Welcome Back to PC

Volume XXXIII, No. 4
September 17, 1980
Providence, R.I. 02918
USPS 136-260

President’s Day 1980

By Catherine Jahn

Did yesterday's day off from classes come as a welcomed treat for you? To many students, the second annual Providence College President's Day was just that—a day off, when they could sleep till noon and spend the afternoon in the sun enjoying free food and the company of friends. However, President's Day was that and much more. Sponsored by the Student Congress and the Office of Special Events, President's Day was instituted last year by Rev. Thomas R. Petersen, O.P., president of the College as a new PC tradition.

According to Father Peterson, in a letter which was sent to the PC student body, faculty, and staff last week, President's Day was designed "to provide the entire Providence College family an opportunity to meet and greet one another and to share their ideas and hopes for the coming year."

And that is just what yesterday's day off proved to be.

The day's activities began yesterday morning with an Academic Convocation held in Alumni Hall gymnasium at 11:00 a.m. In an address which Father Peterson delivered to the students, faculty, and staff, he compared the Providence College community to a crew on a boat "Freedom," which is competing in this year's America's Cup races. According to Father Peterson, the 1980's are predicted to be a time of crisis.

The Council allows all of the college's clubs to keep in touch with each other's upcoming activities. Attendance at this meeting is strongly urged.

A resolution suggesting that a letter be sent to Rev. Thomas R. Petersen, O.P., President of the College...as not accepted. The letter, presented by Rob Giovino, was described as "well lit."

Father Peterson stated that all people "are free to be themselves." The crew of "Freedom" takes the daggers of the open seas and turns them into opportunities for themselves. In a similar way, we must all work to make PC "able to sail," even against rough seas and winds. If we really try, students, faculty, staff, and administration alike, we can make PC work for itself.

Furthermore, in comparison with the boat "Freedom," Father Peterson stated that all people "are free to be themselves." The crew of "Freedom" takes the daggers of the open seas and turns them into opportunities for themselves. In a similar way, we must all work to make PC "able to sail," even against rough seas and winds. If we really try, students, faculty, staff, and administration alike, we can make PC work for itself.

Yesterday morning's convocation.

Co-ed Assaulted on Campus...

By Karen Ryder

Sexual assault. Fortunately, it is a rather uncommon problem on the Providence College campus. Unfortunately, because of its rarity, members of the college community have a tendency to forget that its occurrence is a constant possibility.

Sunday, September 15, between 7:30 and 8:00 p.m., a resident of Aquinas Hall was the victim of such an assault. The young woman, a sophomore, was on her way from the library to her dorm room to get a book she had forgotten, when she was approached by a male carrying a knife. The attack occurred on the sidewalk on the grounds of McDermott Hall, an area which Donna McCaffrey, assistant director of residence at the college described as "well lit."

The man, whose obvious intention was rape, threatened the girl with death if she did not cooperate. After being pulled into a dark area nearby, the young woman managed to free herself before the assailant could rape her.

She was not physically hurt, but was extremely frightened by the incident. Donna McCaffrey

...Students Attacked Off Campus

By Bill Sullivan

The Providence College campus set the stage for a series of incidents last week that brought the administration and student body to a heightened state at what seems to be an increasing incidence of violence in the area. The majority of these incidents involved unprovoked clashes between PC students and local youth attempting to display their fighting prowess through use of clubs, bottles, and rocks.

It was Friday night at approximately 11:00 p.m. when the disturbances began. The major incident involved four PC students walking home from Rodcliffe (continued to page 3)
More Congress News

The second Student Congress meeting of the 1980-81 year was held Sunday, September 19, in Slavin Center.

First on the agenda was the budget of $165,000.00, that plans for student mini-committee, Laura Foley announced. The student body is satisfied with the present and future plans of BOG.

The Board of Governors serves the entire student body and the student body is satisfied with the present and future plans of BOG.

New Congress News

By Dori Popolillo

The 1980-81 season has just begun, and the Providence College Board of Governors have started their work successfully. The September 3rd meeting, held in Slavin Center, was the first of many upcoming events.

Plans for the new season include serving the special needs of freshmen and developing the renovation of the last resort and expansion of fine arts presentations. The Research and Development Committee is preparing a survey to see if the student body is satisfied with the present and future plans of BOG.

The Board of Governors serves the entire student body and the student body is satisfied with the present and future plans of BOG.

More Congress News

The Student Congress meeting of the 1980-81 year was held Sunday, September 19, in Slavin Center.

First on the agenda was the budget of $165,000.00, that plans for student mini-committee, Laura Foley announced. The student body is satisfied with the present and future plans of BOG.

The Board of Governors serves the entire student body and the student body is satisfied with the present and future plans of BOG.

New Congress News

By Dori Popolillo

The 1980-81 season has just begun, and the Providence College Board of Governors have started their work successfully. The September 3rd meeting, held in Slavin Center, was the first of many upcoming events.

Plans for the new season include serving the special needs of freshmen and developing the renovation of the last resort and expansion of fine arts presentations. The Research and Development Committee is preparing a survey to see if the student body is satisfied with the present and future plans of BOG.

