Garrity, Cianci Debate at PC

By Karen Ryder

"Welcome to the hour of enlightenment and harmony," said Harry McKenna of WEAN radio at the onset of the first-ever debate between Rhode Island Governor J. Joseph Garrahy and Providence Mayor Vincent A. Cianci.

The televised confrontation was, however, neither harmonious nor enlightening as the two men were questioned by a panel of five members of the local news media.

The panel consisted of Susan Kinsman, UPI; Magee Hickey, WLNE; Walter Cryan, WPRI-TV; Doug White, WJAR; and M. Charles Bakst, Providence Journal.

McKenna, acting as a much needed referee between the candidates, found it necessary several times to reprimand Cianci for failure to comply with the rules of the debate.

On more than one occasion, the Republican Mayor continued speaking past the pre-designated time allotment for responding to questions from the panel members. At other points in the debate Cianci spoke out of turn and interrupted the Governor.

The panelists, which consisted of Susan Kinsman, UPI; Magee Hickey, WLNE; Walter Cryan, WPRI-TV; Doug White, WJAR; and M. Charles Bakst, Providence Journal, released the results of the videotaped confrontation.

The televised confrontation was, however, neither harmonious nor enlightening as the two men were questioned by a panel of five members of the local news media.

The panel consisted of Susan Kinsman, UPI; Magee Hickey, WLNE; Walter Cryan, WPRI-TV; Doug White, WJAR; and M. Charles Bakst, Providence Journal.

The panelists, which consisted of Susan Kinsman, UPI; Magee Hickey, WLNE; Walter Cryan, WPRI-TV; Doug White, WJAR; and M. Charles Bakst, Providence Journal, released the results of the videotaped confrontation.

The televised confrontation was, however, neither harmonious nor enlightening as the two men were questioned by a panel of five members of the local news media.

The panel consisted of Susan Kinsman, UPI; Magee Hickey, WLNE; Walter Cryan, WPRI-TV; Doug White, WJAR; and M. Charles Bakst, Providence Journal.

The panelists, which consisted of Susan Kinsman, UPI; Magee Hickey, WLNE; Walter Cryan, WPRI-TV; Doug White, WJAR; and M. Charles Bakst, Providence Journal, released the results of the videotaped confrontation.

The televised confrontation was, however, neither harmonious nor enlightening as the two men were questioned by a panel of five members of the local news media.

The panel consisted of Susan Kinsman, UPI; Magee Hickey, WLNE; Walter Cryan, WPRI-TV; Doug White, WJAR; and M. Charles Bakst, Providence Journal.

The panelists, which consisted of Susan Kinsman, UPI; Magee Hickey, WLNE; Walter Cryan, WPRI-TV; Doug White, WJAR; and M. Charles Bakst, Providence Journal, released the results of the videotaped confrontation.

The televised confrontation was, however, neither harmonious nor enlightening as the two men were questioned by a panel of five members of the local news media.

The panel consisted of Susan Kinsman, UPI; Magee Hickey, WLNE; Walter Cryan, WPRI-TV; Doug White, WJAR; and M. Charles Bakst, Providence Journal.

The panelists, which consisted of Susan Kinsman, UPI; Magee Hickey, WLNE; Walter Cryan, WPRI-TV; Doug White, WJAR; and M. Charles Bakst, Providence Journal, released the results of the videotaped confrontation.

The televised confrontation was, however, neither harmonious nor enlightening as the two men were questioned by a panel of five members of the local news media.

The panel consisted of Susan Kinsman, UPI; Magee Hickey, WLNE; Walter Cryan, WPRI-TV; Doug White, WJAR; and M. Charles Bakst, Providence Journal.
Racquetball Courts

Do you feel angry and frustrated when you can't get a racquetball court after waiting 20 minutes? Do you get tired of trying to let stubborn players know that their court time is up? A meeting to discuss contention in the racquetball courts will be held Thursday, November 6, in Slavin 217 at 7:30 p.m.

Big Brothers and Sisters

There will be bingo in Slavin, '64 Hall at 7:00 p.m. on Saturday, November 1.

Assured Freshmen Housing: Postponed

The BOG approved a "Jazz Night" to be held on November 9. Also approved was the Class of '83's request for Upper Slavin for the Christmasfest and Class of '81's request for November 7. The first "Weekend Coffeehouse" was held last Saturday night. Many freshmen took advantage of the non-alcoholic social function. The Board is pleased with Saturday night's success and is sponsoring another "Weekend Coffeehouse" on November 12.

Another "Alternatives Forum" has been scheduled for this Tuesday, November 4. BOG president, L. Jay Manning, is hoping for a better turnout than the last forum. According to Manning, the forum is "another avenue to reach students" for ideas and suggestions on the PC social side. The BOG approved a "Jazz Night" to be held on November 9. Also approved was the Class of '81's request for Upper Slavin for the Christmasfest and Class of '83's request for November 7. Both events will be held in '64 Hall and will go before the advisory board.

"Weekend Coffeehouse" Labeled Success

The Board has given '64 Hall to a member of the Class of '81 for his senior thesis on May 2. The BOG had scheduled '64 Hall for a "Spring Week" event but decided the student's thesis, a piano recital, should take priority. The publicity committee is having difficulty maintaining posters when they are constantly being torn down. Manning commented that neglectful students are being inconsiderate because the committee contributes a lot of time and effort to make the posters. Expense is another factor in the loss of posters.

The Board is presently debating about having a professionally painted mural put up in the last floor. This Saturday a delegation of five representatives headed by Mark O'Rourke will go to Bryant College to discuss programming techniques with programming boards from various colleges. The BOG is running more events than previous Boards. Approximately four to five events are being held weekly. Manning commented that the "resort side" is in unlimited programming.

Dennis McEnery, student representative to the Committee on Administration, announced at last Sunday's Student Congress that the committee's decision to postpone the implementation of a proposed lottery system that would assure incoming freshmen of on-campus housing was overturned. At a meeting held the previous week, the Congress had voted to approve the proposal of a lottery system that would "bump" underclassmen off campus, leaving enough available beds for all incoming freshmen.

McEnery informed the COA of the Congress' approval of the lottery. The committee, however, decided that after viewing the projected figures for next year's enrollment, it would not be necessary to implement the lottery at this time. This decision was the cause of much deliberation at the Congress meeting early last night. McEnery was asked to emphasize to the COA, the support the Congress has for the lottery.

The COA has, however, approved the suggestion of setting up an office to help students find off-campus housing. The committee was scheduled to meet again this week. It was also noted, that Rev. Alan Milmore, O.P., can no longer fulfill his duties as chairman of the religion studies department because of illness. Father McEnery is looking to teach any classes. PC has received approximately $100,000 in energy grants to improve insulation, roofing, and windows in Harkins, Alumni, and McEnery Halls.

The meeting had opened with the welcoming of Pat Conley as vice president of the Class of 1984. Beth Kelleher explained the proposed amendment stating that anyone running for treasurer of Student Congress must have served on Congress previously. Also, it was stated that anyone running for the Executive Board must be at least a sophomore. The amendment will be voted on next week.

