Tomorrow: Vote in Slavin Only

Profile of Freshmen Candidates

By Peggy Hogan

The freshmen class will become active members in the Providence College Student Congress when the election of their class officers takes place Thursday, October 2, in Slavin Center.

Four students are contending for the top position of freshmen class president. Marty Bolton

Grotto Mass Sunday

Friar Council Knights of Columbus is sponsoring a Grotto Mass this coming Sunday, October 2, 1980 at 7:00 p.m. in the Dominican tradition, the first Sunday in October is observed as "Rosary Sunday." Consequently, the candlelight Mass will be followed immediately by a candlelight rosary procession around the Grotto during which the rosary will be recited.

Principal celebrant of the Mass will be Rev. John A. McMahon, O.P., Chaplain of Friar Council Knights of Columbus; the homilist will be Rev. Matthew F. Morry, O.P. of Providence College. Fr. Morry was recently appointed to the post of Provincial Promoter for Rosary Devotions for the Dominican Province of St. Joseph.

There is now a car pool list that students can use to get to the Grotto Mass. Questions about the car pool should be directed to the Office of Student Services, 201 McCarron Hall, with only one worker designated to use the list. Students are asked to use the list as much as possible since parking at the Grotto is limited.

The rosary Mass will be Rev. John A. McMahon, O.P., Chaplain of Friar Council Knights of Columbus; the homilist will be Rev. Matthew F. Morry, O.P. of Providence College.

Kelli Coleman

and undecided major from Watertown, CT, said that if elected, he hopes to "attain a sense of unity and friendship among the freshmen class as well as an improved social life for the class."

One of his opponents is Kelli Coleman, a business major from Avon, NJ. She commented on the importance of student involvement, stating: "I don't see why there's any reason everyone can't be heard."

Also running is Steve Shaheen, a business major from North Andover, MA. Shaheen said his major goal would be to "make the freshmen feel comfortable and enable them to succeed in the next four years."

The final candidate is biology major Sean Sullivan from St. Croix, the Virgin Islands. Sullivan noted that, "Given the opportunity, I would like to represent the Class of '84 as president, for I feel one can give the type of leadership our class not only needs, but so rightly deserves."

The freshmen for-vice-president most often stressed the need for greater class unity as well as greater school unity. The eight students vying for the office are: Sue Avila, an accounting major from Canton, MA; Liz Curdell, a political science major from Davenport, IA; Pat Cosley, a history major from Cranston, RI; Bill Goggin, a poli-sci major from Narragansett, RI; Michelle Dubue, an undecided major from Stanford, CT; and Joan Whalen, a history major from Long Island, NY.

The position of secretary will be filled by one of the following seven students: Nancy Gavallard, a business major from New Haven, CT; Michelle Dubue, an undecided major from Savannah, GA; Catherine John, an English major from Goshen, CT; Joanne Maniche, a health sciences major from Providence, RI; Jennifer Mello, a poli-sci major from Bristol, RI; Rosemary Piro, a biology major from Norwell, CT; and Patty Wright, an undecided major from Natick, MA.

Running for the office of treasurer are: Joanne Belanger, a poli-sci major from Lowell, MA; Mike Ryan, an accounting major from Warwick, RI; George Mason, a history major from Danvers, MA; Keith Plante, an English major from Midleton, HI; Cindy Sampson, a political science major from Brockton, MA, and Steve Williams, an accounting major from Wallingford, CT.

Five freshmen class representatives will be chosen from a field of eighteen nominees. On the ballot will be Kathy Bennett, an undecided major from Southport, CT; Lorene Burke, a social work major from Lenox, MA; Arlene Chavin, a Spanish major from Fall River, MA; Kathy Colgan, an art major from South Yarmouth, MA; Bill Dupont, a poli-sci major from Warren, RI; Tracey DeGregorio, a business major from West Hartford, CT; Karen Dennis, a poli-sci major from Fort plankton, HI; Gerry Flan, an undecided major from Northfield, MA; John Murphy, a psychology major from Warwick, RI; Walter Rehak, an undecided major from Jackson, NJ; Joanne Reindl, a business major from Columbus, WI; Linda Rodriguez, a psychology major from New Haven, CT; Judy Sullivan, a business major from Danvers, MA; Susan Tack, a poli-sci major from Weymouth, MA; Kevin Thibodeau, an English major from Cumberland, UHI; Mark Teter, an undecided major from Little Ferry, NJ; and Susan Zwick, a social work major from Narragaiment, HI.