The Board of Governors serves the entire student body and the student body is satisfied with the present and future plans of BOG.

Around The Campus

Blood Drive

The PC chapter of the Knights of Columbus is sponsoring a blood drive on Wednesday, Sept. 17, in Slavin Center from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m. Students and faculty are asked to donate.

At the Movies

The BOG will present the Alfred Hitchcock thriller Psycho at 8 p.m. on Thursday, September 18 in the Last Resort. "Airborne" or "jump school" was indefinitely the highlight of the summer," said Boucher. "I was the most physically demanding thing I've ever done. There's no other way to explain it. It gave me much personal satisfaction when I landed after the last jump."

Cadet Lieutenant Colonel
Denise Boucher

New PC ID Meal Card Policy

by Tim O'Hara

As a result of a decision made at the President's Office this summer, a new entrance policy has been enforced at Raymond Hall Cafeteria. The new system, requested by Tim Manning, director of Student Life, requires students to present at the first meeting on Thursday, September 18.

Next, McGugan, of the finance committee, reminded all clubs to have their Annual Reports ready by September 19.

"I don't think that the system has been working the way it should. It's been a bit of a mess," said McGugan.

The Resident Board is working on a policy that will guarantee housing to freshmen.

The system those problems would be solved. An identification picture of the student on the meal card was hoped to make transformation to another individual difficult. It was also hoped that since ID's are used for so many things that students would not be so inclined to lose them; thus increasing the estimated $5,000 expense for reissuing tickets, an increase in the number of meal cards lost.

Unfortunately, the results have not been what was expected. To this date, more P.C. ID meal cards have been lost than the total number of meal cards replaced by the President's Office during this entire period last year. Another problem is the increasing number of students who are appearing in the entrance of Raymond Hall without their P.C. ID meal cards.

To combat these problems, a fine system has been set up. Those who lose the meal cards must report the loss to the President's Office immediately and a new meal card will be issued at a cost of fourteen dollars. Father Heath stresses that the replacement fee is relatively low in comparison to the $1,400 potential value of the meal stickers. Father Heath recently decided that as of September 22, students who forget their P.C. ID's will be charged full price at the entrance to Raymond Hall and will receive a receipt. The receipt will be refunded when shown to the President's Office along with the PC ID.

As the new system approaches its third week, new difficulties are becoming apparent while the President's Office is coming up with new solutions to combat the weaknesses. Father Heath admits that the card system is not perfect but for the time being is better than what had previously existed.

FRESHMEN COMMUTERS

The Chaplain's Office, Counseling Center and the Dillon Club would like to invite you to an informal luncheon.

WHEN— Tuesday, September 23, 1980, 12:00-1:30
WHERE—'64 Hall — Slavin Center

WHY—To meet with other commuter students and informally get to know some key people on campus. (Athletics, Student Affairs, Infirmary Staff.)

There will be no speeches, commercials or registration forms.

Sign up now at the Information Desk — Slavin Center. Number of students is limited and reservations are on a first come first serve basis.
Manni Appointed MBA Director

Robert A. Manni, an assistant professor in the business department, has recently been named director of the Master of Business Administration (MBA) program at PC. He is a 1970 graduate of the College and earned his MBA degree from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. He is also a Certified Public Accountant.

The MBA program, which now enrolls 80 students, was begun in 1972. It is geared to meet the growing need for people with business background in the marketplace and industry who seek to increase their potential for upward mobility by increasing their management expertise and technical knowledge. Manni said he believes that it is better to get an MBA degree while on the job, because it better enables them to relate materials learned in class to their practical application in business and in industry.

Manni's objective is to increase the quality of the MBA program through introduction of new and innovative courses. Of utmost importance to the new director is to keep the classes small so that students may receive individualized instruction. Classes are held strictly at night since most students enrolled in the program also work, during the day. The average student requires four to five years to complete requirements for the MBA degree from Providence College.

OFF CAMPUS

(continued from page 1)

ave at about that time. As they cruised through a speeding car swung into the left lane and tried to cut them off, nearly hitting them. He was later stopped by the police after a pursuit that brought him to the house where the students were beginning to cross Hussey Ave. with a car, maroon Monte Carlo, came back with five "locals," who jumped out of the car and attacked the students viewing the incident. The police responded at 11:45 p.m. when four students were sitting on the rock wall in front of Guzman. In total there were four attacks, one in a cream and black Buick LeSabre pulled up adjacent to two parked cars in the left lane, four or five "men" jumped from the car, and hit one of the students. Guzman residents viewing the incident ran out of the dorm with assorted objects in hand and attacked the "locals" who were accompanying the "men." The assailants were broken with rocks and tire irons and the windows on one of the parked cars were smashed in. Security was called during the incident but before they could arrive the car had sped away.

Violence is in many ways an integral part of life yet before this weekend Providence College had managed to escape relatively unscathed. Campus officials, a few, however, can always change the course of events. Students should suffer concussions, sprained ankles, and admission to local hospitals. In response to these attacks, it can only be stressed that Providence students should exercise due caution and be aware of their surroundings through community vigilance. It's the only way to avoid embarrassing a major and long-lasting confrontation.