Rob Pavia announced the addition of two freshmen to the Athletic Board as assistants. Pavia hopes this move will benefit the freshman class in bringing their ideas to the Board.

L. Jay Manning noted the Board of Governor's successes with last week's International Beerfest, the movie "Ten" and the first "Weekend Coffeehouse." The planning committee is in the process of reviewing each of the academic departments. Jane Silveira, president of the Dillon Club, noted that the club's next event will be with Bill Gannon.

The Dillon Club will hold an open meeting in '64 Hall for all those interested in going on the Bermuda trip in April.

The planning committee is in the process of reviewing each of the academic departments. Jane Silveira, president of the Dillon Club, noted that the club's next event will be with Bill Gannon.

The Dillon Club will hold an open meeting in '64 Hall for all those interested in going on the Bermuda trip in April. Also, off-campus phone directories are available in lower Slavin for $.50. A PC ID is necessary to purchase a directory.

Mary Ellen Burke stated that 50 surveys were filled out last Friday to evaluate the faculty survey.

Ken Mcguinnes commented that the finance committee recently allocated club appropriations. The swim club was allowed $150 more than was originally allocated.

The lifestyles committee met recently and approved the proposal of a change machine in the Last Resort. Father Heath, however, suggested the machine be placed in Aquinas lounge.

Mark Mcgilligly, president of the Class of '81, announced that Christmastfest will be held December 4. Bids will be available for $16.

Postponed events will hold their next event on November 7. The Class of '81 will hold a "rat mixer" in the near future. Liquor will be served, although anyone under 19 will not be able to drink or serve.

In general discussion, Bill Pfluge, president of the Student Congress, noted that a Rat Advisory Board was appointed to discuss problems and suggestions relating to the Rat. This board will be particularly necessary at this time, since the original liquor license was renewed in December.

Also, an ice machine is now available at the various organizations at a cost of $10 per night per organization.

ELECTION (Continued from Page 1)

Kathleen Mahoney, student trustee, also spoke of the issue of the PC having to vote twice on any club's application for liquor license.

Club Notes

Chess Club

There will be an organizational meeting tonight at 4:00 p.m. in Slavin 110. All who are interested in chess are encouraged to attend and lend their support to the revitalization of this organization. All levels of proficiency are welcome.

Dillon Club

Ground Round Night with Bill Gannon. The event will be held in '64 Hall with free popcorn and peanuts.

Rugby Club

Slave Auction Saturday, November 1, in '64 Hall. Call Brendan Cahallan for details.

Marketing Club

Today is the final day of the pumpkin sale in Lower Slavin, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.
OCTOBER 30, 1980

★ DEBATE
(Continued from Page 1)

The Governor added that compared to several of Rhode Island’s cities, “Providence is the only city with serious financial problems.”

When questioned about the problem of teacher strikes, Garrahy noted that he has “tried on a number of occasions to find an agreeable solution.” However, he feels that binding arbitration remains the best answer to this problem.

In the final minutes of the debate, Cianci commented that Rhode Island “is a great state.” He added that, “the only thing we lack is leadership.”

Governor Garrahy closed with, “the people have placed a great deal of confidence and trust in me. I want to continue the job I've started.”

The crowd of several hundred in Providence College’s ’64 Hall, overflowed into the adjacent Slavin “pit,” to observe the debate on television.

Several times, there were outbursts of enthusiastic applause, all favoring the Governor.

The Mayor was later quoted as saying that the audience was “stacked.”

Whatever the case, the true feelings of Rhode Island voters will be revealed this Tuesday, November 4.

Several members of the ROTC cadet staff plan for this semester’s third physical fitness test. From left to right are Major Walt Liffincott, Company Evaluator; Captain Steve Sharkey, Supply Officer; Lieutenant Colonel Denise Boucher, Battalion Commander; Captain Marc Paquin, Public Affairs Officer; Captain Tom Guay, Company Executive Officer; Captain Jeff Richardson, Adjutant; Captain Jack Hogan, Company Executive Officer; Major Mark Waterhouse, Battalion Executive Officer; Major John Peloquin, Operations Officer; and Major John Mitcheson, Company Evaluator.

It Takes More Than Headlines; It Takes Honest Hard Work!

JOE GARRAHY’S RECORD ON EDUCATION

—in 1979-80, $4.43 million available to help 4,142 students...
—$5.3 million will be available for an estimated 6,800 students.
• Establishment of In-Sight Rhode Island.
• Expanded handicapped education program; 1980 appropriated an additional $1.4 million increasing the state’s share to $15.4 million.
• Expansion of state’s vocational programs.

• State aid to local education increased by 50%.
• Today 4,000 youngsters, twice as many as in 1977, received college aid.
• State’s contribution to local communities is 20% more than national average. More than $175 million will be returned to local communities by the state next year.
• Reorganized Rhode Island’s Loan and Scholarship program. New grant program based on need.

ON NOVEMBER 4th VOTE,

Governor Garrahy

DEMOCRAT

Governor Garrahy Re-election Committee, 143 Westminster St., Providence, R. I. 02903. Tel. (401) 331-2700
Dennis M. Lynch and Robert K. Pirraglia, Co-Chairmen; Maureen E. Massie, Campaign Coordinator
The Debate: Cianci’s Challenge Comes Up Short

Last Tuesday night, while Philadelphia and Kansas City battled to win the World Series in Veterans’ Stadium, Governor Garrahy and Mayor Cianci battled to win voter approval in ‘64 Hall. It was the first and only debate between Democratic Governor J. Joseph Garrahy and his Republican challenger, Providence Mayor Vincent A. Cianci, Jr.

Since the debate was held on the Providence College campus, an integral part of the R.I. community, and because many students at PC are R.I. voters, the Editorial Board of the Cowl wishes to express its opinion of the debate. Originally, the debate was designed to increase voter awareness of the issues surrounding R.I.’s future. Unfortunately, it only served to continue the personal attacks between the candidates, most of which came from Mayor Cianci. The Editorial Board of the Cowl stated, “The crowd was ob­viously stacked.” This was definitely not true. While the people in the front of the line (largely PC students) were mostly Garrahy supporters, they were also willing to wait almost two hours to get a seat. Since seating was first come, first serve, the Mayor’s supporters could have arrived earlier to get into ‘64 Hall.

Since the debate was supposed to be a debate, in each party a given is a designated amount of time to give an opening statement, answer questions, and respond to opponent’s answers. Repeatedly, Mayor Cianci tried to avoid the rules by speaking longer than allowed. At times, the moderator was forced to caution Cianci about his actions. Never once did the moderator have to remind the Governor about the rules. The Editorial Board of the Cowl feels the Mayor showed a lack of respect for both the R.I. Press Club (sponsors of the debate) and his opponent by try­ing to have his ‘‘two hours’’ time” given by the local television stations.

Thirdly, Mayor Cianci con­tinuously avoided answering questions directed at his fiscal abilities. Instead, he insistently referred to the failure of the 1979 Garrahy campaign to properly report $12,200 in donations from three county sheriffs’ organizations. Since the debate, the R.I. Board of Elections has cleared Garrahy of any in­tentional wrong doing.)

