Corporation Elections Tomorrow

By Nancy O'Neill

On Thursday, April 30, elections for the Providence College Corporation will take place in Slavin Center. Contending for the senior position are Rosie Boyle and Kevin Donovan. Jim McGuire is running for the junior slot.

The Corporation, a board of 29 members, decides on major policies affecting the college. Some decisions of the past four years have pertained to the bond issue on the field house and tuition increase.

Two positions on the Corporation are reserved for student representatives. Those interested in running are eligible to run for membership due to their familiarity with the college.

Donovan

Rosie Boyle, '82, an art/photography major from Warren, R.I., is stated, "I am excited at the prospect of working with the Corporation as a student representative. I have the experience, knowledge, and enthusiasm necessary to best represent the student body."

Boyle

Joe Donovan, '82, a business finance/economics major from Hopkinton, Mass., He commented, "The Corporation is very important because it makes major decisions which affect all students. I feel that I can represent the views of all students and would keep that foremost in my mind at both Corporation and weekly student congress meetings."

McGuire

Running for the position is Jim McGuire, '81, a business management major from New Haven, Conn. Running unopposed, he stated, "Needless to say, I'm pretty optimistic about this year."

VAB Election Results

By Nancy O'Neill

On April 12, the Varsity Athletic Board chose its new officers for the 1981-82 year.

Elected president was Celine Bergerson, '82, a sociology-public administration major from Indian Orchard, Mass. David Sadow, '82, a humanities major from Madison, Conn., was selected as vice-president.

The new secretary of the VAB will be Kathy Walsh, '81, a humanities major from Madison, Conn., who will serve as treasurer.

In addition, Steve Dolan was chosen as marketing chairman and Mary Gibbons as publicity chairman.

The Varsity Athletic Board wishes to increase membership. Those interested in joining are urged to stop by Jerry Malino's office, second floor, Alumni Hall.

Powell Addresses Policy Issues; Fields Questions

By Christina M. Kennedy

"We would be sending exactly the wrong signals to the Soviet Union if we were to again start shipping grain to them. Since when does the United States reward a country for not invading another?" This according to Jody Powell, former press secretary to President Jimmy Carter, would be the result of ending the Soviet grain embargo.

Powell spoke before an audience of 200 students yesterday in '44 Hall. The group was noticeably devoid of faculty and administration. The lecture began at 1:00 p.m. Powell spoke for an hour. He then fielded questions on a wide range of topics for one and a half hours.

"We would be sending exactly the wrong message to our allies also," Powell continued. "We cannot expect other free world countries to support us later if we are now sending grain to feed Soviet soldiers who may ultimately end up in Afghanistan and kill those Afghaniites fighting for their own freedom."

With regards to the embargo, Peter Basonec, '81, addressed Powell with a question on the realignment of the shipments and why certain loads were allowed through.

Powell answered, "There were certain contracts which had to be allowed to expire. The shipping lanes had to be cleared and the grain already in transit had to be sent through."

Powell was questioned on the new Reagan administration and its policies. He said, "If we believe his policies will work, we'll believe anything. The Reagan administration is trying to make us believe that there is a free lunch. We can have an increase of 100 percent in defense spending. We can have tax cuts. We can cut inflation. We'll all be better off real soon. It doesn't take too much reasoning to see the lack of logic in this proposal."

He continued, saying, "Reagan emphasizes that his program..."

Board of Governors Select Chairpeople

By Karen MacGillivray

The Board of Governors held interviews April 6, 7, and 8, for the positions of chairpersons for 13 committees for next year. Interviewers were the new Executive Board of the BOG, Nancy Schiavo, president; Kathy Griefre, vice-president; and Gerry Vagello, treasurer. Of the 29 board members chosen, nine have headed BOG committees in the past. Twelve members from the Class of '82, 12 are from the Class of '83 and seven are from the Class of '84.

The committee will be run next year by Jeff Donovan, '82; Peter Wolfe, '81; and Dennis McCarthy, '82. This committee chooses bands for social events, and will be choosing bands for the Last Resort, the social committee, and various classes.

Publicity will be headed by Kathy Hession, '82; Liz Scholten, '82; Lori Savoca, '81; and Bryan Fox, '82. The number of chairpersons on this committee has been doubled since last year.

The program for next year will be run by Ed Olschak, '82. The schedule will be in charge of the calendar for Slavin Center. Any group or organization that needs to use Slavin Center for an event must go see the programmer to pick an available date.

Lectures will be co-ordinated by Patti Silva, '82; and Ed Shea, '83. An added feature next year will be faculty lectures. These lectures are expected to be weekly, with the departments providing different speakers. The committee is still waiting for a definite response from the faculty.

There are two committees now involved with the Last Resort. The three managers involved in running the Resort will be Joe Frates, '82; Cheryl Carmonoda, '82; and Mark Caffey, '82.

Resort Renovations is a new committee, and will be headed by Kathy Finnegan, '83, and Ann Flaherty, '83. They are planning to work on the bar room across from the hall room, and also on the hallway of the Last Resort.

