-1. Both games were the second lowest scoring games in ECAC playoff history.

Next Stop Boston Garden

PC clinches quarter finals

By John Brandolino

The top-seeded Providence College Friars defeated the eighth-seeded Yale Bulldogs, Friday and Saturday nights, to capture their ECAC quarterfinal series. The Friars earned the right to move on to the semi-finals, this weekend at the Boston Garden. In both contests (which were held for sell-out crowds at Schneider Arena), PC managed to produce the winning goal in the third period, to down the Bulldogs 2-1. Both games were the second lowest scoring games in ECAC playoff history.

Now, it’s on to the Boston Garden for the number one seeded Friars ranked third nationally behind North Dakota and Minnesota in the last regular season hockey poll to compete in semi-final action Friday and compete in either Championship or consolation action on Saturday. It’s only the fifth time in PC hockey history that the Friars have reached the quarterfinals. However, three of those times have been in the last four years. The Friars are determined to remember their last trip to the Garden resulted in PC grabbing the 1981 ECAC Championship.

As it turned out this past weekend, the top four seeds in the quarterfinals emerged victorious in their respective series. As a result, Providence will face the number four seed, St. Lawrence, in the late game on Friday. Second seeded UNH will face-off against Harvard, in the second scheduled match. The winners of each game will meet Saturday for the Championship.

St. Lawrence defeated Clarkson, 5-3, in the first game of their series, but fell, 2-1, in the second game. However, the Laurens fought tough in the 19 minute mini-game overtime to pull out a 3-2 victory.

New Hampshire had a tough time the first night of their series and had to settle for a 3-3 tie with erstwhile Boston University. Yet the next night saw UNH evenly down the Terriers 6-1 to earn a trip to the Garden. Both the Wildcats and the Terriers were both Friars teams in the East at the end of the regular season.

Of all four quarterfinal matches, Harvard had the easiest time, PC managed to produce the winning goal in the third period, to down the Bulldogs 2-1. Both games were the second lowest scoring games in ECAC playoff history.

Next Stop Boston Garden

PC clinches quarter finals

By John Brandolino

The top-seeded Providence College Friars defeated the eighth-seeded Yale Bulldogs, Friday and Saturday nights, to capture their ECAC quarterfinal series. The Friars earned the right to move on to the semi-finals, this weekend at the Boston Garden. In both contests (which were held for sell-out crowds at Schneider Arena), PC managed to produce the winning goal in the third period, to down the Bulldogs 2-1. Both games were the second lowest scoring games in ECAC playoff history.

Now, it’s on to the Boston Garden for the number one seeded Friars ranked third nationally behind North Dakota and Minnesota in the last regular season hockey poll to compete in semi-final action Friday and compete in either Championship or consolation action on Saturday. It’s only the fifth time in PC hockey history that the Friars have reached the quarterfinals. However, three of those times have been in the last four years. The Friars are determined to remember their last trip to the Garden resulted in PC grabbing the 1981 ECAC Championship.

As it turned out this past weekend, the top four seeds in the quarterfinals emerged victorious in their respective series. As a result, Providence will face the number four seed, St. Lawrence, in the late game on Friday. Second seeded UNH will face-off against Harvard, in the second scheduled match. The winners of each game will meet Saturday for the Championship.

St. Lawrence defeated Clarkson, 5-3, in the first game of their series, but fell, 2-1, in the second game. However, the Laurens fought tough in the 19 minute mini-game overtime to pull out a 3-2 victory.

New Hampshire had a tough time the first night of their series and had to settle for a 3-3 tie with erstwhile Boston University. Yet the next night saw UNH evenly down the Terriers 6-1 to earn a trip to the Garden. Both the Wildcats and the Terriers were both Friars teams in the East at the end of the regular season.

Of all four quarterfinal matches, Harvard had the easiest time, PC managed to produce the winning goal in the third period, to down the Bulldogs 2-1. Both games were the second lowest scoring games in ECAC playoff history.