Congress

(continued from page 2)

An important topic that is being brought up to the campus is the problem of alcoholism. The students of Providence College have a serious problem on their hands which is not restricted to campus but extends beyond. The students have been asked to vote on a proposition which would allow the sale of alcohol on campus, and are being asked to vote on this proposition on September 12th.

In committee reports, Laura Foley, chairperson of the academic research committee announced that a meeting would be held soon regarding her proposed mini-courses for students. Jane Silveria, president of the Dillon Club, stated that the second annual Harvest Ball will be held on Sunday, October 12. Also, the off-campus directory will soon be available.

Special recognition was given to Ed Flynn, president of the Off-Campus Resident Organization (OCRO) for the many hours of work he has put in over the past several months. Flynn has been responsible for finding space for a large number of students who were left without a place to live. He organized several seminars about common legal problems regarding off-campus life. Flynn also mentioned that a social is being planned for off-campus residents. OCRO's new office is located at Slavin Center.

Ring Weekend bids go on sale October 2 to 6. Ring Weekend is November 13-16.

Class of '83 officer Ryder, '82, class of '83 officer Jane Silveria, president of the Off-Campus Resident Organization (OCRO) for the many hours of work he has put in over the past several months. Flynn has been responsible for finding space for a large number of students who were left without a place to live. He organized several seminars about common legal problems regarding off-campus life. Flynn also mentioned that a social is being planned for off-campus residents. OCRO's new office is located at Slavin Center.

In general discussion, Mark Vogel received favorable response to his suggestion to sponsor another Student Exchange Conference. There will be more to report on this issue later in the semester.

It was also decided before camping, that meetings will be held every Sunday at 6:30 p.m.

ELMHURST HAIR SALON

Complete Hair Care for Men and Women

appointment will be held on Open Meeting to all Freshmen.

Monday, September 22nd at 4 p.m.

'64 Hall

Congress Involvement including Elections etc. will be discussed.

Student Congress

1981

Completed commencement speaker surveys can be dropped off at the Slavin information desk. There will be a Bids and Favors meeting at 6:00 p.m. tonight at Slavin 104. Remember, take photos for the slide show.

1982

Ring Weekend bids go on sale October 2, 3, and 6. Ring Weekend is November 13-16.

1983

Ring Weekend core committee will be chosen this week.

1984

Class elections for Student Congress will be October 2.
Editorials

PC Administration Stalls:

Shuttle Service in Neutral

The nature of living in the PC community has changed greatly in the past ten years. Providence College at one time had two separate types of students—commuters and on-campus residents. Few students lived in the three story tenements that surrounded the physical campus. In response to increased enrollments, the admittance of undergraduates, and the resulting stringent residence rules, many PC students have opted for the off-campus apartment lifestyle. The results of this change have been many. The exodus of students from on-campus to off-campus living has increased the actual physical size of the PC campus. Students now reside in the Douglass Avenue area to the Smith Street area. The number of people, who are mainly juniors and seniors, has greatly increased. Living in the area immediately surrounding official PC boundaries.

The PC administration has only begun to realize its responsibilities to the off-campus residents, perhaps they are not liable or responsible for these students’ activities or their landlords, activities, etc. However, the Editorial Board of The Cowl would argue that the College administration does and should bear some moral obligation to these students.

It is common knowledge that there are more students on campus to accommodate all students, both commuter and on-campus. The mandatory placement of over 150 freshmen students in off-campus apartments is a clear example. Yet, at this time there is no system in place to accommodate these students. These students are still members of the PC campus community by these facts alone that they are full-time residents in an area of relative proximity to the College.

In recent years, this demographic movement of the student population has resulted in numerous problems. The most common being the safety and security of off-campus apartment dwellers.

The PC Security-Providence Police Department. A student is protected by the PC security department as long as he is in within the legal PC boundaries. Many PC students have opted for the off-campus apartment lifestyle. The results of this change have been many. The exodus of students from on-campus to off-campus living has increased the actual physical size of the PC campus. Students now reside in the Douglass Avenue area to the Smith Street area. The number of people, who are mainly juniors and seniors, has greatly increased. Living in the area immediately surrounding official PC boundaries.

The PC administration has only begun to realize its responsibilities to the off-campus residents, perhaps they are not liable or responsible for these students’ activities or their landlords, activities, etc. However, the Editorial Board of The Cowl would argue that the College administration does and should bear some moral obligation to these students.

The PC administration has only begun to realize its responsibilities to the off-campus residents, perhaps they are not liable or responsible for these students’ activities or their landlords, activities, etc. However, the Editorial Board of The Cowl would argue that the College administration does and should bear some moral obligation to these students.

There are many off-campus students living in the area of relative proximity to the College. The PC administration has only begun to realize its responsibilities to the off-campus residents, perhaps they are not liable or responsible for these students’ activities or their landlords, activities, etc. However, the Editorial Board of The Cowl would argue that the College administration does and should bear some moral obligation to these students.