The Coffeehouse will be run by Joe Solomon, '83; Maura O'Brien, '83; Kim Nagle, '82; and Nancy Cavallaro, '83. They are hoping to open the Coffeehouse twice a week.

Two committees, film and video, have been combined for the coming year. The committee will be run by Kevin Sullivan, '83; Emmitt Betsiner, '83; and Brian Duberre, '82.

Class Trip
By Lisa Ferrucci
Mrs. Phyllis Baerke has initiated a new program in her business communication class. The students are arranging their own field trips for the purpose of interacting with one another and learning the method of organization. On Friday, April 24, several members of the class went to the Coca-Cola Company in Needham, Mass. The class hopes to institute an annual schedule of field trips, developed and organized by the class. As a result of the trips, commuter and resident students can interact outside of the classroom.

The students involved in the project are: Craig Belodeau, Paul Phipps, Lisa Ferrucci, Louis Felpelli, Sally Waitz and Mike Malone.

U.S. Army Honors Awarded

A student and a faculty member firmly established the name of Providence College at the U.S. Army's Air Assault School at Fort Campbell, Kentucky. Captain Jim Murray, an ROTC faculty member since 1977, was cited as Distinguished Graduate of the class of 1981. Murray was selected for this honor after having slain an officer, killed men and wounded Army units throughout the country.

Tom Palladino, PC '82, was placed on the Commandant's list. He finished in the top 10 of his class.

Murray, also a qualified parachutist, said the course was nearly as demanding as airborne training. "I won't compare parachuting from 1200 feet with rappelling 75 feet from a helicopter at night — let's just say they're both interesting."

Palladino especially enjoyed the night raddle. "It was the best part of the training," said the sophomore political science major from Watertown, Mass. "You have the normal turbulence caused by the chopper plus the fact that you can't tell exactly where the ground is."

Rappelling from helicopters is only a part of the rigorous Air Assault training. The course also includes climbing a 65-foot troop ladder into a helicopter, rigging, and singling techniques, and two five-mile forced marches followed by a "graduate exercise." 10-mile forced march in full combat equipment which had to be completed in two hours and 20 minutes.

Both Murray and Palladino still have physical reminders of their experiences. Murray has a limp resulting from negotiating a barrier on the obstacle course and Palladino a rope burn on his hand incurred while rappelling from a helicopter. Both would probably agree the pain was softened by the award of the highly prized Air Assault Wing.

1981 Orientation

By Peggy Hogan
While most PC students can't wait to leave for the summer, eight students were chosen to return on June 22 to work at Freshman Orientation. The students chosen to work with Prof. John A. McMahon, O.P., and the incoming freshmen are: Dave Bouchard, Bob Ferriera, Carry Cilroy, Sharon Grady, Kathy McIntyre, Paul McCickey, Liz O'Donnell, and Jack Treston. Before a general work week for these eight students, the first incoming students arrive on June 29. The last group of freshmen will leave July 22.

"The freshmen know nothing about the school, so it's important for the workers to be sociable and available," said Kelly Keane, an Orientation worker from last summer. Although we only work four days a week, it's a day and night job. The freshmen need a lot of reassurance. We give tours, explain paristals and fire rules, and work out their schedules."

The workers are paid for their six weeks at PC, in addition to receiving room and board.

Need A Summer Job? Apply Now!

The Scholarship Bank announced that applications are available for thousands of summer job openings for college students interested in work in their career fields, as well as applications for fall scholarships. According to Steve Dana, director of this nation-wide college scholarship search service, many scholarships for summer require action by April or May. He urges students to get busy finding their best scholarship or work opportunities and apply now. "If the choice is between a low-paying campus job, having dishes, or possibly working as a professional aid for a company or individual in your major field, jump in now and get the position that will give you experience and help your resume," says the director.

The Scholarship Bank offers students an opportunity to learn about the private, off-campus aid sources for which they are eligible. It has been in operation over one year and has processed over 10,000 student requests for scholarship and work study information.

According to the director, each student receives up to 15 different sources. Some based on need, some on merit, or on other factors such as geographical desires. Students interested in using this service should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: The Scholarship Bank, 1910 Santa Monica Blvd., Suite 720, Los Angeles, CA. 90025.

Congress Budget Approved

By Cathy Jahn

The final meeting of Student Congress for the 1980-81 school year, held this past Monday night, was marked by the approval of a new budget for the 1981-82 school year. Liz Flynn, Student Congress treasurer, submitted the budget for approval, which was unanimously passed.

Flynn presented a summary of the Providence College Student Activity Fee Account (from which the Congress budget is taken) for 1981-82. Her report stated that an estimate of $17,775 will be available through next year's activity fee account. In addition, a balance of $11,990 remains from the previous Congress budget and the total of the activity fee account will be $29,775. Out of this total, Congress will retain a budget of $46,300 for next year.

The new budget includes $15,500 annually for the four classes, as well as $15,500 given to all old and new clubs on campus. In addition, $11,000 will be taken from next year's budget to establish a Contingency Fund for future years. Flynn stated that the purpose of the fund is to set money aside for the future congresses that may be working with more limited budgets.

