Chaplain's office

New programs ahead

by Kathy Bieagna

The Chaplain's Office and the Pastoral Council have a full schedule lined up for this fall. According to Providence College Chaplain Rev. Adrian Dabash, O.P., a broad range of programs are planned to meet the needs of the PC student body.

Coming up this weekend is this semester's Faculty-Student Mass, slated for Sunday at 11:30 in Aquinas Chapel. Refreshments will be served following the mass, allowing students to meet informally with faculty members. The Faculty-Student Mass mee will continue in Aquinas Chapel until the end of the semester.

Also on this Sunday will be a 7:00 Grotto Mass in honor of Our Lady of the Rosary. October 17 is the month honoring Our Lady of the Rosary. Throughout the month, there will be rosary and adoration in Aquinas Chapel from 6:30 - 7:00 PM, Monday through Thursday.

The Chaplain's Office is hoping to implement some new programs this semester. Bible Study Classes, a program on Human Sexuality and a Folk Singing Group are all activities that are being explored. In addition, a series of events, such as a Thanksgiving fast for the poor, will be continuing throughout the semester.

Students Depart for Fribourg

PC studies internationally

Providence College students once again packed their bags and headed abroad. This morning eighteen PC students boarded buses for New York's Kennedy Airport. From there they departed for a year of study at the University of Fribourg in Switzerland.

Study abroad has grown with immense popularity in the last few years. In addition to Providence's program in Fribourg, students now have the opportunity to study in a wide range of countries under a variety of different programs. Dr. Laurence Bannister, director of the "Providence-in-Europe" program reports that the study abroad program has met with great success and anticipates more students to explore it as an academic option.

Students who are spending this year in Fribourg, Switzerland include: Maureen Caufield, Robert Chase, Alice Clifford, Mary Caen, Anne DiNatale, Margaret Dwyer, John Flaherty, Anita Gonsalves, Patricia Haney, Candace Henderson, Mark Kostia, Elizabeth Larkin, Kevin Main, Mary Papini, Susan Pensiero, Elizabeth Larkin, Kevin Main, Mary Papini, Susan Pensiero, Melinda Soares and Kathleen Warren.

Five students are studying in Ireland first semester. They departed three weeks ago and are due home in mid-December. They are Louis Casagrande, Kathleen Murphy, Denise Murphy and Kathleen Sullivan. Representing PC in other parts of the world, are Joanne Belanger, Jeanne Martiniere and Beth Murphy in London, Ethel Parcell and Linda Ryder in Spain.

Education Funding

Budget cuts for near future

Spending on education and social service programs has dropped almost 20 percent since the Reagan administration took office in 1981, a Congressional Budget Office (CBO) report has found.

And in a new American Federation of Teachers (AFT) analysis of federal education spending, AFT President Albert Shanker charged president Reagan with "an cover-up" of administration funding requests for education programs.

The AFT has been "stunned" by the president to other education groups in the past. It gave President Reagan's a respectful welcome at its June, 1983 convention and willingly participated in his White House conference in the wake of last spring's passage of several reports critiquing the quality of American education.

By contrast, the National Education Association -- the AFT's larger teachers' union rival -- refused to join the White House conference because the president refused to speak at its convention, claiming Reagan had failed to support education since his days as governor of California.

The AFT also has been willing to entertain the notion of merit pay for primary and secondary school teachers, a measure President Reagan supports.

But the new AFT "analysis" noted President Reagan had asked Congress to cut federal education by 25 percent for 1982 and 48.3 percent for this fiscal year.

Congress eventually granted the president an 18 percent cut for 1982 and 18.6 percent cut for 1983.

"Barstomming around the country, the president has embraced the "Back to Basics" theme of the National Commission on Excellence in Education with a fervor he once reserved for his "New Federalism" initiative," Shanker writes in a summary analysis commissioned by the AFT.

Shanker notes that the budget cuts appear to be "a cover-up," he adds.

The AFT is the only group that does most of the financial budget analysis for Congress -- found in spending about 20 percent less on some education programs than it promised to back in 1981.

Rhode Island drunk drivers beware

Senator Claiborne Pell (D.R.I.), the Senate author of legislation establishing the Alcohol Traffic Safety Program, is urging Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole to approve a federal grant to help Rhode Island combat the problem of drunk driving.

Pell released the text of a letter today in which he expressed his strong support to Secretary Dole for Rhode Island’s application for incentive grant funding under his program. Such funding could exceed $300,000 over a three year period.

“As a principal Senate author of P.L. 97-264,” Pell told the Secretary in his letter, “I am pro­ficient that the State of Rhode Island is among the first in the nation to conform to the requirements of the incentive grant program.

Rhode Island’s laws have been substantially revised to include a ‘per se’ provision, mandatory fines and jail sentences, highway safety assessment, community services and screening and treatment of offenders.

