Profile of Freshmen Candidates

By Peggy Hogan

The freshmen class will become active members in the Providence College Student Congress when the election of their class officers takes place Thursday, October 2, in Slavin Center.

Four students are contending for the top position of freshmen class president. Marty Bolton, Kellie Coleman and undecided major from Waterbury, CT, and undecided major from Avon, NJ. She commented on the importance of student involvement, stating, "I don't see who there's any reason everyone can't be heard."

The final candidate is biology major Sean Sullivan from St. Croix, the Virgin Islands. Sullivan noted that, "Given the opportunity, I would like to represent the Class of 84 as president, for I feel one can give the type of leadership our class not only needs, but to rightly deserve."

The freshmen for vice-president most often stressed the need for greater class unity, as well as greater school unity. The eight students vying for the office are: Sue Avila, a political science major from Davenport, IA; Pat Cosley, a history major from Cranston, RI; Bill Goggin, a political science major from Brockton, MA; Lori Pelikan, a business major from South Windsor, CT; Michelle Rainville, an undecided major from Stamford, CT; and Joan Whalen, a history major from Long Island, NY.

The position of secretary will be filled by one of the following seven students: Nancy Gavlaris, a business major from New Haven, CT; Michelle Dubue, a political science major from Savannnah, GA; Catherine John, an English major from Commewin, CT; Joanne Maniche, a health sciences major from Providence, RI; Jennifer Mello, a political science major from Bristol, RT; Rosemary Piro, a biology major from Norwell, CT; and Patty Wright, an undecided major from Natick, MA.

Running for the office of treasurer are: Joanne Belanger, a political science major from Lowell, MA; Mike Flanagan, an accounting major from Warwick, RI; George Mason, a history major from Cranston, RI; Keith Plante, an English major from Midleton, HI; Cindy Sampson, a political science major from Brockton, MA, and Steve Williams, an accounting major from Wallingford, CT.

Five freshmen class representatives will be chosen from a field of eighteen nominees. On the ballot will be Kathy Bennett, an undecided major from Southport, MA; Lorene Burke, a social work major from Lenox, MA; Arlene Chaviun, a Spanish major from Narragansett, RI; Kathy Kyle, a psychology major from South Yarmouth, MA; Bill Dupont, a political major from Warren, RI; Tracey DeGregorio, a business major from West Hartford, CT; Dennis, a political science major from Fort Peuntush, RI; Gerry Flan, an undecided major from Natick, MA; John Murphy, a psychology major from Warwick, RI; Walter Rehak, an undecided major from Jackson, NJ; Joan Reitni, a business major from Columbia, TN; Linwood Sullivan, a political science major from New Haven, CT; Jay Sullivan, a business major from West Hartford, CT; and John Sullivan, a psychology major from, "Cheryl Morrisey. chairperson of the life styles committee, stated that on Monday, October 6, a random sampling of 1000 students would be surveyed regarding the proposed dances and variety store.

Freshman elections will be held Thursday, October 2 in Slavin Center.

Congress Approves Shuttle Proposal

The resolution will be introduced on the two sell-out shows of "The Rose." This week's scheduled appearance by Leonid Brezhinski, Security Advisor to President Jimmy Carter, has been cancelled October in Alumni Gym for the BOG's first concert of the 1980-81 year. The BOG will also be holding an open forum to discuss alternative activities for the weekends. The former will be held on Wednesday October 8.

Dennis McEnery, student representative to the COA, stated that the meeting last Wednesday the topic of the large number of day students attending night classes was discussed. Most of the students are trying to fulfill courses requirements which were full in the day school.

There is now a car pool list available in the Dillon Club of face. Jane Silveira, president of the club, stated that there are not only 50 beds left to the Harvest Ball which will be held October 12 at the Biltmore Hotel.

Jim McCauley, chairman of the food committee noted that there is a suggestion box once again in the student center. Ed Flynn of the Off-Campus Resident Board stated that a so-called "bounty policy" is in the works. With this policy freshmen would be assured of housing on-campus and a percentage of each of the other three classes would have to finding housing elsewhere. "Cheryl Morrisey, chairperson of the life styles committee, stated that on Monday, October 6, a random sampling of 1000 students would be surveyed regarding the proposed dances and variety store.