Also, Dave McGuire, Congress president, announced that Corporation elections will be held this Thursday, April 30. He noted that due to various problems, there will be no mechanical bull at Saturday's Spring Carnival. She stated that one chance will cost $5 and five will cost $1. The initially planned mechanical bull will be purchased for Slavin Center for next year. She also noted that there is a waiting list approximately 90 students for residence on campus next year.

In a report from the Board of Governors, President L. Jay Manning stated that Spring Week t-shirts are on sale for $3 in Lower Slavin all this week. Admission for all Spring Week events must be paid at the door and only tickets for the trip to Mystic Seaport in September. In addition, the committee reported that the soccer team has inquired about the USL and U.S. Soccer. Discussion of the matter was tabled for a future meeting.

Jim O'Connor, COA representative, reported that a new ice machine will be purchased for Slavin Center for next year.24

Rev. Robert G. Quinn, O.P., former chairman of the education department, will observe his 50th year in the priesthood with an anniversary Mass of Thanksgiving to be held Saturday, May 21 at 11 a.m. at St. Francis Church. A reception will follow in Raymond Hall.

Also native of Columbus, Ohio, Father Quinn attended St. Louis University and was graduated from Boston College in 1924. Upon graduation from BC, he entered the Dominican order and studied at both the Dominican House of Studies, River Forest, Illinois and the Immaculate Conception House of Studies in Washington, D.C.

Ordained a Dominican priest in 1931, he received his MA degree from Catholic University and his M.Ed. from Harvard University. He also completed course work towards a Doctorate in Education at Harvard.

Father Quinn joined the faculty in 1936 and served as director of athletics from 1938 to 1940. He was named chairman of the education department in 1940 and remained in that position until 1972.

During his years as a priest, Quinn has been active in the political arena. He may be the active member of numerous professional organizations, including the R.I. Education Association.

The National Education Society, and the National Catholic Education Association. He also served as president of the New England Teacher Retirement Association.

In recognition of his contributions to the advancement of education, Father Quinn was selected to appear in the 1970 edition of Outstanding Educators of America, an annual program designed to honor those educators who have distinguished themselves by exceptional service and leadership.

Father Quinn has received honorary degrees from both PC and Rhode Island College.

Pell Shoots Down Handguns

"The attempt on the life of President Reagan recently," Pell said, "has vividly reminded each of us that nearly anyone in this country can purchase a handgun today and snuff out the life of a government leader, a neighbor, or a member of our own family. I believe that it is possible to stem the flood of handguns that is engulfing our country. This legislation, which I am co-sponsoring, would increase the personal security of every one of our citizens, without diminishing the liberty of law abiding citizens."

Last year, 24 million American homes were touched by crime, meaning that nearly one-third of all households in the country were affected. Violent crime showed its largest increase in a dozen years. Handguns, and the so-called "Saturday Night Specials" in particular, played a major role in the crime epidemic which is now reaching every neighborhood in the country, rich and poor, urban and rural, black and white.

"Banning the sale of "Saturday Night Specials" and requiring a 11-day waiting period before the sale of any handgun are essential to controlling this problem. These steps will not infringe on the legitimate ownership or use of firearms, but will prevent the boundless proliferation of handguns that is possible in this country today because of the inadequacy of our laws."

I am pleased to join with Senator Kennedy in this effort, and I urge each of my colleagues - as they ponder the crime statistics just released by the Justice Department - to support the check on handgun violence contained in this legislation."

Survey Results

On Feb. 6, the language department sponsored a survey to determine the interest and concern of the Providence College Student regarding the importance of a foreign language.

Out of 517 replies, 416 responded favorably to the question of the importance of a foreign language in a liberal arts education.

Although most of the respondents answered that they are aware of the various languages offered at PC, only 111 are presently studying a foreign language.

Students gave numerous reasons for not taking language courses, most concerning schedule difficulties. Complaints ranged from the burden of Western Civilization to the rigid requirements of business and other majors.

There were questions for Latin to be offered in the curriculum for those planning law careers.

Corrigan At Conference

Michael Corrigan, a senior political science major, attended the Naval Academy Foreign Affairs Conference (NAFAC) in Annapolis, Maryland the week of April 20.

For the past 20 years the United States NAFAC has been an annual forum where exemplary students in political science, economics, and international relations were invited to discuss topics of national and international scope. The conference is an academic forum which has been praised for its high standing of scholastic excellence and professional development. From year over year 180 delegates from 100 colleges across the nation participated in NAFAC.

Corrigan was required to prepare a paper on the strategic importance of Indonesia in relation to the United States. Upon graduation Corrigan hopes to pursue a career in government.

80-'81 Drinking Policy

The Providence College Board of Governors provides the majority of social and cultural events that this campus offers. Because these events range from mixers to movies to trips, a competent staff and a great deal of organization are essential in accomplishing the group's goals. The Editorial Board of The Cowl feels that this past year the BOG has proven that they have both of these qualities. The organization consists of over a dozen committees, which are responsible for the various events.