Rhode Island Governor Joseph J. Garrahy has launched a statewide public relations cam­paign to coincide with the new law, and combined efforts, together with tremendously inten­sified enforcement on the highways, have already produced a 30% drop in highway fatalities during the first half of 1983.”

Pell’s original legislation to crack down on drunk driving established tough standards for states to meet before they would qualify for federal incentive grants. These standards include the establishment of a 0.10% Blood Alcohol Content (BAC) as ‘per se’ evidence of intoxication.

Pell became personally involved in the drunk driving issue several years ago when two of his aides were killed by drunk drivers in separate accidents. He is continu­ing work on the federal level to help crackdown on drunk and drugged drivers.

Citing the “strong program” already in effect in Rhode Island, Pell told Secretary Dole that he is confident federal incentive grant funds to Rhode Island “will build upon the momentum that is already evident and lead further reductions in highway fatalities.”

Rhode Island has applied for both basic and supplemental incentive grants under the Alcohol Traffic Safety Program. If approved at full funding the grants could amount to about $275,000 for each of the next three years.

Imagine a machine that records sights... sounds... sensations, anything. Any experience. Even your dreams and nightmares. Then, at the touch of a button, transfers these personal experiences from one mind to another.

Any person. Any experience. Anything you can imagine.

So long, Yaz, its been great

by Dave Preston

There was a likely boy of 8 or 9 who loved the Red Sox. But every night during the summer his mom made him go to bed before the Red Sox game was over. But not Yaz, though. He got a transistor radio, put it under his pillow, and listened to the games anyway. After the game was over and the boy was asleep, his mother would come in and turn the radio off.

In those days, the Sox were more than they lost, but just bare. A pennant was out of the question. In fact, the lone shining star was Carl Yastrzemski. It seemed that Yaz would always catch the hit, get the bit, or make the throw to cut down the runner just when the Sox needed it most. There was nothing Yaz couldn’t do.

But time passes, and on Sun­day, 44 year-old Carl Yastrzemski will play his last game for the Boston Red Sox. Yaz has spent his entire life playing for the Red Sox, coming up from the Sox farm team at Minneapolis in 1961. Upon his arrival in Boston, Yaz showed incredible talent for the game, but not necessarily the best baseball stats. His .326 average, 1967 season was Yaz’s best. He was Carl Yastrzemski. It seemed incomprehensible that Yaz would always make the hit, or always have a better season, when the Sox were struggling. Yet, Yaz has been one of the Sox biggest stars in history. Yaz has played 23 years for the Red Sox is even as he reached his forties. Yaz played left field at Fenway Park like no one else could, making all the plays, as well as master­ing the tricky “Green Monster,” the huge wall out in left. Whenever Yaz was in the line up the Sox were leading local baseball fans and the press usually expect­antly expected him to step into the gig­antic category. Yaz has won the American League batting title three times, and has had a more than near miss his last game for the Sox, and 7th in the majors stands alone among ballplayers. Yaz has had a few more near misses as well.

The Yaz statistics that are most interesting, though, are his batting average. At the age of 32, Yaz was the Sox leader in all three categories, he was Carl Yastrzemski. Our marines overseas

by J.P. Manory

Today in Lebanon American military forces are in a difficult and dangerous situation. Originally placed there as part of a multinational peacekeeping force, our Marines, and the other members of the peacekeeping force, have become the last line of defense for the current Lebanese government. It appears to be the consensus of our leaders at the White House and in Congress that keeping our Marines in Lebanon is vital to our national interest. The conflict between the President and Congress (while important in its own right) over the War Powers Act was/is a struggle between the President and Congress, and has become the last line of defense for the current Lebanese government. It appears to be the consensus of our leaders at the White House and in Congress that keeping our Marines in Lebanon is vital to our national interest.

Our Marines and Navy deserve our support. Regardless of whether you agree with the policy of our government or not, our boys were trained to do a job and that is exactly what they are doing. A job. Our job. They’re fighting for us and to be anything less than supportive of them is wrong.

If you disagree with the core of our policy or the way it is being implemented, fine, you are entitled to your opinion. Use your political process to change our policy, write Congress, don’t support the administration in 1984. But, don’t wrongly condemn our fighting men as so many did during and after Vietnam.

Unlike some countries, we are a representative democracy and that means we, the voters, have the final say on who formulates our government policies. These days our Marines are putting their lives on the line for our interest and they deserve our support and respect. Not to support our fighting men in Lebanon is not only wrong, it is UnAmerican.

The freeze

Simplistic solution

by Paul Larsic

Fall is upon us. For most of us, this means nothing more than football, warmer clothes, and colder weather at keg parties. For many people both here and in Western Europe, however, this is going to be the year of the “hot autumn.” This phrase is used by the nuclear freeze to describe a series of legal and illegal actions to be taken against American nuclear installations in Europe. After a relatively calm summer, the freeze debate is on the front burner again and it’s time to take a good long hard look at the issue.