Freshman Commuter Luncheon Big Success

By Karen MacGillivray

The first "Freshmen Commuter Luncheons" was held last Tuesday, September 23, in Alumni Cafeteria. Sandwiches and drinks were served as freshmen listened to and met several important members of the Providence College community.

The event was co-sponsored by the Dillon Club, the Counseling Center, and the Chaplain’s Office. Guest speakers included Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.F.M., president of the College; Rev. Thomas Enke, O.F.M., Chaplain; Rev. Stuart McPhail, O.P., student affairs; Steve Sylvia, editor-in-chief of the Cowl; L. J. Manning, president of the Board of Governors; Jane Silveira, president of the Dillon Club; Ken McGuire, treasurer of the Student Congress, and Jerry Alamo, director of Intramurals and Recreation. There were also representatives from the Pastoral Council and the Big Brothers and Sisters Organization.

The luncheon was organized so that the new students could meet members of the college administration and the heads of different clubs. It was also a chance for the commuters to get acquainted with each other. "Freshman commuters are very alone, and need a social introduction into college," remarked Dillon Club secretary Jean Silveira. "We need to stress introduction to college." The Dillon Club is composed and posting a carpooling list inside the office. The social committee has been holding a raffle downstairs in Slavin Center to help reduce the price of their Harvest Ball tickets. The drawing will take place October 3 at 3 p.m. First prize is a free bid to the Harvest Ball, and second prize is a case of Heineken. The second annual Harvest Ball is scheduled for November 21.

Other items on the Dillon Club agenda include a Ground Round night with Bill Gannon on November 21, and finalizing plans for the spring trip to Bermuda. This trip is open to everyone, and is planned for the April vacation, which will be a College Week in Bermuda.

Pre-Law Discussion for Prospective Law Students

"Henry Paul Band" Part of BOG's Schedule

The Board of Governors is preparing for upcoming October events. BOG president, L. J. Manning, stated, "motivation is high and most of the members are working well together."

The programming for October includes a lecture by Rhode Island Senator Claiborne Pell on October 6.

The first major concert of the 1980-81 year is to be held on October 6, in Alumni Gym. Featured will be the Henry Paul Band, formerly of the Outlaws.

The BOG is trying to generate interest in theatre trips by promoting popular Broadway plays to be seen at the Ocean State Theatre.

Other highlights include a trip to Faneuil Hall on October 4.

Core Committee '83

The Class of 1983 has recently chosen the five chairpeople of its Junior Ring Weekend Core Committee. The chairperson of the committee is Mary Ellen Batcheller. The four sub-committees and their chairmen are as follows: Bob Ferreira, bands; Sa Oleskak, rings; Marybeth Altu, passes; and Nancy Carver, publicity. Common chairpersons are Sharon Roveda and Debbie Lavert.

All the candidates for a chairperson were interviewed by the four officers and five representatives of the Class of 1983. The officers are Greg Pigeon, president; Jim McGuire, vice-president; Judy McNamara, secretary, and Paul McVicker, treasurer. The representatives are Mary Ellen Burke, Mary Beth Carver, Jean Ludwig, Chris Fallano and Alicia Lynch.

Thanks are extended by the officers and representatives to all those who showed interest in any of the committee positions. There is, however, still great need for people to help serve on the committees. All members of the Class of 1983 are welcome and encouraged to help plan their Junior Ring Weekend. Anyone interested should contact Mary Ellen Batcheller and watch for notifications of the committee's first meeting.

PC Counseling Center:
A Job Well Done

Attending college prepares a student for adult life in a variety of ways. While most students become proficient in a specific field of interest, it also aids them in maturing both personally and socially. While, most students enjoy this experience of growth, there are times when a student simply needs some guidance. The PC Counseling and Career Planning Center exists to provide this guidance.

According to the 1980-81 placement manual the major goals and objectives of the Counseling Center are as follows: “The Counseling and Career Planning Center (CCPC) was established to assist Providence College students in identifying and solving their personal, social, and educational concerns; to offer vocational/career counseling; and to refer individuals to qualified agencies for assistance in problems not handled by the Center. The Editorial Board of The Cowl would like to congratulate the CCPC of making these goals both creatively and aggressively.