The many members and the chairpersons of the BOG have, according to former BOG president L. Jay Manning, proven "diversified quality events."

Manning stressed that this was a major goal of his administration, since he took office approximately one year ago.

Manning noted that the BOG strive for "a more serious appearance", while being concerned with reaching everyone in all areas.

A Student Speaks Out

Editor's Note

The Cowl has recently initiated a new column called, "In My Opinion." The column will appear approximately once a week on the Editorial page. Its purpose is to provide the student body with the opportunity to express their opinions on any state, national, or school issues.

There are suggestions and or articles which may be sent to PO Box 2934. We hope to hear from you soon!!

Notes from MBH

Last week, in our first edition of The Cowl, a space was provided for suggestions. The column was successful in bringing forth student opinions. It is our hope that we can continue to provide this type of content and coverage of The Cowl during the past year. It was my hope that some constructive criticisms would be made, and I am happy to say that we did receive some.

Criticism was varied in content. There were quite a few suggestions that criticized the column for being "too much" or "not enough." There were some that said it was "unintentional" to cover the entire world. Other comments dealt with specific stories and copy errors.

The largest group of criticisms came from students who felt that The Cowl was not covering a group of students that are very active in the movement opposing U.S. intervention in El Salvador. These students are members of the Third World Coalition, and demonstrate every Friday at the Federal Building downtown from 4:30-5:30 p.m. They would like to see The Cowl as "backhanded" and "unaware of the First Amendment." I believe their cries came as a result of last year's Editorial Board's refusal to run an advertisement for the Friday afternoon demonstrations.

As editor of The Cowl I realize the seriousness of the El Salvador situation, and am personally disillusioned by the PC student body's lack of interest and knowledge in this international crisis.

The government of El Salvador has killed and tortured more than 10,000 of its own citizens, as well as religious figures and journalists, including U.S. citizens. The U.S. has been pumping in military aid, and the Reagan administration is considering sending additional troops.

The ruling Junta in El Salvador has received over $10 million in military aid. The continued sending of this U.S. aid will only add to the repression and murderizing of the El Salvadorian civilian population.

I urge students to write their Congresspeople and Senator, and put an end to this situation, and also to get in touch with the R.I. Third World Solidarity Committee at 861-6182.

Thank you all for your suggestions, they are well noted and appreciated.

P.S. Last week's interesting photographer's question was "What did you do for vacation?"

Tom Brennan is a senior economics major from Trenton, New Jersey. He was formerly a member of the Student Congress and served as Junior member of the Corporation.

In my opinion there is an inequity within our Student Congress.

The Student Congress consists of 43 student representatives. Some or all of the student body has an opportunity to elect the members of Congress, depending on the particular office.

However, we do not elect the members merely to represent us. We also elect them to serve a specific special interest. For instance, the residents elect the Resident Board representative and the entire student body selects the Corporation representatives.

As a result, Congress is not only made up of general student representatives, but also of various student interest groups. This arrangement is similar to the most democratic governing bodies, including our own Federal government.

An equity exists in our system, however. The inequality is that some interest groups hold more votes on Congress than others. Specifically, the individual classes hold more than the other interest groups. Such a bias is favored because these groups seem unfair and inconsistent with the goals of Student Congress. This particular defect should be rectified.

All interest groups should have equal power. As long as such a defect exists, student representation remains questionable.

El Salvador
Question of Freedom

Dear Editor:
I would just like to widen the narrow ideas given at the informative lecture day by Providence College.
El Salvador presents the world with just one more example of communist aggression. For poor, defenseless nations communism has become a matter of acceptance or obliteration. The United States needs to stop the advances of the ruthless sword to protect our own interest, the trust and support of its allies and the hope of freedom and security for poor nations.
Sister Elzen commented that the people should be free to choose their own government but we must remember we are dealing with a poor, uneducated people who will clutch to any idea that offers food and grand headsches at a later date, and allow for the organization needed for such a move to be used to its capacity.
If the move of the Bookstore were to take place over the summer months it could also have an effect on the Theatre Arts history here at PC. The Theatre Arts department is going to be involved in the Shakespeare Festival with Brown University and Rhode Island College in the fall. The removal of the Bookstore from Harrica Hall Auditorium in the summer months would allow the Auditorium to be transferred into a performance center in time for this important event in the Theatre Arts history here at PC.
Since Brown and RIC are also presenting their portion of the festival here, the convenience of such a performing center would be very much a step in the right direction. It should also be noted that $15,000 in grants have been appropriated to the three colleges for the Festival in order that it may further enrich the cultural activities in the Providence area.
By taking over the Bookstore area, the Theatre Arts Department could have a onestop storage, and dressing room space and two schemes for the Festival and also for the rest of Springweek.
Action taken now by the Campus Facilities Committee to move the bookstore to Slavin would have immediate results in the ease of buying books for the up coming season.
I can only ask that others speak out on this important development so that PC may soon become more organized both academically and culturally.
Thank you,
Judy Weaver '82

Veritas 1980??