All freshmen are encouraged to vote tomorrow in Slavin Center.

Freshman Commuter Luncheon Big Success

By Karen MacGillivray

The first "Freshmen Commuter Luncheons" was held last Tuesday, September 23, in Alumni Cafeteria. Sandwiches and drinks were served as freshmen listened to and met several important members of the Providence College community.

The event was co-sponsored by the Dillon Club, the Counseling Center, and the Chaplain's Office. Guest speakers included Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., president of the College; Rev. Thomas Edele, O.P., chaplain; Rev. Stuart McPhail, O.P., student affairs; Steve Sylvia, editor-in-chief of the Cowl; L. J. Manning, president of the Board of Governors; Jane Silveira, president of the Dillon Club; Ken McGurgle, treasurer of the Student Congress, and Jerry Alaimo, director of Intramurals and Recreation.

Other items on the Dillon Club agenda include a Ground Round with P.C. I.D. on November 21, and finalizing plans for the spring trip to Bermuda. This trip is open to everyone, and is planned for the April vacation, which will be College Week in Bermuda.

“Henry Paul Band” Part of BOG’s Schedule

The Board of Governors is preparing for upcoming October events. BOG president, L. J. Manning, stated, “motivation is high and most of the members are working well together.”

The programming for October includes a lecture by Rhode Island Senator Claiborne Pell on October 6.

The first major concert of the 1980-81 year is to be held on October 6, in Alumni Gym. Featured will be the Henry Paul Band.

All the candidates for a class elections were interviewed by the four officers and representatives to all student body on Monday, October 1, 1980. They will be surveying a representative cross section of the student union. The board is to discuss these proposals.

The Student Congress asks all interested students to think carefully about this issue and respond honestly to the survey questions.

Vote for Mike Evans for Treasurer

No. 1 on the ballot

Food Service Advisory Board Appointed

An advisory board has been set up to oversee the opening of a food and variety store on campus.

The board is chaired by Rev. John A. McMahon, O.P., assistant vice president for student services. Included in its membership are Mr. Joseph Murphy, ood services, Mr. Gustave Cote of the business department, Mr. Steven Rose of financial aid, Mr. Bill Pearson, president of student congress; and Cheryl L. Morrissey, chairperson of the lifestyles committee.

The committee researching the store, has discovered that they could supply the campus, in a variety of food services such as: Environmental Law, Food Drug and Health Law, Criminal Justice, Equal Opportunity, Welfare, Energy, and Product Safety Law.

Furthermore, you will receive full credit toward a Master of Arts in Legal Studies through Antioch School of Law for all course work completed at the Institute.

If you are a senior of high academic standing and looking for a meaningful career, contact your Placement Office for an interview with our representative.

We will visit your campus on: Wednesday, November 5

PC Counseling Center:
A Job Well Done

Attending college prepares a student for adult life in a variety of ways. It prepares him for a fulfilling career by helping him become proficient in a specific field of interest. It also aids him in maturing both personally and socially. While, most students enjoy this experience of growth, there are times when a student simply needs some guidance. The PC Counseling and Career Planning Center exists to provide this guidance.

According to the 1980-81 placement manual the major goals and objectives of the Counseling Center are as follows: “The Counseling and Career Planning Center (CCPC) was established to assist Providence College students in identifying and solving their personal, social, and educational concerns; to offer vocational/career counseling; and to refer individuals to qualified agencies for assistance with problems not handled by the CCPC. The essential function of the CCPC would be to guide and direct all studentsił help them explore the opportunities available to them. Counseling Center services are provided on a confidential basis. The CCPC also offers group counseling for students with similar concerns. Some examples of these groups are the Women’s Rap Group and the Career Exploration Group. Many of these group workshops are scheduled for the academic year.

Academic/Educational Counseling. This type of counseling is designed to help students set academic goals and teach them how to achieve them. The 1980-81 workshop series dealing with educational concerns include topics such as Test Anxiety: how to reduce it; Procrastination: Time Management; and a Workshop for Undecided majors in Career Planning. This is perhaps the most well-known service the CCPC provides. Throughout the year, the CCPC offers individual and group sessions in which students “explore their abilities, interests, skills, talents and work values in order to determine the type of career that would be viable and rewarding to them.” The CCPC has been extremely successful in this endeavor. It has aided many students with the preparation of resumes, attaining interview skills, and ultimately securing a job.