Personal Counseling. The CCPC provides a one-on-one counseling service. Any student may take advantage of this service. It focuses upon resolving personal concerns through teaching students to make decisions and communicate more effectively. All counseling services are provided on a confidential basis. The CCPC also offers group counseling for students with similar concerns. Some examples of these groups are the Women’s Rap Group and the Relationship Enhancement Group. Many of these group workshops are scheduled for the academic year.

Academic/Educational Counseling. This type of counseling is designed to help students set academic goals and teach them how to achieve them. The 1980-81 workshops dealing with educational concerns include topics such as Test Anxiety:

From the editor’s desk...

Veritas. In Latin it translates to truth; at PC it translates to a job of work for a few people. Each summer, graduating seniors complain about their yearbook. However, these same seniors are nowhere to be found when their yearbook is being put together. This year, hopefully, the Class of ’81 will change all that.

Under the leadership of John Coffey, the Veritas staff has begun production of this year’s book. Yet, he needs help. He needs all my fellow seniors to pitch in whenever they can. We, as a class, can make our yearbook one of PC’s best. Remember that our memories of PC will be preserved through its pages.

There are many ways you can help; either with photography, writing, or layout. It will not be fair if we do not work of many. For those interested there will be a meeting tomorrow at 3 p.m. in Slavin 108.

Voter Apathy:
Who Really Cares?

Voter apathy and poor voter turnout have been part and parcel of the PC election process for many years. Hopefully, in years to come, the level of participation in PC political affairs will increase. The Editorial Board of the Cowl observes one positive turn in this direction. According to Mitch Vogel, chairman of the ways and means committee, there are 43 freshmen registered for Class of ’84 offices, a large increase in comparison with previous years.

The Editorial Board of the Cowl hopes that this great display of interest in PC’s student government marks the development of a concerned and active student electorate.

There have been a few changes in the formal election process initiated by the ways and means committee. Voting in Raymond Cafeteria during dinner will no longer occur. The committee feels that in the past residents have had an unfair advantage over commuters because of the voting location. Mitch Vogel said, “We should be concerned with fairness and not numbers.” Therefore, voting will be held only in Slavin Center, from 9:30 to 5:00 this Thursday, October 2. The Editorial Board of the Cowl strongly supports this change, as it restores equity to the election process.

The opinions expressed herein are the opinions of the editorial board and do not necessarily represent the opinions of the administration or the student body of Providence College.
Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to the chaotic period on September 13, generally referred to as Jim Plunkett ticket sales. At some point in time, the Board of Governors came up with the truly good idea of installing a window for such sales. They did not, however, consider the possibility that a mob would enter from both ends of the hall after waiting an hour for Jim Plunkett tickets. The window was finally opened. The problem was, however, that those fans lucky enough to have in 10:30 classes stormed the window from the opposite side of the hall from which the line started.

Enthusiastic as students, there was a great deal of shouting and pushing only for students to find that all tickets had been sold. Not to mention the fact that 150 tickets had been sold almost immediately. I am quite disappointed that after waiting for an hour, and having a good position in line, I never received tickets.

Without being derogatory, I would like to suggest that the Board of Governors, "get their act together" and do something to rectify this situation. One suggestion that might be considered is that there be an area designated where an orderly line can be formed.

I am well aware that this situation is not entirely the fault of the Board of Governors. We are college students and mature enough to be considerate of others. I do, however, think that this situation could be avoided by a little better organization on the part of the Board of Governors.

No Winners in "The Roommate Game"

By Bill Sullivan

"The Roommate Game" has recently been released by Parker Brothers as its latest attempt to replace the age-old game of Monopoly.

The game was master-minded by Parker Brothers executive and sponsor Art Linkletter who commented that the game would provide a "simulated challenge that would enable the college student to respond to varying degrees of stress incurred in normal day-to-day relations with peers."

The Roommate Game may be played with two, three, four, or more players and is recommended for mature students 18 years of age or older. Unfortunately, the game has been seen in the hands of students who fail to meet the first criterion, and this poses problems in matching up opponents.

The news of the release of this game has been received enthusiastically on college campuses throughout the nation. As the game is rather sophisticated, we will begin now to explain how it works. The scoring depends on how one ended up in the room he/she is in.