For those of you who don’t already know, nuclear freeze is the campaign to put rock and roll and Hitler’s racial theories - somewhat amusing until you realize that these people are dead serious, and actually believe their own propaganda.

Below is a list of several myths that envelope the freeze movement, along with the realities of the situation.

The freeze is illegal. When a freeze resolution passed through the U.S. Congress last spring, it contained some references to the fact that a freeze is supposed to be “illegal”; that is, it is supposed to apply equally to both sides. How can anyone believe that this will hold up while the freeze is in effect? The Soviet leaders have repeatedly violated treaties, from the Geneva Convention to the Yalta Pact to the Helsinki Accord. They have made mockery out of their own constitution, which “guarantees” freedom of speech, religion and peaceful assembly. When was the last time you heard of a demonstration outside of the Kremlin which was not government controlled?

The freeze is verifiable. Because we have such sophisticated spy satellites in orbit, the proponents of the freeze believe that it will be impossible for the Soviets to cheat on us. What they refuse to realize is that those satellites can’t see through solid rock or concrete; we will be blissfully unaware if the Soviets decide to manufacture and stockpile atomic bombs below the earth’s surface. In a time of crisis, these weapons could easily be deployed on mobile launchers - which the Soviets already possess in large numbers.

Overall, this is not a discussion that should be avoided. It is a discussion that should be brought to the forefront of our minds. We must work together to make sure that a freeze resolution is passed through Congress and that it is implemented. Only then can we truly begin to solve the world’s problems.

Budget cuts

For example, the government will spend some 27.3 percent less on Guaranteed Student Loans between 1982 and 1985 than Congress ordered it to in laws passed in 1980. All student aid programs are falling short of spending man­...

"Lips-lips-lips-lips..." So goes the chant that shall greet the inexperienced participant of The Rocky Horror Picture Show. That is the correct usage of the term "partic­i­pant!" all you English majors. Preferably, you’ll want to see the "Show" like they would go to see any other movie on a Friday or Saturday night. Without doing this, your movie expe­ri­ence stand out among the pop­corn of ficks in this world? Besides the fact it is only thrown on Friday and Saturday night at midnight, Rocky Horror allows its audience to take part in the action on the screen.

It is not often that you find a theatre house packed with an audience swaying and singing every line that is spoken in a movie. If you are one of those who are thrown ayme, place a call. You cannot happen upon the castle of one Dr. Frank N. Furter and witness his characters descriptive names, and having a verbal battle over the narration regarding his personal importance in the cosmos.

The end is climactic. One begins to wonder if this group can really live as they do and not have to give in to anyone (or anything). Frank N. Furter has an answer to this very question and responds in this way with a song called "Wild Willy's Waltz."

There is no fear in revealing the outcome of this plot, but some people have seen the film over 100 times. No one knows who, or what Rocky Horror is, or will be all up to you!

If you do not have a harem of sympathetic friends and family around you, you can hardly imagine the horror's role in the cosmos? What names should you call Brad and Janet? Why are these people called "LIPS, red, lips, red" before anything goes wrong? All these questions have been answered in the movie. Go see Rocky Horror.

Club of the Week:

The Living Room

by Gary J. Weir

"You can't judge a book by its cover." No statement could be truer of the Living Room. There is a detour to get to Promenade St., where the club is located, which is so dark and desolate you might think you have taken a wrong turn somewhere. Further down the street is a lot of construction where they are starting the Capital Center project. By now you'll be sure you made a wrong turn somewhere. Keep going because you're not far from the glowing bubble of the Living Room. Behind that big bubble is a guaranteed good time.

Located among the abandoned factories on Promenade St., The Living Room is one of Providence’s rock hotspots. It started back in 1975 when brothers, Brian and Randy Hien got together and opened up a club right across the street. The name “Living Room” originated from the small size of the club. Last year, the government closed down the Living Room after buying the property. With nowhere else to go but up, Brian and Randy purchased and renovated an old warehouse in the renovated an old warehouse in the street. The name “Living Room” is still a good idea since the club is so popular. The club not only sponsors the best of the local bands, but it occasionally features a group of national prominence. The only bands booked at the club are those that perform original music, and not cover bands. So if you're not into Top 40 music, the Living Room may not be for you.

Behind the scenes, the Living Room acts very much like a family. This is not unusual because it is a family. Brian and Randy’s brothers and sisters can often be found helping out around the club. In fact, their mother regularly cooks meals for the bands and their crews who are often in town too short a time to find a restaurant on their own. Earlier this year, the Living Room put out its first album. It is a compilation of songs from local groups including the Detectives and the Hi-Beams. This album can be purchased locally for $5.99.