He also blamed the city’s $14 million deficit on the previous Democratic administration. This may be true, however, the Cowl Editorial Board would like to point out that Cianci was elected Mayor of Providence in 1974, and must share some of the responsibility for the city’s current financial turmoil.

On the other hand, Cianci claimed total responsibility for Providence’s current finances. This is not the case. The Civic Center, a major stimulus to downtown renewal during the previous Democratic ad­ministration—the same ad­ministration Cianci blamed for the city’s financial faults.

The city’s three major renovation projects: the Bilt­more Plaza Hotel, the Ocean State Performing Arts Center and the Arcade were made possible through the financial support of the local business community. Without this support the Mayor would not be able to show a “revived” downtown. Expectations of this were shown by the empty lot in LaSalle Square which has failed to materialize into the hotel-convention center complex the Mayor told us about two years ago.

Lastly, Governor Garrahy seemed much more at ease during the debate. Unlike his opponent, he answered questions with explanations rather than ad­ministration Cianci blamed for the state of the economy. High in­flation and rising unemployment have made this issue of central importance and have marked the development of the consumer movement.

Therefore, the Editorial Board of the Cowl would like to com­ment on a consumer issue here at Providence College. Specifically the Editorial Board of the Cowl feels that the Governor was the clear victor in the debate. How the voters feel will be decided on November 4.

From the editor’s desk...

This Tuesday is a very important day for us as Americans. It is the day that we can express our choices for elected public offices. While this may not seem like a personal privilege, it gives us a chance to guide our nation’s future.

This privilege, however, is disregarded by many people. For whatever reason, they don’t take the time to vote! What they don’t realize is that they are giving up a lot. Many other people have fought for—the right to vote.

So on November 4, take the time to vote for the can­didates of your choice. Remember, by not voting you lose the most important way to express yourself in our nation’s political system.

Consumer Report: Inflation Hits PC

One of the hottest issues of Campaign ’80, be it presidential, gubernatorial, or mayorial, is the state of the economy. High in­flation and rising unemployment have made this issue of central importance and have marked the development of the consumer movement.

In Alumni Cafeteria a student may purchase a:
• 9 ounce soda for $ .35.
• 14 ounce soda for $ .50.
• 16 ounce soda for 85.0
At the PC Bookstore:
• 12 ounce soda (can) for $ .32.
At the dorms and Slavin machines:
• 12 ounce soda (can) for .40.
As can be viewed by these statistics there exists a large price differentiation between sodas on campus. Clearly, the 12 cans of soda at the Bookstore are the most economical choice. Ounce for ounce the Bookstore provides the least cost. So, if you are pinching your pennies this semester, a walk to the Bookstore could save you some money.
Letters

Security Responds To Slavin
Dear Editor:

Who can believe those "many fellow classmates" who do not have the courage or the will to speak up in their behalf? This is the case, or Tim Slavin, '84, merely needed an appropriately phrased line for his rather inappropriate article regarding PC security. PC security is as strong as it will ever be here on the College campus.

Last week as Mr. Slavin ridiculed security, he cited an example of the department's inefficiency. I quote, "While watching television I, along with five other students, heard a girl scream very loudly. I dialed security and the officer who answered gave up top priority. He hung up."

Because I have worked in affiliation with security for the past four years, I feel it is necessary to clarify the above statement. In emergency situations, security does not have time to engage in long and friendly conversations over the phone. Mr. Slavin, if you were looking for this you should have written a letter to the "Ask Beth" column in the Boston Globe. If this is not the case, you have even written back and personally thanked you for your concern. PC security, however, is not the worst in the globe. In reality, the person who (as you wrote) hung up on you, contacted all units of security who immediately responded to the incident. As it turned out, that "horrible scream" which was heard was merely due to the frivolous play of several PC students enjoying themselves in the Grotto area. At this time, I feel it is necessary to sway the brush of this article from PC security to student responses to ugly incidents which have taken place over the past five weeks on campus. I appeal to every man and woman in every dorm; whenever a scream or cry is heard, do not sit idle as though nothing is happening. For the men on campus, whether you are alone or with "five of your roommates watching television," do not be content with calling security. Rather than screaming could be cut down, so that the next time a scream is heard, we can be sure it's real and not just another girl crying wolf.

Frank J. Deleci, Jr., '81

Keane Komments
Since poetry and verse seem to be in such high demand, I humbly submit the following and pray it's not banned.

On Lower Campus, there exists A building called "Lester" Newly renovated and fun free For once to this report.

Now it has come to my attention Much to my chagrin That the coffeehouse which is so well-loved Is having trouble getting kids in.

Every Tuesday night from nine to twelve The doors are opened wide It's a shame to see that so few people Take advantage of what's inside.

No ID required The entertainment is superb Refreshments are available You should see what they serve.

Cookies, brownies Cheese and crackers and cake Fruit, carrots and celery For those watching their weight.

A game of backgammon or checkers Anyone interested? Gives "study breaks" new life The romantic atmosphere with candles and music A great place to find yourself a wife.

To help you relax and get civy And maybe even a date Totaly out of your hair For the less mellow crowd Pinball, astronauts and t.v. are there.

For freshmen there is no excuse This could be your dream come true Finally, a place Where you are equal too.

Let me ask you Then, to close Why Murial, Ed's, or the Truck When you could be in the Resort Spending less than a buck?

See you next Tuesday!

Kelly's

Inquiring Photographer
Who do you like in the upcoming Presidential election?

TIM WEST, '82
"Ed Clarke, he takes the common sense approach.

CAROLYN DELUCIA, '84
"Reagan, I think he'll get a lot more done."

JANE MCAULIFFE, '84
"Reagan, I don't like anyone else."

MATT DEVINE, '83
"Reagan, if I was going to vote."

Casselry's Corner "Think About It..."
By Barbara A. Casselry

What does "just a guitar mean to a person?" Right does anyone have to take another person's belongings?

A month ago a friend's guitar was stolen from a locked car behind Alumni Hall. Security investigated the situation, and it seemed likely that a student walking by the car broke it into, and walked away with the guitar.

If you have ever had a possession that meant a great deal to you, then you can imagine how you would feel to have it stolen from you. It wasn't "just" a guitar, it was all the memories, the experiences and the friends that were attached to it. The best guitar in the world could not come close to replacing it. It was an individual to my friend.

It is too bad that this type of thing can occur in a community where Christian attitudes should prevail. PC would stand about what they are doing, and the effects of their actions on other people.

If anyone has any information concerning the whereabouts of this guitar, please write to Friar Box 260.

Counseling Center Notes

Volunteer. For some, the word conjures up images of the military. Others may be reminded of extracurricular responsibility that no one seemed too willing to assume. With all the usual negative connotations that the word can take on, let's put "volunteer" in a different con­ text; that of education. A good volunteer experience may be one of the most educational opportunities you will have in your years at college.

Traditional classroom study provides a necessary and work­ while type of education, namely a solid foundation of theoretical knowledge. Class readings and independent research will allow you to take advantage of the findings of experts in your field. Still, there is a different and equally worthwhile education that comes about by doing. Not only does the practical experience allow a student to become more adept in one's chosen field, but it develops the personal qualities, so necessary to be successful in one's professional as well as personal life.