The PC administration has only begun to realize its responsibilities to the off-campus residents, perhaps they are not liable or responsible for these students’ activities or their landlords, activities, etc. However, the Editorial Board of The Cowl would argue that the College administration does and should bear some moral obligation to these students.

The PC administration has only begun to realize its responsibilities to the off-campus residents, perhaps they are not liable or responsible for these students’ activities or their landlords, activities, etc. However, the Editorial Board of The Cowl would argue that the College administration does and should bear some moral obligation to these students.

The PC administration has only begun to realize its responsibilities to the off-campus residents, perhaps they are not liable or responsible for these students’ activities or their landlords, activities, etc. However, the Editorial Board of The Cowl would argue that the College administration does and should bear some moral obligation to these students.

The PC administration has only begun to realize its responsibilities to the off-campus residents, perhaps they are not liable or responsible for these students’ activities or their landlords, activities, etc. However, the Editorial Board of The Cowl would argue that the College administration does and should bear some moral obligation to these students.

The PC administration has only begun to realize its responsibilities to the off-campus residents, perhaps they are not liable or responsible for these students’ activities or their landlords, activities, etc. However, the Editorial Board of The Cowl would argue that the College administration does and should bear some moral obligation to these students.

The PC administration has only begun to realize its responsibilities to the off-campus residents, perhaps they are not liable or responsible for these students’ activities or their landlords, activities, etc. However, the Editorial Board of The Cowl would argue that the College administration does and should bear some moral obligation to these students.

The PC administration has only begun to realize its responsibilities to the off-campus residents, perhaps they are not liable or responsible for these students’ activities or their landlords, activities, etc. However, the Editorial Board of The Cowl would argue that the College administration does and should bear some moral obligation to these students.
Counseling Center Notes

by John McGrath
October begins the 1981 on Campus recruitment season. Schools, accounting firms and companies will be visiting PC to talk with interested candidates.

Accounting firms use a pre-screening system. They review resumes and, in some cases, other data and select the students they feel would contribute to the professional services they offer to the business community.

Schools primarily come to inform and share information rather than recruit. Talking to a school representative can take you out of the mystique of trying to graduate or professional school.

Seniors will use a "point bidding system" to secure an interview with the employer. Each senior will be assigned an account of 500 points. Each senior will then use any amount of these points to "bid" for an interview. Schools, of course, will represent a genuine investment. Accurate and timely information on the employer and the position will be available at the Counseling Center to guide the senior's decision making.

Professional aspirations call for professional behavior. Each of these employers is looking for professional qualities in the job candidates.

Professionalism involves sound planning, self-organization, decision making, and follow through. The bidding system incorporates these qualities.

The bidding system will also help seniors keep track of job opportunities in perspective and avoid panic and pessimism. Facing the realities of the job market is a challenging growth process.

I have watched many confused or hesitant seniors of last year develop into the mature, confident, effective adults they seek. The setbacks and achievements of the job search both contributed to this positive development.

Every senior has a contribution to make to an employer. Some are ready to make that contribution right now. Others need to follow through. Each senior should look forward to serving the needs of both groups of students.

Counseling Center Notes

by John McGrath

October begins the 1981 on Campus recruitment season. Schools, accounting firms and companies will be visiting PC to talk with interested candidates.

Accounting firms use a pre-screening system. They review resumes and, in some cases, other data and select the students they feel would contribute to the professional services they offer to the business community.

Schools primarily come to inform and share information rather than recruit. Talking to a school representative can take you out of the mystique of trying to graduate or professional school.

Seniors will use a "point bidding system" to secure an interview with the employer. Each senior will be assigned an account of 500 points. Each senior will then use any amount of these points to "bid" for an interview. Schools, of course, will represent a genuine investment. Accurate and timely information on the employer and the position will be available at the Counseling Center to guide the senior's decision making.

Professional aspirations call for professional behavior. Each of these employers is looking for professional qualities in the job candidates.

Professionalism involves sound planning, self-organization, decision making, and follow through. The bidding system incorporates these qualities.

The bidding system will also help seniors keep track of job opportunities in perspective and avoid panic and pessimism. Facing the realities of the job market is a challenging growth process.

I have watched many confused or hesitant seniors of last year develop into the mature, confident, effective adults they seek. The setbacks and achievements of the job search both contributed to this positive development.

Every senior has a contribution to make to an employer. Some are ready to make that contribution right now. Others need to follow through. Each senior should look forward to serving the needs of both groups of students.
FACT #1: ARMY ROTC MAKES ANY COLLEGE DEGREE WORTH

Why? Because Army ROTC is a course that adds a valuable dimension to your college education. A dimension of leadership and management training. Training that helps you develop poise, stamina, and self-confidence. Three things you can't get from textbooks.

Training that also enables you to upgrade with both an Army officer's commission and a college degree in your chosen major. And when we say ROTC can help your career, we mean it. In the military. And out.

In the active Army, over 70% of the second lieutenants commissioned are ROTC graduates. And in civilian life, your ROTC background will help you gain a lot of ground in today's competitive job market. Because it tells a potential employer you've got more to offer than just potential. You've got experience. As a leader. As a decision-maker. As a doer. Few recent college grads can offer this kind of experience. And few college courses provide this kind of unique training.