The Interview Service/Point of View Workshop: The CCPC sponsors an on campus interviewing system for graduates. This system has been designed to ensure equality in the process of getting the interview. John McGrath, Coordinator for Placement Services, explains the bidding system in a simple manner. He says, “Each student will be assigned an account of 500 points. Each student will then use any amount of these points to ‘bid’ for an interview. Every bid will represent a genuine investment.”

In the past years, the Counseling Center has placed seniors in jobs with much success. It is projected that the CCPC will continue to aid students with the preparation of resumes, attaining interview skills, and ultimately securing a job.

Editorials:

From the editor’s desk...

Veritas. In Latin it translates to truth; at PC it translates to a lot of work for a few people. Each summer, graduating seniors complain about their yearbook. However, these same seniors are nowhere to be found when their очередь is being put together. This year, hopefully, the Class of ’81 will change all that.

Under the leadership of John Coffey, the Veritas staff has begun production of this year’s book. Yet, he needs help. I urge all my fellow seniors to pitch in whenever they can. We, as a class, can make our yearbook one of PC’s best. Remember that our memories of PC will be preserved through its pages. There are many ways you can help; either with photography, writing, or layout. It will not be fair if we fault any of me. For those interested there will be a meeting tomorrow at 3 p.m. in Slavin 108.

Voter Apathy:
Who Really Cares?

Voter apathy and poor voter turnout have been part and parcel of the PC election process for many years. Hopefully, in years to come, the level of participation in PC political affairs will increase. The Editorial Board of the Cowl observs one positive turn in this direction. According to Mitch Vogel, chairman of the ways and means committee, there are 43 freshmen running for Class of ’84 offices, a large increase in comparison with previous years. The Editorial Board of the Cowl hopes that this great display of interest in PC’s student government marks the development of a concerned and active student electorate.

There have been a few changes in the formal election process initiated by the ways and means committee. Voting in Raymond Cafeteria during dinner will no longer occur. The committee feels that in the past residents have had an unfair advantage over commuters because of the voting location. Mitch Vogel said, “We should be concerned with fairness and not numbers.” Therefore, voting will be held only in Slavin Center, from 9:30 to 5:00 this Thursday, October 2. The Editorial Board of the Cowl strongly supports this change, as it restores equity to the election process.

The opinions expressed herein are the opinions of the editorial board and do not necessarily represent the opinions of the administration or the student body of Providence College.

Let's Reorganize Friday's Ticket Sales

Dear Editor,

I am writing in response to the chaotic period on September 11, generally referred to as Jim Plunkett ticket sales.

At some point in time, the Board of Governors came up with the truly good idea of installing a window for such sales. They did not, however, consider the possibility that a mob would enter from both ends of the hall

After waiting an hour for Jim Plunkett tickets, the window was finally opened. The problem was, however, that those fans lucky enough to have 10:30 classes stormed the window from the opposite end of the hall from which the line started.

Ensuing this storm of students, there was a great deal of shoving and pushing only for students to find that all tickets had been sold. Not to mention the fact that 150 tickets had been sold almost immediately. I am quite disappointed that after waiting for an hour, and having a good position in line, I never received tickets.

Without being derogatory, I would like to suggest as I am sure others would, that the Board of Governors "get their act together" and do something to rectify this situation. One suggestion that might be considered is that there be an area designated where an orderly line can be formed.

I am well aware that this situation is not entirely the fault of the Board of Governors. We are college students and mature enough to be considerate of others. I do, however, think that this situation could be avoided by a little better organization on the part of the Board of Governors.

Try the Rat for a Change

Dear Editor,

I was shocked when I entered the Rat last week to find six classes storming the window from the opposite end of the hall from which the line started.

Ensuing this storm of students, there was a great deal of shoving and pushing only for students to find that all tickets had been sold. Not to mention the fact that 150 tickets had been sold almost immediately. I am quite disappointed that after waiting for an hour, and having a good position in line, I never received tickets.