1) How one ended up in the room he/she is in
2) The length of time one stayed there
3) The amount of suffering involved in having a roommate who has irritating alligators on his briefs (worth more points)

The following concrete examples provide you with a chance to rate yourself and your "opponents" (roommates). The person with the highest score may not find himself playing again, while the one with the lowest score may not be invited to many cocktail parties. Let us deal with some concrete illustrations of these "day-to-day relations."

Telephone rings at 3:30 a.m. Roommate is stuck on 1-95 with flat tire and no spare. "Can you come and get me?" (15 points)

Six pack of beer bought at 3:00 a.m. on Friday disappears as you go to bathroom at 4:30 p.m. (10 points)

Both roommates lying in bed awake when telephone rings. Both roommates then pretend to be asleep, until the other answers the phone. (15 points)

A snooze alarm. (10 points)

Roommate studying on Friday night walks into room while you're with crowd. (20 points)

Socks that stand up on end adorning desk adjacent to yours. (5 points)

Roommate who awakens at 7:00 a.m. and asks you to go to breakfast at 7:30 a.m. (your first class is at 11:30). (15 points)

Roommate who gets up at 12:30 on parent's weekend. (10 points)

Roommate borrows nicest shirt to see Jim Plunkett. (15 points)

Car keys disappear for one hour and then suddenly reappear. (See ROOMMATE, pg. 7)

Parent's Weekend..."Hi, Mom!"

By Maryann Vecaloo

After a month on their own, freshmen were reunited with their parents again during Parents' Weekend. A freshman myself, I have to say there were mixed feelings about this. I didn't look forward to waking up at 10 a.m. after dancing until the morning hours on Friday night. How could I pull off the "bookworm" image with blisters on my feet and sparkles in my eyes?

Well, I managed to have a great time and fool Mom and Dad while I was at it! Activities began with a brunch at Raymond Cafeteria, where Mom insisted I finish all my orange juice—how could I refuse? Of course, the Providence College Band played along. The Mass following proved to be a very interesting experience for the whole freshmen body. The celebrant was Most Reverend Louis E. Gelineau, Bishop of Providence.

Afternoon activities included a concert by the Providence College Band at St. Pius Church. The crisp fall day provided the perfect atmosphere for an outdoor game. Shouts from Hendrickfield and the smell of hot dogs and beer couldn't keep me away from the football game. Best of all, we won 14-13. Before the Mass celebrated at 4 p.m., we enjoyed listening to the Providence College concert. The full sound echoed throughout the hall in a splendid showing of talent.

The Mass following proved to be a defining experience for the whole freshmen body. The celebrant was Most Reverend Louis E. Gelineau, Bishop of Providence. Rev. Thomas F. Peterton, O.P., spoke with great pride for our Providence College community while impressing us with his many values.

A buffet dinner with cocktails finished off our day with full stomachs and happy hearts as families ate and socialized with one another.

I couldn't help feeling the day was a great success. As I waved good-bye to Mom and Dad, I turned to greet my new home!

"88's" Loop Resort Crowd

The last Resort was able to pack a full house this weekend to the sounds of a great rock and roll band. The hits. However, the tickets were not as hard to come by this time as they were for Jim Plunkett. The doors of the Resort opened at 8:30 and by 9:30 both rooms were filled to a comfortable capacity. Food for Thought: The Meal Ticket Saga

By Judy McNamara

As I strolled into Raymond Cafeteria the other day, I decided to be observant, and forego the delicacies of meat and squished vegetables that adorned the counter so that there would be more food left over when I came along. Today I was simply going to have a plain salad, the kind with lettuce and, and... well, I always did enjoy lettuce. Sometimes it is challenging to pick around the brown sections to make your own leafy green creation.

Well, as I said, I decided to observe the people around me. It was not a pleasing sight. Moans and groans could be heard from the constant chatter. A curious sophomore questioned the reasoning behind the serving of sloppy joes. Why serve something that nobody seems to care for? Everyone likes to criticize? Who knows the reasoning behind it and who really cares?

Day after day PC students eat the same food in the same way. There are only two pan cakes at a time for customer Providence College students are obviously not mature enough to decide just how large their appetites are. Yet they are mature enough to come back for seconds, pushing those ahead of them aside to get that third pancake or second helping of fries. Yet, some things never change, like the food in Raymond Cafeteria, the broken ice machine and the horrendous lines of the Residence Office.