In the fall you have spent at Providence College, ask yourself not only, "What have I learned?" but, "What have I done?" How have you applied the knowledge you have accumulated? Have you involved yourself in activities beyond the classroom? A good cumulative average will only carry you so far. Book knowledge without knowledge of people, and knowledge of self is ineffective. Too many students graduate with only the former. The real shame is that this disconnection seems to be growing.

Many think of volunteer ex­ periences solely in terms of social service. Certainly, there are many opportunities in this area. Working with others who are disadvantaged, the mentally retarded, the aged, and the emotionally upset are common volunteer opportunities. Such opportunities are available not just through off-campus agen­ cies, but through campus clubs like Knights of Columbus and Big Brothers and Sisters. Yet are you aware that substantial volunteer roles are available for those interested in history, accoun­ ting, fine arts, foreign languages, music, English, religious studies, and a number of other fields? Whatever your interests, you are needed. Finding out about such oppor­ tunities is not difficult. The Counseling Center maintains a listing of volunteer experiences and more formal internships. Volunteers in Action maintains several offices within the state which provide similar in­ formation. Contacting faculty and staff here at PC can present you with additional contacts that can be explored. An afternoon of phone calls could pay off in a great opportunity.

"It looks good on a resume" is a common comment by those who take on extra activities. Realize that there is a reason why it looks so good. It says that the person showed initiative and made something of a situation that was required. It says that the person has gained useful ex­ perience from applying theory to practice. It says that the person will be more well-rounded in­ dividual.

Finally, do not look at volun­ teering as only a means to an end. Such activity will probably have some effect on your chances in the job market. However, volunteering has its pay-off in the present, too. You do what you enjoy; you will probably have some effect on your self-confidence, and more formal internships.

Volunteers in Action maintains a listing of volunteer experiences and more formal internships. Volunteers in Action maintains several offices within the state which provide similar in­ formation. Contacting faculty and staff here at PC can present you with additional contacts that can be explored. An afternoon of phone calls could pay off in a great opportunity.

"It looks good on a resume" is a common comment by those who take on extra activities. Realize that there is a reason why it looks so good. It says that the person showed initiative and made something of a situation that was required. It says that the person has gained useful ex­ perience from applying theory to practice. It says that the person will be more well-rounded in­ dividual.

Finally, do not look at volun­ teering as only a means to an end. Such activity will probably have some effect on your chances in the job market. However, volunteering has its pay-off in the present, too. You do what you enjoy; you will probably have some effect on your self-confidence, and more formal internships.
In a very little publicized and yet overwhelmingly popular appearance, former Prime Minister John Lynch of Ireland appeared as guest speaker for Dr. Paul O'Malley's Modern Irish History course on October 30.

Speaking to a standing-room-only classroom crowd about Ireland, its history, its politics and its problems today, Lynch was both informative and interesting and responded readily to questions during a discussion period following his formal presentation.

In many ways Lynch typified the people he spoke of—he was both friendly and warm. He descended from his prestigious plateau and talked freely of his life and his involvement with a nation that he feels is caught up in the hope of a promising future that will replace its tumultuous past.

John Lynch was born in Cork and is a direct descendant of a prominent family. He was educated by the famous Irish Christian Brothers, and went on to graduate school that charged an "incridible" $6 per year, and he held the record that he was "one of that 10 percent that actually paid the fee!" His first job was obtained after successfully competing in a constitutional debate in college which made him become a barrister in King's Court in Dublin. And, thinking of that, his goal is not so much a "sing-a-long" as it is for Bob Mc, who also appeared just a few weeks ago, Stankus has control of the "rowdy" atmosphere that is also appeared just a few weeks ago according to "audience appeal." In many ways a less-popularized version of Jim Plunkett, Tom Stankus comes from the same tradition of musical schooling that stresses the idea of "audience appeal." Playing to a sold-out crowd in the Last Resort on Friday evening, Stankus showed his "learning" process.

Europe worth defending," and went on to say that "Ireland has a tacit obligation to protect or at least assist in deferring aggression." The entry into this Common Market (EEC) that has plunged Ireland into prosperity and thus increased responsibility has "definitely benefited some groups in Ireland to a greater extent than others." The once poverty-stricken farmers are now enjoying an unparalleled degree of prosperity due to the huge European market that has been opened up. Yet Lynch also foresees "long-run benefits for the growing industries" that now earn sixteen semester hours of college Spanish credit. (That's four semesters worth of college Spanish credit!) The cost is about the same as one semester in a U.S. college, $2,589.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

Features

Former Irish Prime Minister Guest at PC

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

In a very little publicized and yet overwhelmingly popular appearance, former Prime Minister John Lynch of Ireland appeared as guest speaker for Dr. Paul O'Malley's Modern Irish History course on October 30.

Speaking to a standing-room-only classroom crowd about Ireland, its history, its politics and its problems today, Lynch was both informative and interesting and responded readily to questions during a discussion period following his formal presentation.

In many ways Lynch typified the people he spoke of—he was both friendly and warm. He descended from his prestigious plateau and talked freely of his life and his involvement with a nation that he feels is caught up in the hope of a promising future that will replace its tumultuous past.

John Lynch was born in Cork and is a direct descendant of a prominent family. He was educated by the famous Irish Christian Brothers, and went on to graduate school that charged an "incridible" $6 per year, and he held the record that he was "one of that 10 percent that actually paid the fee!" His first job was obtained after successfully competing in a constitutional debate in college which made him become a barrister in King's Court in Dublin. And, thinking of that, his goal is not so much a "sing-a-long" as it is for Bob Mc, who also appeared just a few weeks ago, Stankus has control of the "rowdy" atmosphere that is also appeared just a few weeks ago according to "audience appeal." In many ways a less-popularized version of Jim Plunkett, Tom Stankus comes from the same tradition of musical schooling that stresses the idea of "audience appeal." Playing to a sold-out crowd in the Last Resort on Friday evening, Stankus showed his "learning" process.

Europe worth defending," and went on to say that "Ireland has a tacit obligation to protect or at least assist in deferring aggression." The entry into this Common Market (EEC) that has plunged Ireland into prosperity and thus increased responsibility has "definitely benefited some groups in Ireland to a greater extent than others." The once poverty-stricken farmers are now enjoying an unparalleled degree of prosperity due to the huge European market that has been opened up. Yet Lynch also foresees "long-run benefits for the growing industries" that now earn sixteen semester hours of college Spanish credit. (That's four semesters worth of college Spanish credit!) The cost is about the same as one semester in a U.S. college, $2,589.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

Features

Former Irish Prime Minister Guest at PC

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

In a very little publicized and yet overwhelmingly popular appearance, former Prime Minister John Lynch of Ireland appeared as guest speaker for Dr. Paul O'Malley's Modern Irish History course on October 30.

Speaking to a standing-room-only classroom crowd about Ireland, its history, its politics and its problems today, Lynch was both informative and interesting and responded readily to questions during a discussion period following his formal presentation.