For Support

Dear Editor,

One institution which has been largely ignored recently is our own Rathskeller. This is most unfortunate because at one time the Rat was an integral part of PC. There are varied reasons people give for not patronizing the Rat. I would just like to separate fact from fiction. The Rat is the biggest bar in the area and offers the nicest decor. In addition, to a TV and jukebox, it has pinball, "space invaders", and pooltables. Beer in the Rat is $2.75. The bar stock is just as competitive offering sours, cream drinks and a variety of other cocktails. Wine and soda are also available. The type of people who go to the Rat is limited to its potential patrons; it is what you might call "space invaders". Rathskeller is our bar but will not continue to be without our support.

Do you think the food and variety store is a good idea?

SANDY RAULCLIFFE, '81

"Yes, if for security aspects."

WALTER REHAK, '84

"Yes, it will be very convenient. Besides there are no supermarkets within walking distance."

CAROL DUNPHY, '82

"Yes."

MIKE RITZ, '81

"Actually it won't be a very convenient place for off-campus people."

TRISH CURRAN, '82

"Yes, it will be very convenient if they don't rip us off."

JAMIE O'BRIEN, '81

"What food and variety store?"

The next change involves the Professional and Administrative Civil Service Exam (PACE). In the past, PACE was given once, the year 1981. This year it will be given once, during March-April 1981. The following year it will be phased out completely. Traditionally the PACE covered jobs at the GS 5-7 levels. In the future, the PACE will cover jobs at the GS 5-7 levels. The new PACE will cover jobs only 5 per cent of those jobs covered in the past. In the future, the national testing has been phased out, as an individual agency may give the PACE if the position requires it.

The vacancies are advertised in many different ways. This procedure has been revised as well. The "Nationwide Announcement" publication lists jobs at the GS 5-7 levels, which again are the college entry-level jobs. This includes notices of vacancies and needs for all parts of the country.

No Winners in “The Roommate Game”!

By Bill Sullivan

“The Roommate Game,” has recently been released by Parker Brothers as its latest attempt to replace the age-old game of Monopoly.

The game was master-minded by Parker Brothers executive and sponsor Art Linkletter who commented that the game would provide a “simulated challenge that would enable the college student to respond to varying degrees of stress incurred in normal day-to-day relations with peers.”

The Roommate Game may be played with two, three, four, or more players and is recommended for mature students 18 years of age or older. Unfortunately, the game has been seen in the hands of students who fail to meet the first criterion, and this poses problems in matching up opponents.

The news of the release of this game has been received enthusiastically on college campuses throughout the nation. As the game is rather sophisticated, we will begin now to explain how it works. The scoring depends on:

1. How one ended up in the room he/she is in
2. The length of time one stayed there
3. The amount of suffering involved in having a roommate who has irritating alligators on his/brows worth more points

The important thing to remember as you play the game is that there are no winners. The following concrete examples provide you with a chance to rate yourself and your “opponents” (roommates). The person with the highest score may not find himself playing again, while the one with the lowest score may not be invited to many cocktail parties.

Let us deal with some concrete illustrations of these “day-to-day relations.”

Telephone rings at 3:30 a.m. Roommate is stuck on 1-95 with flat tire and no spare. “Can you come and get me?” (15 points)

Six pack of beer bought at 3:00 a.m. on Friday disappears as you go to bathroom at 4:30 p.m. (10 points)

Both roommates lying in bed awake when telephone rings. Both roommates then pretend to be asleep, until the other answers the phone. (15 points)

A snooze alarm. (10 points)

Roommate studying on Friday night walks into room while you’re with co-ed. (20 points)

Socks that stand up on end of adorning desk adjacent to yours. (5 points)

— N.A.H. on T.V. vs The Ramones on stereo at Volume 5. (10 points)

— Sit down in bathroom and then realize that roommate has used toilet paper for streamers at keg party. (20 points)

— A drop of water from ceiling while you try to study. (10 points)

— Roommate who awakens at 7:00 a.m. and asks you to go to breakfast at 7:30 a.m. (your first class is at 11:30). (15 points)

— Roommate who pops up at 12:30 on parent’s weekend. (10 points)

— Roommate borrows nicest shirt to see Jim Plunkett. (15 points)

— Car keys disappear for one hour and then suddenly reappear. (See ROOMMATE, pg. 7)

Parents’ Weekend...“Hi, Mom!”