A little poorer, a little wiser seems to be the law our Residence Offices live by. Anyone who is entitled to eat in Raymond Cafeteria has paid their room and board and therefore has paid for the food they consume there. God forbid that you leave your ID in your back pocket and a thoughtful roommate decides to wash those dirty levis for you. Or, while stooping over to pick up a book for a friend, your ID innocently slips out of your pocket and is carried away by the wind. No matter how that yellow sticker is removed, however, does not really matter. What matters to you is that little accidents like that can be costly.

This year the Residence Office will charge you $14 for the crummy yellow sticker. Your ID costs $1 at the Student Affairs Office in Slavin Center. This is reasonable considering the materials used to produce the ID. Yet, $14 for a meal sticker is a lot of money when you are living away from home and you have a budget to adhere to. I am sure Rev. Walter Heath, O.P., director of residence at PC has his reasons for this policy. And who are we, the students who this policy affects, who are we to complain?

Money talks so, the next time you plan to do something nice for your roommate or stoop over for a friend, your ID innocently slips out of your pocket and is carried away by the wind. No matter how that yellow sticker is removed, however, does not really matter. What matters to you is that little accidents like that can be costly.

That your ID is fastened to your body firmly. Possibly we could all wear them around our necks like dog tags or poke a hole in them and tie them to a belt loop. Yet before taking any drastic action check with the Residence Office and make sure it complies with their regulations. Be careful with your money. Always have the $14 stashed away in the stuffing of your Teddy Bear. You would not want to go hungry due to insufficient funds! Please pray every night for the safety of your meal sticker. Treat it with care and gentleness and maybe it will not wander off. Remember a little poorer a little wiser, but when you save a buck, even a sub from the silver truck is a gift from heaven.

The Ocean State
What Did You Do on Saturday Night?

By Ronnie White

A familiar question. A familiar answer. Yet, there was no need. Carusel was playing at the Ocean State Performing Arts Center. It's a lively entertainment production that you wouldn't have wanted to miss.

Imagine, you could have had an elegant yet inexpensive evening out, a diversion from the average Saturday night. Don't worry. Although Carusel was a one night engagement, a complete series of entertainment lies ahead. Not only are Tony Award winning musicals such as Dance and Sing along. A live band will provide pre- or post-theatre entertainment if you are planning to go all out and make it a really special night.

Include the Ocean State in your plans this weekend. Enjoy a welcome change.

A Little Bit of Ireland Comes to Providence: Muldoon's Saloon

By Neil O'Brien

A real Irish bar has opened recently in downtown Providence. It's called the Irish pub in Ireland as you can get, without leaving Rhode Island.

Muldoon's Saloon, at 250 South Water Street, Providence, is a lively entertainment spot, with Irish dancing and singing to Irish music. The reconstructed brick and stone building lends a warm and welcoming atmosphere to the saloon, only surpassed by the friendliness of the people. There are two good sized bars and plenty of tables where mixed drinks are served from $1.50 to $4.75. Guinness and Harp are on draft for $1.00. Deli sandwiches are also served in the evening. They include a hot corned beef sandwich with potato salad and pickles for $2.75.

Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. is College Night. Irish bands will play traditional Irish music as well as pop rock. Each night is an Irish Jam Session with bands to sing, dance, or just listen to. Jim Brady and his band, direct from Ireland, will be appearing Saturday night. Irish bands will play traditional Irish music with Irish and American folk songs. The Double City Ramblers, their only New England appearance, are coming soon for a special concert at the Saloon. Tickets are available at Muldoon's for $5. Ordinarily there is no cover charge.

During the day there is an extensive lunch menu.

orion soup topped with cheese at $1.25 a bowl and a chef's salad called the King Arthur's Court. Include the Ocean State in your plans this weekend. Enjoy a welcome change.

by Providence's new Burger King

By Mary McEvoy

If you happen to stroll into Westminster Mall's new restaurant on the corner of Marine St., you will be immediately confronted with its elegant appeal. The dining area is lavishly decorated with baroque drapes, brass backed chairs, stained glass windows and numerous antique pieces which are all surrounded by potted plants. However, you could wait an eternity to be seated by a maitre d, and even longer to have a waitress bring you a menu, for if you chance just a few steps further inside, you will be greeted by the ever familiar service counter of a Burger King.