FACT #2: Taking Army ROTC won't interfere with your other studies. You'll attend ROTC classes only a few hours each week, along with the subjects in your major.

FACT #3: Not all of your ROTC training takes place in the classroom. Some of it takes place in the field, too. It's called adventure training. And you could find yourself doing any one of a number of adventurous activities. Like rappelling a cliff. Or shooting the rapids. Or finding your way out of a forest with nothing but a map and compass to guide you.

FACT #4: There's no military commitment whatsoever during your first two years of ROTC (Basic Course). Why? So you'll have the chance to look us over. And vice versa.

FACT #5: The Advanced Course, usually taken your last two years of college, is when you agree to serve as a 2nd Lieutenant in today's Army (including the Army Reserve and National Guard). If you decide to go on active duty, your commitment is only three years, unless you win an ROTC scholarship; then, it's four years. You'll also receive financial assistance—$1,000 a month, up to $1,000 a year—in the Advanced Course. And now you can earn even more. Now you can also serve in the Army Reserve or Army National Guard while you're enrolled in ROTC. It's called the Simultaneous Membership Program (SMP). If you qualify, you'll serve as an officer trainee in a selected Reserve component, and earn $700 or more a month, to start. Add the $1,000 a month you'll receive in the Advanced Course, and you could end up with over $1,700 a month for yourself.

FACT #6: It takes more than brains or brawn to win an Army ROTC scholarship. Sure, your SAT or ACT score carries a lot of weight. And there are certain physical requirements. But Army ROTC looks for other qualities, too. Leadership qualities. So if you're involved in varsity sports, or your student government, or even if you're holding down a part-time job after school, ROTC will want you points for it toward winning a scholarship.

FACT #7: Amy ROTC gives you opportunities to win a four-year scholarship. Here's how it works. If you apply before August 15th, you may win one of the early scholarships available. If you miss the deadline, or if you don't win, your application will be automatically reviewed in a later cycle. And you may win one of the additional scholarships available then. Several hundred scholarships are awarded each year. Deadline for all four-year applications is December 1st. Army ROTC also has hundreds of three- and two-year scholarships available, too. So if you don't start college on one of our scholarships, you may still be able to finish on one.

FACT #8: Now, when you graduate from ROTC, you can opt to serve at home with an Army Reserve or Army National Guard unit part-time. It's called the Reserve Forces Option. Take advantage of it, and you can put your ROTC training to work in your civilian career right away. And to add to your civilian pay, you'll earn over $1,600 a year, for serving usually 24 hours a month and two weeks a year as a 2nd Lieutenant.

FACT #9: Taking Army ROTC isn't a snap. But practically all those who have completed the program, from corporate presidents to national leaders, agree on one thing: their ROTC training made their college education more valuable. And ROTC will do the same for you. That's a fact.

For more information, send the attached postcard, or write: Army ROTC, I.0. Box 7XXX, Larchmont, New York 10538.

CALL PROVINCENCE COLLEGE ROTC — 865-2471/2472

ARMY ROTC. LEARN WHAT IT TAKES TO LEAD.
1980-81 Counseling and Career Planning Center Workshops

Have some free time? The following programs will help you make your experience at Providence College more enjoyable and productive. These workshops will be held over the course of the year at times and dates convenient for those who express an interest. Some meet only once, others meet for a few weeks. If you have an already-formed group (e.g. club, classroom, group of friends) who might be interested, a special workshop can be held for you.

Want more information? Simply use the form below to let us know, and we'll send you more details. Give it a try, and do yourself a favor!

Orientation to Placement Services
How the point-bid system works for seniors; the on-campus recruitment program; establishing a credentials file; library resources; individual consultations. McGrath, Coffey.

Self-Assessment
Identifying and describing strengths, achievements, skills; self-development options; matching strengths to the job market. McGrath, Coffey.

Writing an Effective Resume
How to highlight your strengths and qualifications in writing to an employer. McGrath, Coffey.

Maximizing Your Interview Strengths
Preparing for job interviews; contributing as a partner to the interview process; communicating current and developing strengths, competence, and motivation to employers. McGrath, Coffey.

Organizing Your Job Campaign
Researching the job market; developing options and resources; targeting a match; implementing an active, well-paced, well-organized approach to on-campus and off-campus job opportunities. McGrath, Coffey.

Helping Reduce Test Anxiety (2 sessions)
Preparing physically and mentally to take exams. Sydney.

Self-Esteem (2 sessions)
Designed for students who devaluate themselves and their accomplishments, this workshop helps individuals to become more confident and self-assured. Sydney.

Life Planning (4 sessions)
An opportunity to make a realistic and probing evaluation of self in terms of personal goals, expectations and ambitions, and using this information to make decisions about one’s future life-style and career. Coffey, Phillips.

Relationship Enhancement (5 sessions)
A workshop for student couples (at least one member a PC student) to explore and define the nature of their relationships with respect to values, priorities and possible future goals. Intended for couples at all levels of commitment. Phillips.

Transition to College (5 sessions)
A group specifically designed for freshmen that focuses on the attitudes and skills necessary to adjust to the college environment and the new challenges it brings. Phillips.