Dear Editor:
Where is the b­? are the 1980 yearbooks? Do they exist? When the postcard arrived stating that the Class of 1980 yearbook was delayed, we were disappointed.
We were assured that they would be accessible to us by April, 1981.
Is this an April Fool's joke? We are aware that patience is a virtue but this is ridiculous.
It is unfortunate that we have been anticipating the advent of our yearbook and the ability to reminisce upon treasured memories, only to be disappointed by just another institution who provided us with these memories. We believe that we should be given the right to know where we stand. As a rumor has led us to believe, the issuing date of this yearbook may be September, 1981, why haven't we been informed? The communication which we were given as students seems to have disappeared (not unlike our yearbooks) now that we have become alumni.
We are aware that the Alumni Office is not responsible for this situation. Unfortunately, the present Alumni Drive may be suffering indirectly due to it.
Sincerely we hope that Providence College can rectify the lack of communication that has been ongoing.
Sincerely yours,
The Self-Appointed Advocacy Committee for the 1980 Yearbook

the task of removing smells.
Sweaters saturated with the Although students elect the two candidates, the Corporation has the final decision on who the new educational criteria. The student election gives the student the corporation the candidates they give students a chance to

Intramurals Hits the Road

Dear Editor:
It has come to my attention that a move is on the horizon for the Bookstore from Harrica Hall to Slavin Center. This move make a real difference to the students since the direction since it will be much more convenient for the student body and the well-being of the Bookstore. The question concerning the time when such a move take place? It has not been decided as to when, but I would like to say that if such a move were completed over the summer months, then it could prevent the students from planning for their future. It is possible that the summer months would allow the students to plan for the coming season.

In El Salvador the spirit of freedom lies not in the bloody sword of the left; the spirit lives in the Junta supported by the United States. The government is redistributing the land to the poor and developing, as well as, protecting a free economy advantageous to all people of El Salvador. The loyal patriots remember America did not become the great nation it is today without a lot of suffering and hard work. Let us all support the cause of the people of the world and of those in El Salvador.
I would like to close by quoting Brian Crozier: "For more than 25 years the countries of the Western World have been preparing themselves against the dread possibility of a nuclear war with the communists. This war will not be fought with weapons but with the people on both sides. The only weapons we have are those of ideas. It is possible that with the change of the world we will be able to redistribute the land to the poor and develop a new spirit of freedom."

The Seigles—What A Team!!

By Steve Sylvia

Combining a marriage and careers is becoming commonplace in today’s world. Here at PC we have a couple that proves that the two can go together and be a success. Saul and Natalie Seigle, both members of the business department, represent one of the College’s few husband and wife teaching teams. Around the campus they are well known for their efforts in helping the student body.

Last year Mrs. Seigle, a member of the faculty since 1970, became the first woman to receive the Begley Faculty Award for distinguished and faithful service to the College. Currently, she has authored a textbook on business communications that is due for publication in January of 1982. Along with this, she has written numerous publications in professional journals.

At the urging of his wife, Mr. Seigle joined the faculty in 1972 to replace a professor who had become ill. Since that time, he has developed the largest “non-paying” law practice in the state through his legal advice to the many students who approach him with problems concerning their landlords, leases, contracts, etc. He has also seen the student body “shift its interests from Vietnam with problems concerning their landlords, leases, contracts, etc.

Saul and Natalie Seigle

they “have a great intellectual curiosity about the world they are entering.” Mrs. Seigle added that they are “well rounded” and are “concerned with social needs as manifested by their involvement with Big Brothers and Sisters and the Knights of Columbus.” They described their careers at PC as “the most rewarding experience (outside their family) in their lives.” Most students would agree that they have been an asset to the College as well.

In addition, last semester, he was named the Pre-Law Advisor for the College.

Even with their busy schedules, they still find time for such activities as golf, bridge, going to theatre, and travel. For the past 23 summers they have traveled extensively, attending the University of Cambridge in 1976 and vacationing in China in 1979. In their years at PC they have seen many changes in the College. During that time, the dress code was abolished, women were admitted for the first time, various buildings were constructed on campus and, most recently, the business department moved to Lower Campus. They have also seen the student body shift its interests from Vietnam to jobs and financial security. When asked to describe business students, Mr. Seigle stated that

PC Turns Outrageous

By Mark “Bird” O’Rourke

On Saturday, May 2, the Board of Governors will be sponsoring its annual outdoor carnival. An added dimension this year will be an exciting competition among dorms and student organizations over an “outrageous obstacle course.” This is an event in which participants run through a course of nine obstacles such as the wobble tube, the scooter slalom and the lengthy ladder.

The first competition of the day will serve as the final event of the Battle of the Dorms, which was sponsored by the Class of 1983 yesterday. The top three male dorm finishers and the top two female dorm finishers from the dorm battle will compete on Saturday to determine the overall winner. Each dorm will be allowed to enter 10 competitors. Of the 10, the top five score will count. These points will be added to the total from yesterday’s competition.