The magic Burger King restaurant to establish itself in Rhode Island is known as the Providence's new Burger King.
What makes Tech Hifi the best place to buy stereo?

Appliance stores and department stores are not the best places to buy quality stereo. You'll do much better at a stereo store.

The problem is, which stereo store? You're about to read why over 2 million music lovers have decided to buy from Tech Hifi.

It's OK to pick our brains. (We know our stereo).

The salespeople at Tech Hifi know what they're talking about. They work at Tech because they love stereo, not because they love selling.

Our people keep up with all the latest equipment, and can tell you the differences among the leading brands.

You get to play at Tech Hifi, not just look.

Some stereo stores have signs all over that tell you "Don't Touch The Merchandise". At Tech Hifi our signs say "Come Play." We encourage you to spin knobs, push buttons, toss switches, and try out any of the components in our soundroom.

If you take enough time to play in a Tech Hifi soundroom, you'll get a good idea of which equipment sounds best in your price range.

The buying power of the 65 Tech Hifi stores.

The reason why no store has better prices than Tech Hifi is no dealer buys quality components in such a huge volume as the 65 Tech Hifi stores.

You'll find our prices are as good as anybody's, and often better on some brands.

You might expect to pay extra at Tech for all the extra things we offer. But you won't.

At Tech Hifi we back what you buy.

When you make any big investment like quality hifi, make sure you're getting sound guarantees.

The Lady Friars, led by tri-captains Debbie Blaise, Ann Wendt, and Meg O'Brien, proved that they will keep up the PC winning tradition, as they beat RIC 4-0 last Wednesday at Glay Field.

The game was totally dominated by Friar Booters, whose penetration time on the opposing side was astronomical. Goal number one came early in the first half when center Maria Schmidt lofted the ball over the heads of the defenders to halfback Karen Ford who drove in the goal. After the initial goal, the Friar advantage began to flow. Less than five minutes later, the second goal came within minutes of the first, when center Maria Schmidt lofted the ball to winger Amy D'Amicis who connected it to Wm. J. Pearson.

Varsity Athletic Board

The Varsity Athletic Board is a newly formed organization intended to increase student interest in varsity sports. The seven committees for the fall season are: travel, marketing, publicity, women's tennis, women's soccer-lacrosse, men's tennis-men's cross-country, women's tennis-x-country. The Board's primary aim is to make Providence College sports well known for its fan support. They plan to make this possible through advertising and special promotional schemes. Below are the newly appointed members of the Board:

Steve Regan—organizing
Elise Harnagel—organizing
Karen Dowrey—secretary
Nancy Zelano—travel
John Murphy—marketing
Chris Duffy—soccer-lacrosse
Nancy Carter—tennis-x-country
Stu Potvin—volleyball-field hockey
Ceslie Bergeon—publicity

Gridders Slip Past Stonehill, 14-13
By John Brandolino

The Providence gridders picked up their second straight victory over Stonehill as they narrowly edged Stonehill College, 14-13. The Friars pushed in to an early 14-0 lead until Stonehill came back with two touchdowns—one in the first quarter, the other in the last quarter. Stonehill had a chance to tie it with an extra-point kick but failed. However, they still placed the snap five yards back.

It was Parent's Weekend, and there was a good-sized crowd on hand to watch the gridders at Hendrickson Field. The visitors have never beaten Providence in the nine previous meetings.

Coach Bob Amato and his harriers will be looking for their second straight Big East title this Saturday.

Smith Leads the Way…
Friars Run Past Harvard, UMass

By Kevin Burke

Swimming with six of the top eight spots of the seemingly invincible Providence College cross-country team outdistanced the Crimson of Harvard and the Minutemen of UMass to take the victory in last Tuesday's tri-meet at Franklin Park. The Friar's awesome depth was evident once again as the first five across the line were separated by less than one minute of each other. The victories brought this year's record to 3-0, and extended the winning streak to 77.

Coach Amato's harriers were led by the wire by freshmen Geoff Smith, who broke the 6.2 mile course in 20:32. Irish bred junior Brendan Quinn and Roy Ternay tied for second place with a time of 20:39, while senior Billy Monahan and Jimmy Faison followed with fourth and fifth place finishes, respectively. Also supporting the winning effort were Charlie Broggy (sixth) and Paul Moloney (eighth). Charlie clocked 31:10 and Paul ran an impressive 31:56. With eight rather easy victories under their belt, PC will be out to the real test of the season when they compete in the second annual Big East Championship race at Franklin Park last fall, the Friars won this same race.