Some of the acts coming up at the Living Room are: Men Without Hats, Oct. 7; R.E.M., Oct. 13; and Robin Lane and the Chartbusters, Oct. 15. The Living Room is located at 273 Promenade St., which is easily accessible via a detour next to the State House. Tickets can be purchased at any of the major record stores around Providence. Joan Jett and the Blackhearts
Back to the basics

by Mark Pasquale

Joan Jett and the Blackhearts. before they went on stage at RIC just like you and me.”

We went into the back room, drank “soda” and talked while Joan had her make-up put on. I asked about their concert in East Providence Civic Center, but to put it in their words, “it doesn’t matter what size the place is, as long as they’ve picked and the people out there are going crazy.”

Then we talked about their new album and wanted to know their success at landing a contract with a major label. They also wanted to know if their fans have taken control of their own school!

Ricky related a story about a crisis before they played off of their album tour, where he started playing, after “A Harder Feat Away,” another played “Fake Friends,” and the other was playing “Wooly Bully”, “What a Sound!”

We also heard all the talk of the Rathskeller being a great student night club, and the bands he has seen there to add to your enjoyment.

The walls came tumbling down for seniors to raise money for their own college bar a great place to hang out. The bands they have made are plenty of money into it, making the old Rat a real nightclub!

The changes they have made are in the book. The television has been moved, so please don’t try to go there to add to your enjoyment.

The Rathskeller.

Parents try orientation too

by Maureen McGuire

Both Rhode Island and out of state license plates lined the streets surrounding Providence College as the freshman parents were enthusiastically greeted by the class of ’87. Greeted just as enthusiastically was the amount of homemade food which accompanied the parents.

Freshmen continued the tradition of presenting flowers to parents when they congregated for an early brunch at Raymond Hall. Various tours, conducted by the Friars Club, left from Raymond Hall to allow parents to reaquaint themselves with the campus. Others strolled by themselves, stopping in the bookstore to see the assorted PC paraphernalia such as sweatshirts, shorts and mugs.

The faculty led seminars in Agrippas Hall on topics ranging from the general education system to student life at PC. From there, parents and students flocked to watch the football club triumph over MIT. The warm sunny weather was perfect for a football game but many opted to attend the first performances by the concert band and choirs at Blackstone Theater. The recently refurbished entrance to Harkins Hall was a surprise to parents who witnessed its chaotic state during the last week of August.

Mass at St. Pius Church, full to capacity, was neat on the busy agenda. Many were forced to stand during the service after the pews filled fifteen minutes before the Mass, celebrated by Bishop Kenneth Angell. Freshmen also had the chance to hear a homily by the Providence College President, Father Thomas Peterson, and the PC alumni mother, sung by the PC chorus.

The concluding function was a catered buffet dinner held at Slavin Center. Tables situated in upper Slavin and ‘64 Hall allowed the students and their parents to sit, eat and talk over the day’s events. The lively chatter ranged from “I’d like to meet you, roommates, dorm conditions, and cafeteria food.”

Parents could still be seen wandering around campus after dark. A few happily discovered a favorite spot among PC students - the Rathskeller.

One freshman summed up the feelings of many when she commented, “I love PC, but seeing my parents is like seeing a bit of home.”

Comfort at Cable Car Theatre

by Maureen McGuire

Any movie at the Cable Car Theatre, on South Main St., is bound to be an enjoyable experience. Playing September 16 - 22, was director Bruce Beresford’s 22, was director Bruce Beresford’s

" Tender Mercies."

Robert Duvall is convincing and almost lovable as the worn out, alcoholic country western star who, stripped of all past glory, is left out with a stubborn ambition to start anew. The ultimate solution to his frustrations is Rosa-Lee, superlatively played by Bess Harper. Together, they discover the simple things in life.

The music is very enjoyable, even for non-country-music lovers. There are many laughs in “Tender Mercies,” as it is solely a thoroughly entertaining film.

Playing from September 23 to 29, at the Cable Car will be “Days of Heaven” at 7:15 and “Face to Face” at 9:15. Also featured every Friday and Saturday night at midnight is the infamous, “Rocky Horror Picture Show.” For those unfamiliar with the Cable Car, it’s most outstanding asset is its couches, reminiscent of a train car, instead of rows of seats. Yes! Comfort at a movie theatre is possible.

But that is not the entirety. In the past year, a variety of homemade ice cream has been added to the desktop popcorn and soda fare. This additional feature is guaranteed to please the most finicky of ice cream connoisseurs.