In many ways Lynch typified the people he spoke of—he was both friendly and warm. He descended from his prestigious plateau and talked freely of his life and his involvement with a nation that he feels is caught up in the hope of a promising future that will replace its tumultuous past.

John Lynch was born in Cork and is a direct descendant of a prominent family. He was educated by the famous Irish Christian Brothers, and went on to graduate school that charged an "incridible" $6 per year, and he held the record that he was "one of that 10 percent that actually paid the fee!" His first job was obtained after successfully competing in a constitutional debate in college which made him become a barrister in King's Court in Dublin. And, thinking of that, his goal is not so much a "sing-a-long" as it is for Bob Mc, who also appeared just a few weeks ago, Stankus has control of the "rowdy" atmosphere that is also appeared just a few weeks ago according to "audience appeal." In many ways a less-popularized version of Jim Plunkett, Tom Stankus comes from the same tradition of musical schooling that stresses the idea of "audience appeal." Playing to a sold-out crowd in the Last Resort on Friday evening, Stankus showed his "learning" process.

Europe worth defending," and went on to say that "Ireland has a tacit obligation to protect or at least assist in deferring aggression." The entry into this Common Market (EEC) that has plunged Ireland into prosperity and thus increased responsibility has "definitely benefited some groups in Ireland to a greater extent than others." The once poverty-stricken farmers are now enjoying an unparalleled degree of prosperity due to the huge European market that has been opened up. Yet Lynch also foresees "long-run benefits for the growing industries" that now earn sixteen semester hours of college Spanish credit. (That's four semesters worth of college Spanish credit!) The cost is about the same as one semester in a U.S. college, $2,589.

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

Features

Former Irish Prime Minister Guest at PC

By Bill (O'Malley) Sullivan

In a very little publicized and yet overwhelmingly popular appearance, former Prime Minister John Lynch of Ireland appeared as guest speaker for Dr. Paul O'Malley's Modern Irish History course on October 30.

Speaking to a standing-room-only classroom crowd about Ireland, its history, its politics and its problems today, Lynch was both informative and interesting and responded readily to questions during a discussion period following his formal presentation.

In many ways Lynch typified the people he spoke of—he was both friendly and warm. He descended from his prestigious plateau and talked freely of his life and his involvement with a nation that he feels is caught up in the hope of a promising future that will replace its tumultuous past.

John Lynch was born in Cork and is a direct descendant of a prominent family. He was educated by the famous Irish Christian Brothers, and went on to graduate school that charged an "incridible" $6 per year, and he held the record that he was "one of that 10 percent that actually paid the fee!" His first job was obtained after successfully competing in a constitutional debate in college which made him become a barrister in King's Court in Dublin. And, thinking of that, his goal is not so much a "sing-a-long" as it is for Bob Mc, who also appeared just a few weeks ago, Stankus has control of the "rowdy" atmosphere that is also appeared just a few weeks ago according to "audience appeal." In many ways a less-popularized version of Jim Plunkett, Tom Stankus comes from the same tradition of musical schooling that stresses the idea of "audience appeal." Playing to a sold-out crowd in the Last Resort on Friday evening, Stankus showed his "learning" process.

Europe worth defending," and went on to say that "Ireland has a tacit obligation to protect or at least assist in deferring aggression." The entry into this Common Market (EEC) that has plunged Ireland into prosperity and thus increased responsibility has "definitely benefited some groups in Ireland to a greater extent than others." The once poverty-stricken farmers are now enjoying an unparalleled degree of prosperity due to the huge European market that has been opened up. Yet Lynch also foresees "long-run benefits for the growing industries" that now earn sixteen semester hours of college Spanish credit. (That's four semesters worth of college Spanish credit!) The cost is about the same as one semester in a U.S. college, $2,589.
as successful—the five family whose property was revolutionists and risked his server as it is to the people in­ never as interesting to an ob­ by a steel fist that needed no
Salazar can be correctly likened dominate every move of an entire
to continue the policies of Salazar period of power are mixed and which merits study, but it is incongruous, nearly as much so in order, but rather a professor of Finance nations. If pre-World War I German dictators can be described as hiding steel fists in silken gloves, then the reign of Salazar can be correctly likened to the crushing down of a people
by a steel fist that needed no
glove to mask its power.

The 36-year reign of the brutal and sanguinary fascist dictator, Dr. Antonio de Oliveira Salazar was overcome, however, by a movement different and yet hardly as successful—the five-year struggle of Marcelo Caetano
to continue the policies of Salazar without the power necessary to dominate every move of an entire time. Two versions of the occurrence. Two accounts of the same historical which I now sit, (part of the April Bridge is that way.

It is chance. It is skill. It is incredible brutality. The end of the curt reply, "O ponte 25 de was the first time such an interview process has been used.
The interviews were beneficial in evaluating how last year’s funditions were disbursed and deter­ ing how last year’s fund­ mismanagement. Like that which feels that Ken should be com­ Cowl as Student of the Ken, a political science major during Happy Hour in the Rathskelar last Friday, October 24. Contrary to what may have been the case of the ‘Empty Chair’, the Rat was certainly the place to be last Friday.
Friends and well-wishers as well as participants were in fine form as the beer flowed and shouts of encouragement per­ raded through the area, lending only to intensity the excitement and ten­ so of the player.
The junior class showed its appreciation in the game as it produced three winners in Jeff Kinney (third place), Dave Kazak (second place), and Chuck Fallon (first place). All members Minutes 1981 (Page6)

Student of the Month
Ken McGunagle ’81

ELMHURST HAIR SALON
Complete Hair Care for Men and Women for appointment call 621-8054
523 Eaton St.
Corner of Eaton and Smith St.

The Tunnels
Halloween Night
Tours Begin
4:00 p.m.
Rear Dore Hall
Donation: $1.00
Sponsored by the K of C.
VEGETABLE
(Continued from Page 7)

(singing additional backgammon auxiliary contemplate spon-

Winners of K of C Backgammon Tourney are all smiles

D'Agostine, proprietor. "I'm the Rat," remarked Angelo of the class of '40. To the revolutionist, the institution of a

of the exodus of workers from ports and many years have passed. But I wonder, in spite of the texts and notebooks, I recall that farms and many years have passed. But I wonder, in spite of the people cannot read, and cannot eat?

that the President's brother was the last resort of workers from

of the exodus of workers from happened. There are no roads, and everywhere is a rural "taboo of not how bright the farmer may be,

is possible. (The coffeehouse is a great previously auditioned, adds to the week's performance, and there is no admission fee or improvement of backgammon "tournaments" in the near future.

Don't lose heart if you have yet to be a finalist in a in charge, this may come as no surprise! However, no matter

how bright the farmer may be,

the power and seriousness of the true of an event.

the whole people, hardly to be everything except the clothes they could grab, sometimes with Portugual with whatever funds large families had to flee from others. It is said that most of the land confiscated in 1974 to its former owners.