However, Amato is well aware of the high caliber of some of this year's runners. "With schools such as Villanova and Georgetown competing, this will be far from a runaway victory. In my opinion, Saturday's race will be the biggest cross-country meet that this area has ever seen," commented Amato. Villanova, new to the Big East this year, should pose the biggest threat to Providence. The Wildcats of Villanova have two of the best college runners in Sydney Maree of South Africa and Anne Kirui of Kenya. However, they lack Providence's depth and it all goes well, Amato and company should be able to hold off Villanova. Indeed, this is one race not to be missed. The Friars are right up there with the best in the nation, so support them this Saturday at Boston's Franklin Park.

X-Country Outdistances Harvard, UMass, Gridders Win Second Straight

Cross-Country
Harvard and UMass were the latest victims of the PC harriers victory juggernaut. British fave Geoff Smith led a six-man barrage as the Friars put six men across the line before Harvard runner finished just ahead of PC's Paul Moloney. This Saturday, it's back up to Franklin Park for the Big East Championships.

Soccer
After a tough 3-2 loss to the University of Rhode Island, the booters got back to their winning ways last Saturday, Parent's Day, by blanking URI, 4-0. PC got goals from Mike Moretti, Tony Cote, Mike Gilford, and Terry Kelly.

Football
Providence edged Stonehill College on a Parent's Day Satur- day afternoon, 14-13. The Friars jumped off to a quick 14-0 lead in the first half, but Stonehill came back fighting in the third quarter. In the first quarter, Tom Biga broke through defensive lines for the PC's first points. Later, Steve Lepper connected with Jim Petekewich to make it 14-0. Next game is Friday night against Assumption. Game time is 7:30 p.m. at Johnston High School.

Tennis
The men's tennis team, led by the doubles team of Chris Ditmar and Steve Chatfield, was also successful in their matches. Coach Faulise also stated his belief that this year's squad could fare as well as last year's third place in the ECAC Division I Tournament held in Quebec City.

The Friars look forward to a busy schedule this fall. Following a September 26 match at Bentley, the team will travel the weekend of October 4 to Princeton, New Jersey and represent Division II in the ECAC Division I Championship and October 17, 18, and 19 to an tournament action to be held at URI. PC will hold the Rhode Island Intercollegiate Championships October 24, 25 and 26.

Between tournament action the team faces dual matches with the likes of Florida, URI, Boston College, Colgate, Fairfield and Concordia. The matches will feature their season with a trip to Canada to compete in the Rouge Et Or Tournament in Quebec City. Coach Faulise believes this year's team has a good chance of doing as well if not better than last year's third place finish at the Big East.

Ruggers Destroy MIT, 20-6

The PC men's tennis team competed September 19, 20, and 21 at the Ivy City Classic and came away with an impressive ECAC Division II title.

Leading the way for the Friars were number one singles winner Bill Donadio and number two doubles champions Chris Ditmar and Steve Chatfield. Donadio, using a strong serve and volley game, never dropped the rounds without much difficulty, highlighted by a big victory over nationally ranked Bill Notar of St. John's in the semi-finals.

Coach Faulise had nothing but high praise for Donadio's game, citing his ability to "consistently play the aggressive game when it was necessary. I've never known a Bill to be a high caliber player and his performance this weekend proved that." The doubles combination of Chris Ditmar and Steve Chatfield were also successful in their matches. Coach Faulise, "The first couple of matches were tougher than we had expected, but we played well considering this was our first time together as a team in tournament competition."

"There was no doubt in our minds that we could play well as a team, but it just took time getting used to each other's game. Once we did, we were able to win the crucial points consistently when the pressure was on," added Ditmar.

Coach Faulise also stated his belief that this year's squad displays depth and is able to use that strength against such a strong field of teams. "Any tournament that has squad's from Fairfield, St. John's, and URI is going to be tough. When you lose a player of Peter Lyon's ability, your team has got to make up for it and we did with our double strength. We have a couple of freshmen who played well, but the ECAC's, that's a big point in the team standings, "referring to Mike Curran and Mike Griffin.