Another bonus is the live entertainment provided on weekend evenings between showings. The reduced price is also always a plus, since the scene diverts from the usual movie-going adventure!
Virgo (Aug.23-Sept.22)
Relax, Virgo. You’ve got a long week ahead of you, so prepare for a hectic schedule. But don’t worry, you’ll find some time to relax. Fatigue and tension will soon lighten and it will be smoothly
Libra (Sept.23-Oct.22)
Climbing into the wave: That special wish is coming true. Plan on going on a short trip during the week. A female Ariens will play an important role.

Romance is at a standstill this week. Perhaps you can find some comfort in the Scorpio. Don’t fall behind in your homework or school projects, or else you will call all wounds.

Author’s note: Beyond Teas is a guide to what’s coming up for you. To my estimate, there’s no need to worry. However, if you must, you have your monthly forecast by Patrick A. John Howley.

In your case, here’s my advice for the coming days:

To the Virgin, there is no reason to worry. He may have got his problems, but he is also a source of happiness. Usually, problems start because kids want to have too much of a good time. But don’t worry, you’ve got a year ahead if you start on the right path before you fall behind.

To the Aries, your hard time has just begun. In the swing of things, make sure you are not making it harder than it needs to be.

To the Taurus, your friends also as t they are so hot. The only trouble is, you are not hot enough to make them want to be around with hair that wouldn’t even move if I held a floor fan to it, you’ll know where I got the idea.

To the Cancer, your worries will soon be a thing of the past. You will find your job well loved.

To the Leo, you will just take it you at a time.

To the Virgo, this is from the vantage point of a man who is going on 70, who has lived in the PC neighborhood since 1938, and in fact case of retirement to work here as a security guard. By the way, if you have any outstanding tickets for illegal parking, call the police and they will have a run around you. But don’t worry, you won’t get your records. Security re­

To the Capricorn, a call in sports program. WDOM strives to keep it’s name and jazz, classical and “shoulders”.

Mural brightens Friar's desires
by Carolyn Grant

Many of you, at one time or another, have made a trip to Providence College's Friar's Diner. The store's main purpose is to provide students with the basic necessities of campus life. Many students usually take advantage of this convenience when Raymond Cafe food just won't do. Those of you who have recently visited the store have seen the addition of a mural on the wall, a product of the combined efforts of Pat Harrington and John Rob hasta.

The project was first suggested by Kathy Studzinski, general manager of Friar's Diner, who felt the store needed a new look. Students were asked to submit ideas, and when Dr. Fortin and Dr. Lunin-Perel from the English Department recited her poem, "Leaving of Liverpool" which was also adapted by John Dillon. Concluding the session was the Dramatic Reading of Shakespeare sonnets numbers 24 and 29. What more appropriate reading could be an event of the John's English sessions? After presenting these questions to the students it was determined that the deli could occupy a satirical look at the relationship between men and women. At first, Adam would not accept the fact of Eve's eating of the apple and the fact of her rib and just thought of her as this "other woman" and she was cast out, but finally he did come to accept her. Adam actually did come to appreciate Eve, but not until her sad death when she was no longer to be laughed at herself. It is a way for people to laugh at themselves. A few of the type represented are the trend y flashlight and new-wave rockers, each with a typical look of the "preppy" and the jockeyte. There are also the one-off Friar and the basketball player. Some are those in the United States. Although some people find the food disagreeable with the stomach. That is to say - indigestible. The most prevalent idea was also the most find the food agreeable to the least. The most prevalent idea was the food disagreeable with the stomach. That is to say - indigestible. Off-campus hamburger helper

by Jeanne P. Driscoll

Last week I gave a pre-fall dessert snack now. That you've adjusted to the new stove or old stove, I think it's time with a new dinner recipe. I don't think Mom gave us enough credit at home for our talent in the kitchen. The beauty of this recipe is that it is easy and yet has the appearance of a classy dinner dish. One minor problem is that the meal makes four servings; so if you lack friends you'll have to eat 1/4 of it. No problem. Good. Do you get tired of having the same old hamburgers? Many of you know that hamburgers are the easiest meat to cook, and sometimes we off-campus are so busy with projects that we'll have to eat a meal in record time. This is the perfect opportunity to try "HAMBURGERS PARMIGIANA." It's easy and yet has the appeal of a classy dinner dish.

Hamburger Parmigiana
1. Round or chuck
2. Tsp. salt
3. Tsp. pepper
4. Tsp. Italian seasoning
5. Egg
6. 4 oz. packaged seasoned bread crumbs
7. 3 Tbsp. vegetable oil
8. 1/4 cup Italian cooking sauce
9. Mozzarella cheese slices
10. Italian bread or rolls

1. Lightly mix beef with salt, pepper, and seasoning in a large bowl; shape into 4 equal size patties.
3. Dip each hamburger into egg, then into crumbs with crumb and cheese mixture.
4. Heat vegetable oil in a large skillet. Pan-fry burger over medium heat 4 minutes on each side, or until done as you like them.
5. Remove hamburgers from the skillet; drain off any fat. Add tomato sauce and skillet drippings to bring to boiling, stirring occasionally. Top with cheese slices. Lower heat and let cheese melts.
6. Place hamburgers on toast and buttered Italian bread slices and rolls.

