Fight Apathy, Vote!

by Jen Meehan
Executive Vice-President

It's Election time again! This Thursday, October 1st, Elections will be held for the Class of '96 and Residence Board. All positions on the ACC have been filled due to uncontested candidates. There are thirty-five freshman running for Class officers and nineteen students running for Residence Board. These candidates will be campaigning from Monday, September 28th through Wednesday, September 30th. Take this time to question them when they approach you. Find out what each candidate is really like in order to make a well-informed choice when you vote. Also, look for campaign videos (which will be on the monitors in Slavin on September 29th and 30th), posters, and information in The Cowl Special Election Issue.

Since my freshman year, I have noticed that Providence College is a very "active" school. A large number of students get involved with the PC Community by participating in various clubs, organizations, volunteer work, and internships. Voting in a school election is just one more way of getting involved. As I said before, get to know the candidates because voting gives you the power to choose the people you want to represent your views and opinions. Those you elect will vote on and represent you to faculty, administration, and other students. It is very frustrating to hear complaints from people who do not vote. By not voting you lose the right to make a statement about things that happen here at PC. Elections are one of the few ways left where students have a chance to give input. Do not miss out!! As Matt Leonard '93 once said in the Student Congress office (quoting James Brown, as usual) "Get up, Get into it, Get involved!"

One last comment, if you did not run for office and still would like to be a part of Student Congress, stop by the office, Slavin 109, or our open meetings every Monday at 6:00 p.m. in Slavin 203. We have committees you can join and events you can help plan and work. We want all the input and feedback we can get on what students think and want-LET US KNOW!

Good luck to all the candidates running in this election. All of you should be recognized for the time and effort you put into your campaigns. Remember, voice your opinions this Thursday, October 1st in Lower Slavin from 9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Thanks!

Top Ten Reasons to Vote

by Brian Cappello
Features Editor

- 10) The candidates can't possibly be any worse than the presidential ones.
- 9) If you don't vote, you can't complain when nothing's done and Civ's still required a year from now.
- 8) Your vote may not count, but the Cleveland Indians' season has never really counted, and that's never stopped them from playing.
- 7) A complimentary membership to The Ex-Phantom Friar's Workout Gym (coming soon to the mini-mall) will be given with each vote.
- 6) Much like being struck by lightning several times in the head, voting can be really fun.

5) Ted Kennedy will be available to sign autographs on the front of all female voters' shirts.

4) Anyone caught not voting must spend two hours on the painted benches, gleefully waving to passers-by.

3) Just like skipping Civ, getting drunk on St. Patrick's Day, and getting ripped off by the bookstore, voting is a PC tradition.

2) The administration has whole-heartedly agreed to reward each voter with a 12-pack.

1) All on-campus voters eat free in Raymond for a week.