Assertiveness Training (4 sessions)
Communicating more effectively by saying what’s on your mind in the way it can best be heard without feeling guilty or hesitant. A good way to strengthen relationships and feel better about yourself. Kiernan.

Women’s Rap Group (8 sessions)
An opportunity to share and discuss issues that concern the woman student. Societal, health and individual-related topics will be explored in an open, informal atmosphere. Kiernan.

Help! I’m a Transfer Student (6 sessions)
You’re new to PC, but your concerns are very different from those of a freshman. This workshop provides an opportunity to address those issues specifically related to the life of a transfer student. Kiernan.

Leadership (1 session)
An opportunity to discover and refine the leadership skills you already possess (believe it or not) by discovering your priorities, examining your communication style, and becoming sensitive to the needs of your subordinates. For all students. Phillips.

Time Management (2 sessions)
Time is like money. Are you overdrawn? How to make more productive use of your time so that you can spend your day (and night) with the activities most important to you. Phillips.

Making Friends and Developing Relationships (5 sessions)
It can often be hard to meet people and/or form the kind of friendships you prefer. This workshop addresses the social skills and important factors involved in reaching this goal. Phillips.

Growth through Reading (8 sessions)
An opportunity to read those “non-required” books that there never seems time for (e.g. The Women’s Room, Your Erroneous Zones) and discuss your personal reactions with a group of others. Phillips.

Coping with Stress and Anxiety (5 sessions)
Dealing effectively with personally stressful situations through straight thinking and relaxation skills. How to behave positively despite normal periods of anxiety. Phillips.

Procrastination (3 sessions)
Don’t put this one off. A workshop for those who encounter difficulty in getting down to tasks, making commitments, and meeting deadlines. Phillips.

Decision-making (3 sessions)
Making personally appropriate choices in a wide variety of school, career, and personal areas by noting personal values, abilities, and priorities, realizing alternatives and implications, and taking healthy risks. Phillips.

Self-Defeating Behaviors (5 sessions)
Breaking bad habits that incline us towards making choices that stagnate our growth rather than promote. How not to be your own worst enemy. Phillips.

Communication Skills (6 sessions)
Increasing your capacity to speak and listen effectively with individuals and within groups by expanding your present skills. Phillips.

Workshop for Undecided Majors (4 sessions)
Exploring major and career options by noting personal values, experiences, and competencies and translating that information into possible future directions. Kiernan, Phillips, McGrath.

Please send me more information about the following workshops:

Name_ Phone_ P.O. Box No._

Mail or hand-carry form to the Counseling Center, Room 210 Slavin Center.
Features
Patricia Hogan Offers Dance Instruction at PC

by Kathleen O'Neill

Are you one of the people who, as a child, was enrolled in a young person's dance class because your parents saw this to be an enriching experience? Did you anxiously await the exhilarating body and character building class, or were you counted among the many youngsters who failed to understand a reason for the weekly session of painful body movement? Patricia Hogan, the Providence College dance instructor, was a member of the latter group.

Ms. Hogan has since realized the value of children's dance classes. Through these classes Hogan came to know the gift she had for the art of dancing. She has been dancing for 25 years, a period during which she has been working to perfect her personal talents, as well as helping others (students) to realize, and strengthen their own body capabilities.

This fall Ms. Hogan has joined the PC faculty. She instructs two sections of the Body Movement and Dance course, which are offered through the College's theatre department. One class meets on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. The second course is offered in the evening.

Most students enrolled in the Body Introductory Movement and Dance class have had little, or no instructive dance experience. Hogan keeps this in mind as the class engages in floor exercises, and is introduced to ballet, tap, and jazz techniques. Isolations, improvisations, choreography, and performance are also major parts of the course.

A native Rhode Islander, born in Westerly, Hogan has studied ballet under Helen King, Director of Ballet, Boston Conservatory of Music and Harkness Ballet; Connecticut College American Dance Festival; and New York City Ballet. Hogan's performance experience includes appearances with Rhode Island Ballet, Theatre and Jose Limon's There is a Time. As a senior company member of that company, she has appeared in Nutracker, Swan Lake, Glissade, Rhythm, and Tri. Hogan is presently a performer with the Festival Ballet at the Rhode Island and Ocean State Theatre.

Ms. Hogan is presently studying with Christine Hennessy, and Winthrop Corey. She teaches 11 classes per week at the Wickford Academy of Dance, in addition to the class at PC that she teaches at PC.

Hogan recognizes that each person will benefit differently by a dance class. Satisfaction for Hogan, as a dance instructor, comes from knowing that her student's step may be a little stronger, one may have gained a bit higher, and generally be more confident.

Hogan feels that dance is growing in popularity. One is able to get his head and body more in tune through dance. If the size of PC's Body Movement and Dance classes is any indication, Hogan is certainly correct about dance's popularity.

Marketing
Club News
Steven Williams

On September 23, the Marketing Club will begin its Special Speaker Series with guest speaker Rich Lewis, a PC's Sports Information Director and will speak on the topic of "Public Relations and Sports." The Marketing Club believes this is a topic that will interest everyone at PC and cordially invites all students to attend the meeting in Slavin 203 at 7:00 p.m.