By Maryann Assalone

After a month on their own, freshmen were reunited with their parents again during Parents’ Weekend. A freshman myself, I have to say there were mixed feelings about this. I didn’t look forward to waking up at 10 a.m. after dancing until the morning hours on Friday night. How could I pull off the “bookworm” image with blisters on my feet and sparkles in my eyes?

Well, I managed to have a great time and fool Mom and Dad while I was at it! Activities began with a brunch at Raymond Cafeteria, where Mom insisted I finish all my orange juice—again! (10 points)

The Mass following proved to be a unifying experience for the whole freshmen body. The Mass was celebrated at 4 p.m., we enjoyed listening to the Providence College concert. The full sound blended throughout the hall in a splendid showing of talent.

I couldn’t help feeling the day was a great success. As I waved good-bye to Mom and Dad, I turned to greet my new home!...

Bravery of one Jewish leader who attempted to stall Hitler’s “final solution” of his people. In 1944, the Nazis began the implementation of their “final solution” of the Jews of Hungary, who had, up to that point, managed to escape the fate of their fellow victims elsewhere in Europe. As the war drew to a close, the SS leaders, searching for sites which might serve them later on, decided that these condemned Jews could aid the Nazis alive as well as dead.

In a carefully arranged meeting, Adolf Eichmann approached Joel Brand, a Hungarian-Jewish engineer and courier for the Jewish Rescue Committee. Contacted in Budapest for this bizarre encounter, Brand was met with the following proposal: Jewish lives for hardware such as trucks, food and soap. Put more bluntly, Germany would spare one hundred Jews for every truck (loaded with various commodities) that Brand could deliver, up to ten thousand trucks. Brand would be assured one million lives and the closing of Auschwitz.

Timetable, by Amos Elon, is a fictionalized account of an all-too-gruesome reality. Encompassing six critical weeks between May 8 and July 8, it is the story of one man’s race against time and the obstacles, both bureaucratic and personal, which he had to contend against during the course of this devastating mission.

Reinforced by Elon’s superb use of original documentation, we learn of the ineffectual aid of Churchill and Anthony Eden, the apathy of the British Foreign Office (Chaim Weizmann, David Ben-Gurion, and so many others who were too confident! The gassing of 450,000 Hungarian Jews. The Jews were methodically murdered at Auschwitz even before the war. And all this before the last gasp of the Nazis was in sight.

As I strolled into Raymond Cafeteria one night, I decided to be observant, and foregoing the delicacies of meat and squished delicacies of meat and squished breads and soups, I was able to test the number of students who preferred a little poorer, a little wiser...

Food for Thought: The Meal Ticket Saga

A little lusher, a little wiser seems to be the law our Residence Office lives by. Anyone who is entitled to eat in Raymond Cafeteria has paid their room and board and therefore has paid the full price for the food they consume there. God forbid that you leave your ID in your back pocket and a thoughtful roommate decides to wash those dirty teacups for you. Or, while stooping over to pick up a book for a friend, your ID innocently slips out of your pocket and is carried away by the wind. No matter how that yellow sticker is removed, however, does not really matter. What matters to you is that little accidents like that can be costly.

This year the Residence Office will charge you $14 for the crummy yellow sticker. Your ID costs $1 at the Student Affairs Office in Slavin Center. This is reasonable considering the materials used to process the ID. Yet, $14 for a meal sticker is a lot of money when you are living away from home and you have a budget to adhere to. I am sure Rev. Walter Heath, O.P., director of residence at PC has his reasons for this policy. And who are we, the students who this policy affects, who are we to complain?

Money talks so, the next time you plan to do something nice for your roommate or stoop over for a friend, your ID innocently slips out of your pocket and is carried away by the wind.

What Did You Do on Saturday Night?

By Ronnie White

A familiar question. A familiar answer. Yet, there was no need. Cennell was playing at the Ocean State Performing Arts Center. It was a lively, entertaining production that you wouldn't have wanted to miss. Imagine, you could have had an elegant, yet inexpensive evening out, a diversion from the average Saturday night. Don't worry. Although Cennell was in a one-night engagement, a complete season of entertainment lies ahead! Not only are Tony Award winning musicals such as Donnie and Me and Once upon a Time, but also Broadway plays, top comedy acts and concerts. There are diverse offerings that will suit everyone's taste. Will be keeping you posted on future events. There are too many for sure you will want to miss.