The man with whom I conversed seems to have frightened them.

produced less, although working

the fact that the farmers created state-run cooperatives, few of us believe that farming is how to turn that soil into food.

lacked the capital and "know-many bare fields or tried to nor furrowed rice fields or tried to assailants were a mob of angry carry with their own arms. Their anything more than they could at midnight, without warning, without time to bring with them

the golden promises of Marx do passed since the building I now

read or write in Europe.

in Lisbon had just had a portion of his former property returned.

Vegetable in Lisbon, voices which cannot be ignored by one who seeks to capture what he can of the truth of an event.

must have been able to solve the problem of the exodus of workers from thereafter, to France and Germany, and

As Colonel Varela said, the effects of a revolution can only be determined after the dust has settled

and take in the roomful of

Tuesday night coffeehouses,

presumably since 1931. "GRE classes start the week

of Nov. 2nd."

中小型 classes start the week

of Nov. 9th."

"LSAT classes start the week

of Nov. 16th."

"MCAT, DAT, LSAT, GMAT, GRE

GRE PSYCH, GRE BIO, PCAT, OCAT

VAT, MAT, SAT, CPA, TOEFL, MSK

NMBI, II, III, ECFMG, FLEX, VQE

NEL, NDBT, II, NPB!

Flexible Programs & Hours

Visit Any Center And See For Yourself!

Why We Make The Difference

The Class of 1981

presents Christmasfest 1980

featuring "MAGDA"

Saturday December 6

Bids on sale November 5 for seniors only in

Lower Slavin from 9:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m. $10 deposit required. All classes go on sale November 6, 7, and 11.

Same time & place as above.

PCID needed to purchase bid.

The Coffeehouse is a great place for study breaks on Tuesdays but on a WEEKEND night? Saturday night actually overcame the taboo of not having alcoholic beverages and must be considered a success for its first trial run. As a result, the Board of Governors has decided to con-

inue the weekend coffeehouses on nights that do not conflict with other BOQ activities. The next weekend coffeehouse will be held on Saturday, November 8, from 8-11 p.m. No matter what your plans may be for that night, make a "pit stop" on lower campus to "check the place out." In the meanwhile, spread the word about

Tuesday nights. All are welcome and there is no admission fee or cover charge. The entertainment for Nov. 4 will be two PC students, Cathy Turbitt and Cathy Bennett. Please come to listen, sing along, or just relax.

Hope to see you there!

tions and notebooks, I recall that of the exodus of workers from

thereafter, to France and Germany, and

As Colonel Varela said, the effects of a revolution can only be determined after the dust has settled

and take in the roomful of

Tuesday night coffeehouses,

presumably since 1931. "GRE classes start the week

of Nov. 2nd."

中小型 classes start the week

of Nov. 9th."

"LSAT classes start the week

of Nov. 16th."

"MCAT, DAT, LSAT, GMAT, GRE

GRE PSYCH, GRE BIO, PCAT, OCAT

VAT, MAT, SAT, CPA, TOEFL, MSK

NMBI, II, III, ECFMG, FLEX, VQE

NEL, NDBT, II, NPB!

Flexible Programs & Hours

Visit Any Center And See For Yourself!

Why We Make The Difference

The Class of 1981

presents Christmasfest 1980

featuring "MAGDA"

Saturday December 6

Bids on sale November 5 for seniors only in

Lower Slavin from 9:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m. $10 deposit

required. All classes go on sale November 6, 7, and 11.

Same time & place as above.

PCID needed to purchase bid.

PREPARE FOR:
OCTOBER 30, 1980

Metro-Update

"Dancin"—Broadway Comes To Providence

Last Wednesday, the Ocean State Performing Arts Center presented "Dancin" to an enthusiastic audience. Not only was it an entertaining play, but it also represented a chance for Providence to capture the excitement of Broadway.

The show opened with the entire company dancing to two Neil Diamond songs: "Prologue (Hot August Night)" and "Crunchy Granola Suite." It continued with many dance routines balanced around songs such as "Mr. Bojangles" by Jerry Jeff Walker and "Was Dog a Doughnut" by Cat Stevens. This provided a change of tempo that kept the audience's attention. Later on, Tom Jones did a brief song and dance before his opening act was introduced.

While on Broadway, Dancin' was a smash hit, winning the 1978 Tony Award for best choreography.

The closing segment dealt with the Patricians of America. George M. Cohan's "Yankee Doodle Dandy," and John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes Forever" were among songs that were matched with red, white and blue costumes to provide an "I Love America" theme to the musical.

In all, it was great entertainment that gave Rhode Islanders a treat of the "big time." The next Broadway play to be presented is "A Chorus Line." It will run from January 8 through January 11. For info, call 421-9675.

R.I. Restaurants

Something For Everyone

By Vanna Guadagnolo

I have been asked by many of my friends, particularly juniors, to suggest dining spots in the Providence vicinity. Well, actually the best dining place I know is at my home where my mom serves the best Italian meals I know. But, I will guide those of you who are contemplating which restaurant to dine at during Junior Ring Weekend or for any other reason.

If you love Italian food, as many do, Providence is the place to be. Just drive to "Federal Hill" or Atwells Avenue and you will find a newly established restaurant, "La Gelateria," which serves terrific pasta meals. Down the street, at 120 Atwells Avenue, the "Old Canteen" serves fine Italian dinners. Also, "Camille's," located at 61 Bradford Avenue (the Old Canteen is in the corner), serves some of the finest entrees in an elegant Roman atmosphere. There is even valet parking for that special touch.

Then, there is always the creme-de-la-creme of Providence restaurants, "Capriccio's," whose well-known status thrives on its being "an experience in European cuisine." On the corner of Pine and Dyer Streets, "Oki's Japanese Steak House" provides live entertainment for a more detectable evening.

On the other hand, if you appreciate quality dishes that are prepared with par excellence, dine at "The Left Bank," 220 South Water Street, Providence. The entrees are exceptionally tasty. It is also an "experience in the lounge or sit in a fun time."

Another great restaurant, "The Great House", 2245 Post Road, Warwick, specializes in classic Chinese dining at 1270 Mineral Spring Avenue, North Providence. Not only cooks marvelous chicken and shrimp, but lampsheds with a few dishes on your table in your presence! Believe me, Oki's can be a fun place to be and good conversation.

A four star restaurant, "The Great House", 2245 Post Road, Warwick, specializes in classic Chinese dining as well as famous New England seafood. Only a quarter mile south of Airport 1-95, "The Great House" is one of the most interesting restaurants in the Providence vicinity. The entrees are excellent.

"Dancin"—Broadway Comes To Providence

RUGBY SLAVE AUCTION

SATURDAY, NOV. 1st

The closing segment dealt with the Patricians of America. George M. Cohan's "Yankee Doodle Dandy," and John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes Forever" were among songs that were matched with red, white and blue costumes to provide an "I Love America" theme to the musical.

In all, it was great entertainment that gave Rhode Islanders a treat of the "big time." The next Broadway play to be presented is "A Chorus Line." It will run from January 8 through January 11. For info, call 421-9675.

R.I. Restaurants

Something For Everyone

By Vanna Guadagnolo

I have been asked by many of my friends, particularly juniors, to suggest dining spots in the Providence vicinity. Well, actually the best dining place I know is at my home where my mom serves the best Italian meals I know. But, I will guide those of you who are contemplating which restaurant to dine at during Junior Ring Weekend or for any other reason.