Juniors in Japan

PROVIDENCE, RI - Two Providence College Students departed for Japan on Thursday, August 21, to participate in a one -year exchange program at Kansai University of Foreign Studies in Osaka, Japan. In exchange, Kansai University will send a Japanese student to study at Providence College in the 1981-82 academic year. Followed by a second student at the end of the fall semester, the agreement with Kansai marks the first such direct exchange program offered at Providence College.

Hogan's performing experience includes appearances with Rhode Island Ballet, Theatre and Jose Limon's There is a Time. As a senior company member of that company, she has appeared in Nutracker, Swan Lake, Glissade, Rhythm, and Tri. Hogan is presently a performer with the Festival Ballet at the Rhode Island and Ocean State Theatre.

Ms. Hogan is presently studying with Christine Hennessy, and Winthrop Corey. She teaches 11 classes per week at the Wickford Academy of Dance, in addition to the class at PC that she teaches at PC.

Hogan recognizes that each person will benefit differently by a dance class. Satisfaction for Hogan, as a dance instructor, comes from knowing that her student's step may be a little stronger, one may have gained a bit higher, and generally be more confident.

Hogan feels that dance is growing in popularity. One is able to get his head and body more in tune through dance. If the size of PC's Body Movement and Dance classes is any indication, Hogan is certainly correct about dance's popularity.

Marketing Club News

Steven Williams

On September 23, the Marketing Club will begin its Special Speaker Series with guest speaker Rich Lewis, a PC's Sports Information Director and will speak on the topic of "Public Relations and Sports." The Marketing Club believes this is a topic that will interest everyone at PC and cordially invites all students to attend the meeting in Slavin 203 at 7:00 p.m.

Juniors in Japan

PROVIDENCE, RI - Two Providence College Students departed for Japan on Thursday, August 21, to participate in a one-year exchange program at Kansai University of Foreign Studies in Osaka, Japan. In exchange, Kansai University will send a Japanese student to study at Providence College in the 1981-82 academic year. Followed by a second student at the end of the fall semester, the agreement with Kansai marks the first such direct exchange program offered at Providence College.

Providence College looks forward to Jim Plunkett's return. But let's bring Jim Plunkett of Somerville, Massachusetts, a lover of Cape Cod and the beaches, in for a chat. Plunkett needs space for people to move around. He needs a bright atmosphere and did not care for the pink lights flashing in his face. To sum things up, the same old tripe saying could be used. A good time was had by all who attended. Beer soaked, sweat drenched people left the Last Resort.

It was a night many will remember and Providence College looks forward to Jim Plunkett's return. But let's bring Jim Plunkett back in a better atmosphere, to a place that can hold the many students who love to see him perform.
Tony Montanaro: “A Mime’s Eye View”

by Renee D’Avatio

The Board of Governors held its first arts presentation of the semester this past Wednesday in 16 Hall. Appearing was Tony Montanaro in “A Mime’s Eye View.” He, along with his assistants, Doug Berkly and Shelley Wallace, performed several excellent pantomime routines, including “Balloon People,” “A Little Boy’s Bad Dream,” and “Guess What I’m Doing,” to name but a few. “Balloon People” was a skit that really proved this company’s great expertise in the art of pantomime as they portrayed figures full of life and air. They silently effectuated an illusion of being able to drift and float just like inflated balloon characters in a parade. This was the first time this particular pantomime was done on stage and they must be commended for a masterful performance.

Mr. Montanaro’s production of “A Little Boy’s Bad Dream” demonstrated the height of his talent quite clearly to the audience. He achieved the task of a consummate mime by noiselessly expressing the claustrophobic feeling of being enclosed in a glass jar. Mr. Montanaro did this without the use of any props, yet this act was performed very effectively.

Tony Montanaro has been a mime for 25 years. He has his own theatre in South Portland, Maine where he teaches classes in the art of Pantomime. He said that he worked under the great Marcel Marceau but aside from this he has had no training. Montanaro and his company travel all over the United States and to Canada and Mexico. “A Mime’s Eye View” was a thoroughly entertaining show for all audiences.

Elton John Thrills Civic Center

By John Farley

A brilliant cloud envelopes the stage, the lights fixed the air above the restless crowd in this giant hall. The music was all about to start forward to greet this...this hero! This five-foot imp of a man, overweight, bespectacled, and balding, hardly seems worthy of this warlike frenzy, this hero’s acclamation, boredom, of being controversial, playing a masterful performance. and they must be commended for this warlike frenzy, this hero’s acclamation, boredom, of being controversial, playing a masterpiece of the creative genius of this man — Elton John. His music is a product of the creative genius of his as well as his own environment, his own life, loves, hopes and fears in a delightful, enthusiastic, exhilarating performance.

Elton John is not a polished pianist in the classic sense, a fine arsenal, a pianist in the classic sense, a master with a fine arsenal, an exhilarating performance. Mr. Montanaro said this without the use of any props, yet this act was performed very effectively.