Rating Raymond Cafe

What do you think?

by Ellen T. Evans

Raymond Cafe serves as the eating and meeting place of the on-campus students at Providence College. After being here for approximately one month, most of the students have had a chance to sample all of the dishes. Upon interviewing a limited number of students some general conclusions have been reached as to:

1. The selection of food
2. Favorite main dishes
3. Least favorite main dishes
4. The taste of the food
5. Agreeableness of food

On the issue of the taste of the food the response is fifty-fifty. Some people think the food is "not good enough." A lesser percentage of people say the food is "good enough." Despite the fact that most find the food agreeable to the taste buds, fifty percent find the food disagreeable with the stomach. That is to say - indigestible.

As to suggestions for improvement in Raymond Cafe, the list is quite long... and creative, to say the least. The most prevalent idea is that the food be "home-cooked." Although he admits that the food is "not home-cooked." From speaking with him, he obviously enjoys his position and is "willing to change" for the benefit of the students. He does Raymond Cafe cafeteria? What do you think?
New fashion trends of the '80's

by Alycia K. Hargettian

If you are tired of wearing the same clothes all the time and you don't know what to do to make them look different, I've got news for you: this fall, accessories are in style more than ever. All clothing can be given new life with the introduction of new accessories. Beaded bag - a bell, a bag, or necklace, in vibrant colors that must just do the trick. Shawls also give a lift to an old outfit. And booties that are designed like giant size square blanket shawls in both silk charmeuse and lambwool. Anne Klein’s shawls come in a beautiful array of colors such as jade, bright blue and red - all colors which will compliment an outfit yet give it an attractive look.

What else is new? Lots of long, hanging earrings which you can loop and tie around your neck in any style. The long rope necklaces are made of either frosted glass beads, shells or anything they really add to an elegant look. Believe it or not, pairs of unmatched earrings are being introduced by some of the top jewelry names; this fall, you can be a hit on a do-it-yourself basis. So, if you have a few single earrings around the house, start wearing them as pairs to make a scene as well; black mesh drop earrings in pyramid shapes and wide hinged bracelets make nice accents. And even leather or suede. Just use your imagination and effort, and at little expense your old wardrobe can look like new.

Talking Heads - Speaking in Tongues

Although the Talking Heads are no longer a prominent band here, this is still good stuff. The un witty rhythms as well as the hoarse barking voice of David Byrne have made the band legendary. Many of their phrase patterns were spoken originally. Byrne looks more like Charlie Chaplin than he ever did, if he joined the Stray Cats. But if Charlie Chaplin was the director, he choose Boston. Unless he was the director, the film was shot in Chicago yet. Well, who am I to say? Talking Heads is still as good as my, I am still a qualified person to get the beer two hours before the buses leave. This is in general seen as quite empty.

After another week on Eaton Street, we've decided to quit college and devote our time to the fun of single women soap opera "As PC Turns." The plot will revolve around the themes of campus, the next-door neighborhood and its inhabitants. By day the college campus is a community of hard-working, law-abiding citizens; yet when the sun goes down, like it or not even everything goes.

This week's story-line will concern the plight of an anxious Junior who is applying for the perfect JWR date. Have you noticed this year College Rathskeller has instituted "Ladies Night" in an attempt to support women's equality. (P.S. To whom it may concern, Junior King is only six weeks from Thursday.)

In another scene, we find a conflict between a landlord and his tenants. The heated exchange of words results in a new board signing exhibit in a front widow. The landlord insists that this

K of C presents the Fall Ball

by Pat Johnson

The Knights of Columbus will be sponsoring this year's Fall Ball. It will be held, Friday, September 30, at Bouffard Council Hall in North Providence. The Ball is open to all students and is destined to be a smashing success. At $15 per couple, it is one of the most affordable balls of the year. Tickets are on sale in the basement of St. Cajetan and will be available at the door. Some bands have also been invited by the Rockin' Joey Gator Band to invent a new word. That's because this one time only group is just one of the numerous neo-rockabilly groups. Joey Gator has assaulted the boundaries of two distinct forms of music and created a new, fresh sound. Who invented baseball?

by Testa

It is the duty of this writer, before the baseball playoffs and World Series begin, to give you, dear reader, the answer to the truly most difficult question about the American pastime: Who created baseball?

If you answered Alexander Joy Cartwright you are correct. Chances are you didn't though. Don't fib. Let's face it, Cartwright isn't known the way Abner Doubleday is. Yet Cartwright set the bases 90 feet apart, set up the foul lines, three outs to an inning, and organized the first game ever, played at the Elysian Fields in Hoboken, New Jersey. He later added the rule that a base runner could not be put out by throwing the ball at him.