For those of you who are not familiar with the Ocean State Performing Arts Center, you don't know what you're missing. It's a beautifully restored theatre that reminds you of past elegance. Best of all, it's a good reason to get dressed up and declare a special occasion. The numerous restaurants and pubs in the area provide pre- or post-theatre entertainment if you are planning to go out and make it a truly special night.

Include the Ocean State in your plans this weekend. Enjoy a welcome change.

A Little Bit of Ireland Comes to Providence: Muldoon's Saloon

By Neil O'Brien

A real Irish bar has opened recently in downtown Providence. It is called Muldoon's Saloon and is being a pub in Ireland as you would have wanted to know. Providence's new Burger King

By Mary McEvey

If you happen to stroll into Westminster Mall's new restaurant on the corner of Interstate 11, you will be immediately confronted with its elegant appeal. The dining area is lavishly decorated with bar top drapes, brass backed chairs, stained glass windows and numerous antique pieces which are all surrounded by potted plants. However, you could wait an eternity to be seated by a maître de; and even longer to have a waitress bring you a menu. For if you chance just a few steps further inside, you will be greeted by the ever familiar service counter of a Burger King.

The new Burger King restaurant to establish itself in downtown Providence. Providence has abandoned the traditional conventions of the fast-food world by replacing its plastic furniture and manufactured look with an individual and rather appealing image of its own. The restaurant takes on the subtitle of "Banker's Quarters" and uses this as a theme for its interior. Large old fashioned bank vaults adorn the lobby, and even the service counters are styled after early turn of the century bank tellers windows. Although the lavish decor and the banker's motif distinguishes this Burger King from all other Burger King's, the food and the prices are the same. So next time you're downtown Providence—Have It Your Way at Banker's Quarters!

What makes Tech Hifi the best place to buy stereo?

Appliance stores and department stores are not the best places to buy quality stereo. You'll do much better at a stereo store.

The problem is, which stereo store? You're about to read why over 2 million music lovers have decided to buy from Tech Hifi.

It's OK to pick our brains. (We know our stereo).

The salespeople at Tech Hifi know what they're talking about. They work at Tech because they love stereo, not because they love selling.

Our people keep up with all the latest equipment, and can tell you the differences among the leading brands.

You get to play at Tech Hifi, not just look.

Some stereo stores have signs all over that tell you "Don't Touch The Merchandise". At Tech Hifi our signs say "Come Play." We encourage you to spin knobs, push buttons, toss switches, and try out any of the components in our soundroom.

If you take enough time to play in a Tech Hifi soundroom, you'll get a good idea of which equipment sounds best in your price range.

The buying power of the 65 Tech Hifi stores.

The reason why no store has better prices than Tech Hifi is no dealer buys quality components in such a huge volume as the 65 Tech Hifi stores.

You'll find our prices are as good as anybody's, and often better on some brands.

You might expect to pay extra at Tech for all the extra things we offer. But you won't.

At Tech Hifi we back what you buy.

When you make any big investment like quality hifi, make sure you're getting sound guarantees.

Tech Hifi gives you guarantees most stores don't. And we'll give them to you in writing, right on your sales slip.

Our guarantees include a 7-day moneyback guarantee (no questions asked).

Our guarantees are backed by the Tech Hifi Service Centers. If the equipment you buy from us ever needs service, we have trained professionals who will make things right. Fast.

Our back-to-school sale

This is a good time to buy at Tech Hifi, because we're having our annual back-to-school sale. You'll find complete systems on sale right now for as little as $189. And lots of name-brand turntables, receivers, loudspeakers, and cassette decks are on sale as individual components.

Come in this week and listen to what your money can buy at Tech Hifi. The best place to buy stereo.

This $189 system delivers good sound at a low price.

The receiver is a TDC 1500 with T-Lock tuning that eliminates FM drift. The loudspeakers are compact, wide-range Studio Design I6.1 and the turntable is a multiple-play Collaro 1251 with a Philips cartridge.