If you love Italian food, as many do, Providence is the place to be. Just drive to "Federal Hill" or Atwells Avenue and you will find a newly established restaurant, "La Gelateria," which serves terrific pasta meals. Down the street, at 120 Atwells Avenue, the "Old Canteen" serves fine Italian dinners. Also, "Camille's," located at 61 Bradford Avenue (the Old Canteen is in the corner), serves some of the finest entrees in an elegant Roman atmosphere. There is even valet parking for that special touch.

Then, there is always the creme-de-la-creme of Providence restaurants, "Capriccio's," whose well-known status thrives on its being "an experience in European cuisine." On the corner of Pine and Dyer Streets, "Oki's Japanese Steak House" provides live entertainment for a more detectable evening.

On the other hand, if you appreciate quality dishes that are prepared with par excellence, dine at "The Left Bank," 220 South Water Street, Providence. The entrees are exceptionally tasty. It is also an "experience in the lounge or sit in a fun time."

Another great restaurant, "The Great House", 2245 Post Road, Warwick, specializes in classic Chinese dining as well as famous New England seafood. Only a quarter mile south of Airport 1-95, "The Great House" is one of the most interesting restaurants in the Providence vicinity. The entrees are excellent.

Pickwicks is located downtown at the corner of Peck and Pine. Its prices are very reasonable, and it is conveniently located near the Ocean State Performing Arts Center, the Providence Civic Center, and the buses. Check it out soon, maybe even treat a friend!

OCEAN STATE PERFORMING ARTS CENTER

A Chorus Line. Tickets are on sale now for the musical scheduled for January 9, 10, and 11.

Seiji Ozawa will be conducting the Boston Symphony Orchestra on November 11, 1980. The program will include Bartok Piano Concerto No. 2.

Trinity Square Repertory Company

BETRAYAL is playing downstairs now through November 2.

Arsenic and Old Lace is playing upstairs now through November 16. Tickets are available at the Student Services Office in Slavin for $5.00.

Providence Civic Center

Frank Zappa and the Outlaws will be coming this month. Call the Civic Center at 331-6700 for information.
A Weekend of Entertainment

Tonight
The Ultimate Horror Film
"Halloween"
7 & 9 p.m. — '64 Hall

Tomorrow
PC's Annual
"Halloween Party"
with
"Beagles" & "Outrage"
9 p.m.-1 a.m. — Entire Union

Saturday
Last Resort Social
with
"The Mertz Brothers"
Tickets on sale now in the BOG office

Sunday
"Kramer vs Kramer"
Winner of Five Academy Awards
7 & 9 p.m. — '64 Hall

Coming Soon

A Trip to
New York, New York
Sat., Nov. 8 — $10.00
Tickets on sale in BOG office

Molly Hatchett
in concert
Alumni Hall
November 11
$8.00 w/PCID
Tickets on sale in BOG office

Tues. Nov. 4
VOICE YOUR Opinion
at the "Weekend Alternative Form"
'64 Hall
7:00 p.m.
Everyone is welcome!

A Lecture by John Dean
Wednesday, Nov. 5
'64 Hall — 8 p.m.
An Undefeated Season—Almost...

The Newwomen ended their 11-0 winning streak and their season this week with two tough losses. The Eagles of Boston College handed the Lady Friars their first defeat of the season in a heartbreaking 5-4 match-up. Although Paula Hebert, Lisa Tutunjian and Linda Duchaine gave Providence an early lead, BC retaliated with three victories at the top of their ladder, sending both teams into the double contention tied up at three apiece. Unfortunately, Nancy Curtin and Vicki Goyetse were the only doubles team able to snatch a victory, as Boston won the other two matches and left with the victor's spoils.

What's Happening?

Jerry Alaimo, director of Intramural Athletics, has announced that there will be an "All-College" Racquetball Tournament sometime in the near future. Although the exact time of the event has yet to be determined, Alaimo would like to encourage all who are interested.

As far as competition is concerned, there will be three divisions: men's, women's and co-ed mixed divisions. T-shirts will be awarded to all winners and the mixed doubles winners will get an expense paid trip to Burrillville.

Anyone interested can sign up in the Intramural Office, Alumni 388. There is a $2. entry fee. For more information, call Jerry Alaimo at 2228.

E & J PIZZA
600 Douglas Avenue, Providence
Specials good Monday thru Thursday Delivering your favorite pizza, grinder or spaghetti everyday from 4:30 to 1:00 a.m.
Call 751-2251
Free soda or chips with every special. Only get specials when you ask for them.

WOMEN STUDENTS
Women's rap group will begin next week. If you did not sign-up for the workshop but are interested, please contact the Counseling Center by Monday, November 3.

Lady Harriers 8th in New England's

By Kathy Traynor

On Saturday, October 25, the Lady Friar harriers Cross Country travelled to Boston to compete at Franklin Park in the New England Women's Cross-Country Championships. Forty schools were entered and Providence travelled to Boston.

Kathy Cerra. Last year, the girls finished 13th in the same meet.

Lawrence, who finished 121st and 146th, respectively. Coach Cerra and the girls look forward to their next race, the Eastern Regional AIAW championships, on November 1. For the first time, the girls will be competing in Division 1. As this will be their final meet of the season, the Coach staff would like to congratulate Kathy Cerra and her girls on their fine season and wish them the best of luck for the upcoming indoor season.

On Friday, the Lady Friars confronted who they knew would be their toughest challenge of the season, Brown University. They had not overestimated their opposition as they were soundly trounced, 9-0. Ironically, Coach Lisa Gilbride feels it might have been their best performance of the season. "I felt as though everyone played as well as they possibly could. They played like winners. To me they were champions even in defeat. It's a team I am very proud of and will never forget."

The Lady Friars tennis team will resume play next spring, ready for new conquests.

★  ★  ATTENTION ★  ★ Class of 1982
Last day for Bid Transactions is Wed., Nov. 5
NO EXCEPTIONS
For info, call Meg 273-7188
or Steve 3084

AID (Continued from Page 1)
total funding. The current maximum per student is $1,500 and will increase to $2,000 per year.

The only significant change made regarding work-study are in the level of funding. Most importantly, the new legislation passed will mandate the payment of federal government minimum wage beginning next year.

Both the National Direct Student Loan program (NDSL) and the Guaranteed Insured Loan Program (GLIP) will experience significant changes:

1. The rate of interest in NDSL will increase from 3 to 4 percent
2. The borrowing limits will jump from $1,000 to $6,000
3. The nine month grace period will be shortened to six months
4. Allowing for a deferment in payment will still be made if one is involved in social services such as VISTA; Peace Corps, or in the teaching of the underprivileged.

According to D'Arcy, the past three presidential administrations have proposed the elimination of the NDSL program. The current indication of support for the program insures its existence for at least the next five years.

The Guaranteed Loan program's (bank loan) interest rate is going from 7 to 9 percent and repayment will also begin six months after graduation. The GLIP also includes the same deferment provisions that are in the NDSL program.