Fall Art Exhibits at RISD

The following activities will be taking place through the Fall of 1980 at the RISD Museum of Art. The Albert Pilavin Collection of 20th Century American Art: Painting and sculpture will be on view in the main gallery.

Through October 5 Carpet Fragments: A wide assortment of carpet fragments gathered from many regions of the Islamic world, culled from the Museum’s permanent collection by Dr. Ellen Smart, curator of Oriental art.

The RISD Museum of Art is located at 224 Benefit St., Providence, and is open Wednesdays through Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

La Cut

Precision Hair Design
for Men and Women
by Susan Bell

Call for an appointment
751-8778

895 Smith St. (corner of River Ave.)

521-3539

Frey Florist & Greenhouse

Flowers for any occasion or no occasion at all

50 Rodcliffe Ave Providence, R. I.
Tomorrow

B.O.G. Lecture Committee
presents
"Patrick Lucey"

2:30 p.m.—’64 Hall

John Anderson’s
Vice-Presidential Running Mate

This Friday, September 19th

B O G Social Committee
presents
"American Standard Band"

in an Upper Slavin Mixer

Sunday, September 21st

Film Committee
presents
"The Rose"

in the Last Resort
7:00 and 9:00

B. O. G.
Coffeehouse
"JIM TAYLOR"
Tuesday, Sept. 22nd
9-12:00
Morning Coffeehouse — 8-11

B. O. G. LAST RESORT SOCIAL

featuring
"MASON SHEEHAN BAND"

Saturday, September 20th
Last Resort tickets on sale
Thursday at 12:00 every week
Tickets: $5.00
Recreation Activities
Available at PC

J. Gerald Alaimo, Recreation Director, has announced that recreational and leisure time activities are offered here at PC with or without instruction. Following is a partial list of activities we can provide should there be a demand.

Swimming, Physical Fitness, Karate, Tennis, Basketball, Squash, Handball, Tennis, Volleyball, Road Racing.

The athletic facilities are open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. The racquet courts are open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Dance—Movement Workshop
Fitness

This workshop is designed to introduce students to the basic principles of Modern, Jazz and Ballet technique. Experiences are focused upon movement, sensitivity and expanding spatial, textural and rhythmic awareness and control.

The instructor for the DANCE WORKSHOP is Patricia Sharkey, who has taught, choreographed and performed with the Philadelphia Dance Alliance, New England Conservatory of Music, and the Rhode Island Shakespeare Theater. She holds a Master's degree in dance from Temple University.

The class will meet for 1 1/2 hrs. a week in the afternoon from 3:30-5 p.m.

Sign up in the Recreation office, second floor Alumni Hall, call 2228 or come in and visit the recreation office.

ATTENTION:
Sign up for Intramurals now! For more information, drop in on the Athletic Board Office—Room 103, Lower Slavin.

Campus Council Meeting
Wed., September 17, 1980
7 p.m.

All Club Presidents
Must Attend

CONSERVE ENERGY
(continued from page 14)

for special consideration (for example water meters). Since the savings incurred by conservation can not be passed on to the residents we would like to see the residence office use the new installed measuring systems to create some form of incentive or competitive atmosphere between the dorms which would encourage further conservation and per-haps at the end of the year reward the dorm who saved the most energy proportionately to the number of people living in the dorm.

Finally, when the President's Task Force on Energy's report is submitted, it is mandatory that quick and decisive action be taken. We cannot afford to let this report's information and recommendations go the way of the campus housing proposals and languish in limbo. The PC energy conservation problem must be acted upon immediately for conservation represents a savings in both our nation's resources and a savings in the financial costs students must bear.

IS THIS WHAT YOUR KISSES TASTE LIKE?

If you smoke cigarettes, you taste like one. Your clothes and hair can smell stale and unpleasant. You don't notice it, but people close to you do. Especially if they don't smoke.

And non-smokers are becoming a minority. They live longer.

AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

The following companies/graduate schools will be visiting Providence College during the Fall semester starting Sept. 26:

Brandies University Graduate School
Capitol University School of Law
Villanova School of Law
Univ. of Puget Sound School of Law
McGeorge School of Law
Univ. of Connecticut School of Law
Catholic University School of Law
New England Law School
MeNeil Consumer Products
U. S. Marines
Frito-Lay
U.S. Navy
Univ. of Bridgeport School of Law
 Pace University MBA
University of Rhode Island MBA
American University School of Law
Thom McAn
Ernst & Whitney
Meahl McNamar

For further information on these organizations and how to meet with the representatives contact the Counseling & Career Planning Center.
Volleyball Girls Get a Taste of the Big Time

by Mary Gibbons

Volleyball at PC should be regarded as more than ever as fam to the opportunity to watch world-class play in our own Alumni Hall. The U. S. Women's Volleyball team stunned the Lady Friars in an exhibition match Wednesday, September 30, with victories by 15-0, 15-0.

The team's two sets set the tone for the Friars, who managed to stay competitive throughout the match. The Lady Friars proved to be a formidable force, with their quick and athletic play keeping the PC players on their toes throughout the game. The Friars' victory was a testament to their hard work and dedication to the sport.