Today’s riddle - When is a loss not really a loss? Answer - When strikers Mike Moretti cashed in on Wildcats of the University of New Hampshire to a virtual standoff last Saturday afternoon at Glay Field. Come on out, get your soccer fix and cheer on the Friars. October 4 at 1 p.m. at Glay Field. 7:16 mark of the first overtime. The Friars started assuming the form of Friars and goalie Gaillardetz for a 1-0 lead. The power. With the PC halfbacks watching helplessly in front of the net. URI’s Vin McCrudden blasted one by goalie Pete Williams, to tie the game. With only 12 and a half minutes left to play in regulation, the Friars got the tying goal. Midfielder Bill Baker controlled the ball in front of the URI net, drew three defenders toward him, then passed over to the left wing where junior Jay Skelton pushed the ball by Williams; sending the Friars and the handful of PC supporters into hysteria. For the remainder of regulation, the Providence backs were superb. URI once again popped deep in the Friar zone, but Chenette and his teammates held on until the overtime. Rhode Island’s talent and depth proved to be too much for the Friars. That’s all. Sure enough, in the second half like whirlwinds. A game, the Rams started the second half with whirlwinds. Forward Rui Caetano missed on several great chances early in the half. But most everyone in the crowd could sense that it was just a matter of time before URI took the lead. After a PC foul in front of the net, Caetano curled a perfect indirect kick past a setup wall of Friars and goalie Chenette to give the Rams a 2-1 lead. Time of the goal was 20:47 into the second half. Rhode Island seemed content to play the Friars a little more defensively after Caetano’s goal, and with defense anchored by another All-American, halfback Kevin Murphy, the defense tactics did not seem like a bad idea. All the results needed was a break. Just one little slip up by bloody, that’s all. Sure enough, in typical PC fashion, they got the break that they needed. With only 12 and a half minutes left to play in regulation, the Friars got the tying goal. Midfielder Bill Baker controlled the ball in front of the URI net, drew three defenders toward him, then passed over to the left wing where junior Jay Skelton pushed the ball by Williams; sending the Friars and the handful of PC supporters into hysteria.

...but Kick Back at UNH, 4-0

Rhode Island scored near the end of the first half when center Maria Schmidt lofted the ball over the heads of the defenders to halfback Karen Ford who drove in the goal. After the initial goal, the Friar adrenalin began to flow. The game was totally dominated by Friar Booters, whose penetration time on the opposing side was astronomical. Goal number one came early in the first half when center Maria Schmidt lofted the ball cover the heads of the defenders to halfback Karen Ford who drove in the goal. After the initial goal, the Friar adrenalin began to flow. The goal came within minutes of the first, when center Maria Schmidt lofted the ball to winger Amy Dernstoderson who connected to make it 2-0, Lady Friars. After the half, the Lady Friars centering pass to the ever resourceful Scotty, who in turn, blasted two point blank shots on the goalkeeper, Gaillardetz. On the third rebound, Tony Conte popped the ball into the net. Less than five minutes later, Providence made it 3-0, Junior midfielder Mike Gillibride showed the crowd exactly why perseverance is finally going to pay off. After being robbed on a breakaway by the URI net, Gaillardetz was not to be denied the second time. After taking a nice pass from Providence, Erick LaBrianche, Gillibride shot home a perfectly placed grounder to the left of Gaillardetz. Terry Keith added a little icing on the proverbial cake. Keith rammed home a kick into the top of the cage after taking a first crossing pass by Bill Baker. Time of the goal was 30:11.

She was assisted by Amy Dernstoderson. The Ladies were not content with just a three-point advantage. They quickly solved the problem with a pretty play where a Friar corner kick was picked up by halfback Ann Wendth, who passed to the ever-ready Dernstoderson to make it 4-0. This was quite a victory for such a young team up against the well established RIC club. The next game is scheduled for Saturday, October 4 at 1 p.m. at Glay Field. Come on out; get some fresh air and watch the Lady Booters go against Rhode Island College on our own turf!
Coach Bob Amato and his harriers will be looking for their second straight Big East title this Saturday.

Smith Leads the Way... Friars Run Past Harvard, UMass

By Kevin Burke

Sweeping home with six of the top eight spots, the seemingly invincible Providence College cross-country team outclassified the Crimson of Harvard and the Minutemen of UMass to take the victory in last Tuesday's tri-meet at Franklin Park. The Friars' awesome depth was evident once again as the first five across the line were all within one minute of each other. The victorious brought this year's record to 3-0-1 and extended the winning streak to 77.