The borrowing maximum for the GLIP will be increased to $2,500 each year for a total of $10,000 over a four year period, and $12,500 for authorized five year programs.

The grand total for undergraduate and graduate students will now be $25,000 as opposed to $15,000 aggregate in the past.

The most significant addition to this latest legislation is the new Parent Loan Program. This program will allow parents to borrow up to $3,000 yearly, per student. The total borrowing potential is $15,000 at a 9 percent interest rate. Monthly repayment will begin 60 days after initiation of the loan.

Sponsors might be able to start enjoying these benefits in January, thus increasing their overall borrowing power.

D'Arcy said, "This Reauthorization Legislation is significant because it provides programs that will give students at private institutions a better advantage than they have had in the past."

As a result of this new legislation, students can look forward to more financial aid benefits in the near future.
Running through strong winds and heavy downpour, the Friars came up with an easy victory of 5-1 in the Northeast Championship. The Providence victory gave them another home game against UMass, finishing second with a total of 76 points. The Friars were able to carry home another victory last Saturday as they came up with an easy victory. The victory last Saturday as they came up with an easy victory.

The men's tennis team completed their remarkable run of their fall campaign and finished with an impressive 5-1 record. Paul Moloney was the only player who was left totally unchallenged by any of the 13 other schools. Southeastern Massachusetts finished second with a total of 76 points. The team sets the stage for the November 1998 Eastern Championship Meet, also to be held at Franklin Park. Leading the way for PC was senior co-captain Ray Treacy, who covered the five mile course in 34:12. Sophomore Jimmy Falvey followed in 34:23 and Charlie Breagy and Paul Moloney tied for third in 24:59. Senior co-captain Brian Dillon rounded out the scoring for Providence, finishing fifth in 25:10. Charlie Falvey and Steve Clark added to PC's winning effort, placing fifth and sixth, respectively.

The first possession, PC started a drive. Quarterback John Hayes made it 14-0. If that weren't bad enough, Providence started their next drive with an interception. Larry Mathis ran that interception. At the start of the second half, Ricky Tucker have all returned. When a team compounds less than a full offense and beats you by 22 points, you know something went wrong. Well, that's what happened Saturday at Hendrick Field. The Worcester State Lancers defeated Providence 35-13. When asked about his chances in the Canadian Tourny, the PC mentor replied. "In some cases when the players join to form a team, we take on two years before actually fulfilling conditions, as he took to spill early in the race, but still maintained his position. Coach Amato had originally planned on not competing in the Eastern's but later decided to run the team for the workout only.

Commenting on the race, Amato later stated, "With these big big meet coming up, I almost wish I had held to my original decision on passing this race. I'm just happy nobody was injured." PC's top two runners, Groff Smith and Brendan Quinn, reared for competition, as the New England's are right around the corner.

Although there are still a few dates to be juggled around, for the most part, Providence's winter sports schedule is set. Winter sports in particular have always been an integral part of PC's sports scene and this season should prove to be just as thrilling.

On November 8, coach Lou Lamorteiro and his highly ranked rugger players start thing rolling when they meet Merrimack College at Schneider Arena. After another home game the following Thursday against UMass, the Friars will hit the road for games against Vermont (Nov. 18), Minnesota-Duluth (Nov. 21 & 22) and Boston University (Nov. 29). Finally, PC will be back home on December 5, ready to take on a longtime rival Boston College. Lamorteiro has high hopes for the Black and White this year, and all five students drafted last spring have returned.

On the hardcourt, coach Gary Walters heads into just his second year as the hoopster mentor. Although there are still many question marks and gaps in the lineup, Walters is optimistic that things will be pulled together by November 29 when the Friars play their first game against UMass. An away game against Boston University (Nov. 21) and a home game with Purdue on December 12 highlight the early goings of the season. The team has quite a few promising young sophomores in the lineup and Walters' recruiting campaign should prove to be successful.

The Providence men's tennis team finished with an impressive 5-1 record with an all-out team effort of freshmen and sophomores who did without the contributions of Mike (Donadio), Peter Feeckite or Ron Burnett. However, two straight defeats by the visitors quickly moved ahead by one at the start of the second half when the players join to form a team. In leading Providence to victory.

In the early moments of the second half, Stever Lepper hit Andy Clarke with a nice bomb. Fransco Lancia then turned to three defenders to allow Clarke to run to the 3-yard line. Ten yards later, Biga ran it in from there. It was now 21-0 and there still seemed to be hope. However, on the Friars next drive, Lepper threw another interception that put the visitors nine yards from the goal. Quarterback Hayes quickly jumped in the end zone for his fourth score and it was 26-4. The Lancers' last touchdown came by way of yet another interception. Larry Mathis ran that one for the Lancers to make it 26-4. In the last quarter, Glen Potonico pounded on a bad snap in the end zone to make the final score 30-13.

On the first offense and defense played well. Providence had 110 yards in the middle and 19 first down for 28 yards. Tony Copano and Jim Judge led the defense in fine defensive struggle despite the excellent offensive play of the Lancers. But Providence couldn't overtake the first-place Lancers and their record drops to 4-3. PC travels to Walnut, Massachusetts, Friday night to take on the tough Bentley Falcons.

Field Hockey

PC breaks through Conne­cticut line. The Friars won, 5- 3.

Field Hockey

Thawted 35-13

Worcester State Spoils Gridders Championship Hopes

By John Brandolino

When a team compounds less total offense and beats you by 22 points, you know something went wrong. Well, that's what happened Saturday at Hendrick Field. The Worcester State Lancers defeated Providence 35-13. When asked about his chances in the Canadian Tourny, the PC mentor replied, "In some cases when the players join to form a team, we take on two years before actually fulfilling

Gladu Sparks Field Hockey Victory

After two consecutive defeats last weekend against New Hampshire and Boston College, coach Deming and her Lady Friars swung back into wining form Monday afternoon at Hendrick Field, defeating Southern Connecticut, 5-3. The strong team effort was again evident but it was the strong offensive showing of Jackie Gladu that made the difference. The freshman from West Newton, MA, scored three goals in leading Providence to victory. With two games remaining on the schedule, coach Deming and the Lady Friars are currently 4-0-1 in conference play. According to coach Gary Deming, "We have a lot of freshmen and sophomores who have been practicing with us all fall and have been there at the right times when we needed them. I can't recall the last time when we had such a strong amount of depth. And, we will be losing no one to graduation this May, the team can only get stronger." When asked about his chances in the Canadian Tourny, the PC mentor replied, "In some cases when the players join to form a team, we take on two years before actually fulfilling made the score 3-1, as the Friars found themselves behind for the first time in the game. But Gladu answered as she tallied for two straight goals at the 23:36 mark. With the score tied at 2-2, senior co-captain Linda Wage scored the final Providence goal of the night and only one to go.

Next game for the Friars is Friday, 5 p.m., at Hendrick Field when the girls meet Connecticut. Orange. November 3, PC will finish off the season against the Terriers of Northeastern.

Worcester was just too much for the gridders last week. PC stumbles, 35-13.