The second competition of the afternoon will consist of four organizations challenging each other to determine the most outrageous organization on the PC campus. The Cowl, Friars Club, Big Brothers and Sisters, and Student Congress, will be pitted against one another in a fierce battle for supremacy. Each organization will consist of five male and five female members. The top two male and female scores will count in the final total. The winner will be determined by the lowest accumulated time of the organizations.

Prizes will be awarded in each competition. All finishers will receive a Certificate of Outrageousness upon completion of the course. The dorm competition will begin at 12 noon and the organization competition will start at about 2 p.m. Come out and support your favorite team at this wild and crazy Springweek carnival.

Royal Gambit’ On The Way

Wally Dunn (center) stars as King Henry VIII in the Providence College Theatre production of Royal Gambit, being staged the evenings of April 29 through May 3 in Harkins Auditorium. Appearing with Dunn as his wives are Eileen Barron, Julip Marraccini, and Elizabeth Whelan.

Royal Gambit has been called “original, stimulating, and mature,” by The New York Times. It is a refreshing new look at Henry and his six wives.

Curtain time for the production is 8 p.m. Tickets are $3.50 for general admission and $2.50 for students and senior citizens. Reservations and ticket information are available by calling 866-2337.

What is CEC? A Very Special Council

What is CEC is a question which was heard quite frequently this year during the sale of the famous candy bars. The members of the PC chapter would like to clear this question up. The Council for Exceptional Children is a nationwide organization designed to help the children who need extra help (i.e. the handicapped, gifted, etc.). This year under the direction of Donna Threlfall (president), Barbara Borghioni (vice president, first semester), Gale Cosmo (secretary), and Deborah Whitleaker (treasurer), the PC chapter has more than doubled its membership and sponsored many new activities.

ERC Sponsors Easter Egg Hunt

On Thursday afternoon, April 9, the Providence College Chapter of the Council for Exceptional Children held an Easter Egg Hunt the PC baseball field. 30 exceptional pre-school students from the Pleasant View School in Providence took part in a search for over 300 hidden eggs. Gale Cosmo, secretary of the Providence Chapter, was the main organizer of the event. She dreamed up the Easter bunny, hopping around with `th Elvis hairdo.` For little friends Donna Threlfall, president of the PC chapter and Steve Liacoro, a very active member, were also vital to the organizing and running of the event. The children really enjoyed the day.

Interview With Chris Clark

By Barry Hutchinson

"I was a frustrated jock. I never excelled at any one sport," admits Clark dangled his feet as he sat in the wingback chair at the WRJM studios in Newport. "I was a disc jockey and fell in love with radio," Clark dangled his feet as he sat in the wingback chair at the WRJM studios in Newport.

Clark was responsible for the paper copy in the Veritas. "I was a disc jockey and fell in love with radio," Clark dangled his feet as he sat in the wingback chair at the WRJM studios in Newport.

A strike at WPRO-WPRI resulted in Clark's move to WRJM in Newport. "I was a frustrated jock. I never excelled at any one sport," Clark dangled his feet as he sat in the wingback chair at the WRJM studios in Newport.

Fourth semester brought more activities and new members. Due to the generosity of BOG, Susan Fiske, head of charge of putting together the Easter Egg Hunt, held a meeting of the event. The children raised $350 at the volleyball games and over 1500 in the basketball games. These funds donated by the Athletic Department were acquired by Janice Prevost.

Second semester brought more activities and new members. Due to the generosity of BOG, Susan Fiske, head of charge of putting together the Easter Egg Hunt, held a meeting of the event. The children raised $350 at the volleyball games and over 1500 in the basketball games. These funds donated by the Athletic Department were acquired by Janice Prevost.

Jack Coffey

Student of the Month

The Editorial Board of The Cowl has chosen Jack Coffey of the Class of 1981 as student of the month. Jack is a finance major from Great Barrington, Mass. Jack came to PC last year as a transfer student from Berkshire Community College in Pittsfield, Mass.

Upon Jack's arrival at PC, he immediately became involved with work on Veritas, the annual student publication, commonly called the yearbook. Jack has been diligently working on this project ever since and presently holds the position of Editor-in-Chief.

Jack's job has entailed planning the general format of the yearbook, giving assignments to the few staff members available, and overseeing the entire Veritas operation. He has been taking pictures of campus sports an activities as well as working on the layout. He has even been heavily involved with getting bids from various publishers for next year's Veritas staff. He has also been in charge of the budget over the last two years, trying to figure on publication increases and overall costs before coming up with and staying within the limits of a workable budget.

As of now, Jack hopes to meet his October shipping deadline. "It was a frustrating job," Clark dangled his feet as he sat in the wingback chair at the WRJM studios in Newport.

"I'll notice if one guy's blond and another guy's not," Clark dangled his feet as he sat in the wingback chair at the WRJM studios in Newport.

A strike at WPRO-WPRI resulted in Clark's move to WRJM in Newport. "I was a frustrated jock. I never excelled at any one sport," Clark dangled his feet as he sat in the wingback chair at the WRJM studios in Newport.