However, Amato is well aware of the high caliber of some of this year's runners. "With schools such as Villanova and Grinnell competing, this will be far from a runaway victory. In my opinion, Saturday's race will be the biggest cross-country meet that this area has ever seen," commented Amato. Villanova, new to the Big East this year, should pose the biggest threat to Providence. The Wildcats of Villanova have two of the best college runners in Sydney Maree of South Africa and Anne Kitir of Kenya. However, they lack Providence's depth and if all goes well, Amato and company should be able to hold off Villanova. Indeed, this is one race not to be missed. The Friars are right up there with the best in the nation, so support them this Saturday at Boston's Franklin Park.

Gidders Slip Past Stonehill, 14-13

By John Brandonso

The Providence gridders picked up their second straight victory, as they narrowl edged Stonehill College, 14-13. The Friars pushed to an early 14-0 lead until Stonehill came back with two touchdowns—one in each quarter. Stonehill had a chance to hit it with an extra-point kick but failed, and Providence maintained the five yards lead. It was Parent's Weekend and there was a good-sized crowd on hand to watch the gridders at Hendriksen Field.

The Friars have never before eliminated Stonehill in the six previous meetings. Senor running back Tim Biga booted through the defensive line with ease, thanks to the blocking of Steve Fillo, Jim Buchanan, Bob Duffy and all. Once at midfield quarterback Steve Lepper ran for 30 yards to set up the Friars deep in Stonehill territory. Lepper then connected with Jim Peteckwicz for a first and ten at the 10 yard line. Inside the 10 yard line, it was just a matter of time before Biga ran it in for the first Friar touchdown. Tim Hanbouch attempted the extra point to make it 14-0. In the next quarter, PC found themselves with good field position after they held Stonehill on a fourth and one situation. Lepper threw one up on third down, and junior receiver Andy Clarke amazingly pulled it down in the midst of numerous defenders. That pass put them on the visitors' 15 yard line. Again, on third down, Lepper faked it and hit Peteckwicz to give the Friars a 14-advantage. Stonehill needed a score before the half ended and they got it after recovering a dropped punt on the PC's 8 yard line. It was a lucky break for Stonehill as Dave Burreen soon jumped on the loose ball. That made it 14-7 at the half.

The second half was a fast-paced, back and forth battle.

Ruggers Destroy MIT, 20-6

Last Wednesday, the PC Rugby Club put together another dominating performance. This time the final score was 29-6 with Joe Dolan, Pete Statener and Bob Fitzgerald all scoring and the PC's defense shut them all marching in for scores. Some men scored a "try," a four-point play scored when a team runs for the ball across the endline (similar to scoring a touchdown in football). This was a point two conversion attempt after that team scored a "try."

The gridders made a road trip to MIT on Saturday, September 27 where the "A" team lost a tough battle. This loss was to a team comprised mainly of graduate students from the famed MIT. These men average about six years experience in the sport. Based on this game, one could make a good judgment on the quality of Rugby exhibited by the PC squad.

The "B" team, however, lead by an amazing 12 point contribution of Duffy Finan, destroyed MIT, 22-6.

There will be a select Rugby game made up of local All-Stars on Wednesday, October 16. This game, which matches the All-star forwards and backs from the New England area, might be played on Raymond Field (the location is still to be announced so stay tuned). Joe Haley, Mike Cerevan, and Nick Frilot are expected to play for the All-Stars. The next PC game will be held on Saturday, October 16 on Raymond Field.

Friars Finish Off Assumption, 28-6

The Providence men's tennis team completed September 19, 20, and 21 with a 3-0 sweep of Assumption College and came away with an impressive ECAC Division II title.

Leading the way for the Friars were number one singles winner Bill Donadio and number two doubles champions Chris Ditmar and Steve Chatfield. Donadio, using a strong serve and volley game, never let through the early rounds without much difficulty, highlighted by a big victory over nationally ranked Bill Notar of St. John's in the semi-finals.

Coach Faulise also stated his belief that this year's squad displays depth and is able to use "consistently play the aggressive game when it was necessary. I've always known Bill to be a high caliber player and his performance this weekend proved that theory correct." The doubles combination of Chris Ditmar and Steve Chatfield were also successful in their matches. Said Chatfield, "The first couple of matches were tougher than we had expected, but we played well considering this was our first time together as a team in tournament competition.

"There was no doubt in our minds that we could play well as a team, but it just took time getting used to each other's game. Once we did, we were able to win the crucial points consistently when the pressure was on," ad­ded Ditmar.

Coach Faulise also stated his belief that this year's squad "will do well at the ECAC finals."