So, now you know. You may now watch the games in peace. Feel confident that you now know more than Howard does. Cartwright is the man.

PC b-ball’s trio of trouble

Lynn Sheedy, women's basketball coach at Providence College, announced last week that the selection of the team captains for the 1983-84 season was seniors Laurie Buchanan, Kathy Finn and Laurie St. Jean. Buchanan, a Mathematics / Computer Science major from Bridgeport, Conn, is a 5'2" center for the Lady Friars and a three year regular on the squad. Last season, Buchanan played in all 30 games and recorded 201 points and 155 rebounds. "Laurie has accepted her role as Captain with a deep sense of pride and will play a major role in continuing the great sense of camaraderie amongst the players" commented Coach Sheedy.

Finn, the 5'9" senior forward, hails from Atlantic Highlands, New Jersey. An excellent student-athlete, Kathy was twice chosen as the Providence College Female Athlete of the Year (1981 and 1983). She was also a finalist for the Wade Trophy last year, given to the most outstanding female collegiate basketball player in the nation. "Kathy has gained the respect of her teammates not only for her outstanding ability but also for her total appreciation of the 'team concept'," said Coach Sheedy. Kathy has also been a three year starter for the Lady Friar Five. Last season, she was appointed team leading scorer with 389 points for a 16.3 point average per game. She also had 166 rebounds for the season. She is a psychology major and a Dean's List student.

SPORTS NOTEBOOK

Four PC baseball players were selected in potential alternates for the chance to tryout for the Olympic baseball team. Starter Paul Kitzos, pitcher Chuck Howard, outfielder-pitcher Ernie Pacheco and catcher Roger Ferrero were among sixty-three players competing for the opportunity to tryout for the team in October. The winner, Karl Allaire from RIC, was given a ticket to Louisville KY, for the national tryouts.

Pam Pierce is the first student-athlete to be featured in Sports Spotlight. Pam hails from Tewksbury, Massachusetts and is an American Studies major here at PC. She is a tri-captain, along with Judy Banes and Trisha O'Brien, of the women's volleyball team. Pam first became interested in volleyball as a freshman in high school. Throughout high school, she progressed in her skills and was later named an All-American, as well as the Boston College Scholar-Athlete of the Year. Besides volleyball, she also played softball and basketball in high school.

For her first two years at PC, Pam continued to playing softball, but she gave it up to play spring volleyball. Pam is the only senior on the volleyball team. For the last three years, the Lady Friars have been the Rhode Island state champs. Pam considers Providence College as "probably one of the best five teams on the East Coast." Last year, PC finished third in the Big East. Pam is very optimistic about the team's chances this year with the addition of five freshmen. She is also very enthused about someday getting into Division I at PC. "They're on the way up. I'd like to see that. The level of competition has increased tremendously in the last five years. Mrs. Bert, the women's athletic director has done a lot for the program. She's 100% behind the girls."

Pam isn't just sports minded, she has many other interests including classical and rock music. After graduation, Pam would like to be a state trooper. We're sure she will be successful in whatever she does.

OLYMPIC UPDATE

F. Don Miller, Executive Director of the U.S. Olympic committee, cited the Soviet Union last week for canceling a hockey tour and called for its members' safety a "very, very hollow" excuse. Miller also said he was "very sad and disappointed" by the decision because the cancellation would hurt the U.S. team more than the Soviets. He also dismissed Soviet claims that their players' safety would be jeopardized.

St. Lawrence University has changed its mind once again. Last week, The Cowl reported that St. Lawrence had decided to pull out of the new "super eight" hockey league formed in the East. Harriers eye NCAA title

by Paul Weller

As the dust settles from the extraordinary successful World Athletics Championships in Helsinki, the Providence College Cross-Country machine starts the straight year), IC4A champs (streak to 96, were Big East champions (second straight year), Big East runners-up (second straight year) – The Friars have been simply THE best team ever at PC; the only title eluding them being the NCAA trophy.

While the quantity in depth amongst the runners is not as strong as previous years, the Quad City TVY is still there. There can be no doubts that at full strength the New Small is as formidable a target as ever.

So who is back this year? Heading the team from England are Geoff Smith and Steve Binnis. Smith, a 10,000 metre representative at the 1980 Olympics, and 1982 Commonwealth Games, has been formerly ranked No. 2 in the world. He is considering a 1000m/ marathon double for the 1984 Olympics.

Steve Binnis, a former European Junior 3000m champion, represented Great Britain over 1000m at the World Championship last summer. Australasian hopes for the Olympics may leave him eligible, but he remains determined to show up when it matters.