"I was a disc jockey and fell in love with radio," Clark dangled his feet as he sat in the wingback chair at the WRJM studios in Newport.

"We were looking out on Times Square and the instructor asked me, 'This next morning there was a line of sponsors at WPRO.'"

The Best Little What???

The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas, the smash Broadway musical, will open at the Ocean State Performing Arts Center in Providence on Tuesday, April 30, for a three performance engagement. Tickets are $17.50, $15, and $12.50, and available through the OSPAC Box Office at (401) 421-9075.

Francie Mendenhall heads the large cast as Miss Mona Stangley, the madam who runs the Chicken Ranch, a brothel which becomes the target of a vigilante television newsmen.

Produced by Stevie Phillips in association with Universal Pictures, the musical is based on a real incident involving the closing of a famed Texas brothel. It was co-authored by Larry L. King and Peter Masterson. Mr. Masterson re-created his direction of the show with Tommy Tune who was also responsible for the choreography. Carol Hall is the composer-lyricist who was interested in Larry L. King's contributions to the show.

The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas, the smash Broadway musical is being designed by Neil Diamond, and Nell Carter. Barbara Cook, Mabel Mercer, Jewel, the Chicken Ranch maid. The rousing score was nominated for a Grammy Award for Best Cast Show Album and many of her songs have been performed by Barbara Streisand, Barbara Cook, Mabel Mercer, Neil Diamond, and Nell Carter.

Quad Party — A Usual Success

By Judy McNamara

Sunday was a perfect day for one of the best annual Quad parties PC has ever had. Sunny skies, WDOM, and the Budweiser Corporation all helped contribute to a relaxing afternoon of frisbee throwing, sunning and partying. Sunday afternoon brought out the best in everyone. Most students who intended to spend the day at the library, were coaxed away by the smell of burgers and the sound of music. Everyone came together in a relaxing atmosphere and the thought of preparing for finals was very distant and obscure.

The Resident Board, under the leadership of President Kevin Blake, did a fine job at organizing and running the party. Numerous students helped out by selling beer tickets, cooking food, and cleaning the mess up when it was all over.

Most people left the party satisfied. Springweek had just begun. There was not a worry in the world. But now Springweek is half over. This Sunday will be the end, then comes the unavoidable. So enjoy this weekend because once it’s over we must all face that fatal grand finale, FINALS!

Print Exhibit Held At Brown

An exhibit of Frank Stella’s prints — the first comprehensive show of his work at a printmaker — will be on display at the Bell Gallery of Brown University’s Last Art Center April 25-May 20. Stella first became involved in printmaking after almost 10 years as a painter. His wide range of graphic techniques has mirrored the evolution of his painting styles — his prints trace his development as a painter from the geometric, pin-striped black series of the late ’50s to the more curvilinear, decoratively-colored paintings of the late ’70s. The prints on display at the Bell Gallery, which were chosen with Stella’s approval, trace the major concerns of his artistic career as a whole.

Many of the prints in the exhibit representing Stella’s early print series are the gift of Lawrence Rubin. Others are on loan from Tyler Graphics and Petersburg Press.

The exhibit, which is sponsored by Brown’s Department of Art, is free and open to the public. Gallery hours are Monday-Friday, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday, 1 to 4 p.m. For information, call 863-2421.

ONLY THE ARMY GIVES YOU TWO WAYS TO LOWER THE COST OF EDUCATION IN JUST TWO YEARS.

LOAN FORGIVENESS

If you have a Guaranteed Student Loan or a National Direct Student Loan (made after October 1, 1975) hanging over your head, consider spending a couple of years in the Army.

If you train for certain specialties, the government will release you from 1/3 of your indebtedness (or $1,500, whichever is greater) for each year of active duty.

Obviously, a three-year enlistment would eliminate 100% of your indebtedness. But you may prefer to take a shorter route and sign up under the Army's two-year enlistment option (and put 2/3 of your debt behind you).

Or you might want to join the Army Reserve. If you qualify, as a Reservist you can stay home, get paid for your active duty, and receive 15% loan forgiveness (or $500, whichever is greater) for each year you serve.

But we're not just offering you loan forgiveness. With your education, you can probably qualify for a higher rank and pay grade. You’ll have your choice of many sophisticated Army skills.

And you may be eligible for generous monetary educational incentives.

TWO-FOR-ONE SAVINGS PLAN

If your dream is to continue your education some day, joining the Veterans' Educational Assistance Program can bring that day closer.

In fact, in just two years you can accumulate up to $9,200 for grad school. (Only the Army can offer you a two-year enlistment.)

It’s not a loan, so you’ll never have to worry about making payments. It’s simply a savings program between you and the government.

If you save between $25 and $100 of your monthly Army pay, the government will match that amount two-for-one. On top of that, you might qualify for an exclusive Army educational incentive of $2,000. (Longer enlistments can result in higher incentives.)

And you can participate in VEAP at the same time you’re receiving loan forgiveness.

So, in just two years, you can go back to school with 2/3 of your debt behind you and an additional $9,200 for your education ahead of you. (Of course, a longer enlistment could result in more educational benefits and 100% loan forgiveness.)