Irish All-American Richard O’Bynn has a burning desire to capture a place in the top three of the NCAA’s. Richard Mulligan has suffered the misfortune of injury over the last 12 months, but a magnificent performance at the Holyoke road race last weekend was marked by a half minute points to a good season if he remains fit.

Following a solid season of track and road races this summer, Charlie Breggs returns for his final season at PC. He admits that a place for Ireland in the Olympia Steeplechase is not entirely out of his thoughts.

Nineteen-year old Britton Mike Cooper, represented Great Britain at the European Junior Championships in Vienna, finishing fourth in the 5000 meters, Mike, along with Andy Roman (20), and Brian Jager (19), are the youngsters of the team, but in their best condition they will be a match for anyone. Ronan was a former Irish Junior cross-country champion, while Jager is the American Junior two-mile champion, having a 4:07 mile to his credit.

So the talent is there to be seen. Coach Amos, who was last year’s NCAA Coach of the Year, refuses to be brush off his team’s chances.

"No predictions," he said, "but I am as confident as I have ever been of our chances."

Friday 2-2 record

PC Netwomen win with injuries

by Karen Rose

The women’s tennis team continues its bout for a winning season. Although top doubles players, Orlyna Materia and Maureen Capper, are out with injuries, the Lady Friars displayed their top efficiency. The Smith-Boston combination proved effective in Friday’s victory.

Due to the Materia and McCarrick injuries, coach Jacques Faulise made adjustments in the roster. The new line-up saw Caroline Cady debuting in the No. 3 position, and Barbara Palombo playing in the number two position for the first time this season.

In singles action, Landrecht (PC) represented Great Britain over Grossford 6-3, 6-3, Palombo (PC) against Connecticut’s 6-4, 6-4.

Tutinian (PC) defeated Konrad 6-2, 6-2. Murphy (PC) beat Khan 7-6, 7-6. Simpson (B) trimmed Azin 6-3, 0-6, 7-5, and Cady (PC) trounced Barton 6-2, 6-4.

In doubles, Murphy-Wever (PC) stifled Caip-Joyce 6-0, 6-1; West-Cochrane (PC) won O’Donnell-Beesmer 6-1, 6-4; and DiPietro-Loeb (PC) triumphed 6-1, 6-0 over Torrington.

The fact that the Lady Friars beat Bryant without two top players illustrated the team’s ability to penetrate UC onn’s defense.

After the MIT score, the Friars tightened up after this and MIT could only manage a field goal in the second period.

Freshman Kevin Delane led the Friars by connecting on passes to Bill McNamara for 28 yards, a 47 bomb to John Donahoe, and finally a three yard touchdown strike to Gary Rosando.

PC caught MIT napping and failed the extra point. Holder Mark Doyle fired a pass to McMahon for a four yard touchdown, giving the Friars an 8-7 lead.

Friars beat Mother Nature

by Brian Lemming

Mother Nature plays a role, but PC stands firm. The full weather was certainly a factor in Wednesday’s men’s tennis match here at PC. Good or bad the netmen overpowered New England rival Bentley College. Wind gusts reaching 40 miles per hour even the netmen.

As much of a problem as the wind was, nothing could slow down the Friar attack.

The small crowd numbering about a dozen students were fortunate enough to watch Jacques Paulson’s netmen win their first match of the season. Singles matches made some new heroes and established some old ones. Five of the possible six victories were taken by Providence in the singles competition.

Freshman Steve Griffin waited away with a 6-1, 6-2 victory to establish himself as an upcoming star. Big wins also included Derek Bateson who destroyed his Bentley rival 6-1, 6-0.

In doubles, Murphy-Sweeper 6-2, 6-2, killed the Bentley hopes.

Saturday’s men’s tennis match was fought between the number one team at PC and number two at Bentley.

In doubles, Murphy-Weaver 6-0, 6-1; West-Cochrane 6-0, 6-1; Torrington 6-0, 6-1; and DiPietro-Loeb 6-0, 6-1.

After dropping the first set 3-6, Brennan volleed back to a well earned victory by prevailing in the final two sets 7-5, 6-1.

In college competition only the top six players confront six opposing players of equal ability. In doubles it isn’t necessarily the two best players that is important, but the two players that perform at top efficiency. The Smith-Boston combination proved effective in their 6-2, 7-6 triumph. The win improves the Friars record to 1-1 with the 6-3 advance. So I give one piece of advice to the future opponents of Providence College, if they can overcome Mother Nature a mere tennis team should be a breeze.

by Diane DeRota

Thursday, September 22, the Lady Friars played a tough game against the Huskies from UConn but lost gracefully by a score of 3-0. The season record now stands at 2-2. Good efforts were made by Jackie Clau and goalie Kim Cole, who had several good saves during both halves of the game. Also helping the Friar cause was Liz Noble, who made several good interceptions.