To find out more about both ways to serve your country as you serve yourself, call 800-421-4422. In California, 800-252-0011. Alaska and Hawaii, 800-423-2244. Ask for the name of the Army's college representative nearest you.

El Salvador Coalition

The Rhode Island Third World Solidarity Committee is a coalition of student groups which include social church justice groups, political action groups, community action groups, family folk, senior citizens, young people, the disabled, and unions. All people who continue to be morally outraged by the actions of the United States government toward the oppressed countries and specifically now by continued U.S. aid to El Salvador. Over 30 social change groups are involved in this committee and TWSC works closely with the Brown University chapter of the Committee of Concerned Students (CCS) of Harvard University and People of El Salvador (CISPE). The CCS is the U.S. government position that the Duarte government in El Salvador has been supported in all government both works with, and clandestinely supports people, who have been murdering thousands of workers, peasants, and church people in political assassinations. The land reform program is in the hands of the same North American who set up a similar program in Vietnam, and he has been very poor but to control the peasants and to eradicate the opposition of the student activity fee. As the programming budget the BOG receives a bulk of the money that is allocated to different organizations by Congress.

But be added, "We cannot move into El Salvador because the President is inaccessible to the American people." Board Chairman George F. Powell then made the conflicting reports which came out of the visit an added terrible Monday." Powell remarked, "The people who went down to El Salvador face a great deal of pressure from their own news gathering institutions. This leads to make them too quick to jump at a story. They will only believe that they are right if they want to be first." Powell looked tanned and rested. Wearing a light suit which complimented his sandal bluns that sat in the spokes. This, according to one student, was the first time he had seen him in 3 months. He had always pictured him wearing "banker’s colors” and speaking stern-faced to a dozen or so microphones on a podium.

Powell came to the Carter camp in 1979 when he joined Carter’s campaign for the gubernatorial seat in Georgia. He stayed with them throughout the entire campaign. Now that his schedule has become less complicated, Powell said he plans to move back home in Washington with his wife and daughter. He is currently working on a book dealing with the relationship between the White House and the Department of Defense. Powell also occasionally writes an Op-Ed piece for the Washington Post.

Powell emphasized the need for total involvement by the students. He said, "You can not be damaged by the way you do it. The truth is that there is no such thing as a student movement which is a separate entity. A student movement is an integral part of the social democratic movement in this nation."

In getting involved, Powell suggested that students must keep in mind what is the purpose which he himself is involved in. A scholarship fund has been set up and the purpose of the fund is to kill or critically wounded in the aborted nuclear test at Seminole. Donations are now being accepted through the Simon Scholarship Fund, PO Box 88, Dallas, Texas 75232.

The Third World Solidarity Committee also takes the position that the United States government, by claiming that the major sources of the FMLN are in Cuba and Chile, is trying to justify direct military intervention. Regardless of the sources of their supplies, the people of El Salvador will continue to struggle for social justice until they have won.

The group believes that solidarity with the people of the Third World is the most effective way of dealing with the age. Since its founding in January of this year, the committee has been on an aggressive tour to recruit students to join its ranks. It has been engaged in a number of activities, including a petition campaign to have the federal government order the FBI to turn over the names and addresses of all individuals who have been killed or wounded in the recent uprising in El Salvador. The committee has also been active in organizing student demonstrations and rallies on the campus and in the surrounding community. The group has also been involved in organizing student demonstrations and rallies on the campus and in the surrounding community. The group has also been involved in organizing a number of workshops and seminars on the social, economic, and political issues facing the people of El Salvador.

Five ECAC Champs Honored

Five Providence College hockey players who helped lead the Friars to the ECAC Division I championship and into the quarterfinals of the NCAA Tournament, were honored by the New England Hockey Writers' Association.

Freshman center Gates Orlando took home the George C. Cares Award as the New England Rookie of the Year. He led PC in scoring with 21 goals, 32 assists and 56 points, tying a six-year old Friar record held by Bardley Wilson for the most points in a season by a freshman player.

Senior John Sullivan, who played on the same line with Orlando and finished seventh on the team in scoring (13-13-26), received the Joe Tomsello Unsung Hero Award. A four-year veteran who has virtually gone unnoticed, Sullivan finished his career with 43 goals, 53 assists and 86 points.

Senior Captain Steve O'Neill, the third member of the Friars' high scoring line (with Orlando and Sullivan), and defenseman Scott Kleinendorst and Randy Velliecheck were honored as members of the writers' All-New England team.

It was the second straight year O'Neill and Kleinendorst were honored.

O'Neill will depart as Providence's third all-time leading scorer with 164 points. He also is fourth all-time in goals scored at PC with 74 and fifth in assists with 90 in his career.

Kleinendorst, a junior, and Velliecheck, a sophomore, may have been the best pair of defensemen in the East. Kleinendorst finished third on the PC team in scoring this winter (3-31-34) and Velliecheck, one of only three players to have played in all 33 Friar games, had 3 goals and 12 assists for 15 points.
